KAIGELD.—Where or what is "Kaigeld"? We have some idea, but are afraid to express it for fear of looking ridiculous. Perhaps some New Europe pedagogue will enlighten us. At any rate, Mr. Edgar Priddy has shown us a postally used copy of an adhesive in a type reminiscent of the early Official labels of Württemberg, having the name KAIGELD in capitals, in two lines, in the centre, enclosed by a diamond-shaped frame. In the four corners are figures of value—"30" in the case before us, which is in red, perf. 14 1/2, and is postmarked "Kaigeld 1.12 (?) M." —Stamp Collecting.

LATVIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us two values of a new type of stamp for this country. The centre of the stamp shows a maiden holding the tiller of a boat. At the top of the stamp in a curved frame is "Satversmes Sapulces Peemina", while below the centre figure is "Latvija" with the numerals of value in each of the lower corners and the currency between. The two values submitted are the 50k red and 1r blue.

LIECHTENSTEIN. — The Economist Stamp Co. submit for chronicle a set of 4 values of a new series recently placed on sale. The stamps are imperforate and printed on tinted paper. In the centre is the coat of arms of the country and at the top is the value. At the base of the stamps are the words "Fverstentum Liechtenstein" in small type in two lines. The values and colors are as follows: 15h blue, 20h brown, 25h green, 40h red.

LUXEMBURG.—We are indebted to the Amiens Echo for the following:—"A new issue of stamps was to have appeared on January 23rd, the birthday anniversary of the young Grand Duchess Charlotte, some of these having her portrait and others (chiefly the high values) picturesque views of the State and capital of Luxemburg. But there was no sign of these on the date arranged for their appearance. It seems that, although the stamps were ready for 'release,' the Grand Duchess refused to authorize their emission as she could trace no likeness between herself and the alleged portrait on the stamps, and the whole lot have been 'scrapped.' A new series is now being prepared, and presumably a "reserve birthday," too!

We wonder whether any of those rejected scraps of paper will leak out! The Echo tells us that they were quite handsome labels (this, of course, without prejudice to the young Charlotte!), having the inscription "Grand-Duché" at top and "Luxembourg at foot." —Stamp Collecting.

MALTA.—Mr. Frank P. Brown has shown us a copy of the 3d George stamp on yellow paper and advises us that these were put on sale at Valletta on the 9th of last month.

MOSUL.—A variety of exceptional interest, hitherto unrecorded, has been brought to our notice by Mr. Jean Planus. This is a copy of the Turkish 1pi, dark violet fiscal stamp overprinted: POSTAGE—I.E.F.D.—Annas in three lines.—Stamp Collecting.

king is shown in the centre with the Siamese characters together with "Siam stc 5" at the lower right in two lines. The stamp is printed a soft red color and appears to be on a red tinted paper.

SILESIA.—In regard to the two types of "1" referred to in the third paragraph of page 70 of our issue for April 24th, Mr. F. A. Goodliffe informs us that the numeral with curved serif is common to the left-hand pane, while that with straight serif is found on all the 10pf stamps in the right-hand pane. Mr. Goodliffe also reports receipt of the 15pf pale lilac and 20pf light blue, in the same design as those already described.—Stamp Collecting.

SWEDEN.—Mr. W. T. Wilson submits to us for chronicle a new set of coil perforation 10, of six values. The set contains three designs. The 30 terra is similar in design to 10 of 1910-15 issue with the exception that "Sverige" is at the top in a straight line, while the value "3 ore 3" is at the base in larger type. The 50 green, and 300 brown, show the Swedish lion with the value at the top and the name at the bottom. The 100, red 150, dull red violet and 200, blue, presents the front view portrait of the King. "Sverige" is at the top of these three values with the figures of value at the right centre of the stamps.

Mr. Wilson advises us that these stamps at present are only issued in rolls of 500 stamps but will be issued later in sheets.

WALLIS ARCHIPELAGO.—Referring to our mention of these stamps in our issue 1534, the Economist Stamp Co. has submitted the 1c to 75c values to us for inspection. The stamps are surcharged "Iles Wallis et Futuna" in three lines in black. The 35c, however, is an exception and is surcharged in red. The postage due stamps of 1906 have also been similarly overprinted and all are in black with the exception of the 20c, which is in red.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—We are indebted to Adj. Henry Hooreman, Harry G. Fairman and J. W. Long for sets of the new Belgian Olympian Games stamps. The values are 5, 10 and 15c in green, carmine and dark brown in appropriate designs. The set will no doubt be fully covered by Mr. Smith in his chronicle of new issues, so we shall forbear a detailed description here. Will subscribers kindly note that new issues should be sent to the respective editor under whose jurisdiction such properly belong:—U. S. to Mr. Ward and foreign to Mr. Smith. Mr. Long states that the set was issued May 20 and each stamp sold at a premium of 5c, this extra amount going to the expenses of the games. The stamps are in sheets of one hundred and are engraved and printed by the American Bank Note Co.

RARE-SURFACE PRINT U. S.

There has just been discovered in the Chicago P. O., a few sheets of the 2 cent carmine, Type I, imperf., surface printed. Some of these have been put into Shermack coils, others, about eight sheets in all, remain intact. We offer these while they last—a genuine rarity in the near future—as follows:

and 1,625 of 1000, a quantity by no means large.

The 4c brown, coiled sidewise (perforated vertically) perforated 8½ was issued during April, 1912, and while it remained in use for about two and a half years, during that time most of the large offices had a stock of the old perforated 12 stamps on hand and the perforated 8½ was not readily obtainable even then. While more of them were issued than in the case of the 3c and 5c, it is scarcer than either. It is my opinion that most of them were used by one or two firms and that the stamp was not widely distributed. There were issued 5,490 coils of 500 and 600 coils of 1000.

The 5c blue, coiled sidewise (perforated vertically), perforated 8½ was issued in March, 1913. For some unaccountable reason the report of the Third Assistant Postmaster General for 1913 makes special mention of this fact, stating that "The current 5c stamp has been added to the list of stamps in coils, perforated and coiled sidewise." The 5c coil has never been discontinued but it had been so long since it was necessary for the Bureau to replenish the old stock of the double line watermarked perforated 12, that the post office was evidently assuming that this was an entirely new departure. The variety is not scarce but is getting less plentiful every day. There were coiled 3,000 coils of 500 stamps and 10 coils of 1000 stamps.

THE "FRANKLIN" MATCH STAMP.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

Michael Daily, John Schick, Frederick Zaiss, E. K. Smith.

The stamp used by the firms named is an upright rectangle of the standard 1c size. The frame is practically the same as that of the 10c postage stamp of 1855-60. The acanthus ornaments in the upper corners enclose a numeral "1" on either side instead of an "X"; the upper label reads "One Cent" instead of "U. S. Postage"; the thirteen stars are replaced by "U. S. Internal Rev."; and the lower label reads "Matches" instead of "Ten Cents". The Washington portrait on the postage stamps is replaced by a profile of Benjamin Franklin facing left on the match stamp—hence the reason why the latter is often designated "Franklin" Matches. The acanthus ornaments at the sides and the shell shaped scrolls at the lower corners, which are often incomplete on the 10c postage stamp from which the Franklin design was adapted, are quite complete on the match stamp.

The Boston Book gives the following data:—

Die approved, Sept. 21, 1864.
First issued, September, 1864.
Last issued, November, 1875.
110,706,850 issued on old paper.
58,081,789 issued on silk paper.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).

"This die * * * was ordered by F. Zaiss, M. Daily, and J. Schick, all of Philadelphia, and in January, 1866, Mr. E. K. Smith also began to receive stamps from it, taking the place of John Schick, whose last order was delivered in December, 1865. It finally became the sole property of Mr. Smith and was altered by the insertion of his name."

This stamp is an interesting study for those who like varieties of paper, color and impression. The earlier printings are in dull or greenish blue on thin, brittle paper. During the 1870 period we find brighter color, thin, porous paper, thicker white paper and evidences of worn plates. The ultramarine comes at this time and is excessively rare—only three copies being known to the writer. It was printed from a plate that shows signs of considerable wear and contains very little violet, being bluer and less gray than the 10c Foreign Exchange in ultramarine, but somewhat like the latter in appearance.

The silk paper also varies greatly in shade, ranging from clear impressions in dull blue through light and dull blues from worn plates to quite dark shades. Some of the latter closely match the darker shades of the E. K. Smith stamp on silk paper and it is just barely possible they are National prints at the DIVISION OF RESPONSIBILITIES.

There are five persons connected with the WEEKLY and their duties are widely different. It will be a great advantage to all concerned if subscribers will note these instructions:—

New U. S. Issues and Varieties.—Mail these to Mr. Ward, whose address you will find at the head of the New Issues Department. Don't mail them to Beverly, Chicago, or Portland.

New Foreign Issues and Varieties.—These go to Mr. Smith and you rock the boat when you send them anywhere else. Note his address.

Subscriptions and Advertising.—All this matter should go to Mr. Wylie at Beverly.

Inquiries should be sent to Chicago and Mr. Severn's address will always be found on the editorial page. If there is anything you want to know, he will give you learned and considerate attention.

As for Mr. Jewett at Portland be very considerate. He already has enough to do, managing the mechanical detail of our Portland office, so spare him all you can.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

beginning of the latter compared with the tract in 1875. It is more like, however, that all of the Franklin stamps were printed by Butler & Company. There may have been anywhere from ten to twenty plates, but in spite of very large quantity issued for use on old paper are not easy to find in condition of the stamps on silk paper runs very much better.

Philadelphia was Franklin's home the greater part of his life and is buried in the old cemetery on Arch Street only a short distance from where Daily and Zaiss had their offices. Neither they nor Schick would care to have stamps bearing a competitor's name so they compromised by using the trait of that justly famous American and Philadelphian which is the larger size on the 1c postage stamp of 1851-60.

NOTES FROM THE ORIENT.

By FELIX COHEN.

Here we are again with Syria. The fifth issue is on the market. The change of money from Egyptian millemes and piastres to Syrian centimes and piastres gives us the chance of adding a new set in this country. The U. S. interested will like to know that an Egyptian piastre is worth actually 4 U. S. cents (pre-war rate 5 cents).

These new Syrian stamps are the current set of French stamps surcharged "O.M.F.—Syrie" and value.

This, probably, as very first information given to our philatelic press, will be interesting as, on account of many uncertainties, this issue cannot be regarded permanent. Here is the description of overprinted values and number of issue:—

25c on 1c France	150,000
50c on 2c France	150,000
75c on 3c France	30,000
1p on 5c France	25,000
2p on 10c France	150,000
3p on 25c France	200,000
5p on 15c France	25,000
10p on 40c France	9,000
25p on 50c France	6,000
50p on 1fr France	3,000
100p on 5fr France	1,500

The low number printed on some values of rapid sale makes the conclusion certain that new provisionals have to appear or that these stamps will be re-printed. Of course, and although I am strongly touching wood, through my pen, when penning these lines, I think that somebody thinks it more profitable to have this O.M.F. overprint on other stamps or other stamps with a different overprint. Perspicacity and speculation have always been a fashion of the Orient. These issues have been influenced greatly by politics, too. On the first T.E.O. issue (Occupied Enemy Territory) the inhabitants are said to have protested against the "enemy" mention. So, the O.M.F. (French Military Occupation) came in use. This overprint was very thin, so after an issue of a couple of thousand stamps the O.M.F. thick overprint came in use. Now that the French authorities decided to have their own money there, this fifth issue, based on the French monetary system, is on sale and use. But of course we might expect some other alphabetical change on stamps of Syria according to circumstances.

The interest for all novelties of Asia Minor is a growing one. In Egypt alone there is such a tremendous demand that dealers have sometimes to hide a part of their supply. Many collectors specialise, and as errors, varieties, oddities are plentiful, it may easily be guessed the amount of money that is invested in this kind of stamps. The first British occupation of Cilicia, Syria, New Arab State, opens the interest of British collectors (especially those who fought in these countries). The actual French occupation of Syria and Cilicia awakens the interest of French collectors. War stamp collectors are also greatly interested, so these issues enjoy a big demand. The limited issue of some values makes the price jump every week.

After its 8th issue, Cilicia is having, philatelically, a good sound rest. Politically, French, Armenians and Turks are seriously engaged in fighting. We know already what both first issued in matter of stamps, what the Turkish under Mustapha Kemal Pasha are using in territories occupied by them is unknown, and besides massacres and fightings nothing else is known. Besides these three fighting parties, there is a quantity of brigand bands which timely occupies or devastates villages. It is to be hoped that no stamp has been found by them, otherwise an overprint with arabesques will surely be the result. Many think that Mexico in 1913 looked better than the interior of Asia Minor in 1920.

BERMUDA WAR TAX.

By HUBERT LYMAN CLARK.

Just looking over the WEEKLY for June 5, I see the note by my friend Mr. Prieth in regard to Bermuda War Tax stamps. I have blocks of four of both issues which have undoubtedly passed thru the mails, but one was used in connection with other stamps and possibly did not pay any postage. I do not know about the other. I have a cover, however, from Mr. Prieth himself with a 1/2 stamp and a pair of War Tax stamps, which came without any indication of postage due. Mr. Prieth has suggested to me that perhaps the stamps were available for foreign, but not for domestic, service.

If Mr. Prieth is right, that these stamps were not and are not available for postage, they obviously are revenue stamps, and my blocks are merely "revenues used for postage." In that case they have no place in the "Standard Catalogue", for, much to my regret, that sine-qua-non of the collector now has thrown that interesting class of stamps into the discard. Having already protested to the publishers themselves, may I register the protest in the columns of the WEEKLY? In my opinion the omission of these stamps is quite unjustifiable from a volume that professes to be a complete catalog of the postage stamps of the world, for they were unquestionably authorized and used for postage. There are hundreds of British Colonial stamps, chiefly high values, which were (or are) primarily revenue stamps but are authorized for postal use and are so used occasionally, and these retain their place in the catalogue. Of course it is impossible to be perfectly consistent in the preparation of a stamp catalogue that is to be really worth while, but this rejection of "revenues used for postage" seems to me an inexcusable great inconsistency. The importance of conserving space is of course imperative, but in my opinion it should be recognized by suppression of "errors" and unimportant varieties.

A PEEP BEHIND THE SCENES.

By CHAS. A. NAST, A. P. S. 38.

(We do not make it a practise to publish matter dealing with Society affairs. Our reason is "lack of space". We have many articles awaiting publication in the WEEKLY that are of general interest and which should have right of way. Mr. Nast is an old member of the A. P. S. and a long-time reader of the WEEKLY, so we publish the article below. If the WEEKLY was the official journal of the A. P. S. we should feel in duty bound to give space for communications of this sort.—W. O. W.)

In August the annual convention of our national society will meet at Providence, Rhode Island, and I deem it an appropriate time to take the body of the members through the routine of the chief officer's work to the end that they may appreciate what work it is to keep the wheels of the society moving freely, and without friction.

At the present writing we have approximately seventeen hundred members. Applications are coming in at the rate of forty to fifty a month, and if it were not for the deaths, resignations and suspensions to offset these, we would soon attain to enormous figures. But this is the sad fact, so many do not appreciate what a dignified national association means to philately in general, and as a result of this indifference, over one hundred members have been dropped for nonpayment of dues. I feel confident that much of this seeming loss of interest is only the result of carelessness. However, all this makes work which is not lessened when the suspended member comes to his senses and asks for reinstatement.

A few days ago I had occasion to visit our secretary whose home is in Denver. There I witnessed the work of getting out the monthly report for June. It consists of six sheets of legal size paper, single space, typewritten matter. This was being done by a lady clerk. I may say that this work was not being done gratuitously. In fact, the business of the secretaryship has grown so that additional help is an imperative necessity. When some years ago the salary of the secretary of the A. P. S. was fixed at $200, the idea was that this sum could pay some capable person who is otherwise employed, a little extra money for services he could do on the side. But no man who works at any other business all day long can work every night in the week until midnight and feel fit for his own work. He must either neglect his private affairs, or employ help on the society's business, in which case the two-hundred dollars now allowed becomes negligible. This is the case in the present instance to my personal knowledge.

The society demands an expert book-keeper, one who is systematic and accurate to a degree in the care of the archives of the office.

In the past we have had some sad experiences with incompetent secretaries, but the work at the present time and in the future demands qualifications of the highest order, and no good man is going to do the bulk of the work and assume all the care and responsibility if the stipend allowed him now is to be spent in employing help. Our society is growing in numbers and importance. We are in excellent financial condition and we can well afford to pay a secretary $400 per annum. Take a look at the June report as published in the Official Organ. All this information is gathered and sifted and whipped into shape as the result of the daily mail which amounts to never less than twenty letters a day. These must all be answered and acknowledged, and many of them contain foolish questions, yet for the good of the order, courtesy must be shown to all.

Here is the clerical operandi of making a member. Application received and acknowledged. Write two letters to the references and enclose stamped, addressed envelopes for reply; make note, as often references do not reply, in which case second letter follows. In case of no answer, write applicant for new references. When treasurer reports, send new remittance sheet. Send card to applicant, then make out stock certificate in new name, send this to the president for his signature, and when returned, sign, seal, and post to the new member.

Getting out the annual membership directory means listing those in good standing, numerically, alphabetically, and geographically, together with indicating their specialties. This work means employing two assistants for three weeks at $15 to $18 per week.

There are five ledgers containing the names of defunct stockholders which must be consulted daily to see that applicant for reinstatement receives his old number. There are fifty-five hundred names in this class. It takes four other ledgers for the present active members, one page for each name. The above nine ledgers contain all the historical data of each name ever proposed for membership. There is a separate book for the necrology.

Here in brief is the work attendant on each name, and to transcribe constantly for the various stages of entrances and keep this chronicle going in the official organ means hard labor.

I ask the membership to think about this. No man can accept this office now, and expect to come out with anything for himself. The two hundred a year allowed is spent in additional help. We must take action.

THE COUNTERFEIT W. S. S.

A. C. Basch sends us some articles in connection with the counterfeit 1919 W. S. S. The differences between the counterfeit and genuine are as follows:—

The new counterfeit is printed on good grade of white paper and is a close reproduction of the genuine. There are several defects, some of which are:

The counterfeit is of a slightly lighter shade of blue than the genuine stamp, and the printing is found under a magnifying glass to be not so distinct.

The hyphen in the words "W-S-S" at the top looks more like period than a hyphen.

APPROVALS

The privileges of our approval system have been abused so many times by certain collectors, especially those who think it does not matter if they hold $100 worth of stamps a couple months while we lose a chance to sell the goods elsewhere, that we have been tempted several times to discontinue all but a limited line. On the other hand we realize there are many who prefer to buy this way, enjoy it, and give us and our selections "business treatment."

Our approval department is still working and contains a greater and better variety than ever before. It's available to those who really want to buy within their means, whether $5 or $500, and treat it right.

We believe we have the best series of books for the average collector out. It contains an enormous variety. Hundreds of books containing tens of thousands of dollars worth of good stamps ready at all times, but they cost us good money, we must insist on prompt returns.

WANT LISTS

are the best way to buy. Costs you no more, you get just what you want. You get best copies in stock. Saves our sending you $50 worth of goods to make a $10 sale, and tying up $40 worth to no advantage. Simply give us Scott's cat. numbers. Prices usually about half cat. If more you depend on it they are worth it and count on a fair charge in every case. Do not ask for approvals if you have a good showing in a country. Small chance you'll get the ones you want.

BOOKS We have hundreds of books not listed below. The list simply gives you an idea how they run. All grades and countries are covered.

TERMS We must have some proof applicant is O. K. Do not care to send out any books for less than $2 sales minimum. Returns within 10 days unless by special arrangement.

SPECIAL NET BOOKS BY COUNTRIES, ETC.

Naturally the contents of these books vary as goods become sold out and new arrive, but approximately they will run along the lines given below. We have others—this is only part of the list.

We are satisfied that the system we have inaugurated is the only one under which a newspaper can do business these days, and subscribers must understand that free copies of the WEEKLY will not be sent to those who are in arrears.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Hail—In the Coliseum, the hall at Chicago in which the republican national convention was held, a post office was equipped by the government for the convenience of delegates. It was said that the mail of more than three thousand delegates and others would be taken care of and the public could avail themselves of the advantages of the model office for buying stamps and depositing mail. There was no special postmark in use and so the convention was not marked in a philatelic sense.

Talk—An address of Hon. Albert S. Burleson, postmaster-general, on the subject, "Development of the Postal Service in the United States and Notable Achievements of the Post Office Department During the World War," delivered last October before the National Hardware Association of the United States was printed in the Congressional Record January 16th, 1920. We are indebted to Mr. C. F. Richards for a copy of the speech which we have read with much interest. Keeping out of the realm of politics, we quote "Then came President James K. Polk, in 1845, who again added to our territory, stretching the vast domain of our country from ocean to ocean, and the Postmaster General under his administration had only 14,000 post offices, about 144,000 miles of post routes, and approximately four and a quarter million dollars a year postal revenue. At that time the method of postal transportation was by pony express and the old lumbering stage-coach. There was no such thing as a postage stamp." On the contrary, postage stamps were known pretty well in 1845; Great Britain had started the ball a-rolling in 1840 and by 1845 Brazil already had issued two different sets of stamps. In the U. S. there were a flock of postmaster and local stamps in 1845; and we respectfully suggest that Mr. Burleson could read Elliott Perry's "First United States Postage Stamp" with profit if not pleasure.

Hail—From Williamstown, Mass., the captain or at least the lieutenant of our ancient and honorable body of subscribers writes: "Six years ago you acclaimed me as the oldest subscriber of the WEEKLY, which, however, I wasn't. To-day, June 1st, as I celebrate my 87th birthday and enter on my 88th year, I salute you and extend best wishes for your and the paper's continued prosperity. Edgar P. Morehouse." We are proud of Mr. Morehouse's allegiance to the WEEKLY.

Loss—From a copy of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer of June 2nd, which was sent us by Mr. Geo. E. Foster, we learn that Captain R. Shimidzu, of the steamship Suwa Maru of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha line, lost his valuable stamp collection which was destroyed by flames. His vessel was damaged by a destructive fire and we sympathize with the captain, as "Capt. R. Shimidzu, master of the vessel, is one of the most ardent philatelists and his collection of postage stamps, valued at $25,000 was destroyed, together with all his personal effects." We notice that the head-liner of the Post-Intelligencer is of the progressive clan; witness, "Master of Suwa Loses Valuable Philatelic Set" and "Capt. Shimidzu Suffers Loss of Stamp Collection in Steamship Blaze."

Find—In the weekly edition of the London Times for April 23rd, 1920, there is (as we should have mentioned before) a picture of a stamp man examining a number of blocks of early British stamps, through his glass; and the text reads: "Rich Secret of an Old Bureau. While repairs were being made in a London workshop to an old bureau, a large number of rare British stamps, valued at several hundred pounds, were discovered in a secret drawer. Mr. Harmer, the philatelic expert, is here seen examining them before their sale by auction." The stamps, as we remember the story, included the penny black and the two pence blue without lines.

Told—We wish to thank the correspondents who answered the question of Mr. Miller in the issue of May 8th, regarding the cancellation: "Stuttgart Nr. 1—25—September—W. Verfassungs—Tag" in five lines. In his explanation, Mr. George L. Pfeiffer translates: "Stuttgart (P. O. Station) No. 1, 25th of September, Wuertemberg Constitutional Convention. The word 'Tag' (day) is used in connection with the word denoting the purpose for which the specific day (or days) has been or is to be devoted. Verfassungs=Constitution—Tag=day—Constitution day, similar to our Thanksgiving day, Holy-day or Feastday. The cancellation, no doubt, was placed in commemoration of the first Constitutional Convention of the Free-State of Wuertemberg." This cancellation marked the first anniversary of the overthrow of the kingdom of Wurtemberg.

Said—Wishing to gain first-hand information on the question, "Will the high prices on U. S. stamps continue?" we went among the philatelic proletariats and button-holed five adults of intelligent mien, as we encountered them. We number the answers. 1.—"Yes, the big bugs are buying them up; they are trying to corner them." 2.—"Dealers have little or no stock of U. S. on hand and as everybody wants these stamps, prices will be maintained." 3.—"U. S. stamps are hard to get and you cannot 'find' early issues any more and so prices will go up more." 4.—"So many new collectors have money to spend and as they all want to fill their U. S. spaces, the prices will not grow less." 5.—"There are now so many U. S. stamps that you can make a collection of them alone; and that is what thousands of collectors are doing." Nothing particularly startling was developed by this inquiry but cold comfort is given us fellows who have been holding off our purchases of U. S. in the hope that prices would drop.

Acme—The letter reads: "What was the happiest moment in my philatelic experience of forty years?" you do not ask. Mine was on my tenth birthday, when upon getting home from school that Friday noon, my mother placed in my hands a letter from Uncle Thad in New York, containing a dollar packet bought at Scott's. I still can see the printed inscription on the envelope containing fifty stamps from Ceylon, 9d Cashmere, etc. None of the stamps that I paid many a dollar each for has given me the pleasure that this treasure packet did. Next.

Size—"I want the biggest stamp you've got for ten cents," demanded the boy of the stamp dealer. We cannot believe that the boy sensing a famine is using philately as a means of speculation; it is probable that he thinks "the great ones eat up the little ones," as Shakespeare's fisherman said. Time there was when some of the collectors observed a parity between the size of the stamp and the denomination and hence the little half-penny stamp and the great big stamps of shillings and pounds but nowadays the distinction is being ignored.

TARNOW.—A city in Galicia, Austria. In 1919, during the transition period, following the World War, certain Austrian stamps were overprinted "Rzp Polska" by the Polish authorities.

TAXPAIDS.—Fiscal stamps, such as beer, tobacco, snuff, etc., stamps of the United States whose presence on containers or elsewhere show that the government tax has been paid.

TOMAN.—A Persian money value represented on the high valued stamps of that country. It is of gold and its normal value ten times that of a kran, or about $1.60.

TRAIL OF THE CARIBOU.—This is the name of a set of stamps issued by Newfoundland in 1918 to commemorate the part played by the forces of the Island in the World War. All values have the head of the Caribou, which is the regimental crest of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment. Eight values of the set are inscribed with names representing war engagement honors, while the remaining four have the word "Ubique" or "everywhere" and the inscription "Royal Naval Reserve".

TRANSFERS.—Transfer rolls are rolls of steel on which the hardened die of the stamp is rocked once or more, thereby leaving the stamp in relief, so to say. The transfer roll is then pressed into the plate as many times as necessary to complete the plate.

TRANSMURIA.—("Across the Mur") —A district in Hungary on the left bank of the Mur River, hence its name. When the Jugo-Slavs occupied this territory during the World War they surcharged Hungarian stamps "Prekomurje" for use there.

TRENT.—As a result of the World War, Italy regained possession of the Italian speaking province of Trent from Austria in 1918. Stamps were issued consisting of Austrian stamps overprinted "Regno d'Italia, Trentino" and later Italian stamps were overprinted "Venezia Tridentina".

TRESS.—An embossed colorless impression, colored imprint, etc., on the point of the flap of the envelope that is in the nature of an imprimatur or control mark.

TRIEST or TRIESTE.—An Italian speaking province of Austria restored to Italy as a result of the World War, Nov. 3, 1918. Seized Austrian stamps were overprinted by the Italian forces, "Regno d'Italia—Venezia Giulia" and later Italian stamps were overprinted simply "Venezia Giulia".

TUSCUMBIA.—A city located in Alabama and famous in the minds of stamp collectors from the fact that a postmaster's provisional was issued there during the Civil War.

UBIQUE.—A Latin word meaning "everywhere" and found on certain values of a set of stamps issued by Newfoundland in 1918 known as the "Trail of the Caribou" series. See Trail of the Caribou".

ULWUR.—Same as Alwar. A British India native state. See Alwar.

UNIONTOWN, ALA.—Confederate postmaster provisionals issued during the Civil War in three denominations. They are very rare.

VASA.—A district of Finland, also the name of its chief city. In 1918 provisional stamps were issued, due to the activities of the Bolsheviks in cutting off communication with the capital city of Finland, Helsingfors.

V.C.—These letters, found on certain Persian stamps, are an abbreviation for Victor Castaigne, postmaster at Meshed when the provisionals were issued.

VENDING MACHINE STAMPS.—Stamps sold from vending machines to the public, with a variety of private perforations and other forms of separation. The United States began to issue several denominations imperforate with the 1902 issue for the accommodation of private machines.

VILAYET.—A Turkish term for province, the subdivisions being called sanjaks.

WASA.—See Vasa.

WAY.—This cancellation is found on U. S. 1847 10c and other early stamps of the United States. It indicates mail for a way post office, that is, an office between the first and terminal offices of the route.

WELLS FARGO FRANK.—An imprint of frame enclosing "Wells, Fargo & Co.," etc., on the face of U. S. government stamped envelopes, from the 1853 issue, onwards. This pioneer western company was the leading express company in the early days in the west and carried mail for an additional fee over its own routes when enclosed in U. S. stamped envelopes.

WITWEN UND WAISEN-WOCHE.—A surcharge found on certain charity stamps of Bosnia. It means "Widows' and Orphans' Week," and the proceeds from the sale of these stamps were supposed to be devoted to the purpose indicated.

ZONA DE OCCUPATIE ROMANA —(Zone of Roumanian Occupation.—In 1919 certain Hungarian stamps were surcharged with this inscription for use during the occupation of Debreczin, Hungary, by Roumanian troops.

DEATH OF ADMIRAL WINTERHALTER.

We are informed of the death of Admiral A. G. Winterhalter by Wm. F. Ferguson, who writes us as follows:—

"A few nights ago I saw at the 'movies' a picture of Admiral Winterhalter's funeral. He was a stamp collector and a member of the American Philatelic Society. Have seen no notice of his death whatever and wonder if you know about it. At any rate, thought I would call your attention to the death."

Admiral Winterhalter has been for many years a member of the A. P. S. His society number is 896. He has recently been stationed at Washington, where he was a member of the General Navy Board of the Navy Department. We regret that we are unable to give particulars of his extended philatelic and naval careers.

NEW CHAMPION CATALOG.

We have received from Theodore Champion, 13 Rue Drouot, Paris, France, a new and complete catalog of postage stamps issued in connection with the war, beginning with August, 1914. Both belligerent and neutral powers are represented and the catalog (running to 136 pages) is a very comprehensive one. It is fully illustrated and well worth the price charged, 7fr 50c. That it is up-to-date will be shown by the fact that it lists the Saargebiet stamps of the French occupation of the Saare district.

2c on 3c Provisional Envelopes

Orders are still coming in for these most interesting Provisional Envelopes which should be in every War Collection. Remittances are even coming from England and Germany. I can furnish them from most of the cities, in different dies on the four papers in all sizes. Every one is properly classified and you are sure to obtain some that will be scarce. One collector has purchased five lots and a number two and three. You are sure to be pleased and I have never had the opportunity of offering before so much for your money.

25 varieties, entire, for	$3.00
50 varieties, entire, for	5.00
100 varieties, entire, for	10.00
125 varieties, entire, for	12.50

I also offer the rare 3c red error envelope Die A, the red error Die E and the black error Die A. If you want the late U. S. rarities either envelopes or adhesives, let me know but please remember I must have the best of references which will be carefully investigated.

Advertisements in last several issues still hold good. My new issue service of U. S. issues will start in October. Get on the Band Wagon if you want everything as it appears.

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—I mentioned in a recent chronicle that the Congress had passed a bill which has since been signed by the President authorizing the Postmaster General to issue a series of postage stamps to commemorate the three hundredth anniversary of the Landing of the Pilgrims. I am now able to inform our readers that up to June 20th no definite action has been taken by the Post Office Department other than the preliminary step of getting material for designs. As yet they have not decided upon the number of denominations nor as to what subjects will be illustrated on each. As your editor will be in Washington again next week he hopes that by that time definite action will have been taken so that we can announce what to expect.

I am able to tell our readers that the envelope specialists, or rather those to whom we look to to finally classify them and list them, have decided that the provisional envelopes which are now appearing will be listed by the names of the cities in which the overprint first appears and not by numbers as originally thought to be advisable. This list is now in the course of preparation and we hope to illustrate them all in an early chronicle.

In the meantime new varieties of the 2c on 3c provisional envelopes are coming to my attention. Messrs. George Smith, George Soultman, Arthur Cantrell, H. W. Lindoman and Clarence A. Bartlett have shown me a number from Chicago, while Mr. Smith has been fortunate in locating some unusual new Philadelphia overprints. A new one from Baltimore is shown us by the Calvert Stamp Co. Since our last chronicle I have seen:

It will be noted from the above list that Philadelphia has overprinted a size 4. This is the first envelope of this size from any city that we have recorded. Our first size 14 on amber is listed this week, Chicago having placed this on sale. This is one of the odd sizes and only two cities to date have even surcharged the white one, namely Indianapolis and New York.

Mr. H. A. Thatcher informs me that he has run into an odd envelope, namely the 1c circular die with a green return card in the upper left corner. The black error envelope occurred by getting the ink pot of the card mixed with the ink for the stamp and here is a variety caused by the reverse process.

The post office seems to be overprinting for official use all of the rejected envelopes turned in by the different offices. Mr. C. H. Voegelé has shown me a 3c Die A on amber, Size 13 also on white, Size 9. Mr. Thatcher has located the 2c Die A on white size 8. I have never seen a list of these, but if any one ever attempted it he could possibly locate a good number.

Philadelphia has just started to surcharge their postals and this overprint, while similar to the Boston, is different. The figure "1" is 11½ mm. high and 4½ mm. at the base. The serif at the top slopes down. Chicago has also started the good work and I expect to give a full description next week.

The Fort Howard Stamp Co. has located a sheet of twenty of the official seal, black on white, imperforate vertically.

We wish to thank the following for notes of interest:—Messrs. J. R. Cumbe, A. H. Kirkpatrick, E. H. Draper, L. E. Smith, C. M. Breder, G. W. Miller, Huntington Moffat and John C. Morgan.

ARAB STATE.—The Economist Bulletin prints the following:—

"The regular Turkish stamps have been provisionally surcharged with Arabic characters at the top, translated meaning 'Hartuma El Arabie', 'Arabic Government'. Up to this writing, we have seen 15 varieties."

BAVARIA.—C. A. Jenkins calls our attention to the fact that they are still using the 1914 issue in this country without surcharge. He submits a cover with a 40pf and 2m stamps used thereon.

BELGIUM.—We are indebted to Jos. V. K. Wells for showing us the new set of stamps issued in commemoration of the Olympic games. There are three values and were printed by the American Bank Note Co. The 5c green shows a contestant throwing the disk. The picture is within a circle of double lines. Above are "VII Olympiade 1920 Anvers Antwerpen" in two lines, while the base has "Pour les Mutiles 5c Voor de Verminkten". Just above at each side "5c", while in a half circle "Bel-

This value is an oblong stamp and the "10c" is at the lower centre of the circle that surrounds the centre figure. The other value is the 15c brown and shows a runner in motion. This value has the same inscriptions at top and bottom as the other two values and the "15c" is in each lower corner. Mr. Wells says that 5 centimes added to each value goes to the wounded.

intense black on green. The same correspondent calls our attention to the fact that the 3d is now printed on a yellow paper of a greenish tinge.

CEYLON.—A 9 cent denomination is to be issued here shortly, this being rendered necessary by the existing postal rate of that amount, which can only be made up at present by the use of two or three stamps on each letter to England and British Dominions.—Australian Stamp Journal.

COOK ISLANDS.—We received a communication last week from the Secretary of the General Post Office, Wellington, in which that gentleman informs us that a "Victory" series of stamps for the Cook Islands is being obtained. The date of the issue of the stamps is not known. The cost of a set for each island will be 2sh.

Now what does this mean? How many sets are being issued for the Cook Islands? Does the letter above referred to signify that there is going to be a set for Cook Islands and one for Rarotonga? Will the new issue consist of the New Zealand victory stamps overprinted "Cook Islands" or "Rarotonga", or a different design altogether? Nothing is said about Aitutaki, Niue, or Penrhyn, which really form part of the Cook Island group. Perhaps the intention is to have the N.Z. Victory stamps overprinted for all the islands and placed on sale.—Australian Stamp Jour.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC.—F. J. Rider has shown us a copy of No. 148 showing the overprint CENTAVO instead of CENTAVOS.

FINLAND (Ingria).—Our Finnish contemporary, Suomen Postimerkkilehti, contains particulars and illustrations of a distinctive issue of postage stamps, alleged to have been made for Ingria, or Ingermanland, a Baltic province lately belonging to Russia. Except for the central device, the design closely resembles the current series of Finland, having the horizontal wavy lines which characterize those issues, and in the center is a plain shield, crossed by the embattled heraldic partitions, with inscriptions: "Pohjois" (curved at top) and "Ink.E.R." (i.e., "Ingria"—curved below).

This province was taken from the Finns by the Russians by the Treaty of Orekhovo (Schlusselberg) on August 12th, 1823. But later, Lake Ladoga, whose shores it is situated, was occupied by the Swedes, who, however, had to cede Ingria to Russia by the Peace of Nystad on August 30th, 1721, since which time it has remained in Russia's possession until a few months ago, when it was occupied by Finnish troops and a provisional government set up in the chief town, Kirjasalo. Other towns are Korkeamaa and Kohtakylä.

According to our Helsingfors confrere, the following are the values, colours, and total numbers printed (lithographed) of this interesting issue:—

5 penni green, 200,000
10 penni red, 200,000
25 penni brown, 200,000
50 penni blue, 200,000
1 mark red-brown, 10,000
5 marks mauve, 2,000
10 marks blue, 1,000

As we have but an extremely vague idea of the Suomi language, we cannot vouch for our translation from the Helsingfors journal being accurate so far as the above-mentioned colours are concerned, so that we crave indulgence in the event of any of them proving to

A real collection, containing many desirable stamps both U. S. and foreign. No foreign revenues, no envelopes. All stamps selected as to condition and are free from papers.

We offer for sale a ten thousand five hundred variety general collection mounted in four loose leaf volumes, International Album, latest ed. This collection will appeal to the general collector, who is interested in the stamps of Neuropo. There is also an excellent showing of French Colonials, about twelve hundred varieties. A fair selection of U. S. and British Colonials. As a whole, it is one of the best general collections we have to offer. $600.00—first check takes it.

We have another collection of forty-five hundred varieties, mostly Nineteenth Century, about a hundred varieties U. S. Condition of stamps. Catalogue value is over $1000.00. You can have it. A good buy for a dealer. Mounted in five loose leaf Albums, four of which are Ne Plus Ultra.

JOHORE.—Values 25c, 50c, $2.00 and $3.00 have been issued on multiple crown and CA chalky paper.—Economist Bulletin.

RHODESIA.—The 1d stamp is now appearing in a decided brick red color and the 1½d is of a distinctly lighter shade. Guest's New Issue Service submits copies of each to us.

SAMOA.—A correspondent at Apia has been informed by the postmaster there that he was expecting a supply of the N. Z. Victory stamps overprinted Samoa, but at the date of his letter, 18th March, they had not arrived.—Australian Stamp Journal.

TURKEY.—The regular 1913 series have been reissued in new colors. So far, we have had 5pa orange, 20pa red (type of Scott's No. 252), 3pi blue, 5pi slate, 10pi violet, 25pi brown violet. The 4 para "1913 type" has been surcharged 5 para in red.—Economist Bulletin.

WURTEMBERG.—Dr. C. F. Roh has shown us the 5, 10, 15 and 50pf official stamps of this country surcharged DEUTSCHES REICH in black in two lines. The first word is at the top, while the latter is at the base of the stamp.

NEW ISSUE NOTES.

By CHARLES S. THOMPSON.

ALBANIA.—The 10q rose of the Prince of Wied series, which was never issued, has been utilized for a series of surcharges, pending the arrival of the Brune set from Paris. Values as follows: 2 on 10, 5 on 10, 25 on 10, 50 on 10q.

In addition a double eagle has been surcharged to obliterate the portrait of the Prince of Wied in uniform. The stamps have SHQIPENIE above, in solid Roman caps, QINTAR below, and numerals of value in corners.

Collectors will regret that this striking set was never issued, though a good many seem to have "escaped". Values and colors of the complete set as follows: 1q grey, 5q green, 10q rose, 20q brown, 25q blue, 50q red-violet, 1fr grey-blue. Very finely surface-printed on chalky paper, 21.5x27.5 mm., perf. 12½.

The postage dues show the fortress of Scutari. Top inscription as in postage set, with TAXE above the picture, and figure of value, QINT and ME PACUE (literally "To be paid") below. 4q olive, 10q carmine, 20q olive, 50q black.

AUSTRIA.—The new krone values in the ordinary coat-of-arms type are beginning to appear. The 2kr blue has arrived, and resembles the others of Ger. Aust. type A2 except in width, which is 3.5 more than in the lower values.

The remaining newspaper stamps of the new type, fullface Hermes, have arrived: 2h violet, 8h green, 12h blue, 20h orange, 60h lilac red.

BAVARIA.—The latest issue of cubo-futuristic stuff, showing sowers, saints, and sinners, has been surcharged DEUTSCHES REICH in two lines.

SILESIA.—The 20p numeral type has been surcharged "5pf" in black, and "10pf" in red. There are four types of each surcharge in those received, differing in the height and thickness of the type used.

The 5m has also been surcharged "50pf", three varieties of type being noticeable.

Whether there are others I am unable to say, but those noted are all I have received. The differences, which are easily perceived, are as follows: type 1, "5" 5 mm. high; type 2, "5" 5.5 mm. high, body thickest opposite the flag; type 3, "5" 5.5 mm. high, but thickest opposite ball, as is usual; type 4, "5" 6 mm. high.

10pf, type 1, 5 mm. figures; type 2, 5.5 mm. figures, spaced 1.5 mm.; type 3, 5.5 mm. figures, spaced 2 mm., also slightly "fatter" type; type 4, 6 mm. thin figures.

The three types of 50pf on 5m correspond to types 1, 2, and 4 of the 5 on 20, but type 3 doubtless exists.

SPAIN.—The 5c green, 10c carmine, 25c blue, 50c slate, and 1p lake have been surcharged CORREO AEREO in thin caps a trifle over 2 mm. high.

TURKEY.—The 20 para Adrianople, type A23, has been reissued in a delicate carmine-rose instead of the former red.

STAMPS OF THE CAYMAN ISLANDS.

CHAPTER VII.

The Provisional "One Halfpenny."

The sudden and—at all events, officially—unexpected reduction of the stock of Halfpenny stamps down to about a two months' supply, caused by the filling of the "speculative demand", as the Colonial Secretary terms it in the official letter quoted infra, of a dealer, rendered it necessary to take immediate steps to prevent a stamp-tamper; and, the time being deemed insufficient to obtain a supply through the ordinary channels, recourse was had to the usual method—surcharging.

Accordingly, on June 11, 1907, the Commissioner of the Cayman Islands took from his not over-large stock of the One Penny, forty sheets (=4,800 stamps), and forwarded them to the Colonial Secretary in Jamaica with a request that they might receive the necessary surcharge.

The Colonial Secretary was, apparently, somewhat averse from granting the request, for, with his reply, he sent a copy of Lord Ripon's famous Circular Despatch of August, 1893, on the subject of surcharges; but, recognising the necessity in the present instance, he gave instructions to the Superintendent of the official printing-works to comply with the Commissioner's desire.

The full text of the correspondence, published by the direction of the Governor of Jamaica, together with the terms of Lord Ripon's famous circular, is as follows:—

Letter of the Hon. Geo. S. S. Hirst, Commissioner of the Cayman Islands, to the Colonial Secretary, of June 11, 1907:

"I have the honour to report that a large foreign order has reduced my stock of 1/2d (half penny) stamps to 17 (seventeen) sheets, which at the ordinary rate of sales will not last me eight weeks.

"I am therefore forwarding 40 sheets of penny stamps, of which I have a good stock, with a request that they may be surcharged 1/2d and returned to me as soon as possible.

"I shall in the course of a few months, if sales continue as they are at present, be getting short of other denominations, when I will submit the question of a new issue of all denominations to His Excellency."

The Colonial Secretary's reply of July 26, 1907:

"I have to transmit herewith a copy of Secretary of State's Circular despatch of the 18th August, 1893, on the subject of surcharging postage stamps, and to request you to be so good in future as to refuse to supply the speculative demands of dealers until you have got a new stock. Copies of the Secretary of State's circulars of the 27th September, 1896, and 19th September, 1905, are also enclosed for your information and guidance.

As the surcharge in this case may be regarded as necessary for the convenience of the public, the Superintendent of the Government Printing Office has been instructed to surcharge the stamps as requested; and I am to request that you will not sell any of these surcharged stamps except across the counter.

In conclusion, I am to add that the Governor is not prepared, without substantial reason, to authorize a new issue of stamps, and to request you to report on this question as soon as possible. I am to say that if a fresh supply of halfpenny, or other stamps, is required, a requisition should be sent forward in due time to enable them to be obtained from the Crown Agents before the stock in hand is exhausted."

Lord Ripon's Circular:

"DOWNING STREET,

18th August, 1893.

Sir,—My attention has been called to the practice of issuing surcharged postage stamps, and to the temptations which it affords to postmasters and treasurers and other public officers, of making irregular profits by dealing with stamp dealers and collectors.

If proper care is taken to maintain a sufficient supply of stamps, the practice of surcharging is unnecessary, and it should never be resorted to unless absolutely required for the convenience of the public and in every such case the officer responsible for keeping up the supply of stamps should be liable to be fined.

RIPON."

The surcharge was set up in ordinary type, sufficient to print a half-sheet of sixty stamps at each impression, and the stamp of which a supply was sent to Jamaica was the current One Penny, carmine, of the King's Head type, on the "all-over" paper.

As a rule, colonial surcharges are not examples of uniformity either in type or printing, but this particular instance affords an agreeable departure, for the surcharge does not shew any errors or varieties save such very minor differences—and they are few—almost inseparable from the use of reproductions which are type-set, and not stereotyped.

The print consists of the words "One Halfpenny" in two lines of long primer, lower case with capital initials, and the impression was in black ink; it was set up correctly and the printing was carefully done, the register being good and seldom "off centre". Occasionally, the stop appears to be missing from its proper position, but, when so, it fell on the adjoining stamp, through the sheet not being quite centrally placed.

The only variety worth recording occurs on the last stamp in the second row, "penny" being slightly dropped; evidently, this was not constant, for it does not appear on every half-sheet.

August 30, 1907, is the date when this first provisional was placed on sale, and it remained in issue until the latter part of November.

Though dealers' wholesale orders for this provisional were not executed, the stamp is cheap as compared with the prices of some of the later surcharges.

CHAPTER VIII.

The Provisional "1/2D" and "1b".

The withdrawal of 4,800 Penny stamps from a stock which, at its best, was probably only a little over 12,000, naturally had a disastrous effect; and the "speculative demand" above referred to must be held indirectly responsible for two more provisionals, this time of a more ephemeral nature.

As suggested by the Commissioner's letter of June, 1907, the issue of a new series—evidently from the "postage & revenue" key-plate—was being considered, but it did not materialise, so far as the Penny was concerned, until nearly the end of December; and meanwhile the supply of that value was running perilously low, so low indeed that, by the third week of November, it was practically out of stock. The lowest value, the stock of which had been temporarily bolstered up by the issue of the "One Halfpenny" provisional, was also running out, and there were no present hopes of a consignment from London.

Under these circumstances, and on this occasion without waiting for sanction from Jamaica, the Commissioner took it upon himself to create two more provisionals to replenish the supply of the lowest two values. With the lesson of their first attempt at "makeshift" stamps, the local authorities evidently carefully considered what value was to be transformed by means of the convenient surcharges; and they selected the Five Shillings, possibly because its use was more usually fiscal than postal, and that it represented a letter-rate little in demand.

It was on November 22, 1907, that the Commissioner instructed the Grand Cayman's Postmistress, Miss Gwendolyn A. Parsons, to convert 1800 Five Shillings stamps into provisional pennies, and that lady had a handstamp prepared for printing the surcharge.

This handstamp was crude in the extreme—a few pieces of printers' type fixed in a piece of wood—the work of a local handy-man; it comprised a single figure and a capital letter, "1D".

The postmistress had evidently more time on her hands than have her official sisters in England, for she was able to place the provisionals on sale at her Georgetown office on November 23, the office stamping-pad supplying the necessary ink; and the new stock lasted until December 9, when a sudden demand for penny stamps to use on receipt forms rendered a further printing of 360 stamps necessary. These proved sufficient to tide over all difficulties until the arrival of the anxiously-awaited "Postage & Revenue" Penny stamp, which superseded the provisional on December 27.

Handstamping is obviously liable to produce varieties, of commission and omission, accidental and intentional; generally this surcharge fell over the original value, but it is to be found in other places and in various positions.

The only true variety is a double surcharge, though copies of the stamp are known on which only the letter or figure is to be found, possibly due to the handstamp not being correctly held.

Meanwhile, another provisional was materialising: the surcharged "One Halfpenny" on Penny was rapidly becoming exhausted, and it became necessary to augment the stock. Sanction was accordingly given for the creation of yet another surcharged makeshift, and Miss Parsons handstamped 15 sheets (=1800 stamps) with "1/2D", the upper figure and letter being identical with those used for the Penny on Five Shillings, which latter value was again chosen; curiously there is no fraction-bar.

In this case, the surcharging was not so carefully executed, there being four variations from the normal: inverted; double; double, one inverted; and omitted "in pair with normal". Of this latter, we have seen two copies—one the centre stamp of a strip of three, the two others being surcharged; and on an entire sheet, the unsurcharged stamp being the last but two in the bottom row of the right-hand pane of the sheet.

The surcharge was supposed to be struck over the original value, but it is sometimes, though not often, found off the tablet; also the figure "1" is sometimes absent, as is also the letter "D" or the greater part of it—both due to the difficulty in delivering an absolutely vertical stroke with the handstamp.

This supply of 1800 was put on sale on November 26, and there was no further printing, this quantity being sufficient to last until receipt of the "postage & revenue" Halfpenny on December 27.

AKRON ENTERTAINS.

The Rubber City Stamp Club of Akron, Ohio, had as their guests, June 9, the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club of Cleveland at a dinner and social evening at the Elks Club. Twenty-seven live collectors sat down at the tables and after an hour of real "hard work" retired to a room at the club where "stamps" were king for the rest of the evening.

An exhibition of specialized Japan and Greece was given by L. A. Hanford, also a very interesting talk by W. W. MacLaren, both of Cleveland. Thos. C. E. Hunter and Chas. A. Townsend of Akron were also called upon for short talks and the latter's "Reminiscences of an old Dealer" were very laughable. The event was very successful in every respect.

NOTES FROM THE ORIENT.

By FELIX COHEN.

On account of the raise of internal postage rates, Egypt will issue soon a 15 milliemes postage stamp. This stamp will represent Rameses II. Also the postage due set of four stamps will in a near future lose the French inscription "A Percevoir" in order to be replaced by the British "Postage Due". Moreover it is rumored that the single star and crescent watermark on Egyptian stamps which represent the Turkish emblem will be changed into the Egyptian bearing three stars and equal number of crescents.

Also the rumor is current that the E.E.F. issue of Palestine will be surcharged PALESTINE. This ought to happen very soon to allow my letter to reach Beverly.

It is too short a time from my last notes to allow Syria to issue a new set. From information the postage due set is very hard to obtain, as only 900 sets of 4 values have been printed. The ordinary set is again in very great demand and postal officials have orders to sell only limited quantities. These stamps look to be provisionals again, and until the political situation of all Asia Minor countries shall be settled no permanent issue can come in use. The peculiarity of all Syrian issues is that the highest value runs always short. And prices here in Egypt for 20 piastres of all issues are advancing or lowering just as cotton in the local stock exchange. We never have had more popular stamps here and any quantity finds ready buyers.

The same happens with the two last sets of Cilicia O.M.F. thin and thick overprint. Quantities overprinted are very limited on some values. It looks as if Paris, which furnishes stamps to these countries, sends only small lots every time. Even the French P. O. in Alexandria has several values of its set short and supplies from Paris if arriving consist of values in quantity here and none of those short. The local French P. O. director seems not to be disposed to surcharge any value, although the shortage of stamps of daily use is greatly felt. In past times the French P. O. was not an office that "paid the expenses". The Egyptian P. O., a very well organized service, was deserving all postal business here. But on account of the fall of the French franc, a part of the public is using now the French office with the same advantage as the Egyptian at about only one-third of expense, as French Alexandrian stamps can be bought here with French bank notes. And letters can be sent to every part of the world except Egypt that remains a monopoly of the Egyptian P. O. business.

The New Arab State is, philatelically, silent. There is the greatest uncertainty about the number of the first issue print. We can obtain neither reliable information nor stamps in quantity. This seems to prove that the quantities of old stocks left back by the Turks are not very considerable.

Date of Sale No. 229

Will be announced in this space as soon as the property is prepared. If you do not receive our explicit Auction Sale Catalogs "BETTER GET ON OUR MAILING LIST."

Few values over 5 piastres have been seen and letters use high values of the E.E.F. Palestine set, together with fractional values of overprinted Turkish stamps.

The "Old" Arab State (Hedjaz or Mecca) is said to be intentioned to issue a new set printed in Mecca. I have this information from an acquaintance who came lately back from Djeddah. The actual set is only sold there when delivering the letter to be posted, and the postal clerk sticks the stamp himself on the cover. No unused stamps can be sold as this is severely forbidden. But of course some sets escape from time to time. A reasonable "baksheesh" allows this.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Joseph Ward informs us that U. S. revenue collectors will find much of interest in Pamphlet Regulations 55. It gives the various schedules and schemes in connection with which these stamps are used.

—A French cover sent us by Dr. W. G. Watt has an interesting cancellation reading as follows:—"Paste the stamp at the top and to the right of the envelope." Thus the P. O. Department undertakes to educate the public in the matter of ethics in stamps affixing.

—We have received from W. F. Slusser, secretary of the A.S.D.A., a detailed statement of the case against Chas. W. Adamson. The largest item is $670, but there are other items for $621, $524, and $350. The total approximates $4,000. Mr. Slusser writes that Adamson's present location is unknown and that further additional claims will no doubt be received from foreign stamp dealers.

—A. A. Hyde, Sherman, Texas, has just issued the June number of the Texas Special Bulletin. It is of sufficient interest for you to send for a sample copy.

—George M. Emery has just written an air-mail story which is appearing in the metropolitan press. In the Boston Evening Transcript it takes an entire page, while in the Philadelphia Public Ledger there is a three-quarter page story. Some excellent illustrations accompany both articles, while in the Ledger appears the picture of Joseph A. Steinmetz, who is actively interested in aerial matters and is president of the Aero Club of Pennsylvania. Mr. Steinmetz no doubt has the finest collection of air-mail covers in existence. We confirm all we have said in regard to the splendid work Mr. Emery is doing in promoting philatelic publicity.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Eugene J. Mauer, Joseph A. Steinmetz, H. Neulander, A. W. Line.

—"Apropos of the notice of G. E. A. in your notes of May 22nd, it may be of interest to your readers to say that under a mandate of the League of Nations issued in the latter part of

DICTIONARY ADDENDA.

By THE MANAGING EDITOR.

INGRIA.—Formerly a province of Russia situated on the Baltic. In 1919 it was occupied by Finnish troops and as this book goes to press a provisional government had been established at Kirjasalo, the chief city. Postage stamps have been issued similar to those in use by Finland.

KALISZ.—A city of Russian Poland which in 1918, upon the withdrawal of the German army of occupation, surcharged stamps of the "Gen. Gouv. Warschau" type with Polish eagle and the words "Poczta Polska."

KING EDWARD VII LAND.—An uninhabited and indefinite tract in the Antarctic regions. Known to philatelic fame because of the association of a provisional stamp issue (consisting of the then current 1d New Zealand properly overprinted) with the Shackleton expedition of 1907-9. The standing of the stamp has been frequently assailed and a book has been written in its defense.

LABRADOR.—A peninsula between Hudson Bay and the Atlantic Ocean. It is a part of Canada. Certain Labrador "stamps" appeared on the market in 1908 with values and designs as follows: 5c seal, 25c Eskimo and $1 map of Labrador, but they are all fakes. They were issued by "The Labrador Company," as it was called, and never acquired any postal standing.

LOZENGE WATERMARK.—This is a watermark design found in the stamps of Germany, beginning with 1905. It is illustrated below, as shown in the mark values:—

MANDAT.—Holland stamps with this word are not postage but money order stamps. The stamp designates the amount of the fee paid for the money order.

MARKKA.—The Finnish form of "mark" appearing on the 1m stamps. The plural form is MARKKAA, which is found on the 5 and 10m stamps.

MONASTIR.—This word with Turkish characters has been overprinted on certain Turkish stamps to commemorate a visit of the Sultan to Rumelia in 1910. Monastir is a city in Rumelia.

MORESNET.—Called also Kelmis. A strip of territory lying between Belgium and Prussia which is under the joint control of Belgium and Germany. Stamps of either country may be used to frank mail.

ON K.D.S.—This surcharge on the Kishengarh official stamps signifies "On Kishengarh Durbar Service."

OSTROLEKA.—A city in Russian Poland where in 1918 upon the withdrawal of German troops and the declaration of Polish independence, occupation stamps of the "Gen. Gouv. Warschau" type were surcharged with the name of city and the words "Polska Poczta" for "Polish Post."

OSTROW.—A city in Russian Poland occupied by the Germans in 1918. Upon the withdrawal of the troops and the declaration of Polish independence the "Gen. Gouv. Warschau" set of occupation stamps were overprinted by the Polish postal officials, "Polska Poczta", the name of the city and two broad bars.

OTWOCK.—A city in Poland occupied by the German troops in the World War. Upon their withdrawal in 1918 the Polish postal authorities surcharged the German occupation stamps of the "Gen. Gouv. Warschau" type with words "Poczta Polska" and a small eagle in red.

PENI-E-TAHA, ETC.—The value in Tongan expressed on the stamps of Tonga. The word "PENI" is of course the same as the English word "penny". The last words express the numerals, as follows:—1, taha; 2, ua; 2½, ua mo koga; 3, tolu; 4, fa; 5, nima; 6, ono; 7½, fitu mo koga; 8, valu; 10, hogofulu.

PFTFT.—A curious monogram found on Roumania 1919 issue. It is in the form of a circular overprint and contains these five letters. P.T.&T. stand for "Postes, Telegraphes and Telephones" while F.F. represents "King Ferdinand". The surcharge was applied to these stamps to commemorate the recovery of Transylvania and the return of King Frederick to Bucharest.

PLONSK.—A Polish city where in 1918 upon the declaration of Polish independence German stamps of the "Gen. Gouv. Warschau" type were surcharged by the postal authorities with the words "Poczta Polska" or "Polish Post".

PRISTINA.—This is a city of Turkey and its name with certain Turkish characters is found on Turkish stamps that were overprinted to commemorate a visit of the Sultan to Rumelia in 1910.

PRO FONDAZIONE STUDIO LIRE 5.—The inscription on a set of "charity stamps" issued in Fiume in 1919. It may be freely translated as "5 lire for the Benefit of the Educational Fund." This fund was for the assistance of students in Fiume who were studying in Italy. The stamps were good for postage at their face value but all were sold at 51 advance over face.

PRO JUVENTUTE.—A Latin inscription meaning "for youth" which heads certain charity stamps issued by Switzerland. The excess price above the postal value was given to the "Pour la Jeunesse" Institution of the Swiss Public Utility Society to aid in its fight against tuberculosis among children. The stamps were for interior use only but were recognized by a few nearby countries.

P.T.—These letters stand for "piastres" in the 3p surcharge on the Egyptian official stamp issued in 1919.

PULTUSK.—A city in Poland occupied by the German troops in the world war. Upon the withdrawal of troops in 1918 and the establishing of Polish independence the postal authorities surcharged "Gen. Gouv. Warschau" occupation stamps with the words "Poczta Polska".

RARATONGA.—The largest of the Cook Ids., its port Aviatia being the trade centre of the entire group of fifteen islands and islets. Stamps were first issued in 1919, New Zealand stamps being surcharged RAROTONGA with value in native terms, RUA PENE, etc.

S. H. P.—These Greek letters are charged in a triangle on Turkish stamps for use in Mount Athos to prevent the name of the local postmaster.

SIEGE OF PARIS.—During the siege of Paris, the famous balloon post envelopes were used. These envelopes were of light paper and bore the descriptive stamps of the time.

SIERADZ.—A Polish city where in 1918 upon the withdrawal of German troops and the declaration of Polish independence German stamps of the "Gen. Gouv. Warschau" type were surcharged by the postal authorities with the words "Poczta Polska", or "Polish Post".

SKIERNEWICE.—A Polish city where in 1918 upon the declaration of Polish independence and the withdrawal of the German army of occupation surcharged the German "Gen. Gouv. Warschau" stamps with the words "Polska".

TANGANYIKA TERRITORY.—The "Territory of Tanganyika" is a tract of land formerly known as German East Africa, and includes that territory with the exception of two provinces in the northwest adjoining the Belgian Congo. Under a mandate of the League of Nations this territory was given over to Great Britain for administration purposes and named as above.

TARTU.—This word found stamped on the stamps of Estonia as a postal marking for Dorpat, a university city formerly known as Hansa.

TIN FOILS.—Tax paid to the stamps imprinted on tin foil under the supervision of a government official and used as containers for tobacco.

USKUB.—A city of Turkey. The word with Turkish hieroglyphics was surcharged on certain stamps of the Sultan to commemorate a visit of the Sultan to Rumelia in 1910.

V. C.—These letters found on the meshed issue of Persia are the initials of Victor Castaigne, postmaster at Meshed when the provisionals were issued.

WLOCLAWEK.—A Polish city occupied by the German troops in 1918. Upon their withdrawal from the city and the declaration of Polish independence, the postal authorities surcharged "Gen. Gouv. Warschau" stamps with the inscription "Na Skarb Narodowy" meaning "For the national treasury".

EDITORIAL.

Found—The newspaper reports of the great find in Philadelphia make interesting reading and many a collector has had his emotions harrowed by the recital of the uncovering of the treasure trove. While the story is somewhat uncertain in its start, it gains momentum as it proceeds and yields a cornucopia of riches in early U. S. carriers and locals at the end. The plain, unvarnished tale when verified by the philatelist-writer will be worth hearing and we hope to have particulars soon with which to regale our readers.

Heed—Here is a subject that is prosy enough but we trust that subscribers will not read it in merely a perfunctory way. It will do no harm to act upon the warning that we convey; and not to do so may entail worry and loss. We have received complaints from a number of collectors recently that philatelic property, such as stamps in cards, approval books and in one case a number of auction lots have been taken. It appears that a good many philatelists are relying upon the probability that a knowledge of stamp values is unknown to the public and leave stamps exposed when they would not think of allowing any commoner articles of the same value lying about. We have heard so many tales of the mysterious disappearance of stamps, loose and in albums, that we know that stamp theft by outsiders is committed oftener than generally supposed. So, let us get out our needles and make the proverbial stitch.

Congress—The seventh philatelic congress was attended by delegates representing over thirty British philatelic societies at Newcastle-on-Tyne on May 25th; and from the account of the transactions of the meeting, it is seen that the congress, held under the auspices of the North of England Philatelic Society, was a satisfactory one. Special labels were produced to mark the occasion and the King accepted proof sheets of them and copies of the souvenir programme and the catalogue of exhibits, as well. Due attention was given to perfecting the organization in its details and a number of instructive papers were read. One paper, we may say in passing, "consisted of a spirited condemnation of recent speculative issues".

Relief—Quoth a reader: "You need not bother to get out a special number to announce that the mystery is solved. I have been puzzling over where I had seen the elephant on the one cent Liberia, 1906, before. The beastie had a strangely familiar look and struck a note in the organ of memory. It now comes vividly to mind that I saw this elephant on a map of Africa in a very old atlas that we had when I was a boy. It was the custom to denote probable cities in unknown Africa by plumping an elephant on the spot." It was Johnathan Swift who wrote:

"So geographers in Africa maps,
With savage pictures fill their gaps.
And o'er unhabitable downs
Place elephants for want of towns."

Queries—The statistically minded gentry may find some working material in the following questions propounded by Mr. Josiah Morrow: "1. Are the most numerous postage stamps in all countries to-day the red, green and blue? And are they the most numerous in this order in all countries?" "2. To what extent, if any, has the use of the stamps of Great Britain for both postage and revenue increased the number of postage stamps in that country over the number in the United States in proportion to the population?" "3. What was the first adhesive revenue stamp of the world as distinguished from officially stamped paper?" Even to answer the third question, we tread lightly as we have not the inclination to go through our Moens' catalogue of fiscals, but at a venture, we say that the foreign bill stamps, 1851, of Great Britain were early arrivals of the kind specified.

Frank—From Mrs. Wallace D. Smith we have a description of a western frank, Bowers Express, that we have no record of, it seems. The envelope is plain yellow with an oval in black with a tiny scroll at sides which contains the inscription, "Forwarded by Bowers Express". The envelope, postmarked at San Francisco, was directed to Vermont and bears a large "40" under the postmark. Evidently, the recipient was called upon to pay forty cents in postage upon delivery of the letter.

Plain—Mr. W. W. Wilson has been good enough to copy the following observations that are not without a postal interest from an article on Prince Edward Island by S. G. W. Benjamin in Harper's New Monthly Magazine for September, 1877: "The other government offices are situated on Queen's Square and surprise the visitor by the completeness and elegance of their construction and arrangement. They consist of a state-house, in which are included the halls for the Upper and Lower Houses of the Legislature, and other offices; of a court-house just completed; and of a post-office which will compare favorably with many of the post offices in our larger cities. Of the management of the postal department, we cannot speak in the same terms. We found the clerks at all the island post offices unnecessarily inquisitive and capable of incredible blunders; there is also inexcusable laxness in the forwarding and care of letters and mail-bags; inasmuch that I never felt sure of receiving letters addressed to me, at least not for long after they were due, or that mine would reach their destination after I had posted them. That this was not my experience alone was evidenced by the frequent complaints against the department constantly appearing in the local papers. This defect in the administration of the government supervision is one of serious and increasing importance, and demands immediate reform. It is said that until within a very few years, such was the high-handed authority assumed by the self-styled upper classes of Prince Edward Island that it was by no means uncommon for letters to be seized and examined by them with no other right than that of the strongest." We hope that they were not trying to bedevil the writer who proceeds: "Northumberland Strait, which separates the island from the mainland, is frozen over from December to April, or rather it is filled with floating ice which sometimes freezes together in a compact mass. Where the ice is but nine miles wide, the mail is carried across every day on the ice, sometimes at great hazard. A boat or sledge is used to carry the bags, sledge as the case may require, either a boat or sledge. The labor of going over the ice hummocks is often extremely laborious. Travel is almost entirely stopped for the season, of course. Some of the used P. E. I. could tell thrilling stories, we vow.

Orient—We have received the number of Stamp Topics published in Shanghai, China; and though it consists of four pages of leaflet size, the information that it conveys is of the highest quality. We learn that philatelic activity in the Orient is marked; and we quote from a recent letter of Mr. Theodore Siddall, Shanghai: "We have been holding auctions about every two weeks and some of the prices realized are truly surprising." Desirable Chinese are in much demand at home, we learn.

THE "FRANKLIN" MATCH STAMP.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

Michael Daily.

Michael Daily appears in the Philadelphia directories, business, matches, continuously from 1856 until 1890. In 1860-61 the firm was McGuigan & Daily and their place of business 217 Race St.
 Later Mr. Daily was at 214 No. 4th St., which is in the same neighborhood. In 1872 the office of the Swift & Courtney
 & Beecher Co. was at 119 No. 4th St.
 The following year the latter firm is listed at 214 No. 4th St. and Wm. H.
 Swift, Sec., is also listed at the same address. Mr. Daily being noted as manager. It appears that Daily joined issues with or sold out to the Wilmington concern about 1870 and was retained as the Philadelphia manager of the business for many years. An advertisement of the Swift & Courtney &
 Beecher Co. in the Connecticut Business Directory for 1879 mentions their store at 214 No. 4th St., Philadelphia, among their other branches.

During the '80's neither Swift &
 Courtney & Beecher nor the Diamond Match Co. is listed in Philadelphia, but Daily appears regularly at the 4th St.
 address and from 1883 to 1885 he is also listed at 21st & Jefferson Sts., which latter is the same site as the Zaiss factory. Zaiss apparently sold out to the trust in 1881. In 1890 Michael Daily is listed without occupation being stated, and his son John I. Daily is noted at the 4th St. address. In 1893
 the Diamond Match Co is listed at 214
 No. 4th St., with John I. Daily as manager. Michael Daily died about 1902.

The Franklin stamp has been seen overprinted in two lines "M. D.—May 1866" and similarly, "M. D.—June 1866".
 The first overprint is black and the second red. As the initials are his undoubtedly, these overprinted stamps were used by Daily. The writer has no information regarding the stamps used by Daily after 1875.

John Schick

John Schick & Co. appears in the Philadelphia directories of 1856 to 1861.
 The address was 919 St. John St. In 1865 John Schick (no Co.) appears again as a matchmaker at the same address and lived nearby at 911 St.
 John St. He is not listed in the 1871 directory but is listed in 1872 and does not appear again. The Franklin stamp has been noted cancelled in manuscript
 "J. S.—Aug. 26—1867."

E. K. Smith.

Mr. Ephraim K. Smith appears in the Philadelphia directories from 1867 to 1881 at 919 St. John St.—the address of the John Schick business before 1867. For several years after 1881 he appears to have been engaged in other business, but in 1889 and 1890 his occupation is again given as matches, at 1030 Canal St. Evidently he sold out to the Diamond Match Co. about 1882.
 He used the Franklin die in conjunction with Messrs. Daily and Zaiss until the National Bank Note Co. began to print
 the private die stamps; then the die passed into his sole ownership and was altered by cutting away the lower part of the Franklin bust and inserting a label inscribed "E. K. Smith" over the label inscribed "Matches".

Regarding this stamp the Boston
 Book states:—

Die approved, Nov. 19, 1875.
 First issued, December, 1875.
 Last issued, Jan. 24, 1881.
 210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).
 16,105,050 issued on silk, pink and water-
 marked paper.

All the stamps on silk and pink paper
 are National prints and that company also printed some of the stamps on watermarked paper. Later printings were made by the American Bank Note Co. and by the Bureau on the same paper. It is possible but not likely that the Bureau printings were all rouletted, and the date of last issue establishes the fact that the rouletted private die and general issue revenues must have come among the earlier of the Bureau printings.

The E. K. Smith stamp is plentiful on silk paper, not nearly so plentiful on pink paper and not nearly so scarce perforated on watermarked paper as the catalog quotations have indicated for many years. In 1900 the pink paper variety catalogued 75c and the watermarked paper 30c. In 1903 the watermarked paper was priced $2. The pink paper has been raised to $1.25, which is within reason, but, on the watermarked paper the catalog prices have been consistently wrong for nearly twenty years.

The rouletted stamp was first mentioned by Robert S. Hatcher in the American Journal of Philately of 1885.
 Many of those in existence have been made since! Genuine specimens are very rare and the present writer has been able to trace only six or eight copies. The color is the dull blue usually found on the rouletted stamps.

F. Zaiss & Co.

This firm is listed in the Philadelphia
 directories as early as 1861, address 250
 No. 3rd St. After 1871 the address is Ridge Avenue & Jefferson St. or 21st & Jefferson, which is the same location, and sometimes both the latter and the
 No. 3rd St. address appear. The factory was evidently on Ridge Ave. and the office down town. Frederick Zaiss, senior, last appears in the directory for 1873 and thereafter his widow, Clara Zaiss, and sometimes other members of the family, including Frederick Jr., George and Bernard Zaiss, are listed as the members of the firm. The firm does not appear in the 1883 directory.
 Two of the Franklin stamps adhering horizontally, though not an unsevered pair, with the manuscript cancellation,
 "F. Zaiss—Oct. 29th '64" have been noted. The stamp which bears the portrait of Mr. Zaiss was not issued until several years after his death.

Regarding the private die stamp used only by F. Zaiss & Co., the Boston
 Book states:—

Die approved, Jan. 10, 1876.
 First issued, February, 1876.
 Last issued, Feb. 9, 1881.
 210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).
 22,558,000 issued on silk, pink and water-
 marked paper, all in black.

This stamp is an upright rectangle of the standard 1c size. All four sides are slightly curved, accentuating the sharpness of the corners. In the center is a circular disk containing a three-quarters portrait of Frederick Zaiss, facing left, with a monogram formed
 of the initials of the firm at either side.
 Curved labels above and below the portrait are inscribed "U. S. Inter. Rev.—
 One Cent, and F. Zaiss & Co.— Matches." In each upper corner is a numeral "1" and the design is filled out with acanthus scrolls.

This is one of the comparatively few match stamps engraved entirely by the National Bank Note Co. and is less attractive than some of their other productions. Fine copies on pink paper are not always easy to secure, but the other varieties are plentiful. The silk and pink papers and some of the watermarked papers are National prints and probably some of the watermarked stamps were also printed by the American Bank Note Co. The possibility of a small printing by the Bureau exists,
 but none of the Zaiss stamps showing the Bureau characteristics have been seen by the writer.

A FEW SUGGESTIONS.

Inclose return postage on all orders
 of less than 50c, or letters of inquiry.
 Ordinary courtesy demands it.

Don't wait a month before answering
 ads and expect the dealer to have the goods wanted.

Don't send unused stamps for remittances of over 50c. The dealer loses
 at least 5% in cashing, say nothing of bother. They are not legal tender.

Don't expect (unless specifically stated) you are to get picked copies at ordinary "as they run" prices and the other fellow take the "left overs".

Remember if you send for approval
 goods, every day you retain them in your possession may lose a sale to someone else. Be prompt with returns.
 You expect the dealer to fill orders
 promptly.

Please consider the stamp business today as a real business, calling for business ability and capital, and like all businesses deserves a fair return. Co-operation between dealer and collector is absolutely necessary, neither can do without the other.

144 Years Ago

an event of which every true American is justly proud took place in what is now Independence Hall in the City of Brotherly Love, otherwise known as Philadelphia, Pa. The Declaration there signed and proclaimed to all the world probably has had a greater effect upon the lives of men than any other document of human origin written before or since July 4, 1776.

The 24c postage stamp of 1869 has a miniature picture of the scene when that famous document was signed and is the only U. S. postage stamp upon which the date 1776 appears. If you have a copy get out your album on the Fourth and study it as you have never studied it before; if you haven't one, save up your nickles and your dimes until you have the price to get as good a copy as you can afford. It has always been a good stamp and it always will be a good one.

Fine old U. S. Postage, revenues and M. & M. at reasonable prices on approval against satisfactory references.

UNITED STATES.—I am now in a position to give our readers full information regarding the most interesting provisional 2c on 3c envelope that has as yet come to my notice. Several weeks back I mentioned a provisional that had come from a small Oklahoma town which I stated had all of the earmarks of being official without philatelic taint. This is the variety to which I refer.

When these surcharged envelopes first began to appear one of our valued readers noticed that a bank in Duncan, Okla., was using an overprint different from any that he had seen chronicled. This consisted of two horizontal black bars each one inch long spaced seven-sixteenth inches apart with a small figure "2" between the lines. He obtained a copy and wrote to the postmaster for information but received no reply. I also wrote to the postmaster twice with the same result. I then wrote the bank, and although they courteously sent me a few samples they gave me no information upon the subject.

If the varieties had really been made for philatelic purposes I felt sure that they would never have been passed through a bank of the highest standing, for no bank would loan its name to foster any such scheme. From the information that I was finally able to obtain it seems that the postmaster at Duncan had received the official notice from Washington stating that dies would be sent to overprint the 3c stamps and that thereafter they would be sold to the public at 2c. The bank in question was greatly in need of envelopes and as there were some of the 3c values on hand with their imprint in the corner the postmaster took them to a local printing establishment and had them surcharged. As the bank agreed to pay the charges for this work he felt sure he was following official instructions. The only size issued or rather overprinted was the size 13 on amber, and now that they have come and gone I doubt if there are 25 copies in existence. Out of the few I was able to see I found the two watermarks and in the case of one of the watermarks there were two distinct shades of paper. It may be well to quote from a letter from the Post Office on the subject.

"Post Office Department
 Third Assistant Postmaster General
 WASHINGTON, May 27, 1920.
 File Fmc DS 37 495

MR. PHILIP H. WARD, JR.,
 P.O.B. 4216, Germantown, Philadelphia, Pa.

Dear Sir:

Referring again to your letter of May 17th, the Postmaster Duncan, Okla., reported May 22nd as follows:

"We received word from the Department that dies would be sent to cancel 3 cent envelopes and to sell them at the price of 2 cents.

"The ——— Bank was in a hurry for some envelopes and as I had no die to cancel same with I had them taken to printing office and stamped over or rather printed like the one you say. It was paid for by the bank."

Respectfully,

(Signed) A. M. DOKERY,
 Third Assistant Postmaster General."

As the Post Office recognized these and as the Postmaster at Duncan will have his account credited for this revaluation, that is, reducing the value of his stock from 3c each to 2c, there can be no doubt about them being official.

This last week has also brought to hand numerous new postals surcharged 1c on 2c. Mr. LeGrand Payne sends one from Indianapolis, Mr. Walter Hartman one from New York, Mr. J. William Harmon has found them on sale in Oklahoma City, while Mr. James Nicholson sends a copy overprinted in St. Louis. As only a few have been issued so far it may be well to give a complete list at this time. The sizes that I mention refer to the double line figure "1", the first figure the height and the second the width of base. All of the overprints are in black and it will be noticed that the size of each differs except in the case of the Indianapolis and Oklahoma City. These may be easily distinguished, as the Oklahoma City has a short serif at the top, the Indianapolis a long one, while at the base of the latter the left serif is much longer than the right,

Mr. Emile Jost has sent us a very rare variety, namely the top horizontal row of ten with margins of the 2c type surface printed stamp showing two tinted plate numbers and arrows. It was from the northwest pane from a 11203 and we find the number about fourth stamp in its usual place and distance above is the number again. It must not be confused with the duplicate phantom numbers and arrows usually found on the bottom of the sheets. It is a direct print and was caused by the sheet receiving a part of the impression from the bottom of the sheet ahead. If the first sheet could be found it would be without bottom arrow or numbers.

Mr. H. A. Thatcher sends me the recent 2c circular die, die E on white, 5, wmk. 19, L.B. with a distinct double impression. One is in a light shadow embossed about 2 mm. from the normal embossed impression.

We wish to thank Messrs. M. N. Geary, Christian Grebasch, J. R. Cubitt, Otto F. Henker and the Hilton Stamp Company for notes of interest.

ARMENIA.—Mr. Charles L. AUSTRIA.—Guest's New Issue Series has shown us the 80h and 2k value of the "Deutschostereich" type. These two values are a bit wider than the lower values and are printed in red and blue respectively.

BAVARIA.—Mr. Fred'k S. Wist has shown us the 40pf new type surcharged DEUTSCHES REICH in two lines in black.

The Bulletin Mensuel chronicle the appearance of the following values of the 1914-16 issue surcharged FREISTAT BAYERN in two lines: 30p orange, 40p olive, and 60p grey-black. Also the issue of 1920 surcharged DEUTSCHES REICH: 1m, 3m, 5m and 10m values.

BAVARIA.—Stamps of the 1914 type (King Ludwig) have been reprinted and sold in imperforate sets, with and without surcharges, to collectors. So far as been able to ascertain, they have en put on sale for postal use. All an stamps are now obsolete, hav- en superseded by current German without overprint. — Whitfield Monthly List.

AFRICA AND UGANDA. — We are ed on good authority that of the 6c K.G. provisional 10,000 sheets overprinted (i.e. 2,400,000 stamps). ork was done by The Swift Press, i.—Stamp Collecting.

ADOR. — The Bulletin Mensuel cles the appearance of the 20c blue stamp of 1913-14 surcharge with dded overprint of CASA DE EOS.

LAND. — In the Finnish newspapers y 16th an official notice appears to fect that the 5 penni green, 10 red, 25 penni yellow and 50 penni stamps, also all stamps of the Wasa are to be recalled from all Post on June 1st, after which date they ot be valid for postage. — Whitfield Monthly List.

ATEMALA. — Mr. L. A. Beebe has us a copy of the 1902 2p stamp arged "25 Centavos" in black. The s at the top of the stamp and the h part of the surcharge is at the Two black squares cover the "2" h side of the stamp. The over- is in black.

JAMAICA. — Mr. G. C. Gunter (Presi- of the newly formed Jamaica Phila- Society) kindly sends us the fol- g cutting from the local "Official ate" regarding the long-promised amp, which was put into circula- on May 6th:—

he following is a description of the hilling adhesive stamp which will e into circulation on the 6th May. The design of the stamp is de- by a profile of King George V n oval frame surmounted by a n. Above the crown is printed e V, and at the bottom of the profile are the words 'Of Jamaica Su- preme Lord,' and 10s in the right and left corners. To the left and right of the oval frame are the words 'Postage' and 'Revenue' respectively, and support- ing the medallion of King George V are two winged figures. The colour of the stamp is a greyish green.

"(Signed) C. C. Manton,
"Deputy Stamp Commissioner."

Mr. Gunter informs us that, not- withstanding the date announced, the stamp in question was actually being sold at the Kingston Post Office counter on May 4th—two days before its official birth. At any rate, the 6th is an auspicious date! Mr. R. Roberts has shown us a copy.—Stamp Collecting.

NICARAGUA.—Mr. L. A. Beebe calls our attention to the appearance of the cur- rent 2c stamp split in the center and half used as a 1c stamp! This came through on a letter mailed from Jinotepe on May 17th.

PERU.—We have been shown the re- cently issued 5c brown commemorative stamp in a much duller shade. For this we are indebted to Mr. L. A. Beebe.

PORTUGAL.—M. Theodore Champion states that one sheet of the 15c, Ceres type, was recently printed in error on very thin paper—paper that the Portu- guese Administration usually employs exclusively for fiscal stamps. This an- nouncement means that only 100 copies of the printing on very thin paper exist. —Stamp Collecting.

RHODESIA.—An error of colour exists in the current £1 stamps, one consign- ment having been printed in violet and black instead of purple and black. The colour is quite distinct.—Whitfield King's Monthly List.

RUSSIAN WEST ARMY.—A series of stamps, said to have been issued for the use of this army, have been freely adver- tised. They show a double-headed eagle in center and the Russian equivalent for "Russia Postage" at top. Our cor- respondent at Reval, to whom we wrote for particulars of these stamps, reports as follows: "I now hear they have never been used on letters. My inform- ant told me that they were printed in Berlin by order of an officer belonging to General Bermond's staff. When the stamps were ready General Bermond was beaten by the Letts and retreating, and consequently he had no time left for issuing his stamps. They are considered to be unauthentic. — Whitfield King's Monthly List.

TUNIS.—The Bulletin Mensuel calls attention to the 30c, olive and blue, stamp of the type of 1906-18, perf. 14x13½, which has been surcharged in red with a likeness of a pair of wings together with the words "Poste Aeri- enne".

UPPER SILESIA. — Mr. William Shafer has shown us two stamps from this country that he advises were used dur- ing the Plebiscite. All writing was in French and the value in German Pfennig. Mr. Shafer's correspondent in- forms him that two issues have been used, the first of 12 values and the second of 17 values. The two stamps sub- mitted to us are the 10 and 40pf and have at the top of each the words "Com- mission de Gouvernement" at the base "Haute Silesie". At the left "Ober Schlesien", at the right "Gorny Slask". The color of the 10pf is red and 40pf olive. Both stamps are perforated.

HAVE AD COPY IN ON THURSDAY.

We are through notifying adver- tisers that copy has reached us too late. Hereafter you will please note that the non-appearance of the advt. will be due to late arrival of copy. We cannot be held responsible for delayed mails.

Why wait until the last minute to prepare your ad copy?

NUT CRACKS.

John Bassler came out this afternoon, expecting to go to the U. W. Gym. with me for our semi-annual bath. A hail, snow and sleet storm started in hailing, snowing and sleeting, so John put his feet on the stove and I lit up my Jimmy pipe, and we discussed the con- dition of philatelic publications in America, Europe and the Orient (we have no data as yet upon Martian stamp circles) and we have at last completely solved the problems of modern phila- telic publishings.

First of all, we submit the following proposition, namely, to wit, and to woo:

(1) The WEEKLY, to meet the ever increasing H. C. of publishing, should use a cheaper paper for all pages ex- cept the first. As the reading matter in the WEEKLY generally appears in the center of the page, any oxidation resulting from cheap paper and long storage would only affect the ads, which have more or less of an ephemeral in- terest. A limited number of copies for libraries might be issued on a pure rag paper, at a proportionate subscription rate.

(2) We believe the first page should be of better stock in order to allow the reproduction of half tone cuts. This brings us to our third suggestion.

(3) If the WEEKLY were to show in each issue, on this first page, some well known philatelist in his natural habitat, surrounded by albums, twee- zers, and hinges, a great step would be taken in cementing the bonds of the philatelic brotherhood.

(4) We believe that the present cha- otic situation as regards stamp publica- tions is deplorable, and that the WEEKLY should open its columns for a time to all suggestions concerning the amalga- mation or elimination of the

The next discontinuance of subscriptions will concern all subscribers whose wrappers bear the numbers 1538 to 1541 inclusive. Just glance at your wrapper immediately in order to make sure that your subscription is paid up. You have ample time in which to renew and be saved the inconvenience of a discontinuance. Moreover, under our new system we are making no plans for furnishing back numbers and subscribers must not expect that we can supply back numbers when we have made every effort to notify them.

We are satisfied that the system we have inaugurated is the only one under which a newspaper can do business these days, and subscribers must understand that free copies of the WEEKLY will not be sent to those who are in arrears.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

A GREAT FIND.

By GEORGE M. EMERY.

In the garret of an old building,
311 Walnut street, Philadelphia, has just been discovered a half trunks and boxes, covered with mold and dust of years, containing thousands of letters and personal belonging to William M. Meredith, time Secretary of the Treasury,
United States District Attorney,
prominent citizen of Philadelphia
quarters of a century ago.

Although it has been impossible to examine all these letters and with the proper care, investigating members of the Biddle family, of city, descendants of Mr. Meredith, revealed the fact that one of the est, if not the greatest, finds of a and valuable old postage stamps has made, surpassing, probably, the discovery of five or six years ago of thousands of dollars' worth of St. Louis pivotal postage stamps, the prize philatelic rarities, among some old correspondence belonging to the brokerage firm of Townsend, Whelan and of Philadelphia.

The trunks and boxes have remained hidden in the garret for more than fifty years since Mr. Meredith's death, but when brought to light it was immediately recognized by Dr. S. F. Woodhouse, of the Pennsylvania Museum, to whom the find was referred, that some of the postage stamps not only were exceedingly rare but were worth in the aggregate hundreds of thousands of dollars.

According to all authorities, Mr.
Meredith was a man of precise and methodical habits, and he saved virtually every paper which reached his desk.
His correspondence was voluminous,
and he occupied many offices of public trust,
one of which was a membership in the peace congress which convened at the outbreak of the Civil War with the purpose of preventing the conflict if possible. President Grant appointed him to represent the United States at the Geneva Tribunal to settle the Alabama Claims.

So far as it has been examined, the Meredith correspondence contains a few specimens of the old Philadelphia carrier stamps issued and used in the period between 1849 and 1851, these stamps insuring the transfer of a letter from the sender to the post office
from the post office to the addressee.
These old stamps, which are officially catalogued at from $25 to $500 each, re-inscribed "U.S.P.O. Paid—1 Cent"—in some cases, and in others "U.S.O.
Despatch—Pre-Paid One Cent." Specimens of the general issue put out at New York in 1845, some of which re-also of the greatest rarity, also re-included in the Meredith letters.

Many copies of the general United States series, issued without perforations between 1847 and 1851, first es-specimens of which now are eagerly sought and purchased for high figures by wealthy collectors all over the country, likewise are among the lot.

"I consider this the most important find of old and rare postage stamps that has come to light for many years," said Dr. Woodhouse, "It parallels it does not surpass in importance the celebrated discovery of St. Louis stamps in Philadelphia some years ago. The St. Louis stamps were included in a lot of waste paper sold for $16, it will be remembered, but when their true value was discovered, the sale price went high into the thousands of dollars. There is no reason to doubt that we shall find in this collection many of the very rarest of the old United States provisional and general issues, including the James Buchanan Baltimore issue, as the correspondence covers the period of their use, and Buchanan was a client of Meredith and his personal friend."

The letters and papers in the Meredith collection are of such a variety that weeks and possibly months will be consumed in the proper examination and classification of the more worthwhile postage stamp specimens.

NOTES ON PRICE REVISIONS IN SCOTT'S 1920

By JAMES F. HAMILL.

Scott's Monthly Journal, issued by the publishers of the Standard Catalogue, has inaugurated a very progressive department in its columns in the listing of price alterations of stamps in the 1920 edition of their Catalogue. Now that four issues of this journal have appeared, one may begin to get a fair idea of price tendencies and of the current of stamp prices. It is my purpose to neither list every detailed change nor comment on all revisions, as such a list would entail much work, require much space, and perhaps tax the interest of the reader so much as to become boring. But a few comments would be timely and should prove interesting to all collectors, especially those who are buying new issues and the issues of the war.

Neuropean stamps are showing a decided trend toward lower prices, as Scott has not let one revision list go by without reducing some of these stamps. This movement was begun in the April Journal when all their prices on Bavarian stamps from 1914 to the present time were cancelled, including No. 94 through 157, and taking in the regular issues of 1914-19 as well as the Volkstaat and Freistaat surcharges. The next month's issue of the Journal abolished a set which had for some time served as a headliner for more than one enterprising dealer in that it marked down the catalogue value of Hungary, Nos. 203-222, (the set overprinted "Magyar Tanacs-Koztarsasag") from $26.58 to $3.84. Batum was the next to suffer when its first issue of 5k to 5r, Nos. 1-6, was reduced from $4.02 to $2.22. At the same time South Russia suffered a decrease in several of its stamps. However, no change in price has occurred in any of the local issues of Neurope, such as the S. H. S. surcharges of Jugo-Slavia, the Cracow

We have been asked why we call them "Golden Rule Approvals." Simply because we believe in the "Golden Rule," and in its application not only to the stamp business, but to mercantile transactions in general. If we could have more "Golden Rule" we would have less "profiteering."

Golden Rule Approvals are Profit-Sharing, instead of "Profiteering." If you will send for an assortment and study our prices you will fully agree with this statement. Write today, and ask for free pair of Latvija "map backs," O. N. BURKE, 3005 25th Street, N. E., Washington, D. C.

issue of Poland, and the first surcharged issue of Fiume; such stamps as these will continue not only to hold their own but, in my opinion, also to enhance in value as time passes.

Considering for a moment British Colonials, we find that the Jamaica 1 1/2d "Peace Stamp", mint, has been reduced from 10c to 7c, but this is only to be expected, now that full supplies of it have reached this country. It was not any surprise either to learn that the Falkland Islands wars had been reduced; the 1/2d from 40c to 25c, the 1d from 30c to 20c, and the 1sh from $10 to $5; the former prices for these three interesting stamps were about correct for the value of the first local overprint, and it has generally been understood that Scott based their prices on that issue; but now that the second local issue appeared last fall, the prices have been reduced in proportion; neither of the two printings can be classed as common, and the first issue should be held separate from the last one—the 1sh stamp at least—and what a pity it is that Scott doesn't distinguish between them!

What appears to be a "boom" in aeroplane stamps is clearly to be recognized in recent Scott revisions. The Swiss Aerial Post stamp has advanced 10c to 35c; the Tunis "Poste Aerienne" up 10c to 25c; and what will interest every collector of stamps; whether he buys aeroplane issues or not, the Newfoundland 15c "Flying Seals", overprinted TRANS-ATLANTIC AIR POST, 1919, ONE DOLLAR has been priced for the first time at $2.50; this last stamp first appeared on the market shortly after its issue at around $1.25 per copy and has steadily advanced since then, and it would be no surprise at all to see the 1921 Catalogue list it at $5, and its companion issue, the popular Caribou set, also at a very much higher premium; both these sets are commanding full catalogue today and are worth holding on to.

Summarizing the stamp market today, one may safely state that the entire field is overshadowed by the countless issues of Neurope constantly pouring in upon us from the other side; whether to buy them or not depends entirely upon whether a philatelist collects stamps for an investment or just on account of the beauty and charm of the game. In my mind there is no question of the value of what may be termed "the older issues of Neurope", such as the local issues described in my second paragraph; but as for the mint lots that are arriving now, I scarcely think they are entitled to sell much higher, if any, from the official number of copies issued, and furthermore, as I stated before, in every journal I have examined both in America and abroad, the trend of Neuropean stamps is decidedly downward. British Colonials are always safe, and offer attractive bargains at the low rate of exchange, at 28 and 29c a shilling; and there is unlimited profit possibilities in the war issues of the British Empire, specially the Occupation stamps as for example the G.R.I., G.E.A., etc., surcharges. I need not mention the safety of all old stamps for collecting, especially of U. S., Great Britain and Colonies, and 19th Century Europeans, including German States!

MAIL SERVICE IN 1865—AND NOW.

By CHAS. S. THOMPSON.

The writer recently received a cover addressed to Mr. Bernardo Sciaroni fu Michele, Brione sopra Minusio, Locarno, Switzerland, which tells an interesting story of the peregrinations of a letter 55 years ago.

This missive was posted, as the Brisbane, Queensland, registration cancellation shows, July 8, 1865. It remained in the post office nine days, waiting transportation, and was next postmarked "Ship Letter B, Ju 17 65 Queensland".

Five weeks later it had reached London, and was postmarked in red "London 21 Au 65" as well as "Registered Pd." The next day it received an additional decoration, "Angleterre-Calais 22 Aout 65." A large "Charge" was also applied at the same time.

Its next place of record was Paris, as it bears both a red "Chargé" and a dispatch obliteration, as well as a too late cachet, which reads "Après le —" (last word illegible).

A Swiss Custom House cancellation decorates the flap above the impressed "tress", and in addition to the foregoing ten stampings, there are three Swiss postmarks: Luzern, 11 A. M., on the 24th of August; Basel, 24 Aout, 5 P. M., and finally, LOCARNO, its destination, 25 Aout, 65. Total elapsed time, 53 days. The cover was prepaid with a strip of 3 one-shilling Queens, No. 17, and these are obliterated with the "95" cancellation.

A striking contrast is offered by a cover just received from the Bahamas. This envelope was posted in Los Angeles, and addressed to Nassau. The addressee returned it to me with some rather caustic comments on Uncle Sam's postal efficiency, as it required 63 days—nine weeks—to perform a journey which should consume ten days at most.

Evidently mail service in '65, when the wind-jammers beat the monsoon and rounded the Cape, could put it all over modern methods of transportation, with express service at sixty miles per hour. The explanation evidently lies in the fact that while the trains run sixty miles an hour, they operate only an hour a day, and then go to the round-house in order to get sufficient locomotive for the next sprint down the track, while the by-gone clipper-ship kept up the pace every hour of the 24, like the Aesopian terrapin, and consequently traveled three times as far in ten days less.

AN ARGUMENT.

By GEO. E. FOSTER.

Re "A Faked Providence Cover" by A. B. Slater, on page 230 of your issue of May 1st, Mr. Slater cites as a point the fact that the stamps have been placed over the figures denoting the amount of postage, maintaining that this occurrence is an unquestionable argument against the authenticity of the cover. In this connection it may be of interest to refer to an article on Carrier Stamps by Mr. John N. Luff, appearing in The American Journal of Philately for May, 1899. Writing of the stamps of "The City Despatch Post," he says: "On at least two occasions the stamps of the United States City Despatch Post were used to pay regular postage to other cities. This is proved by original covers bearing the stamps. The first of these is addressed to Philadelphia and bears five of the stamps (three cent). On holding the cover to the light, there can be seen, written on the paper underneath the stamps, 'Paid 3 cents for City Despatch' 12 1/2 for Philadelphia. Paid."

"The stamps are cancelled 'U. S.' in an octagon as usual. On the cover are the circular date stamp, 'New York, May 30' and the word 'PAID,' both in red. There are the figures 12 in dark blue ink, written apparently by the mailing clerk. * * * It will be noticed that the written figures and the amount of the postage stamps do not agree, but such discrepancies appear to have been lightly regarded at that period." DISTINGUISHED SERVICE.

Press Dispatch Gives the Details of Rear Admiral Winterhalter's Career.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Rear Admiral Albert Gustavus Winterhalter of the navy died in the United States Naval Hospital here this morning as the result of lobar pneumonia.

Admiral Winterhalter was an officer of wide and varied experience in the navy and had exceptionally high professional attainments. He was a favorite of Secretary Daniels. He was born in Detroit, Mich., Oct. 5, 1856, and was the son of Captain John Winterhalter of Mexican War service. He was appointed a cadet midshipman from Michigan in 1873 and completed the four-year course at Annapolis in 1877, graduating with distinction. He then served on the Swatara and the Powhatan, the Constitution, the Jamestown, and in 1884 was ordered to the Naval Observatory. He performed special duty in Europe connected with the Naval Observatory. He became a Lieutenant in 1892 and was on duty in connection with the mounting of instruments at the World's Fair in Chicago and was a member of the board on the model of the battleship Illinois.

He became a Captain in 1909 and commanded the battleship Louisiana from 1909 to 1911 and then returned to duty as member of the General Board of the navy. In 1912 he was ordered to duty in the office of Secretary Daniels as aide for material. In 1915 he was promoted to Rear Admiral and served as commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet. In 1917 he was detached from command of the Asiatic station and ordered to duty with the General Board of the Navy.

The illness of Admiral Winterhalter was very short and his death came as a shock to his family and friends, and his loss will be severely felt throughout the naval service. He is survived by a widow, Mrs. Helene Winterhalter, who was with him at the time of his death, and one sister, who resides in Detroit.

By JOSEPH WARD.

The stamps described herein as "ship stamps" are of all types, some showing sailboats, some pleasure craft, others canoes, and still others merchant carriers, and lastly and most prominent in the eye of the public is the battleship. These stamps date from 1847 to the present year (1920). Some types represent single stamps, while others represent sets, an issue, or a number of issues, as in the case of British Guiana. One reason for the sailboat appearing on so many of the stamps is that various colonies at the time of founding put this form of nautical conveyance on their seals and when it came time for them to issue currency and stamps this device was reproduced. This is true of Costa Rica, North Borneo, Bermuda, British Guiana, as well as others. Without doubt the Columbian anniversary celebrations held in this country and Latin-American lands have aided us to a great extent by their commemorative issues.

Ship stamps have been put in use more in the last thirty-five years than previous. Of that number of years only six have been passed by without some country issuing new ship stamps.

Also the writer wishes to call attention to the following:—

The descriptions of the 1900 stamps of Camerouns, Carolines, German New Guinea, Kiautschou, Marschall and Marianna, German Southwest Africa, German East Africa, German Samoa, and Togo, are to be found under the heading of "German Colonies". This is done to avoid covering the same ground so many times unnecessarily.

The Prince Henry the Navigator and Vasco da Gama stamps of Azores, Macao, Madeira, Portuguese Africa, Portuguese India, and Timor are passed over entirely. A full account of these stamps is to be found in Portugal.

For like reasons, the stamps of Labaun have been left out entirely.

UNITED STATES.—From our own local issues we get our three first varieties. The East River P. O. management in 1850 issued valueless labels of two general types. The first shows a three mast schooner above which is the wording "East River P. O.", below "23 Avenue D". The second type used on the two remaining values picture a one funnelled steamship, with three masts, two forward and one aft. On both of these stamps the wording above the picture is the same but the lower inscriptions on each differs. On the first it reads "23 Avenue D", while on the second it reads "18 Avenue D".

The second and last local issue to favor us is the Essex Letter Despatch and the stamps of this company have for the main feature of design a ship of similar lines as the one used by the East River P. O. The words "Essex Letter Express" appear at the top and two sides. At the bottom is the value, two cents. The color of this stamp is vermilion.

The regular issue of 1869 has favored us, in that the twelve cent value shows a mail steamer.

As might be expected, some of the stamps of the special set issued with the opening of the Columbian Exposition at Chicago, pictured the ships of Columbus. The two cent value shows the Genoese navigator landing, and in the background can be seen the ships. The three cent value pictures the flagship of Columbus, the Santa Maria, in mid-ocean, while the four cent shows the entire fleet of three in the same formation as they were in the moment that land was first sighted. They are the Santa Maria, Nina, and Pinta. All these commemorative stamps were taken from paintings or other works of art. The first mentioned was taken from a painting by Vanderlyn, now in the rotunda of the Capitol at Washington. The three cent design was taken from a Spanish engraving, as was the last named.

The Trans-Mississippi Exposition held at Omaha in 1898 was to inform the people outside of the rapid growth of that great valley. Of course, to form some comparison, they had to picture something to show the early exploration and settlement of the region. It seemed perfectly fitting that the first white visitor should have first place on the stamps. He was Pere Marquette, and is shown on the one cent value preaching to the Illinois Indians from a boat. The scene is placed on the upper Mississippi, near the present cities of Saint Paul and Minneapolis, and the time:—late spring of 1673. The painting from which this design was taken was executed by Lamprecht and is now in the possession of Marquette College, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

The Pan-American Exposition held at Buffalo, New York, in 1901, was to show the progress of means of transportation and of course it was necessary to consider the lake and ocean carriers. The first is shown on the one cent black and green stamp. It has but one funnel and the pilot house is well forward. The stamp is labelled "Fast Lake Navigation". The American liner is shown on the ten cent light brown and black. The steamship presents a starboard bow, lapped by a rising wave. Below the picture is the inscription "Fast Ocean Navigation".

In commemoration of the founding of Jamestown three hundred years before, an exposition was held at that Virginian city in 1907. As in the case of previous celebrations and expositions, special stamps were issued. The first stamp, one cent green, displayed a picture of Captain John Smith, the colony's guide, while the second shows his landing in 1607, taken from an old print. The small boats are in plain view, while the larger ships are seen in the background. Below the scene is the legend on a scroll "Founding of Jamestown 1607".

The Hudson Fulton celebration held at Albany, New York, was to commemorate two events:—First, the 300th anniversary of the discovery and navigation of the Hudson River, and second the centennial of the first steamship in America tried out on this river. The stamp is a page of history itself. In the background is seen an Indian canoe, with several occupants. Next is shown Hendrick Hudson's ship the "Half Moon", and lastly, Fulton's "Clermont". On the left-hand side of the stamp is seen the New Jersey Palisades.

Prior to the opening of the Panama Pacific Exposition at San Francisco in 1915, the U. S. Post Office put on sale a special set of stamps to announce its opening. On the one cent value is placed the head of Balboa, while on the second is pictured a grand enlargement of his idea, the Panama Canal, in which is seen in one lock a warship, while a merchant ship is leaving another. Native scenery is shown on the sides. The two cent stamps were first issued to postmasters January 18, 1913.

With the coming of the parcel post service the department issued special stamps to be used in connection with it. They were of such designs as to enlighten the public of how Uncle Sam handled and carried his mail around the world. The rural and city carrier shown, also the aeroplane and the steamship. A street carrier is pictured at the bottom, also a clerk on the mail. The ship type is the only one introduced, and appears on the ten cent stamp. The stamp is carmine in color, the rest of the issue. The design is a steamship and mail tender. At the ship "U. S. Parcel Post" "10 cents".

The 1898 or Spanish-American Revenues have as a main feature design a representation of the U. S. S. Maine, which was blown in the harbor of Havana by the authorities while on a peaceful mission to that port. The issue consisted of two sets, documentary and pictorial. The first ranges in value from one cent to eighty and consisted of 12 values. The latter set consisted of 12 values ranging from one-eighth of a cent to five.

ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.—The issue of Oct. 12th, 1892, was to commemorate the fourth centenary of the discovery of America by Columbus. These stamps were of two values: two centavos, light blue; and five centavos, blue. The official decree that authorized the issue of the stamps read:—

"BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 12, 1892. In commemoration of the fourth centenary of the discovery of America by the Director General of Posts and Telegraphs, of the Argentine Republic, decrees:

Art. 1. The 12th of October, 1892, there will be placed in circulation throughout the Republic a series of postage stamps of two values, to commemorate the discovery of America.

Art. 2. Correspondence deposited in the post office on the day of the anniversary may be franked with the stamps noted in the previous article.

Art. 3. The postage stamps of the values of two and five centavos will represent the three ships of Columbus' fleet at the moment they were sighted. Above will be placed the words "Republica Argentina" on the left side the date "12 October, 1892", and on the right side the date "2 October, 1892", below at each side will appear the value of the postage stamp. The printing will be done in two colors of blue ink.

memorative of the discovery of Brazil. The stamps were issued in the values of 100, 200, 500, and 700 reis, but only the first need be mentioned. The color is red and the design an allegorical figure of the discovery of Brazil, which shows natives watching from the rocks the approach of the white man's ships which are under full sail.

BRITISH GUIANA.—All the postage stamps of this country except the 1850 and commemorative issue of 1898, dated 1897, show the same general design, that of an early 19th century merchantman ship with spread sails showing a starboard side view. One reason for this being on so many stamps is that it, and the wording "Damus Petimusque Vicissim," comprise the colony's seal.

BRITISH SOLOMON ISLANDS.—All the stamps of this South Pacific protectorate of Great Britain prior to 1913 displayed a native nautical conveyance. Since that time, however, the regulation design used by so many of the other colonies have been put into use.

BRUNEL.—The stamps of this extremely unhealthy island (a protectorate of Great Britain on the north coast of North Borneo) display a bit of native scenery in which a thatched "house" and native boat show in prominence. The "skipper" furnishes the power from the stern, while the cargo is placed amidships. The bow is completely out of the water.

CANADA.—The 15 and 20 cent values issued in connection with the celebration held at Quebec in 1908, the 300th anniversary of the founding of that city, picture the means of navigation used by the early explorers of that now great country. We will mention them in order. The first shows the great explorer ready to embark. Champlain is standing on the bank talking with friends, while his companions have already taken their places and are waiting for him to join them. The picture is full of life. The legend beneath reads "Partement de Champlain pour l'ouest". The word "partement" is now an obsolete equivalent for the modern "depart". This word is found often in Champlain's journals. The twenty cent picture shows the fleet of Cartier at the time of his arrival at what is now Quebec. He sailed from St. Malo May 19th, 1535, and arrived at Stadacone the next September. The site of his landing is now located in the southeastern part of the city of Quebec. The vessels pictured are the Grande Hermine, Petite Hermine, and the Hermillon, ranging in tonnage 120, 80 and 40 respectively.

CHILI.—The postage stamps of this South American country, issue of 1910, are of historical interest and recall to our minds the stories of this country's fight for freedom. This issue marks the centennial of Independence as did our issue of 1876. The ten and twelve centavos values picture Chili winning on sea, while San Martin was defeating the oppressor on land. The first stamp shows the combat between the frigates Esmeralda and Lautaro, in which the former vessel attempted to blockade the harbor of Valparaiso but was treated to the sour fruits of defeat and forced to withdraw to Callao. This scene dates back to April 27th, 1810. The second illustrates the capture of the Spanish frigate Maria Isabella on the 29th of October, 1810, in the harbor of Concepcion. On this day the Chilean frigate San Martin under the command of the "rebel" Commodore Eucalada drew alongside the enemy and gave her several broadsides which scared the crew so completely that many jumped overboard, leaving the vessel in the hands of the rebels, who later rechristened it the "O'Higgins".

CHINA.—The 24 candarin stamp issue of 1894, occasioned by the 60th birthday of the Dowager Empress, pictured the Chinese native boat, the junk, in mid-stream in full sail.

The first issue of the Republic of China, values 1/2 to 10 inclusive, ten values, picture the same junk on the Hoang Ho, or Yellow River, sometimes spoken of in this country as "China's Great Sorrow", due to its annual rising, accompanied by great loss of life and property. In the distance is seen the Tiensin-Pukow Railroad bridge near Tsinanfu, over which a train is seen passing. Over the junk is the inscription in Chinese characters "Chunghua Mim-kuo Yu-cheng", or Chinese Republic Postal Service.

As in our own country, the local stamps of China aid us. The Chungking and Foochow local stamps, placed in circulation about the same time as the 1894 commemorative stamps, picture the junk, also. The issues of the first named treaty port picture a bit of local Chinese scenery besides the junk. A hill and pagoda are seen in the background. The issue numbers six stamps, and at a passing glance they all seem alike in every detail, but they are not. The junks in the two are not the same! They differ as to size, number of persons aboard and pieces of cargo on board. Also in the second, clouds are visible, an unrecorded phenomenon in the first. The first stamps bear the inscription at the top "Chungking", while on the second it reads "Chungking L. P. O."

About this same time, Foochow issued her stamps, comprising nine values, an attractive lot to say the least. The values range from 1/2 to 40 cents. The design pictures a sailless boat in the foreground. Its crew and passengers can be easily seen. In the background is shown a harbor, a haven from the winds, surrounded by hills. Herein is seen a score or more junks, some with sails furled as though tied up for the off-season.

Chinese post cards also bear the junk. The 1918 issue of cards carries the regulation "junk design" used on the adhesive stamps of five years previous. They are of the values of 1 1/2 and 3 cents, color blue.

COLOMBIA.—The 1903 issue of Colombian labels furnish us with one more type. It is shown on the five centavos value and pictures a modern coast steamer with one funnel and two wireless masts, presenting a starboard side view.

CHANGES OF ADDRESS.

It takes two weeks to make a change of address. Don't wait until the last moment.

And don't bother us with the return date in September. Let a post card do it.

Remember that new stencils cost money and two changes are necessary. Should we stand that expense?

If you happen to miss a number we will try and make it good, but bear in mind that the air mail is yet in its infancy.

TIT FOR TAT.

Tat affirms:—

With stamps, my dear, thy head is turned;
By many, such an art is spurned
As being cause of loss of time
For cancelled things not worth a dime.
I wonder thou enjoy'st such trash,
Discarded as 'tis with a dash
Of pen and ink, and then 'tis cast
Into the paper basket, lost
To view of all, till some poor guy
Perceives it as he passes by,
And gathers it safely as a stone
Whose value is to him unknown.
Quit, then, O Friend, this crazy lore,
E'er Death will knock upon thy door.

Tit replies:—

Toward stamps, indeed, my head is turned,
Although by many they are spurned.
I really think it's well spent time
To cull such gems worth many a dime.
I wonder why you call them trash!
Because they're cancelled with a dash?
Why, man alive! knowst thou the cost
Of gems in baskets so oftne lost?
Thrice happy ay! the lucky guy
Who chances as he passes by
To cull them as a precious stone
Whose value to the few is known.
Name not this hobby crazy lore,
Lest death should knock upon your door.

EDITORIAL.

It—"For Art may err but Nature cannot miss," but if one places "human" before Nature in the quotation, we may say that it misses frequently. Last week a great find in Washington was mentioned and particulars were promised in the succeeding issue. When the words were written, we had not seen the clipping from the Chicago Herald-Examiner of June 21st but a retinue of news retainers assured us that we were safe in referring to the story which they had read with avid interest and which in consequence was indelibly impressed on their minds. "In Washington," they said, "the great find of early U. S. had been made in the residence of an old secretary 'of something or other', or words to that effect." We obtained such Washington papers as were offered and found no mention of the tale; and the Herald-Examiner of June 21st that we got at the office of the newspaper had nothing to say about the discovery. However, a newspaper friend said that the story was run in the early editions only and was killed in the later editions. Finally, we got the clipping from a reader and learned that a considerable find embracing "stamps of the United States from the provisional issues of 1845 to the general issues of 1875" had been made in Philadelphia and not in Washington as we had been given to understand, when the heirs of William M. Meredith, secretary of the treasury under President Taylor and United States District Attorney for eastern Pennsylvania decided to remove the effects from his old home at 311 Walnut Street. In the garret were trunks and boxes filled with letters and documents; and it is worthy of note that each letter was enclosed in an envelope on which secretarial notes were made. Dr. Samuel Woodhouse of the Pennsylvania Museum is authority for the statement that the find is an important one as it is particularly rich in carrier and local issues. That there will be echoes of this find for some time to come is the probability.

On—We do not know how the war that the Republic of Azerbaijan declared against the Republic of Armenia is progressing, but the stamps of the fighting twin republics are much to the fore; and if the issues are to mark the ebb and flow of warfare probably there will be busy times ahead for the printers and collectors.

So—There is a disposition still to accept with a good grace the Neuroppe issues even though they are descending upon us in a paper shower. We think that one reason why they are regarded with sympathy by collectors who do not scan their credentials closely is because they have a sense of tolerance for the countries that are striving to confirm their nationality. Another factor is one that at first glance is a seeming objection but after all may be an advantage, and that is the large number of the stamps in question. In the aggregate they are enough to make a philatelic subdivision in themselves. We remember how Lewis Robie, the U. S. revenue stamp booster, was inclined to lament the comparative unpopularity of the private proprietary stamps of the Spanish-American war period, a condition due, in his opinion, to the few firms who ordered private dies.

Ha—Mr. Jonas Reed asks what effect nation-wide prohibition has had on Count Lapp de Booz who when last heard of was the philatelic life of the rest cure, Nutt Knoll. Dr. Twodrops, the urbane proprietor of the establishment that makes a specialty of repairing philatelic wear and tear, says that the Count has left them to claim his ancestral domains in Zuforgia, of which he was dispossessed by the ruling house of the country, now "happily expunged".

Oh—We wish to congratulate the editor of Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Circular upon his choice of subject for a third competition for the readers of his sheet: Stamps of the value of two guineas are offered for the best list of twelve people in the stamp world whom the contestant would most like to meet, placing them in the order of preference. collecting is eligible and the reason for the choice are not required. This contest is based on happy, human nature and should engender no little degradation; and if the theft of the prize would not be so bald a one, we should imitate the plan on this side. We had a popularity contest but we cannot recall who was named over all, certainly our brains as we may. Evidently the fame was not registered on "records" that defy the tooth of time."

ROBERT EMMETT HOPKINS
PRINCETON, N. J.

G. FARR & CO.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

The firm of George Farr & Co. is listed in the New England Business Directory for 1856 at Athol, Mass., and in 1865 at Athol Depot, Mass., but does not appear in any of the Boston directories of 1862 to 1871, although the address given on the stamps is Boston.
The town of Athol is in the north central part of Massachusetts on the Fitchburg Railroad about 80 miles west of Boston. Presumably the factory was at Athol and the matches were distributed through a selling agent in Boston.

Of the Farr stamp the Boston Book states:—

Die approved, Feb. 23, 1865.
First issued, March, 1865.
Last issued, March 5, 1868.
210 stamps per sheet (14x15).
1,621,290 issued in black on old paper.

The stamp is an upright rectangle of the standard 1c size. A three-quarter portrait of Mr. Farr facing left is enclosed in an oval, the sides and bottom of which are followed by a curved band inscribed "G. Farr & Co. Boston, Mass." Outside this band in the lower left corner is a label inscribed "Friction", and a similar label at the right is inscribed "Matches". Above the portrait oval is a small circular disk containing the numeral "1" with "One" at its left and "Cent" at its right. The top of the stamp consists of a curved band inscribed "Inter. Revenue", the ends of the band being reversed to form a circular space in each upper corner—that at the left containing U and at the right S. Ornate acanthus scrolls and other ornamentation complete the design. The frame is almost identical with that of the 1c Richardson match stamp engraved a year previously, and the upper band and lettering therein is just like that of the Brown & Durling stamp engraved a month later.

The Farr stamp is one of the earlier Butler & Carpenter productions and all were printed in Philadelphia by that firm. The centering is seldom better than fair and absolutely perfect copies are very rare if they exist at all. Specimens with slight defects and fairly well centered are as fine as collectors can reasonably expect to obtain. In recent years the rarity of this stamp has been little appreciated. Theoretically, it can be bought cheaper today than 35 years ago! From 1886 to 1899 the Farr was listed at $3.50. From 1900 to date it has been listed at $2.75, although it is doubtful if twenty different good-to-fine copies have come into the market in these twenty years. In 1886
the 5c postage stamp of 1847 cataloged 25c and 10c was priced $1. The Farr match stamp was known to be several times as scarce as the 10c 1847 way back in the '80's and it is no commoner today. Kind reader, how would you like to buy 1847's for less than they brought in 1886?

A SIGNAL HONOR.

Charles Lathrop Pack, the well known philatelist of Lakewood, N. J., has just been awarded the great gold Tapling medal by the Royal Philatelic Society of London. The medal is given for Mr. Pack's research work on the half-length portrait stamps of Victoria and for his leadership in scientific philatelic investigation and original discovery.
The Tapling medal was established in 1914, but Mr. Pack is the first one upon whom it has been bestowed. It is indeed a signal honor that has been awarded him, and his great circle of friends will join heartily with us in extending congratulations.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all
the news from the various philatelic centers.
Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—The Fennell Stamp Co. has shown us a cover bearing a strip of five of the 2c 1895 U. S. all showing the Triangle III, with the exception of one stamp, which shows no lines whatever.
The variety stands out clear and distinct, and is certainly interesting.

—Rynichi Yokohori informs us that Japan will celebrate in March of next year the 50th anniversary of the introduction of the regular postal system
"after the Western method". Mr. Yoko-hori suggests that the occasion may be used for the issuing of a set of commemorative postage stamps and also a special cancellation.

—H. S. Dickey, the well-known philatelist of Newton, Kansas, sends us another song of which he is the author, and he writes: "It looks as though I had scored a hit." Mr. Dickey intends to publish a song every two weeks, and our fear is that he will get so interested in this branch of art that philately and especially precancels will be neglected. We thank Mr. Dickey for a copy of this latest song, which is entitled, "What I Like to be Called."

—The death of D. T. Eaton, Muscatine, Iowa, took place on June 26th and the burial on June 29th, according to a telegram from R. J. Tarpy of Waterloo, Iowa, who promises to send particulars.

—Mr. Fred E. Prohaska, who has been advertising continuously in the WEEKLY
during the past year, is about to open a stamp shop at 244 Market St., Newark, N. J. His store will be in the heart of the city and he announces August 1
as the date of the opening. Judging from our subscription list, we are satisfied that there are enough collectors
in Newark and vicinity to make Mr.
Prohaska's venture a promising one.
He will carry a full line of our publications.

—L. L. Albright has sold his stamp business to the Covert Stamp Co. of Rochester, N. Y. Mr. Albright will be remembered as an oldtime advertiser
in the WEEKLY.

—Clippings are acknowledged with
thanks from N. D. Babcock, Herman
W. Boers, Edw. P. A. Pifer, E. O.
Barnes, J. E. Guest, J. Rausch.

—"In MEKEEL'S for June 19, received today, I see that you quote Stamp Collecting as inquiring about Kaigeld! Vol.
IV of Muret-Sanders' well-known
German Dictionary banishes all doubt.
Kai is the regular German word for 'quay', and geld means money. Kai-geld is 'quay-money'—or, as Muret-Sanders puts it, 'wharfage, quaysage, pierage.' The terms evidently represent a tax (in this case to the amount of 1 mark 12 pfennigs, as the cancellation shows) and the stamp is a revenue, pure and simple. I think one may safely regard this question as answered without seeing the stamp, and the geographies may be put away. There are so many German-speaking or reading collectors that the joke is on Stamp Collecting."—EDGAR S. BRIGHTMAN.

DON'T REMIT IN STAMPS.

We are compelled to decline stamps
as remittances on amounts over 50c and urge dealers to make the same rule with their patrons. A dollar bill should be used when possible and any small amount remaining can be enclosed in stamps. Checks or money orders should be used on all remittances of $2 or over.

DEATH OF D. T. EATON.

We record with sorrow the death of an old friend of the WEEKLY, D. T.
Eaton of Muscatine, Iowa, a veteran stamp dealer and a former secretary of the A. P. S. His advertisements of envelopes will be recalled by many of our old subscribers and all who came in contact with him were impressed with his rugged character and sterling honesty. A western subscriber sends us the following clipping:—

MUSCATINE, IA., June 26.—(Special.)
—Demetrius T. Eaton, one of the best known philatelists in the middle west and a resident of Muscatine for 63 years, dropped dead of heart disease in his home here early yesterday. He was 65 years of age.

Mr. Eaton complained of difficulty in breathing and a choking sensation shortly before he dropped over dead. Breaking of a cord leading to the heart was the cause of death, physicians said.

During his lifetime, Mr. Eaton had collected some of the rarest stamps in the world. His collection was unusually large and complete. He was an authority on matters pertaining to stamps.

Deceased was born in Marion county,
Ind., Jan. 22, 1855, and came to Muscatine with his parents when two years of age. He was united in marriage to Miss Nettie Smith on April 26, 1882.

Mr. Eaton was an active member of the First Presbyterian church.

ATLAS STAMP CO., W. Somerville, Mass.

144 Years Ago

an event of which every true American is justly proud took place in what is now Independence Hall in the City of Brotherly Love, otherwise known as Philadelphia, Pa. The Declaration there signed and proclaimed to all the world probably has had a greater effect upon the lives of men than any other document of human origin written before or since July 4, 1776.

The 24c postage stamp of 1869 has a miniature picture of the scene when that famous document was signed and is the only U. S. postage stamp upon which the date 1776 appears. If you have a copy get out your album on the Fourth and study it as you have never studied it before; if you haven't one, save up your nickles and your dimes until you have the price to get as good a copy as you can afford. It has always been a good stamp and it always will be a good one.

Fine old U. S. Postage, revenues and M. & M. at reasonable prices on approval against satisfactory references.

E. P. HIMSELF.

UNITED STATES ISSUES.

Please remember that I am always a buyer of anything fine in the way of U. S. I want and can furnish the rarities as well as the others. During the last two months I have placed a 24c aero invert, a 5c error imperf., a 2c Pan American invert, a set of blue papers, several rare Confederate covers, two superb M. & M. collections, a general U. S. collection cataloguing several thousand dollars besides many other medium grade varieties. Most of these have been bought within the same period. Therefore remember if you want to turn your holdings into cash I will pay top notch prices.

In the meantime, I can still furnish the items in my last several advertisements such as 2c on 3c envelopes, imperfs., compounds, etc. Remember that there were only 10 sheets of the 2c surface print imperf. type I and they are consequently scarcer than the 5c 1902 imperf. My price is now advanced from $3.00 per block to $5.50, and after August 1st please remit at $5.00 per block. There are not enough to go round and they are sure to be rare.

The same stamp Type II at 25c per block.

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Other stamp journals have mentioned the current issue of our postage stamps upon a so-called double paper, and through the courtesy of Messrs. J. E. Scott and Harmon Wendell I have seen a copy of the 12c precancelled Chicago. For the benefit of our readers I would advise that the Bureau is positively not using double paper, and I am advised by a paper expert that stamps coming on heavier paper can be readily split. While I am sure that the copy I saw was not the result of tampering, nevertheless I am quite positive that the double effect was the result of the top layer being loosened while the stamp was passing through the mails. Most of these varieties have been coming from the same part of the country where originated the recent so-called roulettes, and they belong in the same class with them.

The Washington Post Office has just placed on sale a 2c on 3c provisional envelope with a new overprint which will be known as the third Washington overprint. We have received so many different overprints from Washington, due to the fact that when a new die arrives they seem to try it out there before sending elsewhere. For instance, the first die was later sent to St. Louis, the second to New York and it is not known where this third one will go. This third type resembles the Cleveland overprint in that the figure "2" has a pear-shaped lobe, Cleveland being the only previous surcharge with this peculiarity. It differs from the Cleveland in that the end of the figure ends in a triangle instead of a vertical line and the lines under the figure are closer. We thank Mr. H. W. Porter for an early copy of this stamp.

Mr. Harry C. Goebel sends us some new ones from Pittsburgh, while Mr. Robert McClun has found another from Chicago. Mr. E. J. Newcomer sends an unlisted variety from Seattle, while Mr. A. Hermann sends two from New York that we have not seen heretofore. Mr. J. J. Prendergast sends us one from Boston that has the stamp on the inside but it is a die that has not been chronicled heretofore with the Boston overprint. Mr. Goebel sends some doubles and other errors from New York and Mr. W. H. Yale a similar variety from the same city. These errors are so numerous that we are not listing them in detail. In fact, I purchased a box here in Philadelphia and found no less than three different combinations in the same box, including those surcharged on the back and not on the front.

Mr. A. Hermann again calls our attention to the fact that New York has been using two distinct dies and we hope to illustrate both in an early issue.

Mr. Benj. Cadbury sends us one of the small manila wrappers from the 2c coil stamps and we note that the Bureau has changed their markings. We now find a large figure "2" to indicate the denominations and imagine that this will be followed in the case of the other values.

We wish to thank Dr. William Evans, Messrs. Cassius L. Clay, Emile Yost, G. G. Ryder, C. Grebasch and George Smith for notes of interest.

AUSTRIA.—We are indebted to Guest's New Issue Service and Economist Stamp Co. for sending us copies of the new 20k stamp of the "Deutschosterreich" type. The colors are lilac and terra.

The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the 1m value of the last issue. The color is dark brown.

BELGIUM.—Mr. A. E. Hussey and Mr. Adolph H. Dillmann have shown us copies of the recently issued 1c and 2c values. They are of smaller size than heretofore, although the design and inscription are the same. The colors are grey violet and pale olive respectively.

COLOMBIA.—Mr. Herman Focke advises us that there has appeared a provisional 50c, crimson red, in Scott's type A89 of 1902 with the word "Provisional" in a frame printed diagonally in the left lower corner.

COSTA RICA.—We understand that a commemorative series of three stamps is about to be issued, all of the same denomination, 5c, and comprising 100,000 with portrait of Rogelio Fernandez Guell, the same number of Alfredo Volio Jimenez, and also of Marcelino Garcia Flamenco. We haven't the pleasure of acquaintance with these gentlemen and are certainly not anxious to meet them, on stamps or in the flesh.—Stamp Collecting.

CZECHO SLOVAKIA.—Mr. Max Beck submits to us a copy of the 30d current type in a red lilac shade.

ECUADOR.—M. Th. Champion informs us that on October 9th next the current series will be withdrawn and superseded by a special commemorative series. Information is not to hand, however, to the reason, or excuse, for this. Apparently the South and American have developed the "Neurope" pretty badly. Meanwhile, it is at that the "Casa de Correos" provision were all sold out within eighteen of their appearance.—Stamp Collecting.

ETHIOPIA.—Mr. Herman Focke attention to the 2g value in darbi with the head of the ruling Negus yellow brown in the centre and a yellow lion in the lower left corner.

HAYTI.—Mr. Herman Focke the following surcharges, 3c Gourde 7c, orange red No. 207, in red; Gourde on the same stamp in purple; 5c, Gourde on 15c yellow, No. 210; red; 5c, Gourde on 7c on 20c orange No. 217, in red; 5c Piastre on 1 orange, No. 188, in red.

MOZAMBIQUE.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the 1918 Wa stamps Nos. 327 and 328, surcharged "Correios 1c" and "Correios 1/2" respectively in black and diagonally.

MOZAMBIQUE COMPANY.—The London Exchange, and Mart, on the auction of another contemporary, deserves handsome new set of Postage stamps which are stated to be upright, circular, with the Company's Arms in centre. Inscriptions: above "Comandante Mocambique," and in curved lines each side of the centre, "Porteado" and "A Receber" right. Values are shown in figures on white labels over "centavo" or "centavos" at foot. Per 14

PERU.—The Economist Stamp Co. Mr. Herman Focke have shown us copy of the 5c stamp issued to commemorate the new constitution of 1919 in a milk-blue and black center with the head of A. B. Leguia.

ST. THOMAS.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the 2 1/2c, current issue, surcharged "504 Centavos" in blue in two lines. Two heavy and one line obliterate the former value.

SILESIA.—In addition to the values reported last week of the revenue stamps the Economist Stamp Co. has shown the following values: 5pf green, 10pf violet, 20pf blue, 30pf orange, 50pf green, 60pf blue, 75pf green, 80pf brown, 1m lilac, 2m brown, 3m violet, 4m orange. From 50pf to 5m inclusive stamps are of larger size, measuring 24x40 mm.

ST. KITTS.—We have to thank the Economist Stamp Co. and Mr. J. Mason for showing us the fine new set of stamps just put on sale at this time. The stamps are the same size as the recently issued Bahamas Peace set.

STAMPS OF THE CAYMAN ISLANDS.

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

CHAPTER IX. The "Zenaida."

The advent of the new Halfpenny and Penny had put an end to the "provisional" period, and it was believed that, pending the receipt of supplies of the remaining values of the new series, the stocks on hand were sufficient for all requirements.

This belief was unexpectedly shattered
on February 12, 1908, when Sir Frederick Johnson's steam-yacht "Zenaida" anchored off Georgetown, and an offer was made to convey the foreign mails to Cienfuegos in Cuba. Seeing that the ordinary outward mail was not due until the end of the month, the offer was readily accepted; but a difficulty presented itself—the stock of Twopence Halfpenny stamps was practically nil,
though a further supply was expected
by the vessel which (in ordinary circumstances) would convey the mail.

It may be urged that the lowest two values might have been used to make up the twopence-halfpenny rate, but, as they were greatly in demand and the stocks low, it was deemed inadvisable
to further reduce the numbers on hand.
Recourse was, therefore, had to sur-charging, and four sheets (=480 stamps) of the bicoloured "postage-postage" Four Pence were handed to the Inspector of Police (Mr. J. H. O'Sullivan) to be surcharged with the required value, which was indicated thus—"2 1/2D",
the figures and letter being much smaller than for the earlier provisionals, and again there is no fraction-bar.

The stamps were prepared and issued on February 12, and the metal handstamp was at once destroyed; the supply lasted for two days only, although not more than six copies were supposed to be sold to any one applicant. It is stated, however, that two entire sheets were acquired by a local speculator, leaving only a similar quantity for genuine postal requirements.

The majority of the surcharges are applied directly over the original value, misplaced prints being rare; on the other hand, few are quite upright, the impression generally leaning to the left or right, and copies are known shewing
a double surcharge; a copy is shown with two surcharges, one of which is inverted.

CHAPTER X.

The "Postage & Revenue" Issue.

The permanent series, consisting of nine values, was issued over a period of about ten months, from December 27, 1907, till early in the next October, the denominations with actual dates of issue being as follows:—December 27,
Halfpenny and Penny; March 30, 1908, Twopence Halfpenny, Threepence, Four-pence, One Shilling, Five Shillings, and a new high value, Ten Shillings; and the last, the Sixpence, was on sale on October 2.

Messrs. De La Rue & Co. were, as usual, the printers of this new set, all of which were produced from the "postage & revenue" key-plate, shewing
the King's head within a fancy octagonal frame and surmounted by the small crown as in the earlier type. The inscriptions—"POSTAGE" on the left, and "& REVENUE" on the right, were now on solid colour, instead of being in colour on an uncoloured ground;
the ornamentation was of a conventional scroll pattern; and the two types of value-tablet were employed, that with a coloured figure on a plain ground being adopted for the Threepence, Four-pence, Shilling, and Five Shillings, whilst the uncoloured figure on a lined background was used for the other values.

For the printing, the old "single"
Crown "CA" paper was employed for the Ten Shillings (3,000 stamps) and for the first supply (6,000 copies) of the One Shilling, and the "all-over"

paper for the remaining values and the further printings of the Shilling; in both cases the paper was chalk-surfaced, save for the lowest three values, and we have the anomaly of a peculiarly modern stamp printed on old paper, faced with the latest safeguard against fraudulent cleaning of used copies. The perforation uniformly gauges 14.

Of the dates of issue given above,
that of the Shilling applies of course to the first printing of 6,000 which was on the old paper; the supply on the Multiple Crown "CA" was not put on sale until April 5, 1909.

The colours of the eight denominations are those under the then latest scheme of the Crown Agents, the second being that of the two tablets containing the name CAYMAN ISLANDS and the indication of value:—Half-penny, green; Penny, carmine; Twopence, Halfpenny, ultramarine; Threepence, purple on yellow paper; Four-pence, black and red on yellow;
Sixpence, dull and bright purple; Shilling, black on green; Five Shillings,
green and red on yellow; and Ten Shillings, green and red on green paper.

For all the denominations plate 1 was used, the size and make-up of the sheets being as before; there are no
varieties in the ordinary sense, but specialists may note a slight break on the key-plate, to be found on all the values, in the upper right-hand corner of the frame intended for the reception of the name; probably it is due to wear.
The disappearance of the slight irregularity in the spacing of the word ISLANDS from the duty-plates of the lowest two values indicates that new plates were made; otherwise, the old plates were employed, except of course for the two new denominations of Threepence and Ten Shillings.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

The Stamp Collector is the name of a new book just issued by Dodd, Mead & Co. of N. Y. City. It has for a subtitle "A Guide to the World's Postage Stamps", and we take great pleasure in reviewing the book. It is printed in a most artistic manner with full page plates scattered freely throughout the book. In the preface the author indicates the two-fold object of the book, to point out the value of philately as a hobby and at the same time indicate the things that should be avoided in making a collection. The book is written by Stanley C. Johnson and is one of a series consisting of "The Furniture Collector", "The Glass Collector", "The China Collector", etc., etc.

The frontispiece is an illustration of the envelope issued to commemorate the jubilee of penny postage. The early chapters are given over to suggestions that are quite familiar to the readers of the WEEKLY and yet very essential to the general public. The matter of collecting postage stamps and the planning and arranging of collections are given extended treatment, while a chapter with the heading "Technical Matters" deals with the various printing processes, including modes of separation.

In considering the stamps of the world the author quite naturally gives precedence to the stamps of Great Britain, his treatise covering several chapters and superbly illustrated. He then takes British North America, followed by the stamps of the United States, the latter occupying 20 pages. An interesting feature of the treatise on these stamps is a full page set of illustrations showing secret marks, etc., on stamps issued from 1861 onwards. The book is brought up to date with a chapter devoted to the stamps of the war, while the concluding chapter is a glossary of philatelic terms and inscriptions requiring explanation. A wealth of information may be found between the covers of this book and we consider it the best attempt that has yet been made at what might be termed a popular book on stamp collecting. We are unable to quote the price, but interested parties can communicate with the publishers at New York.

THE STAMP OF EDUCATION.

(The following article was taken from the Boston Herald, in which it appeared as an editorial. We have scores of clippings sent us that we are unable to use. Some of these have to do with stamps but only indirectly. This article shows the expert hand and we are positive that it was written by a stamp collector. It is of more than passing interest.—W. O. W.)

The atlas of six years ago is as old as the geography of the sixties in which half of the United States to the left of the Mississippi river was described as "the Great American Desert". When will cartographers go to work with any feeling of confidence? Van Dyck, the Wagnerian tenor, used to say in jest that, as a journalist in Paris, he changed at least once a month the map of Europe. He did not, however, persuade the drawers of maps. At present readers of maps must rely on newspapers and magazines and consult them constantly, to know the shiftings and transformations.

But the changes, geographical and political, in Europe are now, and more strikingly, shown by postage stamps. The war has introduced hundreds of new varieties and issues. What timbrelologist—or, to use the more common word, philatelist—could foresee the Polish vermillion, the Jerusalem blue, the Ruthenian and Albanian stamps; the Syrian printed in honor of the Emir Feussel's proclamation as king? It is said that the first year of the war alone brought out 327 new stamps. Even in Uruguay, famous for the multiplicity of issues but not domestically affected by the war, "Peace" commemorative stamps have appeared, adorned with portraits of allied leaders, including Wilson, Poincare and Kings George, Albert and Victor Emmanuel. The new stamps designed by the French government for independent Albania bear a double-headed eagle with a shield on its breast carrying the portrait of Georges Skandenberg, the hero that freed Albania from the Turks.

In Belgium new stamps in connection with the Seventh Olympiad at Antwerp are sold at a premium in aid of disabled Belgian soldiers. In Siam there are special stamps for the benefit of the Scout movement. The new green stamp of Haiti shows the figure of Peace with natives working tobacco fields, also factory chimneys, typifying agriculture and industry. Another stamp in red represents Commerce, armed with a trident, looking hopefully out to sea: delightful expressions of optimism.

Man is a born collector, whether his craze is for postage stamps, coins, first editions, snuff-boxes, walking sticks, pottery, gallows-halters, cigar box labels, monograms, pictures—it matters not. Fortunes have thus been spent, as in the search for buried treasure or the philosopher's stone. The Tapling collection bequeathed to Great Britain, although it contains only stamps issued before 1890, is valued at £250,000. Outside of the pleasurable fury of collecting postage stamps, the mania that possesses one, brings on white nights, and sometimes leads to theft, there is the inevitable geographical and historical information. To the boy beginning his collection, Siam will be nearer, and a more substantial country, when he sees on the red stamps of five santangs the profile of King Vajiravudh. The boy may even be tempted to learn the correct pronunciation of that august monarch's name, which in school he would be slow to memorize.

ADAMSON INDICTED

Charles W. Adamson, the former San Francisco dealer, has been indicted by the Federal Grand Jury on charges of using the mails with intent to defraud. The whereabouts of Adamson are not known, but anybody having information concerning him will do well to communicate with the local police officials, or the U. S. P. O. Inspector in Charge, New York or San Francisco.

Adamson is about 35 years old, quite tall and rather slender and with dark hair somewhat wavy and with a slight tint of gray. He talks well and has the traits of a prosperous Westerner.

NEW CANADA REVENUES.

OTTAWA, July 6.—Final decision has been made by the Inland Revenue Department not to begin the collection of the new taxes by means of revenue stamps until August 1. In the meantime retailers will have to make remittances to the nearest Inland Revenue Office according to the instructions already issued. Revenue stamps for denominations from one cent to 10 cents, for 13, 15, 20, 25, 30 cents, and every multiple of 10 cents up to $1, and for $1, $2, $3, $4, $5 and $10, are already printed, but it is felt that to get them in sufficient quantities for distribution throughout the length and breadth of Canada, so that they would be available for every business man and in his hands, would require until August 1.

MARKET NOTES.

Messrs. Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., have just published the sixteenth edition of their "Priced Catalogue of Stamps of the War and After." The new catalogue is very much better in every respect than its predecessors. Competition was ever the greatest incentive to improvement!

The catalogue starts off almost systematically, as the majority of Bagdasarian are priced. Nos. 1 and 2 at £15 and £20 respectively don't exactly strike one as a bargain, as, irrespective of number issued, these two stamps appear to be by far the commonest values of the issue. No. 4 is not priced, No. 25; this is a pity, as it would be interesting to know the cat. quotation for the stamps of which under 200,000 were issued. The stamps of which 200-400 were issued are priced on an average about £35 apiece. Nos. 8 and 10, which 59 and 65 respectively were issued, must be worth about £100 apiece on the basis of quotations for the values. These two stamps are worth whatever their market value may be.

The 1s local Bahamas is one of the very few stamps that has been put up in price—it is now 55s instead of 50s. This is quite as it should be, as the stamp was overpriced in the last edition. The Bahamas 5d Special Delivery "CC" has advanced to 20s and it's becoming a very scarce little stamp—it will not remain at this price long.

The "Shah" Bushires are all priced at the rarity (the 5ch) is now at £20 or used. The four highest values are at high figures, and the 3kr is certainly high at £17. The 1kr is put at £11; it is generally agreed that the 1kr stamp is the rarest of the four denominations.

C.E.F. high value have again moved upwards, and are now quoted at 80s each. Gibbons now tell us that there are two different sets of Mafia on the man fiscals; as a matter of fact, there are three, viz., (1) "O.H.B.M.S. Mafia" in circle, (2) "G.R. Post Mafia" in lines, and (3) "O.H.B.M.S. Mafia" in circle and "G.R. Post Mafia" in lines within the circle. The 1kr is about 8 sets existing has been dropped. Eight sets of Nos. 2 and 3 and 1kr of No. 1 is probably fairly near the mark—say about 30 sets in all.

"N.F.'s" are kept up at the old price and are not worth them.

The 3d TAMP error of Jamaica is very reasonable at £9. This error is really rare in this value, and I have known copies change hands on the wholesale market at this figure.

In the New Britain list one of the bargains has gone: the 2½d on 20p narrow, which was once priced at 60s the same as the wide. The stamp is now left blank; it is worth about £1. But there is still one real bargain—it's not "out of stock" and that is the Manus Registration Stamp at 10s. I am open to buy a dozen or two at this catalogue. Can S.G. or any other dealer oblige?

The N.W. Pacific Is. list has been brought up to date, and I notice a lot of three of the 1d on 5d costs £2; and the 1d on 1s £17.

The unused dark blue first Palestine has come down from £8 to £5, and was about time, too. All sorts of stamps have emanated from Egypt as the value and rarity of this stamp has attracted philatelists who speculate and have an inventive mind will find that the value does not always go down.

The St. Lucia "War Tax" Locals at 10s, and is another sound little stamp. Salonikas are now priced in used condition, and, quite rightly, are more expensive than unused. If the price for mint copies are about right, then used specimens are very cheap. The 1s is very rare used.

The 3s Samoa cost £25 used; this is the only high value quoted. These stamps can never be bought at as serious discount off catalogue.—Wm. J. Collecting.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF GAPHOON-ISTAN.

By LOWELL J. RAGATZ.

FOREWORD.

During the summer of 1919, while acting as Consolidated Press correspondent with the Cwzrsklinsrotzski Exploration Party engaged in surveying and mapping the little known islands of the South seas in the interests of the Soviet government (Russia) the author was so fortunate as to meet on a lonely isle the last of the strange race of Gaphoonistanians, and, through the aid of several plugs of Horseshoe, and a handful of traders' beads and sundry other objects, to win his confidence and to learn from him the history of this mysterious people, and to receive an account of their government, economic life, and literature.

Since communication between the aged native and the author could be carried on only by the use of signs, progress was of necessity somewhat slow, and the syndicated series of articles on the Gaphoonistanians now appearing in newspapers the country over (all material protected by copyright, all rights reserved, including that of translation into foreign languages) gives eloquent testimony of many hours of patient gesticulating in the scant shade of cocoa palms.

Sensational and intensely interesting as this material may be, for stamp collectors, it pales into insignificance when they learn that the long lost isle must be placed among the list of stamp issuing countries, and that the sole survivor of his race was, in his early manhood, named postmaster general of the tiny island country. The full details of the case, as related by the former official, are herewith presented for the edification of the philatelic public.

GEOGRAPHY AND HISTORY.

There are few people of the present generation to whom the name Gaphoonistan will have any associations. Indeed, even during its existence, the island was known only to a few groups of German traders as an occasional port of call at which choice pearls might be obtained at ridiculously low prices in traders' goods from the natives who, until the accidental discovery of the island by the tramp freighter "Schnapz", storm driven in the spring of 1856 while bound from San Francisco to the Australian gold fields, imagined themselves the only people on earth.

Located approximately 300 miles east of the farthestmost of the Marshall group, the island was, according to a brief description by Captain Heinrich Messerschmidt of the copra boat "Blitzen", published in "Die Zeitschrift" of April 13, 1876, and announcing the disappearance of Gaphoonistan, a low lying atoll of some twenty miles in circumference, sparsely covered with cocoa palms. This statement is supported by my native informant.

The inhabitants of the country, when discovered, were in the paleolithic stage of civilization. They subsisted entirely upon coconuts, mussels, and such fish, birds and small animals as they could catch. Fire was unknown to them. Curious stones and conch shells were regarded as fetishes, and pebbles of certain kinds were worn as amulets. As has already been stated, they were entirely unaware of the existence of other peoples, and thought of themselves as children of the sea. It is believed that they were of Asiatic origin. Their language was unlike that of any other known peoples. No estimate of their numbers can be made, as the last of his race could merely say that there was one coconut tree for each family.

The fact remains that when the trader "Blitzen" made its customary semi-annual trip in the vicinity of the Marshalls, early in 1873, the island was there; when it came again some months later no island could be found. The original report on the disappearance of the island was published in the German daily referred to above.

Of the entire race, but one member survived. Having been commissioned by Oobe III to proceed outré-mer on business, this man had accompanied the "Blitzen" on its outgoing journey of 1873, and had returned on the same vessel on its autumn journey only to learn of the fate which had befallen his country. In compliance with his wishes, he was left on the next island sighted, one proving to be fairly watered but uninhabited, where he had lived in solitude until the arrival of the Cwzrsklinsrotzski Party.

That a semi-savage, who knew nothing of the outer world except as he heard it from Teutonic traders, should send one of his trusted men abroad on matters pertaining to his island seems indeed strange, but that this agent should have been directed to study the postal systems of the outer folk and arrange one for his own chieftain, and what is more, succeeded in doing so, falls little short of the remarkable. Yet such was the case, as we will now show.

THE HISTORICAL ORIGIN OF THE ISSUE.
A young German missionary coming in the wake of the pearl traders had lost his life at the hands of some of King Oobe's subjects. In this most unfortunate event is found the germ of the idea which culminated in the issue of postage stamps for Gaphoonistan.

According to the former postmaster-general, the Gaphoonistanians frequently slew their fellow countrymen as the population, in accordance with the well known law of Malthus, tended to increase more rapidly than did the coconut trees, and the food question was an ever present one. At such times, it was customary for the slayer to present the effects of the dead to his king, who would select items which interested him, allowing the slayer to retain the others for himself.

Among the possessions of the unfortunate missionary was a small booklet full of colored bits of paper which interested King Oobe so much that he passed up a meerschaum pipe and a beer stein in its favor. It is stated that for hours at a time he would look at this novelty.

It was while thus well on the way to becoming merely another of the countless fairly settled nooks of Oceania, that the entire island suddenly disappeared. The exact reason for its disappearance is unknown; it is, however, supposed that as a result of one of the frequent earthquakes which disturb that portion of the globe, a great settling took place, and that the atoll, with its entire population, sank beneath the waves.

The fact remains that when the trader "Blitzen" made its customary semi-annual trip in the vicinity of the Marshalls, early in 1873, the island was there; when it came again some months later no island could be found. The original report on the disappearance of the island was published in the German daily referred to above.

Of the entire race, but one member survived. Having been commissioned by Oobe III to proceed outré-mer on business, this man had accompanied the "Blitzen" on its outgoing journey of 1873, and had returned on the same vessel on its autumn journey only to learn of the fate which had befallen his country. In compliance with his wishes, he was left on the next island sighted, one proving to be fairly watered but uninhabited, where he had lived in solitude until the arrival of the Cwzrsklinsrotzski Party.

That a semi-savage, who knew nothing of the outer world except as he heard it from Teutonic traders, should send one of his trusted men abroad on matters pertaining to his island seems indeed strange, but that this agent should have been directed to study the postal systems of the outer folk and arrange one for his own chieftain, and what is more, succeeded in doing so, falls little short of the remarkable. Yet such was the case, as we will now show.

W. W. WALSH,
P. O. Box 334, Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Some months later, when the "Blitzen" made its next stop, his first query was what the bits of paper might signify.

Oobe's surprise can be imagined when the captain, Herr Messerschmidt, informed him that they were portraits of the rulers of the world, and showed him a collection which he carried with him on his journeys. He then explained as best he could to Oobe about letters, post offices, and the postal service. When he had finished, the chief astonished the captain by asking why he could not have his picture on stamps, too? Was he not the great Oobe?

Captain Messerschmidt sensed an opportunity to strike a good bargain, and it was agreed that Oobe should be supplied with a complete post office and stamps bearing his portrait on the next trip to the island, payment for these things to be made with the pearls which would have been found by that time. The last season's findings were exchanged by Oobe for a fifty pound sack of duplicates belonging to the captain. (Evidently one of the first mission mixtures.)

Oobe posed for a charcoal sketch made by the cabin boy, and was so delighted with the results that he gave the artist one of his teeth which had been knocked out in a fistic encounter with one of his many wives. Incidentally, my worthy informant told me that this was the highest compliment Oobe could have bestowed upon the lad, but that the latter had expected a choice pearl and was so angered at receiving the gift he did that he cast the tooth into the sea when he was out of Oobe's sight. He was seized by sharks the same night. My Gaphoonist friend thought that he had met his just deserts.

In order that things might be done up brown, Oobe decided to send one of his faithful subjects, Gazoo, who was ordinarily entrusted with shaking the royal coconut tree, overseas to study the postal system of the lands outré-mer. This man, it is needless to say, was my worthy informant. Judging from the newspaper report already referred to, the departure from the island was made early in 1873. Little did the wily captain and his badly frightened native charge think that they would never lay eyes on the isle again.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF GAPHOONISTAN.

The course of the trading schooner "Blitzen" during the next few months cannot be followed, as Gazoo was entirely ignorant of geography and only remembered that one of the longest stops was made at a city with many people who did not have quite the dark color of the captain, but seemed like him, except that they spoke a different language. From these, and other details significant enough in themselves but which cannot be related here, it would seem that this city was Sydney, a port much frequented by the pearl traders.

Here it was that the stamps were printed under the direction of the Captain. According to Gazoo, the set was in four colors, the same design being used for all. This design showed Oobe's profile. At the left and right were miniature coconut palms, while surrounding all was a chain of pearls.

The blue stamps had one coconut in each of the four corners, the green ones two, the yellow ones, three, and the red ones, four. The Captain informed Gazoo that these were placed there to enable him to know how many coconuts each would bring. That a speculative element was present in the issuing of these stamps appears from the fact that Gazoo stated that some of each color had holes around and some did not, while some were printed on both sides, following the suggestion made to him by the Captain that the latter would command a double price.

Two handstamps were furnished by the Captain, and Gazoo was taught how to cancel stamps. This, he maintained, he learned after having dealt his fingers several crushing blows.

The "hard king heads" (by which Gazoo meant the plates, as we shall see), a bale of the stamps, some envelopes, and the handstamps were taken on the round-about return journey. In view of the fact that a supply of envelopes was taken, it is apparent that Captain Messerschmidt was at least going to go through the form of playing square with the philatelic public.

When, however, no island could be found, the Captain was very wroth, as well he might be, considering the rich prize which had just eluded his grasp. After it became evident that the isle was really hopelessly lost, the "Blitzen" moved on, and Gazoo was landed at the next island, as he requested. With him were landed the "hard king heads", the bale of stamps, with the exception of twenty, one of a kind on an envelope (doubtless this signifies that there were five varieties of each of the four values—Editor's note), which the Captain requested as a parting gift.

From that day, until the arrival of the exploration party, Gazoo saw no human face. In the course of time, he decided that Oobe and his subjects had, indeed, perished, and in accordance with Gaphoonist custom, which requires that all the goods of those who have lost their lives in the sea be cast after them, he tossed the stamps and handstamps into the surf. Thus, the remainders of one of the most interesting issues in philatelic history passed from the reach of collectors.

As for the "hard king heads", Gazoo did not consign them to the sea. They were not, after all, strictly Oobe's property. Furthermore, the piece of metal could be conveniently used in scaling the fish with which the streams of the island abounded, and it would have been little short of criminal to throw such a useful article away.

For forty-six years, Gazoo used the plate in this way, gradually wearing its surface down so that last summer, when he showed it to me, but faint lines were still discernible. In consideration for some trinkets at which he cast longing eyes, he consented to part with the same, and I became the possessor of this unique item. It has, since my return to America, been given to the American Museum of Philately, and will be placed on exhibit during the convention of the Peruvian Philatelic Society, which will be held in the Museum club rooms next June.

This is the history of the stamps of Gaphoonistan, as related to me by the postmaster general himself, and hence must be accepted as entirely authentic.

As for the twenty original covers given to Captain Messerschmidt, the following, from the "Tipperary Collector" for July, 1876, shows that none left his hands:

"The editor was favored by a call yesterday from a Teutonic pearl trader with a pack of twenty entire envelopes from an unknown south sea isle, bearing labels having values expressed in coconuts. The owner could not be persuaded to part with any of them. However, they are obviously unguine, although he has a remarkable tale concerning them."

Had Captain Messerschmidt disposed of a single one of these covers, it would doubtless today rank as one of the great rarities. The following, from "The Lighthouse Keeper's Gazette" for August, 1876, is self-explanatory:

"On June 27, three days out of port, the British liner 'Guy Fawkes', bound

CHAPTER VIII.

Issue of 1912 (Design of 1912).

Single Line Watermark, Perforated 8½.

During 1912, the designs of several of the regular adhesive stamps were changed so that the entire series up to and including the 7c denomination showed a portrait of Washington while the higher denominations, that is, from the 8c to the $1 inclusive portrayed a portrait of our first Postmaster General, Benjamin Franklin. These changes resulted in a new 1c stamp with the head of Washington instead of Franklin as heretofore. At the same time new plates were made for the 2c denomination wherein the value was expressed in figures "2 CENTS 2" instead of the former "TWO CENTS". This was done in order to conform with the ruling of the Universal Postal Union which requires that all stamps have their value expressed in figures. These changes in the regular adhesive stamps resulted in changes in two values of the coil stamps, namely the 1c and 2c and these made their appearance early in 1912. The "star" plates had been discontinued before these new plates were started so that we have the uniform spacing in the sidewise coils from this time on.

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing designates this issue as the series of 1911 as the plates were started during that year. The stamps, however, did not appear until 1912 so they are known philatelically as the series of 1912.

Both denominations were issued coiled both sidewise and endwise and were all perforated 8½. I have seen some trimmed strips perforated 12, which was the perforation then being used on the sheet stamps, but these were nothing more than fakes. All of the machines for perforating coils had been changed to 8½ long before this issue appeared so there is no possibility of any existing perforated 12.

The 1c green, coiled endwise (perforated horizontally), perforated 8½, was issued on March 18, 1912. It is not as plentiful as the sidewise coil but certainly is not scarce. The quantities cannot be given as the Bureau did not separate these from those perforated 10 immediately following.

The 1c green, coiled sidewise (perforated vertically), perforated 8½ was issued on the same day, March 18, 1912, and as it was extensively distributed and used it is relatively common.

The 2c carmine, coiled endwise (perforated horizontally), perforated 8½, came out with the 1c coils on March 18, 1912. It remained in use until July, 1914. While the variety is by no means scarce it is uncommon.

The 2c carmine, coiled sidewise (perforated vertically), perforated 8½ was issued three days after the rest of the series, that is, on March 21, 1912. The stamp is more plentiful than the endwise coil.

This was the last series coiled by hand for while this issue was in use the Bureau first started to coil the stamps by machine. This machine must not be confused with the rotary press. A description of both machines is given in an early chapter. As a result of this change this is the last series of coil stamps in which the unusual combinations mentioned in the early part of this article are to be found.

APPROVALS

RETAIL OR WHOLESALE.

Approvals have been a main feature with us for over 25 years. Grades of selections suitable for every collector or dealer, large or small. Profit by the experience of the older and "wise" collectors-dealers of yesterday and today by investigating our Emco Approval Service without further delay—summer-time is the time to get acquainted. We don't claim to be the cheapest but do say that "it pays you to be well served and it pays us to serve you well." Reference from new customers, please—that's essentially for your benefit as well as ours.

19TH AND 20TH CENTURY U. S. COLONIES.

I am breaking up a superb collection of Canal Zone, Cuba, Danish West Indies, Guam, Hawaii, Philippine Islands and Porto Rico.

Now, Mr. Collector, is the time to fill those vacant spaces. Want lists solicited.

had hoped for, insofar as the users of vending and affixing machines were concerned, for it was found that these coils were about as hard to separate as the earlier issues were easy. Something between the two extremes of the present 8½ and the former 12 was thought to be desirable so a perforation midway, namely perforation 10 was adopted. As a result the coil perforating machines were changed one by one and these new stamps first made their appearance in May of 1914. The last denomination to be issued with this new perforation did not appear until the following December. The series consists of the 1c green, 2c carmine, 3c purple, 4c brown and 5c blue all with portrait of Washington, coiled sidewise and the 1c and 2c perforated endwise. These varieties were the last coil stamps printed from the flat plates and as none of them were in issue for much over a year they are the scarcest of the later issues. The 3c value is perhaps the most difficult of the series to obtain with the 4c, 5c, 1c and 2c following in the order named.

The endwise coils of this issue were printed from the special "COIL" plates previously described but this produced no new varieties. They, however, did eliminate a minor variety, namely the plate numbers for it will be recalled that on these plates the plate numbers were on the right and left sides of the sheet only and these of course were cut off in the coiling.

It may be of interest to mention that when the Bureau had the rotary plates working they used up the excess stock of coil sheets printed from the plates by perforating them vertically and selling them in post office sheets of 100. These were sold in two cities to my knowledge, namely, Washington and Cleveland, and as a result it is possible to obtain blocks of the 1c and 2c with side plate number and the words "COIL STAMPS" in the margin. The stock so distributed were all from eight plates, four of the 1c and four of the 2c and the plate numbers were as follows: 1c: Nos. 6568, 6570, 6571 and 6572; 2c: Nos. 6581, 6582, 6585 and 6589. Had it not been for the fact that the gauge of the perforating machines which perforated both the coils and sheet stamps were identical we would have had some compound perforated stamps at this time. This series saw the last of the regular paste ups, the last of the plate numbers, the last of the arrows, the imprints and similar varieties peculiar to the flat plates.

The 1c green, coiled endwise (perforated horizontally), perforated 10, was issued on November 14, 1914, and remained in use about thirteen months.

The 1c green, coiled sidewise (perforated vertically), perforated 10, was issued on May 29, 1914, and was superseded about five months later.

The 2c carmine, coiled endwise (perforated horizontally), perforated 10, appeared July 22, 1914, and remained in issue for sixteen months.

The 2c carmine, coiled sidewise (perforated vertically), perforated 10, was issued April 25, 1914. It was the first coil to appear perforated 10 and was replaced by the first rotary print coil which followed two months later.

The 3c purple, coiled sidewise (perforated vertically), perforated 10, was issued December 18, 1914. It was the very last coil stamp to appear from the flat plates and was superseded by a similar variety from the rotary press thirteen and a half months later.

The 4c brown, coiled sidewise (perforated vertically), perforated 10, was issued October 2, 1914, and was superseded during February, 1916.

The 5c blue, coiled sidewise (perforated vertically), perforated 10, appeared on July 30, 1914, and remained in use until superseded by the rotary early in 1916.

THE J. G. HOTCHKISS MATCH CO.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

The firm of Hotchkiss & Parker, manufacturers of Excelsior matches, is listed in the Connecticut Business Directory for 1856 and in the Connecticut State Gazetteer for 1866 at Westville. No further pertinent reference is found until 1874, when the James G. Hotchkiss Match Co., (friction matches), is listed at West Haven. In 1875 and 1876 the same reference appears, Orange being added to the address. The firm does not appear in the 1879 directory but is listed again in 1880 and 1881 at Westville. Later directories do not mention it.

Regarding the Hotchkiss stamp the Boston Book states:—

Die approved, Dec. 6, 1873.

First issued, June, 1874.

Last issued, Jan. 12, 1881.

210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).

5,769,733 issued on pink and watermarked paper.

This stamp was made by altering the die used by G. Farr & Co., from 1865 to 1868 and differs from the latter only in the change of firm name to "The J. G. Hotchkiss Match Co.", and in the change of the inscriptions in the lower corners which now read "West Haven" at the left and "Connecticut" at the right. Probably there was only one plate which was made by the Carpenter firm and used successively by them, by the National and the American Bank Note Companies and, quite possibly, by the Bureau. Definite proof of a Bureau printing is not yet available.

The shades run from yellow green through green to blue green. Dark green also comes on the watermarked paper. The pink paper variety occurs only in a medium green and all the stamps on this paper are National prints. Data that would enable collectors to identify the two or more printings on silk paper and the three or more printings on watermarked paper is lacking.

West Haven is in the town of Orange, Conn., on the west side of New Haven harbor and is separated from the city of New Haven by the tidal marshes of the West River, a small stream which flows south through the village of Westville. The latter is four miles north of West Haven. Information at hand indicates that the West Haven factory was

Inclose return postage on all collections of less than 50c, or letters of inquiry. Ordinary courtesy demands it.

Don't wait a month before answering ads and expect the dealer to have goods wanted.

Don't send unused stamps for quantities of over 50c. The dealer is at least 5% in cashing, say nothing bother. They are not legal tender.

Don't expect (unless specifically stated) you are to get picked copies of ordinary "as they run" prices and other fellow take the "left overs".

Remember if you send for approval goods, every day you retain them, your possession may lose a sale to someone else. Be prompt with return. You expect the dealer to fill orders promptly.

By JOSEPH WARD.

CONGO.—The 40 centimes and ten franc values of the issues of 1894-1910 and 1915 pictures transportation both native and European, on the "dark continent" in two general designs. The first shows a native barge being poled up a sluggish stream by several huskies. This type of barge is very common, being the product of the native indus- try. They are cut from trees of great length and diameter. Travelers often come back with stories of having seen some of these barges ten feet wide amidships and eighty feet long. The second pictures transportation "a la white man" and shows a stern-wheel steamship, probably on the same river. Both stamps have native flora as side designs and background.

COSTA RICA.—This country's first stamp bore a representation of its seal and may be classed as a ship stamp, also the 1892 issue and ten colones 1910 stamp.

In 1911 this country's postal admin- istration surcharged a set of telegraph stamps for postal purposes. The design of the telegraph stamps showed a steam- ship on a Central American river with tropical shrubbery in the background and foreground.

CUBA.—The five centavos value of the first stamps issued by Cuba after this island had been recognised as a republic by the United States, pictures in blue a three mast steamship presenting star- board bow.

DANISH WEST INDIES.—The franc values issue of 1905 of this former Danish possession of the western world pictures a three mast sailing vessel. Above is the wording "Dansk Vestin- dien"; below "Frimærke", with the numerals of value in the four corners inclosed in a circle.

DIEGO SUAREZ.—A ship design appears on the 1c 1890. Were it not for the panel containing the numeral of value, we would get a better view of this ship. From what we can see it has three masts and flies the tri-color of France, the mother country, from the stern.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC.—The one cent brown issue of 1899 pictures one of the first "Made in America" boats. During Columbus's fourth and last voyage, when shipwrecked on the island of Jamaica and in need of help, he sent one of his Captains, Diego Mendez, to San Domingo for aid. This stamp pictures the voyage in a boat made from drift wood from the wreck. Later this stamp was changed from brown to green to con- form to the color scheme of the Univer- sal Postal Union.

EGYPT.—The one millieme brown stamp pictorial issue of 1914, celebrat- ing the anniversary of the accession of the then reigning Khedive Abbas II, pictures dhahabiyelis on the Nile.

The Postage Due Stamps of the Sou- dan postal division show a side wheel steamship.

ESTHONIA.—The second or republican issue consisted of three values. On one is shown a galley in which can be seen the oarsmen. The first issue of this country was put in circulation by the Bolshevik forces and consisted of de- signs made entirely of inscriptions.

FIJI.—From this island we get an idea of what a "pirogue" of faraway Fiji looks like. It is rudely shaped from a tree and the center is burnt out with fire much in the same manner as the canoes of the Congo region already men- tioned. This design is shown on the one and two pence stamps of 1893, through a circular frame of native palms and ferns.

FIUME.—The 1919 Charity Stamps of D'Annunzio's realm picture on four values, 45 cents to one lira, a Venetian galley at sea, which brings back to our notice the stories of the Venetian and Genoese trade competition of Columbus's day. In those days the Venetian ships carried over half of the silks and spices used in Europe from China and India.

GERMAN COLONIES.—The November, 1900, general issue for all the German Colonies shows the royal yacht Hohen- zollern. All the colonies used this de- sign, the only difference existing was that the name of the colony in each instance was changed and also the cur- rency panel where the German currency was not used. The general issue is of two designs; the first picturing a port bow view is used on the pfennig values, or its equivalent, while the larger and port side view was used for the mark values. The name of the Colony ap- pears at the top on a ribbon scroll as does the value beneath. The numerals of value are in the lower corners in panels.

Aside from philately, the ship itself is a credit to European shipbuilding and truly a specimen of Teuton love for the artistic. The Hohenzollern was de- signed by Emperor William, who neglected to provide sleeping quarters, his sketches making provisions for sa- loons and offices only. His attention was called to this oversight by one of his councilors. The yacht carried three masts, two funnels and two wheels, one to be worked by steam the other by hand. The spokes were of nickel and the wheels themselves were painted in white and gold.

At the time that the "Hohenzollern stamps" were placed on sale in the colonies the Berlin Post Office did likewise, and in answer to queries as to the reason for such a step people were informed that it was to provide merchants and others in the Empire with a way to send return postage for replies when communicating with the colonies. This is, of course, a perfectly legitimate purpose, but it is open to doubt as to whether or not the German Postal Administration would maintain an office for such a restricted business. The real reason was that Berlin expected a large trade with stamp collectors and dealers and in this they were not to be disappointed for the money taken in at the city of Berlin far exceeded the postal revenue of all the colonies added together.

GRENADA.—A special stamp of the value of 2½ pence was issued in 1898 to commemorate the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of that island, August 15, 1498, by Columbus. The central figure of design represents the flag ship approaching Grenada, above which is the inscription "La Concepcion" and below "1498 15th August 1898." The colour is ultramarine. In 1906, another ship stamp was issued by Grenada, which shows through a circle the same ship only smaller. The values range from ½ to 6 pence.

HAWAII.—The 1883 envelopes of this present day United States possession displays as a part of the design a bit of Hawaiian scenery in which a harbor surrounding mountains and steamships are prominent. The values range from one cent to ten and all are on white paper.

The two cent brown issue of 1894 shows the same bit of scenery though smaller and perhaps less of it, while the twelve cent value same issue pictures a steamship of similar type as the one displayed on the same value 1869 stamps of United States.

HONDURAS.—A Central American river steamer plus tropical palms, and low mountain ranges in the background forms the main design of the 1911 issue. Above the picture is the wording, "Correos de Honduras" (Honduras Postage) below "1911" and "U P U", and the value again, this time spelled out. Later this set was surcharged with a new value to meet a stamp shortage.

IVORY COAST.—Within neat borders and African river scenery is shown another means of aquatic transportation on the stamps of Ivory Coast, (or Cote d'Ivoire as the French name it,) of the so called "dark continent." In the boat are five natives, three as passengers and two furnishing the locomotive power, one from the bow and one from the stern.

JAMAICA.—The only ship stamp of this British possession is of very recent origin and pictures troops boarding a transport. The stamp is of the value of 1½ pence, color green. It is labelled "Contingent Embarking." The picture also shows the head of King George on a shield over which is a crown.

LIBERIA.—Liberia favored us in 1860 with ship stamps. A single value issued in 1885, 32 cents, pictures a sail boat, on the ocean, with setting sun in the background, while a palm tree and plow are at the sides. The five and fifty cent values issue of 1909 were the next to be issued, the former shows a steamship on the high seas and the latter a small fishing boat manned by four natives. So as to be valid for official purposes these stamps as well as the rest of the issue were surcharged with a device to proclaim them "official."

A new set of registered letter stamps put in circulation recently pictures a ship on the high seas. The names of the five cities, Monrovia, Robertsport, Buchanan, Harper, and Greenville, appear on the stamps above the picture. The figures of value are inclosed in circles at the bottom with the word "Cents" between, while the scroll around the stamp reads "Liberia Ten Registered".

MALTA.—From this island we get three types. The first appeared on the one farthing 1900 and four pence 1915, pictures the island's wharves as would be seen from aloft. In midstream there is one vessel while near the wharf in the quiet waters there is another.

The issues of 1899 and 1907-11 show the other two types. The first an end view of a ship common to that part of the Eastern Mediterranean, is shown on the stamps ranging in value from one pence to four and a half. The five pence shows the same ship but in a different position. Here it presents a starboard side view.

MAURITIUS.—The 1895-98 stamps, varying in value from one cent to thirty-six, show a representation of this colony's seal. As in the case of British Guiana and Costa Rica the sailboat is shown on the seal so therefore these six values are ship stamps. The 1902 rupee values also display the seal.

MOZAMBIQUE.—An issue of stamps from this colony pictures a ship common to that part of the Indian Ocean. The foreground and background are composed of native scenery, palms and other vegetation. The scene pictured on this stamp is the junction of the Buzi River and the ocean.

NEW BRUNSWICK.—Through an oval opening on the twelve and a half cents stamp of the only issue of this country is shown a steamship similar to the one displayed on the twelve cent value United States 1869. Above the ship is "New Brunswick Postage" and below "Twelve & Half" and "12½ Cents".

NEW CALEDONIA.—The franc values issued in 1906-7 present a portside view of a four mast sailing merchantman of the early 19th century. The postage due stamps of the same year show two small boats each containing a man holding an oar.

PRECANCEL NOTES.

By CHAS. WILSON.

Dallas, Tex., is using a new type is just the same as the Cleveland Kansas City current type.

Marlin, Tex., precanceled the 3-cent last Christmas. Only one sheet precanceled.

Plano, Tex., also used precanceled Christmas; the 6c is the only one seen.

Kilborn City, Wis., uses a fancier in two lines—they are scarce.

Austin, Tex., is using the smallest again; looks like a new roller, and very clear and distinct.

In a lot of cheap junk the other I found a fine pair of the current double inverted.

Dated precancels are as staple as all values above 1c finding a ready market at good prices especially the old ones.

Waco, Tex., precanceled some book panes last Christmas. The rare.

Someone must have Type IX, Indianapolis cornered or they are much scarcer than the cat. price would indicate. None of the values seem to be on market at any price.

BERMUDA.

The Bermuda Islands lie so handy to our own coast and are so much visited by tourists that they seem almost like wards of our own. They do not amount to much for size, as they cover but twenty square miles and most of them are hardly more than rocks. Great Bermuda is the largest, being bigger than all the others put together and containing Hamilton, the capital and only large town. It was the postmaster at this place who was responsible for one of the rarest "postmaster's provisionals" in existence, but two copies being known, if we are correctly informed, and even these are not alike, as one is in black with the date "1849" and the other in red with the date "1854". They were made like so many of our own postmaster's provisionals of 1846-7, and particularly those of the Confederate States, from a postmark impression. The year "plug" was left in but the month and day plugs removed and in the space left was written with pen and ink the words "One Penny" above the date and the postmaster's signature, W. B. Perot, beneath. Mr. E. D. Bacon has confirmed their status as genuine postage stamps and that they could have been properly made use of by the postmaster under the local postal act in force from 1840 through 1855.

The regular issue of stamps was not made until September 13, 1865, when 1 and 6d and 1s stamps appeared, a 2d being added on March 14, 1866. These stamps were typographed by Messrs. De La Rue & Co., (Bermuda never had any of the handsome Perkins, Bacon & Co. stamps) on Crown and CC watermarked paper and remained in use practically without change until the 1 and 2d received the Crown and CA watermark in 1884 and 1886 respectively. Of the 6d the stock did not run out until the 1910 issue was in use, so that it never appeared with the CA watermark! The 1s did become exhausted in 1893 but the new supply on CA paper was printed in a different color.

As the postage on half ounce letters to British North America was 3d, a stamp of this value was obtained and placed on sale on March 10, 1873, but in March, 1874, these had become exhausted and a provisional was made on the 1s stamp in two types of surcharge, a plain Roman and a fancy italic. The total issue was 8,800. This same surcharge on the 1 and 2d stamps is at least of doubtful authenticity, though often chronicled.

The 3 and 6d and 1s stamps all come perforated compound of 14 and 12½.

In March, 1875, the 1d stamps ran out of stock and the 2d, 3d and 1s stamps were all requisitioned for provisionals; 4,800 of the 2d, 12,000 of the 3d and 23,500 of the 1s being used.

New ½ and 4d values were added to the set in 1880 watermarked Crown CC. The ½d never was issued with the CA watermark in its original brown but was changed to green on the latter watermark in October, 1892. The 4d lasted until 1904 before appearing on the CA paper.

For the Postal Union rate of 2½d, particularly to the United States, this value was issued on November 11, 1884. In January, 1886, the 3d was issued on CA paper in gray and in December, 1886, the 4d was changed to a bright carmine from its previous rose. The 2d changed to claret brown in July, 1893.

On January 11, 1901, a provisional farthing stamp, made by surcharging the 1s printed in gray, was issued for newspapers, until then carried free. This continued in use until 1908.

In 1902 a new type showing the famous floating dock was adopted and the seven low values in use eventually appeared in this with several color changes and the introduction of the multiple watermark.

The current engraved ship type was introduced in 1910 for all values up to and including 1s, being a very effective little design. The higher values are of course Messrs. De La Rue's "stock" typographed design.

But one variety of war tax stamp was issued in 1918.—New England Stamp Monthly.

DICTIONARY ADDENDA.

By THE MANAGING EDITOR.

ILES WALLIS ET FUTUNA.—These words on the stamps of New Caledonia indicate the purpose for which the stamps were issued, viz.: postal use in the Wallis and Futuna Islands in the South Pacific.

JON SIGURDSSON.—On June 17, 1911, a set of stamps was issued by Iceland to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the birthday of Jon Sigurdsson, a native scholar and politician who was made speaker of the Icelandic national assembly on its re-establishment in 1845, and thru whose exertions Iceland obtained practical home rule in 1874. This will explain the inscription found on these stamps.

JOZSEF FOHERCZEG, ETC.—This long inscription surcharged on certain stamps of Hungary means:—"Commander-in-Chief Archduke Joseph's War Exhibition." The stamps were issued in connection with a War Charities exhibition held at Budapest, Sept. 15 to Oct. 24, 1917, of which the patron was Col-Gen., the Arch-duke Joseph.

LANDSTORMEN.—The Landstorm (plural Landstormen) is the general levy for military purposes among the male population of a country—in other words, the "Reserves." In 1916 the Swedish stamps were surcharged with an additional value over the postal value to collect a general fund for equipping this body of men for possible military duty.

PERPER.—A Montenegrin monetary value equal to one franc. It is divided into 100 helera.

POSTA UKR. N. REP. SCHAGIW.—A surcharge applied locally at the city of Stanislaw, in western Ukraina, on various Austrian stamps. The abbreviation is for "Ukrainska Narodnia Respublika," or Ukrainian Peoples Republic. The word "schagiw" is the monetary denomination.

SIROTAM NASICH LEGIONARU.—An inscription on Czecho-Slovakia charity stamps meaning "For orphans of our legionaries".

SOMALIA ITALIANA MERIDIONALE.—A surcharge on Italian postage due stamps in 1907 meaning "Italian South Somaliland".

THRACE INTERALLIEE.—This inscription is found upon stamps of Bulgaria issued in 1919, and were thus overprinted by the Entente military commission in Thrace. It means, "Interallied Thrace", that is the portion of Thrace under the control of the Interallied Commission until its disposition under the Peace Treaties is finally settled.

VENEZIA-TRIDENTINA.—A surcharge applied to the Italian stamps used in the Trentine province of Austria upon its occupation by Italy. It is provisionally a part of the province of Venice, hence the surcharge "Venezia" with the addition "Tridentina", meaning "Trentine," from the ancient name "Tridentinum".

VENEZIA-GIULIA.—A surcharge applied to the Austrian and Italian stamps used in Trieste and the surrounding country upon its occupation by Italy. It is provisionally a part of the province of Venice, to which it anciently belonged, and is therefore termed "Venezia Giulia" or Julian Venice" from the Julian Alps, which form its national boundary from Austria.

VRYHEID.—This word meaning "freedom" appears across the top of the "liberty tree" on the Orange Free State coat-of-arms, surcharged on the adhesive stamps which were affixed to cards to form post cards. The "oranges" on this tree, as it appears on the stamps, were a fantasy of the engravers, as the tree is not an orange tree which does not grow there.

WALLIS & FUTUNA IDS.—A group of islands in the South Pacific Ocean. Postage stamps were first issued in 1920, consisting of New Caledonia stamps overprinted "Iles Wallis".

Rumored—The second type of the two cent surface print imperforate made its appearance some time ago and in this connection we have been told that the postal authorities have been petitioned to send out more sheets of type one imperforate because the ones that have been placed in circulation have been cornered! "And oftentimes excusing of a fault, doth make the fault the worse by the excuse." We can imagine what a hullabaloo would be raised if the department would reissue the type I imperforates, but why exercise the imagination in this unprofitable manner. Even we who had a sheet of four hundred of the type one and forced the stamps on friends at face and paid small remittances to collectors with them would not wish even in our chagrin to have the stamps re-issued. We must admit that we did not sell our center block at face; the thought of the car-fare to the post office made us charge the luckless wight who got this block fifty cents; it is now held by him for one or two hundred dollars, we forget which.

commemorate the first Constitutional Convention of the Free-State of Wurttemberg and the further comment was made that the cancellation marked the first anniversary of the overthrow of the kingdom of Wurttemberg. This was an error, as a month before Mr. Fred Krueger of Fargo, North Dakota, wrote that the cancellation was in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of the Constitution of Wurttemberg and used at the principal post offices, only one day, September 25th, 1919. Now, Dr. C. F. Roh writes: "The cancellation marks the centennial of the overthrow of the absolute kingdom of Wurttemberg; you should have said. Wurttemberg was granted a constitution in 1819 and the absolute monarchy overthrown. If you will consult Scott you will find that the stamps of Wurttemberg, Nos. 339-348, still have the picture of the King of Wurttemberg."

Marriage—We have received a card of announcement of the marriage of Mr. Bertram William Henry Poole and Miss Charlotte Melvin in Los Angeles, June 16th, 1920. Mr. Poole, we need not say, is one of the brightest luminaries in the philatelic firmament; and with our readers we extend our happiest wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Poole.

Loss—The death of Demetrius T. Eaton, Muscatine, Iowa, suddenly, on June 26th, 1920, removes a philatelist who for decades stood stalwartly for the best interests of our pursuit. We quote from a Muscatine newspaper: "Heart failure due to the breaking of a cord of the heart is thought to have caused his sudden death. He had apparently been in good health. As he was sitting in his chair this morning, he remarked that he could not get his breath and died almost instantly. He was 65 years old. Mr. Eaton was one of the most favorably known and highly respected residents of the city. He was associated with many of the movements which in an earlier day looked to the advancement of the community. . . . He was born in Marion County, Indiana, January 22d, 1855. He came here when only two years old. He married Miss Nettie Smyth, April 26th, 1882. One son was born. Mr. Eaton was an active member of the Presbyterian church." As Mr. R. J. Tarpy, who sent a telegram and later particulars of the death remarked: "He was one of the best of the Old Guard of stamp men." As a stamp dealer, Mr. Eaton succeeded in effect Joe F. Beard, Muscatine, Iowa, who died over twenty years ago and for more than a score of years Mr. Eaton conducted a stamp business according to the best traditions. In the aggregate, he leaves a large circle of customers and acquaintances who will grieve at the separation. Through his attendance at different of the conventions of the American Philatelic Society, Mr. Eaton became personally known to many collectors and through his secretaryship of the organization he met by correspondence a host of collectors, past and present. Mr. Eaton was a singularly friendly type of man and he brought to bear all honesty and faithfulness of purpose on his philatelic concerns. He was somewhat diffident rather than aggressive in a personal sense and sought no applause for himself through his connections, although he was always staunchly to the fore in promoting the welfare of philately. In later years Mr. Eaton dealt in a somewhat leisurely way giving especial attention to entire U. S. envelopes for which he always had a strong preference. He maintained a correspondence with many collectors, and followed closely the march of philatelic events. However, he favored the substantial stamps of the earlier times rather than the lighter later issues, let us say for sake of distinction. Mr. Eaton's influence of his chosen pursuit will last and his family may know that his name will endure in the stamp world, in whose affairs he took part for so many years. Particularly to Mrs. Eaton, the widow, we extend our sympathy; she accompanied Mr. Eaton to several conventions of the A. P. S.

Hearn—Through the kindness of Mr. Lowell J. Ragatz, we are enabled to present the following illuminating passages from "The Japanese Letters of Lafcadio Hearn" (edited by Elizabeth Bisland and published by Houghton Mifflin, 1910) which will interest particularly those of our readers who have made Professor Hearn's acquaintance through his "Glimpses of Unfamiliar Japan," and other similar works: "To Professor Basil Hall Chamberlain, March 13, 1894. If you have any old Korean or Chinese stamps you don't want be-times, please send two or three for a little boy in Martinique, who writes wonderful letters to me. (p. 286.)" 'Here comes the kindest letter from you, with some bad news (for I am always very sorry to hear you have a cold)—and a delicious little envelope full of exotic stamps. . . . Please don't give yourself more trouble about the stamps; I have quite enough—more than enough—to delight the little boy in Martinique. STAMPS OF THE CAYMAN ISLANDS.

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

CHAPTER XI.

One Farthing.

Reduction in the inland postal rates coming into effect in the earlier half of 1908, necessitated a Farthing stamp for postcards and for each 20z. of printed matter; and the information first appeared in The Colonial Office Journal, Vol. II., p. 54—"CAYMAN ISLANDS are about to issue 1/4d stamps for internal postage in Grand Cayman".

The stamp was put on sale on June 30, 1908, and ten days afterwards the following notice was sent out to all the dealers and collectors, whose orders for copies came pouring in, one dealer requesting 72,000, exactly the number of the first printing:—

"No. 27. GEORGETOWN POST OFFICE, GRAND CAYMAN, B.W.I.
 Notice is hereby given that farthing stamps . . . , being provided solely for internal postage in the Cayman Islands Dependency will only be sold across the counter at a Post Office in the Cayman Islands.

By Order,
 G. A. PARSONS, Postmistress."

"Through lack of Halfpenny stamps", to quote the Postmistress, and possibly owing to the ridicule to which the authorities were subjected, the new stamps were soon allowed to be used for external postage also, and many copies are known on letters and packets addressed to places outside the Dependency.

Messrs. De La Rue & Co. were the printers—or rather, the lithographers—of this low-value stamp, which was imposed on the stone in a sheet of 120 in two panes of sixty, each of ten rows of six, the transfer being apparently in groups (2x2) of four, shewing minute differences, as is usually the case in lithography when the transferring is not done one at a time, or by duplicating from the stone itself; No. 1 is somewhat blurred at the upper right-hand part of the oval, and No. 2 shews the letters "MA" not joined, as they are in the three other varieties.

Multiple Crown "CA" paper was used, and the design of the stamps, which were perforated 14 by a single-line machine, consists of a fancy upright oval frame, surmounted by a crown, inscribed CAYMAN ISLANDS POSTAGE in uncoloured sans-serif letters, and containing the indication of value, "1/4"; the spandrels are filled by a conventional flower and slight ornamentation; but the familiar rectangular frame is absent, though that is the shape of the finished stamp.

The first printing of 600 sheets was in brown, of a chocolate tone, and this colour was retained for the second printing placed on sale on November 3, 1908; but for the third printings the brown inclined to black, without any trace of red; this last supply arrived early in the following year, probably in February.

Besides the points of difference between the stamps composing each block of four, there are varieties arising from slight defects in the stone; four comparatively prominent instances have been recorded—a white flaw to the right of the crown, on the first stamp in the fourth row of the left-hand pane; an uncoloured dot under the last letter of CAYMAN, on the third stamp in the bottom row of the left pane; a "hair-line" running vertically through the "A" of POSTAGE, on the fourth stamp in the third row of the right-hand pane;

and an uncoloured dot under "S" of POSTAGE, on the sixth stamp in the eighth row of the right pane.

The white flaw variety was rectified before the third printing took place.

A sheet of the Farthing stamp, in black-brown, has been seen without perforation on the right-hand margin.

During a shortage of this value, prepayment was made in cash, the missive being marked accordingly and officially initialled in red or black ink, blue pencil or ordinary blacklead, and then a postmark was applied as if to a stamp; sometimes a postmark alone was used to indicate postage paid.

CHAPTER XII.

The Fiscal "Id."

As this provisional has been accorded catalogue-rank, we include it for the purposes of description and discussion of its status; but it will be seen that it was issued for fiscal purposes only, and was never intentionally allowed to prepay postage, though copies are known postally obliterated—either by favour or through oversight.

The distance from England, coupled with the inability of the Crown Agents to correctly estimate the local requirements, is one of the chief factors in the occasional dearth of some particular value, and this again occurred in May, 1908, when stamps of low value ran out and postage was for some time paid in cash, the letter being marked "Postage Paid" by the postmistress—a procedure which could obviously have been adopted in September and November of 1907, and in the following February.

In the present instance, the difficulty arose through the application of an American resident, who "speculatively demanded" a sheet of the one penny for receipt purposes; on being told that there were no stamps of that value in stock, he made a formal complaint, on which the Commissioner directed a small provisional issue to be made by surcharging the Fourpence, his explicit instructions being that they were to be issued as fiscals and used for that purpose only and not for postage.

The handstamp used by Miss Parsons was in the usual rough-and-ready style, consisting of "Id", set in sealing wax on a wooden handle, but the surcharge is much clearer than either of the previous ones except when it falls exactly on the "4", the Four Pence value being again selected for the provisional. It is said that some were surcharged on May 12 and the balance on the 14th, in all 396 stamps, which gives 3 sheets and 36 over: black ink was used, from the post-office pad.

The American who was responsible for this provisional had his one sheet, and the other copies were mostly sold in singles, except to those who shewed that they were bona fide required.

Bearing in mind the instructions as to the stamp being available for fiscal purposes only, very few copies are known postally obliterated, and those only through oversight; someone tried to smuggle a copy through as a postal, together with an ordinary Six Pence—which latter possibly was sufficient to pay the postage—but it was detected and reached the addressee with a red pen-and-ink cancellation and "Fiscal only" written across it. To this "piece" a certificate is attached: "The Provisional Id on 4d on the envelope was issued for Fiscal purposes only, and may not be used for Postage.—W. G. M. C., P. M." The certificate is not dated, but the official who signed it succeeded Miss Parsons as postmaster on October 1, 1908; and the Postmistress herself wrote to a correspondent: "We have had 40 do some more surcharging, but this time for fiscal purposes only. They were 1d on the new 4d, and badly done as usual."

Copies are known with the surcharge inverted, and judging by catalogue prices they are only about twice as rare as the

an event of which every true American is justly proud took place in what is now Independence Hall in the City of Brotherly Love, otherwise known as Philadelphia, Pa. The Declaration there signed and proclaimed to all the world probably has had a greater effect upon the lives of men than any other document of human origin written before or since July 4, 1776. The 24c postage stamp of 1869 has a miniature picture of the scene when that famous document was signed and is the only U. S. postage stamp upon which the date 1776 appears. If you have a copy get out your album on the Fourth and study it as you have never studied it before; if you haven't one, save up your nickles and your dimes until you have the price to get as good a copy as you can afford. It has always been a good stamp and it always will be a good one. Fine old U. S. Postage, revenues and M. & M. at reasonable prices on approval against satisfactory references.
E. F. HIMSELF.

2c Surface Print Type I, Imperf.

Price now goes to $15 per block of four. Stamp turns out to be rarer than the 1902 5c. I supplied those on my list at $3 and will gladly buy back at substantial increase. It pays to keep in touch with me. While I slipped up on one thing and overcharged, and you should have heard the pickers yell, most things sold are real investments.

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Dr. B. P. Wright as well as Mr. H. B. Furnside have shown me a very curious variety, namely the current $1 unwatermarked, perforated 11 with a very strong offset on the back. This offset is under the gum and is so strong that the details of the stamp may be plainly seen from the reverse impression.

Mr. James Whiteside has located a top block of twenty stamps from the upper left pane of plate 11397 of the 2c type II surface print wherein we find the initials "O. A. M." in script above the plate number. This was etched upon the plate and evidently has the same significance as the small numbers that we find on some of the plates of the 3c surface print.

San Francisco has now started to overprint its envelopes and the Hinton Stamp Company and Mr. E. C. Kinsel are the first to show me the variety. The overprint is of the vertical line type and will be illustrated later. Mr. Kinsel also sends an unchronicled variety from Seattle. We have a large list of new things from Chicago for which I wish to thank Messrs. George Soulmán, H. W. Lindoman and George P. Smith. This city is now getting in its good work and from what I can understand of some varieties only a box were on hand to be overprinted.

Since my last chronicle I have seen 1920, 2c on 3c Provisional Envelopes.

In a recent issue, I chronicled a 1c circular die envelope with a green return card in the upper left corner instead of the usual black. As I have mentioned before, when the envelope manufacturers emboss the stamp in the upper right corner they print the return card at the same operation. Getting the ink pots mixed resulted in our black error envelope and in this case we have the reverse with an error in return card. This interesting variety came from Sioux City and is a Die A on buff, Size 13, Wmk. 19, L. B.

We wish to thank Messrs. A. Hyman, E. W. Murray, H. W. Porter and others for notes of interest.

BAVARIA.—Mr. A. Brun advises us that a new 2m, virgin type, has been surcharged "Deutsches Reich" and a new 4m, type of woman standing, has been surcharged in the same manner. The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the 1¼m and 1½m values surcharged as above in black and the 2½m surcharged in red.

CILICIE.—Mr. A. Brun informs us that the stamps of France have been surcharged "O. M. F. CILICIE Sand Est" in three lines in black, as follows: 5 paras on 2c, red violet, 10pa on 5c green, 1pia on 25c, blue.

ERITREA.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the 15c grey and the first type special delivery stamp surcharged "Colonia Eritrea" in black. The color of the special delivery stamp is a much softer shade of red than formerly.

FRANCE.—Mr. A. Brun advises us under date of June 14th that a new 60c stamp has been issued, color violet and deep blue, oblong type of the current 40c and 45c.

LATVIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. has submitted for chronicle two more values of the latest type stamp. This time they are the 3r dark brown red and green and 5r grey violet and brown red.

PHILIPPINES.—The Economist Stamp Co. has submitted for chronicle a copy of the 10c stamp, perf. 11, no watermark.

POLAND.—Mrs. Emily S. Picher has shown us the 40f in a bright violet shade and the 1m, in a decided grey violet hue.

ROUMANIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us a new color of the 15b type of 1908-14 issue. The color is brownish red and is printed on a grey tinted paper. At the same time the same correspondent submits the following values of the last type: 5b green, 10b red, 25b blue, 40b brown, 50b rose, 1 leu grey green. The first three values are on grey tinted paper.

STRAITS.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us a copy of the 6c George type stamp in a brown red shade.

SYRIA (French Occupation).—Mr. A. Brun informs us that the following current stamps of France have been surcharged "O. M. F. Syrie" 25c on 1c grey, 50c on 2c red violet, 75c on 3c orange, 1pia on 5c green, 2pia on 10c scarlet, 3pia on 25c blue, 5pia on 15c olive, 10pia on 40c red and blue, 25pia on 50c brown and lavender, 50pia on 1f lake and olive, 100pia on 5f blue and yellow. Mr. Brun adds that these stamps are in Syrian piastres, which piastres are worth 20 centimes, French money. The old surcharge "T. E. O." is obsolete and not sold any more in Syria, because the "T. E. O." were surcharged and sold in Egyptian piastres. As soon as the r set in Syrian piastres was out the P Office authorities noticed the surchar of the three lowest values, the w "Centimes" being misleading, so a days afterwards the three values w replaced by the following: 25 centir on 1c grey, 50 centimes on 2c red vio 75 centimes on 3c orange. The w centime meaning the hundredth part a piastre. At the same time a new 2 has been issued, viz.: on the 25 centir blue, so it is to be presumed that a new stamp is to replace either the 2 on 10c or the 3pia on 25c.

THRACE.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the following values Bulgarian stamps type A44, surcharg "Thrace Occidentale" in black. 5s, 1 15s and 25s perforated and 30s imp forated. The word "Thrace" is at top in a straight line while "Occidentale" is at the base in a curved line. The perforated stamp has also been ov printed in the same manner.

The first three values noted above has also been surcharged "Thrace Int alliee" in black in smaller type than the first surcharge noted. This overprint, however, vertical, in two lines.

The next discontinuance of subscriptions will concern all subscribers who wrappers bear the numbers 1538 to 15 inclusive. Just glance at your wrapper immediately in order to make sure your subscription is paid up. You have ample time in which to renew and saved the inconvenience of a discontinuance. Moreover, under our new system we are making no plans for furnishing back numbers and subscribers must expect that we can supply back numbers when we have made every effort to notify them.

We are satisfied that the system we have inaugurated is the only one under which a newspaper can do business these days, and subscribers must understand that free copies of the WEEKLY will not be sent to those who are arrears.

POSTAGE STAMPS OF NOVA SCOTIA.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

CHAPTER I.—Introduction.

Nova Scotia, originally Acadia, is the most easterly province of the Dominion of Canada, and consists of a long narrow peninsula and the island of Cape Breton, separated from the mainland by the narrow Strait of Canso. It is bounded on the north by Northumberland Strait and the Gulf of St. Lawrence; northeast, south and southeast by the Atlantic; west by the Bay of Fundy; and northwest by New Brunswick, with which it is connected by an isthmus only eleven miles wide, separating the Bay of Fundy from Northumberland Strait. Its greatest length is 350 miles, its greatest breadth 120 miles, while its total area is 20,907 square miles—one-third less than that of Scotland. One-fifth of the area consists of lakes, rivers, and inlets of the sea.

The coasts are everywhere indented. Halifax Harbor, Chedabucto, St. Margaret's, St. Mary's and Mahone bays, Annapolis, Minas, and Chignecto basins, are among its harbors, and the Bras d'Or Lake in Cape Breton is an arm of the sea penetrating to the recesses of the island. Into Minas Basin, penetrating 60 miles inland, the tides of the Bay of Fundy rush with great force, and during the equinoxes rise about fifty feet, while on the opposite shore, at Halifax Harbor, the rise does not exceed eight feet.

The climate is comparatively temperate—the extreme of cold being 20° below zero, and of heat 98° in the shade. Spring is rather tedious and the winter variable; fogs are prevalent along the coast but do not penetrate far inland. Rye, oats and barley, buckwheat, corn, tomatoes, potatoes, turnips, and all root crops grow in abundance; wheat is not much grown; and hay is a very important crop. Apples, pears, plums, cherries, and other garden fruits attain the utmost perfection. Attention is now devoted to dairying and to the raising of livestock. Sport is excellent throughout the province. The manufactures are limited but are being developed. Mining (gold, iron, coal, etc.) are extensively carried on. The fisheries of Nova Scotia are among the finest in the world. The waters abound with mackerel, cod, herring, shad, salmon, halibut, haddock, lobsters, etc. The principal exports are fish, minerals, lumber, agricultural products and general manufactures.

The population, numbering about half a million, is mainly of Canadian birth, and chiefly of Scottish and English descent. There are, however, descendants of the Acadians (French) and a few Indians. Education is free and of a high character. There are six colleges and universities, the oldest being King's College at Windsor, which was founded in 1787.

The public affairs of the province are administered by a lieutenant-governor, appointed by the Dominion Government, and he is assisted by an Executive Council, a Legislative Council of twenty members, and a Legislative Assembly of thirty-eight members elected by the people for four years. The province is represented at Ottawa by ten senators, and twenty-one members of the House of Commons.

Nova Scotia was discovered by Cabot in 1497 and the country was partly settled by the French in 1604 and called Acadie. In 1621 Sir W. Alexander (afterwards Earl of Stirling) obtained a charter of a country to be called Nova Scotia, which he made several attempts to colonise. The settlements were a bone of contention between England and France for many years until the Treaty of Utrecht (1713) finally left them British. Many of the French settlers, however, proved troublesome and those who refused to fall in with the new arrangements were expelled in 1755—an episode celebrated by Longfellow in "Evangeline", though the poet was hardly historically just. Meanwhile Cape Breton remained in the hands of the French; but Louisburg was taken and dismantled in 1758 by General Wolfe. In 1763 the island was annexed to Nova Scotia, but in 1780 it was erected into a separate colony, and was not finally joined to Nova Scotia until 1820. The well-being of Nova Scotia dates from the immigration of loyalists from the United States after the Revolutionary War. The colony of New Brunswick was separated from Nova Scotia in 1784 and in 1867 the latter province joined the Dominion of Canada.

CHAPTER II.

Postal Rates and Notices.

In 1844 the post office commissioners of Nova Scotia recommended that postage stamps should be issued for the use of the Colony, and a petition to that effect was forwarded to the Postmaster-General of Great Britain, who at that time had jurisdiction over all the post offices of the British North American Colonies. This memorial was ignored by the Imperial authorities, but when they were again approached on the subject they intimated the matter could not be considered for the reason that there would be too great a risk of loss owing to the danger of the stamps being forged. This reply settled the matter for a time, but as there was growing dissatisfaction with the postal service in all the British North American Colonies a strong agitation was commenced with the object of each Province having its own independent postal service. All the Colonies united in this demand, and under this pressure the Imperial Government yielded, and the agitation was ended so far as Nova Scotia was concerned by the passing of the Post Office Act of 1850. In an excellent series of articles, which appeared in 1894 in "Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Journal", Mr. Donald A. King gave extracts from all the official documents bearing on postal affairs and we are indebted to that writer for much of the following information. The Post Office Act is a somewhat lengthy document and we, therefore, only extract those sections which are of interest to us as philatelists, viz.:—

"6. In conformity with the agreements made between the Local Governments of British North America, the provincial postage on letters and packets, not being newspapers or printed pamphlets, magazines or books, entitled to pass at the lower rates hereinafter referred to, shall not exceed the rate of threepence currency per half ounce, for any distance within the Province, and the increase of charges on letters weighing over half an ounce shall be regulated according to the British rate and scale of weights; no transit postage shall be charged on any letter or packet passing through the Province to any other Colony in British North America, unless it be posted in this Province and the sender choose to prepay it, nor on any letter or packet from any such Colony if prepaid there; and the rate of twopence sterling the half ounce shall remain in operation as regards letters by British mails, to be extended to countries having postal communication with the United Kingdom, unless her Majesty's Government shall see fit to alter the rate thereon to be charged to threepence currency.

7. The prepayment of Provincial postage shall be optional to the sender.

8. All Provincial postage received within the Province shall be retained as belonging to it, and all Provincial postage received within any other of the British North American Colonies may be retained as belonging to such Colony.

9. The British Packet Postage, and other British postage collected in this Province, shall be accounted for and paid over to the proper authorities in the United Kingdom; but the Colonial postage on the same letters shall belong to the Colony collecting it, or if prepaid to the British Post Office it shall be credited and belong to the Colony to which such letters or packet are addressed.

Provincial stamps for the prepayment of postage may be prepared, issued and sold under the orders of the Governor in Council; and such stamps prepared, issued, and sold under the direction of the proper authorities in the British North American Colonies, shall be allowed in the Province as evidence of the prepayment of Provincial Postage in such Colonies respectively, on the letters or packets to which they are affixed.

13. Printed books, periodical publications, and pamphlets may be transmitted by post within the Province at the rate of twopence per ounce, up to six ounces in weight, and threepence for each additional ounce up to sixteen ounces, beyond which weight no printed books, publications, or pamphlets may be transmitted by post; but the Governor in Council may order, modify, and reduce the rate of postage on such printed books, periodicals, and pamphlets.

14. The Packet Postage for letters shall be one shilling sterling the half ounce—tenpence of which shall belong to the English Post Office and twopence to the Nova Scotia Office.

28. The postage marks, whether British, Foreign or Colonial, on any letter brought into this Province, shall, in all Courts of Justice and elsewhere, be received as conclusive evidence of the amount of British, Foreign or Colonial postage payable in respect of such letters, in addition to any other postage chargeable thereon, and all such postage shall be recoverable in this province as due to Her Majesty.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from W. Wyllie, H. C. Barr, J. C. Matthews, Jos. Silver, Dick Bailey.

—In the house organ published by the Stamp Shoppe, No. 1 of which lies before us, a valuable prize is offered to the one who will submit the most acceptable name for the publication. Coupled with the stamp offerings found in this sheet there is much of interest to the collector, and a sample copy will be sent on request. Address the firm at 1310 Scott St., Little Rock, Ark.

—A movement is on foot to start a stamp club in Topeka, Kansas. If interested, write Willard Jasperson, 900 Lane St., Topeka.

A TOTAL OF 534 FOR HUSSMAN.

The C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. has made a wonderful record since October 1 of last year, and there is every indication that by the end of the subscrip- tion year a total of six hundred will have been attained. It is a strong measure of co-operation. There is of course the expected falling off in new subscriptions during the summer season, but the totals given in this report are very gratifying. During June 22 new subscriptions were received from the C. E. Hussman Co., 20 from L. B. Dover, 14 from the Fen- nell Stamp Co., and 8 from Chas. Christensen. The totals since our last report are as follows:—

"BILL."

By EDWIN B. HILL.

The first time I saw Bill he was sit- ting on his suit-case, at the Union Sta- tion, listening to a friendly trainman tell, in language simple and precise, exactly his opinion of Bill and his latest es- capade. Bill listened, and a whimsical smile crept over his face.

"Now look here, Bill," said the train- man, finally, "you know as well as I do that you'll fall for every yarn anything in skirts tells you. It's a wonder to me, Bill, you got ten cents to your name."

"I haven't" declared Bill.

The trainman gazed, goggle-eyed, his mouth open. Then, before he could be- gin another onslaught, Bill turned his head, gazed up the platform, and rose to his feet. A stray cur was sitting there, pursuing a flea. There was a deep growl. The cur sat up, cocked an ear, and looked about. There were sundry growls, and the cur, startled into activity, began to run about. Then came all the sounds of a dog-fight, the snarls, the growls, the yelps. The foolish pup ran around in circles looking for the other dog—which was Bill. The trainman and I laughed until our sides ached. When the stray pup finally started to run down the track, Bill pursued him with yelps that died away in the distance.

"No imitation," growled the trainman.

Outside the iron fence, which keeps the non-traveler from the trains, I espied a scrap of cover. The stamp looked much like an aeroplane, twenty-four cents, pre-canceled. Bill, I noticed, also eyed the bit of paper. A slight breeze wafted the stamp toward me. I stooped to pick it up, but another whirl took it over and deposited it almost in Bill's hands. He looked at it. Then he handed it over to me.

"I don't collect pre-cancels," he said, with his winning smile. "Besides, you saw it first."

I thanked him, noted it was Philadel- phia, and placed it carefully in my pock- etbook.

There began our friendship.

"You come with me, Bill," ordered the trainman, as a red-cap came out and started toward Bill.

"No use, Jimmy," declared Bill, with a wave of his hand to the redcap, who grinned. "That's all right, Mr. Bill. I'm doin' this jest because I want to, sir."

The trio started toward the Fred Har-vey lunch-room. Bill turned to me, and said:

"Tommy, here, hasn't included you in the invitation, but I'll be grateful if you'll sort of chaperon us. Tommy might feel that he'd say things if there wasn't a restraining element in what you might call our midst."

I laughed, for I was about to go to the lunch-room, having still two hours to wait for a delayed train and a fuming friend.

The trainman ordered the usual lunch, and I chose a few trifles. Bill looked over the bill-of-fare, and then his eyes strayed to the pie-man and his load. He had an assortment, including cream puffs. Bill's face broke into a grin.

"Cream puffs, please," he whispered to the waitress.

She smiled. Evidently she knew Bill.

Twenty minutes later Bill drank a glass of milk, and declared he felt heavenly. He had eaten thirteen cream puffs.

"Unlucky number, Bill," declared Tommy. "Why didn't you make it four- teen?"

Bill sighed. "Saved that one for seed," he declared. Then he added, briskly, "Now, let's talk."

We sat there—for Bill would not let me go—while Bill related his experi- ences. It seems he was on the way from Chicago to Los Angeles. There was an old lady on the train. At Kansas City she got off, during the hour's wait, and walked up and down the platform. When she got on again, she discovered her pocketbook, with all her money, was gone. She was beside herself. There were still three days of travel before her. Of course, her sleeper and her railway tickets were safe, but where and when and how was she to eat?

Bill had the section across. At the first call for lunch, the old lady did not rise. Nor at the second. Nor the last call. But Bill, always observant, knew there was something wrong, so he talked with the old lady, and ended by inviting her to dine with him. She was torn between her needs and her sense of propriety. But Bill, always persuasive, overcame her scruples. His destination was El Paso. Just as he was leaving the train, the old lady asked his name and address. He wrote it on an envelope, slipped a ten dollar bill inside, handed it to her, and vanished. The trainman had seen the transaction, and this being the end of his run, he had encountered Bill, sitting on his suitcase, and immediately took him to task. That was about the time I arrived, and the dog-fight started.

"Yes, let's talk," declared Bill, again. And then I sensed Bill's idea of talk. It was a monologue. It was humorous, full of hard sense, and interspersed with quaint quips and oddities that gave me joy. Bill was a philosopher. The waitress sidled over, and listened. Then a train came in, and a fussy Englishman hastened to the counter and ordered some marmalade and crackers—only he called them biscuits—and tea. Bill eyed him. The monologue ceased. There came a few faint frightened notes, the notes of a bird unknown to me; and I prided myself that I knew birds, here at home, from Michigan to California. The Englishman paused. The notes poured forth—high and clear and sweet and full of the indescribable charm dear to the soul of a bird-lover. The Englishman ceased to eat. He laid down his spoon. The tears welled into his eyes. I looked at Bill. He saw no one but the Englishman. Bill's face expressed the sorrow in his soul.

He went at once to the man, and began an apology. The Englishman laid a hand upon Bill's arm.

"My boy, I haven't heard the lark for twenty years. I've been in India and Siberia. I'm on the way home."

Bill stood silent. Then his face broke into a smile.

"What part of England, sir, may I ask?"

The "sir" aroused my interest. Bill evidently had been in khaki, and he recognized an officer.

The Englishman named a section unknown to me. Bill wrinkled his brows, and snapped his fingers—all for himself. Then his face took on a dreamy look.

He began with a few fluttering notes, low and liquid. The Englishman never took his eyes from Bill's face. The song came stronger and more certain. The Englishman trembled. Then came the final note—loud, triumphant, and silence.

"Where—where did you learn that?" huskily whispered the Englishman.

Bill straightened, saluted, and said:

"In France, sir, from a Tommy. And in England I heard the bird, for I was a guest at the home of Sir Arthur. His son and I were wounded in the same battle."

The Englishman threw his arms about Bill and hugged him to his heart.

"Boy—boy!" he cried, through his tears. "Tis my own laddie you brought through and took home. And he's waiting for me now. I want you to go back with me."

Bill stood irresolute. Tommy broke in:

"Bill? He will be pleased to go. He's been talking about it for a week. There's three-four birds there Bill forgot to listen to, and I'm sure he'll go back gladly."

Tommy grinned behind the Englishman's back.

I remembered Bill's financial misfortunes, and wondered how he would evade the issue.

"Sir, I can't go now; but in three months I think I can join you and Artie—sure of it."

The Englishman was compelled to acquiesce. Bill saw him safely to his train, and then returned to the platform where Tommy and I waited.

Bill looked me over. Then a smile spread over his face. There is a bird in Arizona which sings in the desert and is never seen near civilization. I do not know its name. When I have been on my cow-pony,—dear old Simmel,—alone, I have stopped to hear the wonderful notes. I have never seen the bird.

Bill imitated the notes exactly. My eyes dimmed,—for was not I in exile? And to him who is away from his beloved mountains and desert and the song of birds,—is not life grey indeed? When he had ended I stretched forth my hand and thanked him.

"I saw you over there, once,"—Bill waved his hand toward the west. "You gave me a drink out of your canteen three miles from Monroy's. I'll never forget that. I sure had a thirst,—and old J. C.! My! He was peeved!"

I had forgotten. J. C. was a ranger I knew and I recalled the incident. Bill had emptied the canteen! And I was eleven miles from water!

"And how's the collection of stamps?" Bill asked.

So Bill and I sat there, and for an hour talked stamps. I told Bill of the passing of my collection, and of my rehabilitation as a collector—Match and Medicine, and Canada Revenues, in finest possible condition; and U. S. and B. N. A. in any condition unfit for the average collector.

"I buy them, when I can, at ten per cent. of catalogue," I said. "When I can get them for that," I added. "Which is not what you might term frequently."

"Now that's what I call a proper way to collect," declared Bill. "You have the pleasure and you miss the pangs. I've done differently."

Bill dived into his suitcase, and drew forth a little looseleaf album. He handed it over. Yes, his collection was different, indeed! Bill had some U. S. that were glorious! A pair of the five cents, 1847, and a pair of the ten cents, both denominations unused. And there were unused in the 1851 and the 1856 and the 1867 and the 1869! Yes, Bill's stamps were different!

When I had gloated over them and gloried in Bill's quests, I turned to speak, but Bill forestalled me:

"You derive just as much pleasure from your tattered darlings as I do from my perfectionists,—and maybe more; but we both love our stamps, and are content."

I heard the train I waited for, and excusing myself went out to greet my friend. When I came back, Bill was gone.

It was a couple of months later that I chanced into the station to mail a letter. Tommy was leaning against the fence. We exchanged greetings.

"Ever hear from Bill?" I asked.

Tommy laughed. "Good old Bill! You remember that old lady he staked? Well, it seems her son is a mighty big man out there on the coast,—owns a heap of land and ranches. The old lady told him all about Bill. And what does he do but pile on the train and come over here and dig Bill out of his measly traveling-salesman job and give him something real to do. The old lady allows she'll give Bill a ranch, with birds on it, where he needn't do a thing but listen to 'em."

Tommy grinned his enjoyment. Then he added:

"An' I bet good ole Bill is listening to 'em right now, and teaching 'em how to sing."

But I had different ideas about Bill. If all this prosperity had come to him, Bill would probably be buying that unused twenty-four cents, 1869, U. S., inverted center, which had recently come on the market. Bill might feel now he could afford that. He could appreciate it, too. Then I thought of my own little collection, growing, alas! so slowly! But it means as much to me, perhaps, as Bill's perfection copies do to him. Besides, I have no Maecenas, stampic or otherwise. Good old Bill!

By JOSEPH WARD.

NEWFOUNDLAND.—The thirteen cent
orange issue of 1866 portrays a two mast fishing schooner. The ten cent 1887 pictures a similar vessel but with the sails set differently.

The issue of 1897 was to commemorate two historical events, the 60th anniversary of the reign of Queen Victoria and the 400th anniversary of the discovery of that island by the Cabots, June 24th, 1497. The eight cent shows two manned fishing boats meant to convey the idea that this occupation is a very extensive one in Newfoundland,
while the ten cent shows Cabot's ship
the Matthew leaving the Avon, the second day of May, 1497. The 24 cent also shows a fishing scene which is labelled "salmon fishing."

While the issue of '97 was to commemorate the discovery of Newfoundland,
the issue of 1910 was to commemorate the settlement of the island. The four cent this issue shows Guy's ship
the Endeavour.

NEW ZEALAND.—The 1906 issue of this country, now a recognised Dominion,
was of commemorative nature and celebrated an historical event, that of the arrival of the canoe Arawa from Hawaiki bringing the first inhabitants of New Zealand. These people were a branch of the Polynesian race and according to their own historians and legends came from Hawaiki about six hundred years ago. Ethnologists have since translated Hawaiki to mean Hawaii or Savaii in the Samoan group.
The European settlers found the native
in a high state of civilization seldom seen before or since in savage or barbaric races. They manufactured flax from the plant and from this made clothes and mats, which they dyed with barks and roots. They were acquainted with wood-carving, their skill decorating the prows of their canoes. The half penny value has been mentioned, while the three pence stamp pictures Captain Cook and members of the astronomical expedition that accompanied him landing, while their ship the Endeavour stands out in the bay. This scene took place at Poverty Bay November 8th, 1769, but it was not until 1787 that the English made any attempt to colonize

the islands.

NICARAGUA.—The commemorative stamps of 1892 pictured a deck scene on Columbus' flagship the Santa Maria in the early morning hours of Friday, October the twelfth, 1492. Columbus is shown with members of his crew about him. Upon landing he gave the newly found territory the name of San Salvador, although the Indians called it Guanahani.

NORTH BORNEO.—Because of the fact that at the time of founding this colony
a sail boat was incorporated in the seal,
it is a very natural thing for a ship to appear on the stamps and currency of this island. All the early issues, 1888-92, and the six cent values, issues '93 and '97, have as a main feature of design the colony's seal and are therefore ship stamps. The same ship minus the rest of the seal plus a bit of Borneo island scenery, forms the principal feature of design for the eight cent stamps issues of '93 and '97.

NYASSA.—The 300, 400 and 500 reis
stamps, issue of 1911, picture a galleon
of bygone days with a cross on its sails.

PANAMA.—The Panama stamps issued in 1878, while under Colombian guidance, show a picture map of the isthmus with a sail boat on each side.

PAPUA.—All the stamps of this South Pacific colony known to some as British New Guinea have up to 1920 the same general design, which shows a native boat with oddly shaped sails peculiar to the islands.

PORTO RICO.—This island is to-day a part of the United States but prior to 1898 it was a possession of Spain. Taking this fact into consideration, it was natural that they should commemorate the discovery of the New World by Columbus. Only one stamp was issued at this time, which pictured Columbus
disembarking on his visit to that island
November 19th, 1495. It is said that 8,000 copies were issued. The spot pictured on the stamp is near the present

HAYTI

is under American supervision, and who knows just when it may be United States like Danish West Indies, Porto Rico, etc. ? There has been a flood of surcharges which are now all finished as the new issue is in use. Some of these monstrous looking makeshifts are going to be very very rare, in fact some of them are already so. We have given these surcharges exhaustive study and have arranged a specialized book of them—unused and used. It begins with Scott's No. 143 and runs thru to 286.
Specialists can see this wonderful lot by correspond-

19TH AND 20TH CENTURY U. S. COLONIES.

I am breaking up a superb collection of Canal Zone, Cuba, Danish West Indies, Guam, Hawaii, Philippine Islands and Porto Rico.

Now, Mr. Collector, is the time to fill those vacant spaces. Want lists solicited.

H. F. COLMAN, 2ND NATIONAL BANK BUILDING, Washington, D. C.

city of Mayaguez on the western part of the island facing the Mona Passage.

PORTUGAL.—The issue of 1894, commemorative of the fifth centenary of the birth of Prince Henry, known as "The Navigator", and ranging in value from five to one hundred reis, were of three general designs, only two of which directly interest us. The first design represents Prince Henry in the prow of a caravel with two of his captains, one on either side. The second shows the Navigator watching the departure of Captain Zarco, who took part in the voyage of discovery in 1419, from the promontory at Sagres. All the stamps of this issue were designed by Velloso Salgado and were printed by Giesecke & Devrient of Leipzig, Saxony.

The second commemorative set for this country, issue of 1897, was to commemorate the finding of the short trade route to India by Vasco da Gama in 1497. The 2½ reis represents the departure of the fleet from Belem, July 8th, 1497, while the 5 reis shows the arrival of the fleet May 20th, 1498, at Calicut on the Malabar coast. The 25 reis has for a design a figure of the Muse of History, holding an open book of fame in which were written the names and deeds of Vasco da Gama. In the distance in the rays of the sun can be seen the fleet. The 50 reis shows the flagship in a stormy sea, while the patron saint of the expedition is seen standing on the deck of an ancient galley on the 75 reis stamp. The flagship is again seen on the 100 reis value but all is calm this time on the sea. On the 150 reis stamp is shown the gentleman who made possible this issue of commemorative stamps, that of Vasco da Gama himself. These stamps were used in the colonies of Azores, Macao, Maderia, Portuguese Africa and India, and Timor. The name for each colony formed part of design of each stamp.

REUNION.—The 1907 franc values of this French possession in the Indian Ocean pictures a rocky coast in the background and a sailboat in the foreground. Sea gulls are seen sweeping overhead.

ROUMANIA.—The ten bani issue of 1913, commemorating the annexation of Silistria, shows a Roumanian naval vessel approaching Constanza on the Black Sea. Silistria, a fortified town on the Danube, had, since the dawn of European history, been the bone of contention of the surrounding nations, and when it was annexed in 1913 by treaty there was plentiful reason for rejoicing, one form of which showed itself in the realms of philately.

SAINT PIERRE AND MIQUELON.—The franc values of this French fishing island off the southeastern coast of Newfoundland have as a main feature of design a fishing vessel carrying cod. Fishing is the only occupation in the islands. These islands are to-day the remnants of New France and monuments of lost French territory.

SALVADOR.—This country's postal administration decided upon special stamps to mark the 400th anniversary of the discovery of the New World by Columbus, which were issued in 1893. Only the two and ten peso values interest us. The first represents the founding of Isabella on the north coast of the Dominican Republic on December 7th, 1893, which was the first white settlement in the western hemisphere. The name was given by the Genoese himself in honour of his royal patroness. The ten peso, same issue, pictures the departure of Columbus from Palos in 1492. The five peso, 1894, shows a deck scene on one of Columbus' ships. He is shown standing with drawn sword ready to fight any member of his crew who might attack the Indians that he was carrying back to Spain as royal hostages. This action on his part was necessary, history tells us, for the crew being of a superstitious nature, believed that a great evil would befall them for having these red men aboard and they wished to kill and throw them into the sea.

The ten and twelve centavos, 1896, show a steamship presenting a starboard bow lapped by rising waves. The ships on the two stamps are of the same type, although the borders and frames are different in each.

TASMANIA.—The city of Hobart, its harbor and environs are shown on the twopence stamps of the issue of 1900-11. The scene is full of action and very clear and shows several ships in the harbor in the foreground.

TONGO.—The two shillings, 1897 issue of Tonga, (or Friendly Islands as they were named by an explorer because of the disposition of the natives) pictures a sailboat backed by several cliff islands. The kingdom is formed of 150 such islands, altho only 30 are inhabited. Beneath the prow of the ship is the word "Maabai".

TRINIDAD.—The first postage stamp used in Trinidad was put in service between San Fernando, Trinidad and Puerto de Espana and was more of a local issue than a government one, being used on letters carried on the steamer Lady MacLeod. The stamp bears no value but it was understood to be worth four pence. The initials "L M L" are on the bottom half of the stamps, while the ship itself is shown on the upper half.

Trinidad pictures the landing of Columbus over 400 years ago on the two pence commemorative stamp of 1898. The design itself is taken from a stained glass window in the Trinidad Council Chamber, and shows the Genoese navigator landing from small boats while the caravels themselves are seen standing out to sea.

retary which gives a more explicit description of the various postal rates than are contained in the Post Office Act. This notice reads as follows:—

"PROVINCIAL SECRETARY'S OFFICE, 2nd July, 1851.

His Honor the Administrator of the Government, by the advice of Her Majesty's Council, has been pleased to approve and establish the following regulations, to come into operation in the Post Office Department in this Province on and after the 6th of July, instant:

1st. Letters addressed to any part of Nova Scotia or British North America will be liable to a uniform rate of 3d currency the half-ounce, prepayment optional.

2nd. Packet letters to and from England, 1s sterling, or 1s3d currency, prepayment optional.

3rd. Letters to and from Newfoundland, 8d currency, 5d packet rate instead of 4½d, and 3d inland, prepayment optional.

4th. Letters to and from Bermuda and the British West Indies, 8d currency, 5d the packet rate instead of 4½d, 3d inland, which latter rate must be prepaid in advance on letters for Bermuda and the British West Indies.

5th. Letters addressed to the United States will be liable to the rate of 3d currency the half ounce, between the place of posting and the frontier line; by Contract Packet, 5d currency instead of 4½d, in addition to the inland rate (3d) which must be prepaid.

NEWSPAPERS, PAMPHLETS, ETC.

1st. Newspapers published in the Province of Nova Scotia, addressed to any part of British North America, when forwarded by land mail pass free of charge.

2nd. Newspapers to and from the United Kingdom by Contract Packet from Halifax, free; if forwarded via the United States 1d each, payable on delivery.

3rd. Newspapers for the United States, by packet from Halifax, 2½d currency each, which must be prepaid.

8th. Pamphlets, printed books, and periodical publications will be liable to a charge of 2d per ounce up to six ounces in weight, enclosed in covers open at the ends, and 3d for every additional ounce up to sixteen ounces, beyond which weight no printed book, publication, or pamphlet can be forwarded by post.

9th. Printed books, magazines, reviews, or pamphlets, whether British, Colonial, or Foreign, will, after the 5th of July next, be permitted to be sent through the Post Office from the United Kingdom to Nova Scotia or vice versa, whether forwarded by packet or private ship, and in all respects (except as to weight) subject to the same conditions and restrictions to which newspapers are liable, at the following rates, viz., not exceeding a half pound, 6d sterling or 7½d currency; exceeding half a pound and not one pound, 1s sterling or 1s3d currency; exceeding one pound and not two pounds, 2s sterling or 2s6d currency; and so on, adding 1s3d currency for every additional pound or fraction of a pound. When forwarded by packet they must be sent the direct route from Halifax, the postage in all cases to be prepaid.

Letters with stamps affixed to them equal to the rate of postage chargeable upon such letters, pass free of all other postage in whatever part of Nova Scotia they may be posted, and to whatever part of British North America addressed.

MONEY LETTERS.

Registered money letters will be liable to a charge of 6d currency each, in addition to the postage, which must in all cases be prepaid in advance."

A little more than two months before the above quoted official notice was published, and before the Post Office Act had become law the Postmaster-General wrote the following letter to the Provincial Secretary:—

"HALIFAX, April 21st, 1851.

SIR,—As the period is fast drawing near when the reduced rate of postage is to take effect in Nova Scotia, and as I perceive by the Provincial Act that provincial stamps are to be provided for the convenience of the public, and not being aware that any steps have been taken by the Government to obtain them, I request to be informed whether His Excellency would authorise me to make application for a supply from the authorities of the General Post Office.

I would beg to suggest that a requisition for 5000 sheets, or more, be made, each sheet containing 240 heads, which at 3d would be equal to £15,000, or £3 for each sheet.

Also £5000 of 6d stamps for double letters or letters exceeding the half-ounce; and also 60 defacing stamps for the use of the several postmasters throughout the Province.

I would further suggest that the head be something similar to that represented in the margin, the field to be blue instead of red, or any other color His Excellency would prefer.

This supply, would, I imagine be sufficient for the first introduction of this reduced rate, when, should His Excellency think proper, other arrangements could be made for keeping up the supply.

Should the Lieutenant-Governor approve of this proposition, I will apply to the Post Office in London by the next packet. I have, etc.,

(Signed) A. WOODGATE.

The Honorable Joseph Howe."

Mr. King tells us that a copy of the design referred to in this letter was drawn on the margin of the letter book. It is of large rectangular shape, showing a portrait of the Queen in the centre somewhat after the style of that shown on the early Mauritius stamps, but without crown or wreath. This is drawn on a square of red, while around it are "Postage" at top, "Three pence" at bottom, "Nova" at left, and "Scotia" at right. The design is completed by a small numeral "3" in a square at each corner. Presumably the Postmaster-General drew his inspiration for this design from the then current British penny stamp.

The design of the "defacing" or cancelling stamp is very like the one adopted but with vertical instead of horizontal lines, and with a diamond instead of a circle, in the centre.

This proposal for stamps did not go beyond the office of the Provincial Secretary, to whom it was written, and there is every reason to suppose that the stamps had actually been ordered some time before the letter was written, otherwise they would never have been ready for issue on September 21st. Mr. King says, "It is more than probable that the Hon. Joseph Howe, the Provincial Secretary, who, I am informed, was in London the previous winter, had had designs then submitted to him and approved of, and had ordered the necessary stamps without the knowledge of the Postmaster-General."

It seems probable that Mr. Howe ordered the stamps for New Brunswick at the same time, for in the letter book referred to above, the following interesting memorandum appears under date of July 8th, 1851:—

MEMO.

When Mr. Howe made the application for stamps it was proposed that after the first supply had arrived the plates could have been sent out, and impressions taken off by engravers in Halifax. As Mr. Saunders, however, seems to report against the proposition, I would beg to suggest for the consideration of the Government, that £10,000 worth of stamps for Nova Scotia, and a similar amount for New Brunswick, viz.:—

3d	£5000
6d	£2500
1s	£2500

be furnished for immediate use, or should this amount be considered too small to double the above numbers.

SAXONY==Very Special!

FINE SPECIALIZED COLLECTION OF SAXONY—Have just closed a deal whereby I can offer a grand collection of SAXONY, being the Specialized Collection of a prominent collector who wished to realize on same. Here is a splendid opportunity for the Specialist in Saxony! To the general collector who has not the complete set of these desirable stamps, my advice is, fill out your set NOW. Saxony is A-1 STOCK. I don't know of any better foreign, catalogue value of it considered. This collector tells me that even years ago when he was collecting these stamps, he did well to get Three or Four dollars' worth of them at a time from the largest dealers. Order promptly as I have only about a Thousand Dollars' Catalogue value of them and that should go very quickly at the following low prices—when these are gone I will never have but few more at ANY price. Although they are all in really nice condition, I have sorted them out into three grades, and I assure you that if you even only order an "average" copy, you will get a nice looking, lightly cancelled stamp. Following is a list of all the better values:

SAMOA==Just Received!

A NICE LOT OF SAMOA—in Mint condition, almost everything, you will note, except a few of the rarest varieties. These Stamps are always popular and it has been a long time since I had enough of them to justify me in advertising them. Only have about a hundred of each, new. Pairs and Blocks at same rate as long as they last. I have very nicely centered copies of most all of these:

CHICAGO MATCH CO.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

The Chicago Match Co. is listed in the Chicago directory for 1866-67 at 490 Canal St., D. C. Daggett, Supt. Like some of the other match factories, it was probably a side line or off shoot of a larger business that used lumber and found that waste material could be turned into account by making it into matches. The Boston Book states that A. L. Hale was president of the company, and the only A. L. Hale listed in the directories of the period was Albert L. Hale, who, with his brother, Daniel
T. Hale, comprised the firm of A. L.
Hale & Bro., furniture manufacturers, who are listed at 10 to 16 Canal St. in 1869 and 1870. Or, perhaps they started by making matches and gave that up to go into furniture.

The Boston Book gives the following data:—

Die approved, Aug. 14, 1865.
First issued, November, 1865.
Last issued, July 17, 1866.
292,666 issued in black on old paper.
170 stamps per sheet, (17x10).

The stamp is an upright rectangle of the standard 3c size and in general makeup is suggestive of the 90c postage stamp of 1860. A nearly full face portrait of Mr. Hale facing slightly to the right is enclosed in a square frame with an arched top. A curved double label across the top reads "Chicago Match Co.—Chicago" in two lines. The letters of "Chicago" are about twice as large as those of the upper line. Crossing the bottom is a straight panel with curved ends which is inscribed in two lines "U. S. Inter. Rev.—Three Cents."
These letters are colorless. Between

"Three" and "Cents" is a small tablet bearing the numeral "3" in color. Ornamental tablets at the right and left of the portrait are labeled "Friction" and "Matches", respectively. Like the postage stamp which it so much resembles,
the charm of this stamp lies in its simple dignity. The scrolls that fill out the spaces between the labels at the sides are its only ornaments.

The Chicago does not suggest any of the other stamps produced by Butler & Carpenter except possibly the Washington match. The latter, however, is such an exact duplicate of the 90c postage stamp that we may wonder how two match stamps built on the plan of the same postage stamp could look so differently. The Hale portrait is an exquisite bit of engraving and the stamp looks more like a miniature portrait skillfully framed with the sole purpose of bringing out the beauty of the portrait than like a stamp on which the portrait is only one of several noticeable features.

The only drawback to a complete enjoyment of this stamp is the condition in which it is found. It has always been popular with collectors and has been keenly sought after by those who have possessed the means to acquire it, but it is so rare and the proportion of satisfactory specimens is so small that even those who could well afford to pay ten times what it usually brings have to content themselves with an indifferently good copy or go without entirely.
The present writer has been unable to trace more than two dozen copies. On even the best centered of them the perforations touch the design somewhere and the poorer copies are atrociously perforated. Many of the known copies are also damaged and a perfect specimen would be a highly desirable acquisition at a stiffer price than any catalog has ever quoted. The Chicago has never been common. It was priced at $10 in the '80's, at $15 in the '90's, at $12 from 1900 to 1904, and has been back at $15 for fifteen years. The writer fails to recall even one opportunity to purchase a really perfect copy at full catalog—

or any other price—during the past twenty years. No pair, in any condition, has been seen or heard of.

AIR MAIL TRANSPORTATION.

Experiments are to be made by the Post Office Department in the transportation of airmail by private concerns under contracts similar to these let to railroad companies. The present air mail routes, such as the Washington,
New York, and Chicago, New York lines will continue to be operated by the government. The routes on which bids will be asked from private concerns have not yet been determined, but one of them is expected to be one thru the southern states with Washington
as the northern terminus.

EDITORIAL.

Strong—We are reluctant to take advantage of every opportunity to rhapsodize about the present estate of philately but it becomes a duty to dwell in midsummer when conditions warrant a burst of exultation, upon the commercial side of the pursuit. Auction prices in the recent Morgenthau sale show an unusually brisk demand for the better things and dealers' sales generally are significant, but what is every whit as convincing is the news that comes from correspondents all over the globe. With practical unanimity, they tell of the hitherto unparalleled interest in philately and fortify their observations by citing little instances that in the aggregate tell a wondrous tale.

Saving—We notice that the post office department recently turned to use some of the three-cent U. S. stamped envelopes of official size that evidently were printed on order just as the rate was reduced to two cents, by blotting out the "return card" and printing: "Post Office Department, Washington. Official Business," underneath, while the formula, "Penalty for private use to avoid payment of postage, $300," is placed in black across the envelope stamp at right. We have seen two different return card varieties.

SCOTT STAMP AND COIN COMPANY

33 WEST 44TH STREET,

NEW YORK CITY.

Returned—The Chicago post office received a large consignment of the one cent surface printed stamps that were protected by sheets of waxed paper that were placed between the panes. The explanation for the sale of stamps with a sheet of waxed paper thrown in was that the stamps had been returned from abroad where they had been sent when there was a considerable demand in Europe for our stamps. We noticed plates "9523" and "9261."

* * *

Received—We acknowledge with appreciation the receipt of a complimentary ticket for one year to the London Stamp Club and Reading Rooms. Too, a file of the Stamp Club Journal accompanied the ticket; and we were much interested to trace the thriving club's progress through the columns of the paper, which is edited by Derek Ingram.

Uncertain—The return of registered letters that are accepted for mailing to Batoum, "Batoum Caucase," and then sent back from New York makes the collector somewhat dubious about trying any of the direct importation methods on some of the newer countries where tranquillity is jerked off the throne at a moment's notice. This reminds us that we must ask the correspondent who sent an interesting account, which through an oversight, no doubt, was left unsigned, of Azerbaijan, with which he seems so familiar through recent visits there, we infer, to write us concerning the political and the postal history of the republic, at least as exemplified on the new stamps. We do not need to add that Azerbaijan, the northwest province of Persia, has Tabriz for its capital and is a fertile land with fine pasturage for sheep and goats. Tabriz is the great rug market for the surrounding villages and manufactures yearly hundreds of rugs.

World—Our plans for a world-wide news service of philatelic kind have taken shape and already indications are seen of the added value that our paper will have through this exclusive and unbiased staff. Equipped with information that comes from sources undefiled, one may have all assurance for comment on the topics under notice. This news will be of a repertorial nature rather than any chronicle of new issues.

of stamp investment in a telling way. He gives the catalogue value of certain stamps in the years of 1869, 1887, 1897, 1915 and 1920, respectively; and in forty-one years, stamps quoted at one pound, thirteen shillings and eight pence had grown to a value of 190 pounds and several shillings. Two pounds, compounded at 5%, from 1869 to date would develop into 24 pounds, plus. In ten years, 1887 to 1897, four pounds, catalogue, had attained a mark in advance of 58 pounds. In 1915, the total had become over 93 pounds and in 1920, the rotund sum of 190 pounds, plus, had been registered. The fact was shown that "whilst the cash increases twelve-fold in the 51 years, the value of the stamps has increased 112 fold." The compiler says that "just for fun" he guesses that 1925 will touch the 300 pound mark. We well remember the first big boom in stamps around 1892 or so; and the amazing conditions of the few years past are known to all.

Exhibit—We are informed by the president of the Society of Philatelic Americans that an exhibition will be held in connection with the forthcoming convention at Pittsburgh. The exhibition will be made in Carnegie Hall; and gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded. Too, the convention will be held in Carnegie Hall and it is evident that the committee on arrangements has worked to good effect, judging from the information that comes to us. As the S. P. A. convention will be held one week in advance of that of the American Philatelic Society at Providence, it will easily be possible for one to attend both of the annual demonstrations of the two leading national organizations.

Congress—The accounts of the seventh Philatelic Congress at Newcastle-upon-Tyne, England, that come in the stamp press show that while many subjects were pecked at, they were not finished "with the finality that knows an end." In fact, one delegate says that the business must not be shelved by handing it over to the Permanent Committee, "otherwise it seems quite plain to me that before many years are over Philatelic Congresses will be a thing of the past—and how our American cousins will laugh at us all when they compare the work done at their Convention with the futility of the British Congress!" We are afraid that any comment from our point of view would spoil the picture, but at least we may strive to deserve this praise.

Answer—We have had a batch of letters asking about the why and wherefore of the imperforate two-cent type one, surface print, which has come to the fore prominently. We suppose that nobody bought quantities of sheets because it was felt that they could be had on call. There were many sheets at the Chicago post office but the O-Meter people at one fell swoop bought some unbelievably large quantity of stamps and the result was that no more of the imperforates were to be had at the post office. The mailing-machine people put three thousand of the stamps in a package.

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

CHAPTER XIII.

The Georgian Series.

At the Georgetown Post Office there duly appeared the following notice, which serves to remind us of the world-wide change in postage stamps necessitated by the death of a British sovereign:—

"No. 2/1912.

CAYMAN ISLANDS POST OFFICE NOTICE.

Postage and Revenue Stamps (bearing the effigy of His Majesty King George V.) of the following denominations will be on sale at the Georgetown Post Office at 10 a. m. on April 24th next, viz.:—1/2d, 2d, 2s, 3s.

By Order,

A. BODDEN, Postmaster."

The stamps of the new series are, as might be expected, supplied by Messrs. De La Rue & Co. and are surface-printed from plates of the same size and make-up as those of the previous issue. The paper is the "all-over" Crown "CA", the variety with chalk-surface being used for the higher values. In 1913 several of the values properly printed on coloured papers, were provisionally printed on the special white papers, coloured on the surface only, and each of these "white backs" is now valued in the stamp market at a substantial premium over its face value. It will be noted that amongst the first values issued in the Georgian series are three denominations which are entirely new to the dependency, viz., Two Pence, Two Shillings, and Three Shillings. The perforation gauges 14 as usual. The design shows a small profile to left of King George, set in the old "postage & revenue" key-plate, with which we became familiar during the preceding reign.

The colours conform to the colour scheme established by the Crown Agents for the Colonies, and, of course, with the requirements of the Universal Postal Union. There are subtleties of shades, notably bluish and greyish tones for the 1/2d green, and carmine and scarlet for the 1d.

The following are the values issued in this series, with the date, or approximate date, of their being placed on sale at Grand Cayman:—

Ordinary Paper.

1/2d brown, Feb. 10, 1913.

1/2d green, April 24, 1912.

1d scarlet, Feb. 25, 1913.

2d grey, April 24, 1912.

2 1/2d ultramarine, Aug. 26, 1914.

Chalk-surfaced Paper.

3d purple on yellow, Nov. 26, 1914.

3d purple on yellow surface-coloured paper, Nov. 19, 1913.

4d black and red on yellow, Feb. 25, 1913.

6d dull and bright purple, Feb. 25, 1913.

1s black on green, surface-colored paper, Nov. 19, 1913.

1s black on green, May 15, 1916.

2s purple and blue on blue, April 24, 1912.

3s green and violet, April 24, 1912.

5s green and red on yellow, Aug. 26, 1914.

10s green and red on green surface-coloured paper, Nov. 19, 1913.

10s green and red on green, 1914.

The 1/2d value in this series has been reported with a double frame line at the left.

In 1917 it was rumoured that a 1 1/2d denomination would be issued in this series to take the place of the war tax stamp, but no definite stamp of this denomination has appeared, and with the passing out of the war tax law it should no longer be necessary.

CHAPTER XIV.

War Stamps.

The Legislative Assembly of the Justices and Vestrymen meets by statute in September each year to make provision for the next financial year, beginning on October 1st. At the meeting on September 20, 1916, one of their financial provisions was the Cayman Islands Post Office (War Tax) Law, No. 4 of 1916, to which His Excellency the Governor of Jamaica, W. H. Manning, signed his approval on November 15, 1916. The text of this enactment is here given:

"Be it enacted by the Justices and Vestry of the Cayman Islands in Vestry Assembled as follows:

1.—This Law may be cited as the Cayman Islands Post Office (War Tax) Law, 1916.

2.—This Law shall come into operation on a day to be appointed by the Commissioner by Public Notice.

3.—From and after the commencement of this Law there shall be paid to the Treasurer for the use of the Government of this Dependency as a Special War Tax, the sum of One Half Penny on every post letter addressed to the United Kingdom or any of His Majesty's Colonies or Dominions beyond the Cayman Islands, in addition to the amount for the time being payable under any Law, Rule, Convention or Order.

4.—The War Tax imposed by this Law shall be paid by adhesive postage stamps of a value equal to the amount of postage chargeable thereon under this Law, and the provisions of the Post Office Law, 1900 (Law 9 of 1900) shall be available for the collection and recovery of the said Tax.

5.—This Law shall continue in force for the period of one year from its commencement.

Passed in Vestry this 20th day of September, 1916.

Signed, C. E. MELLISH,

Acting Commissioner."

The Law came into effect on February 26th, 1917, and in the ordinary course of events should have been renewed or dropped in 1918, but it was not actually renewed until May 27, 1918, so there was an interval of three months in 1918 during which the War Tax Law was in suspension.

To provide stamps to prepay the postage and the War Tax combined, the stock of complete panes of the 2 1/2d blue stamps on hand at the Grand Cayman Post Office, 200 sheets of 120, or 24,000 stamps in all, was shipped to Kingston, Jamaica, to be surcharged "War Stamp 1 1/2d".

Mr. Harry E. Huber in a communication to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS states:

"This surcharging was done and the stamps returned to George Town.

Then a new difficulty developed. In the meantime, orders for these stamps had been accumulating, and the surcharged stock was not sufficient to last over the first day of sale.

Few denominations are stocked at George Town in excess of 24,000 and above 2 1/2d this stock is much smaller. Large stocks are not desirable on account of climatic conditions affecting the gum.

The surcharged stock of war stamps was under £200, and the Acting Commissioner, therefore, decided to withhold the issue, awaiting receipt of another lot of 2 1/2d which had been ordered from London. The consignment arrived in Jamaica in December, but, due to irregular communications, the stamps did not reach George Town until January 2nd.

These stamps were sent back to Jamaica by the next schooner sailing, to be surcharged, and upon return to George Town will be placed in issue. This will probably be sometime in February."

The first and second printings were placed on sale on February 26th, the first consisting of 24,000 stamps, and the second stated to be 48,000, representing a total (surcharged) face value of £450. At the meeting of the Justices

Sh-h-h-h-h-h!

It has been whispered around that the fellows who don't attend the A. P. S. convention this year will miss something they'll regret even if they live to be as old as Methuselah—and I BELIEVE IT—so let someone else do the regretting while you KUM TU PROVIDENZ. Meet me there during the week of August 10th.

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Mr. John E. Lord has sent me copies and Mr. George Soulmán has called my attention to the fact that the 2c surface print unwatermarked, type II, has been issued by the Mail-O-Meter Company with the well known Shermack perforations. Many are calling the stamp Die I and Die II, which is incorrect. I explained in a former chronicle that these stamps are not from dies but are from a photograph of the Die I. In the case of the first type, properly designated as type I the photograph was not touched up, while in the case of type II the photograph was enlarged, the lines were gone over, the lettering outlined, the ribbons strengthened, etc. The original photograph in both cases was the same.

While speaking of the surface print, a few notes regarding the 2c type I imperforate may not be amiss. It seems that a good supply was sent to Chicago upon a requisition from the postmaster and no one gave them much thought. One or two collectors bought sheets and cut them up and used them for postage. Personally your editor wrote to a valued correspondent and obtained two complete sheets. When he tried to obtain more he found that the Mail-O-Meter people had cut up the entire remaining supply into coils and there was a scramble for what remained of the ten to thirteen sheets that got out. Fortunately the two sheets were practically intact when the news that they were really scarce came to hand. They were first offered at 15c per block, then $3 and now I understand that a block changed hands in Chicago in the neighborhood of $20. Several seem to be trying to corner the few available.

I have been informed that the supply of the 2c imperforate, type II, in Chicago has become exhausted but I do not think that the collector need fear about getting this variety. The Bureau is using these plates almost exclusively and all supplies of the imperforates for some months to come are likely to be of this type. It must be remembered, however, that this stamp runs greatly to shades, so that each lot is likely to differ one from the other.

The interest in provisional 2c on 3c envelopes seems to be on the increase, for every mail brings to hand letters asking for information upon the subject. Those that have never collected envelopes before are going in for these so-called War Issues. Mr. H. W.

Lindamann as well as Messrs. George Soulmán and Arthur F. Cantrell send me new varieties from Chicago. If this city keeps on it will hold the record. Mr. F. S. Wist has located a new one from Los Angeles. Mr. F. H. Moffat sends one from New York that has not been chronicled with this watermark and incidentally calls our attention to the fact that there are two New York types. Mr. A. Herrmann, by the way, was the first to discover this. Philadelphia, I had thought, had run out of its supplies but recently obtained a quantity of size 14 from another city and these have been overprinted. Several varieties from smaller cities have just come to hand, but before chronicling these it will be advisable to check them carefully to see if they have not been surcharged in some larger city and sent from a central point to outlying districts. I know that Des Moines supplied the smaller cities in Iowa and Indianapolis and Oklahoma City followed the same scheme. I wish, however, that our readers will always send one of each variety obtainable at their post office, for, as mentioned before, it is only through your co-operation that we can have our list complete. The envelope collectors of the country are looking to us to tell them what has been overprinted hence our appeal to you. I will gladly reciprocate by sending you varieties from other cities whether yours happen to be new or not.

ALLENSTEIN.—Mr. Edward J. Smyth has shown us a copy of the 20pf German stamp surcharged for use in this territory. Mr. A. Brun sends us the following information regarding it: "A set of thirteen values has been issued as follows: 5, 10, 15, 20, 30, 40, 50, 75pf, 1m, engraved, 1.25, 1.50, 2.50 and 3m surcharged in the middle by an oval inside of two circles with the following inscription, 'Commission d'administration et de Plebiscite Olsztyn Allenstein' and in the centre of the oval 'Traite de Versailles Art 94-95.'" The overprint on the copy shown us is in black.

ARGENTINE.—Mr. George B. Rankin has shown us a copy of the last issue 5c red, No. 253, surcharged "M.A." in black.

CILICIE.—Mr. W. R. Cline has shown us copies of the current issue of the 10c and 25c French stamps surcharged "O. M. F. Cilicie 20 paras" and "O. M. F. Cilicie 1 Piastre", respectively. The type of the O.M.F. is much heavier

READ CAREFULLY

Any other dealer in stamps has a worse setup and littered desk than I have, I know it. Which leads me to the need a hustling partner or a good First consideration, absolute honesty. I don't care if he is as homely as a fence or has a leg missing for I want to help me keep the stock where it is found and build up a mail order business. At present my hands are full going to counter work and trying to enterprising wholesalers from overloading me with new issues, without a outlet. This has caused me to get the important part of the business out of above. Incidentally would like to be able to stay home one day a month keep my chickens from scratching up neighbor's garden. If nothing happens going to attend the Pittsburgh and London conventions in August and look for, also give a "prospect" a chance to tie up, if there. Now if you are "it" as a modest capital, (Saleable stock and as I would prefer the partner proposition MEKEEL'S WEEKLY and they live you the "once over" before introducing us. Address AN OVERWORKED MAN, c/o Mekeel's.

the other figures and letters. The print is in black and of 4 lines.

SLAVOKIA.—Mr. A. Brun has us a new type of stamp for this country of 25p value. In the centre is a likeness of a man in chains with a blue at the top and native lettering in four lines at the base. The stamp is of violet brown color, and perforated.

AMBIQUE.—Messrs. Stanley Gibbons Ltd., in their Monthly Circular, the Mozambique 5c 'TAXA DE ARRUA' is the holder of a proud record in that it bears an error which the lynx-eyed Portuguese postal inspectors and also the local speculators, caught the person who was to profit by the existence with him. In any case, receiving information of the existence of the error we have discovered it in our own stock. The variety is in the insertion of an 'E' for the first 'A' in the word 'PATRIA' thus reads 'PETRIA.'

the same time another contemporary reports the variety "PEPUB" on the 1c War Tax of 1916.

varieties were chronicled in Collecting for December 6th, the second one being included in the current Galvez catalogue.—Stamp Collecting.

SEYCHELLES.—Six new values are in course of preparation—5 cents, brown; 25 cents, black and red; 45 cents, colour not mentioned; 50 cents, purple and black; one rupee, purple and red; and five rupees, green and blue.—Australian Philatelic Record.

St. THOMAS & PRINCE ISLANDS.—Mr. A. Brun informs us that a set of 14 values, type Don Carlos, has been surcharged locally REPUBLICA with a slightly diagonal overprint. The following values have been surcharged: type 1898-1901, 100r blue, red surcharge; 200r violet, green surcharge; 500r black, green surcharge; 700r violet, green surcharge; type of 1893, surcharged already in 1902, and resurcharged now as above described, 115 on 200r blue, red surcharge; 115 on 25r green, red surcharge; 130 on 75r carmine, green surcharge; type of 1898-1901, already surcharged "Provisorio" and as above, 50r blue, red surcharge; 75r rose, green surcharge; type of 1898-1901, colors changed, 75r violet lake, green surcharge; 115r brown on buff, green surcharge; 130r deep brown, green surcharge; type of 1898-1901, surcharged already 50 on 65r, red surcharge; postage due of 1904, green surcharge. These all were issued on the 14th of last May.

SIAM.—Mr. Lo Soo Tean has shown us a new provisional from this country. This time the 12s stamp of 1912 issue has been surcharged "10" together with the Siamese characters and the block to obliterate the former value. The overprint is in two lines in red. Mr. Tean also calls attention to the fact that the recently issued 5 on 6s provisional is appearing in two distinct varieties. One is of thin type, while another copy sent shows the type of much heavier impression.

SPAIN.—The first aerial mail service in Spain has just been inaugurated. It operates from Barcelona to Malaga, calling at Alicante en route. A much more important service is about to be established, running between Madrid and Barcelona, with stops at Guadalajara and Saragossa, and this will be followed by another line operating between Madrid, Valladolid, Burgos, St. Sebastian, Bilbao, Santander, La Corogne, Valladolid, and Madrid, thus performing a circular service of more than one thousand kilometres, serving the chief business and industrial parts of the kingdom.

The Spanish stamps overprinted "Correo Aereo," which we have already chronicled, will be used for letters dispatched by this ambitious scheme.—Stamp Collecting.

SYRIA.—Mr. James J. Lessig advises us that he has Scott's No. 16 of this country in four different spacings between the "S.E.O." and the value "1 Pi", and adds that unless the surcharges were made in two printings it would indicate that there were four settings of the type.

HAINES, 554 S. 6th St., Camden, N. J." The high price was to attract attention. In some way the "Cat. 3c" got omitted, making it look as if I meant to give a wrong idea of its value. The above adv. is still good.

STAMPS OF CAYMAN ISLANDS.

and Vestry on September 19, 1917, the sales of war tax stamps were stated to have amounted to £466 9s 6d up to August 31, 1917. The apparent discrepancy between the face value and the sales may be accounted for in the following statement by Mr. Harry E. Huber:

"The third (London) and fourth (Jamaica) printings of war stamps did not go on sale to the public at Georgetown until September 10, 1917, but some orders were despatched by the mail leaving Sept. 4, 1917. If any of these orders were filled prior to August 31st, 1917, this would account for the difference between the revenue realised and the face value of the stamps of the first two printings."

Of the third and fourth printings here referred to, the supplies were exhausted by December, 1917, the revenue realised being approximately £1300.

The third (London) issue is reported to have been of 150,000 stamps, face value £937 10s, which would leave 58,000 stamps, (representing £362 10s face) as the quantity in the fourth (Jamaica) printing.

A fifth printing made in London comprised two denominations, the 1/2d green King George stamp overprinted "War Stamp" in one line, and a special printing from plate 5 of the 2 1/2d stamp in orange instead of blue, surcharged "War Stamp 1 1/2d". These were on sale at Georgetown in February, 1919.

These successive printings of the war stamps divided themselves into four groups, instead of five, inasmuch as the second and fourth (Jamaica) printings are to all intents and purposes identical in overprint.

The first printing consisted of the 2 1/2d blue, overprinted "WAR STAMP 1 1/2d", the words being in small (6 point) Roman capitals, in two lines. The surcharging was done at the Government Printing Office, Kingston, Jamaica, from a setting of type which corresponds to the small two line overprint used for the Jamaican War Stamps, with, however, the addition of the figures of the new value "1 1/2d". The overprints were 120 set, but the sheets of 120 were cut up into panes of 60 before issue. There are a number of minor varieties in this first setting:

Small W in WAR
Small A in WAR
Large S in STAMP
Small S in STAMP
Inverted S in STAMP
Small A in STAMP
Narrow M in STAMP
Small M in STAMP
Small P in STAMP
Inverted P in STAMP
No fraction bar to "1/2"
Small 2 in "1/2"

The second printing, also made at the Government Printing Office, Kingston, and of which the fourth printing was a repetition, consisted of a similar surcharge, but with the words WAR STAMP in two lines of larger (8 point) Roman capitals. The 48,000 total usually given for the printing in this type, should be, we think, approximately 106,000 to include the two printings. The only varieties of note are:

No fraction bar to 1/2
Straight serif to "1"
Small 2 in "1/2"

The third printing was done from stereotype block of a setting of 120 repetitions of the surcharge; the words WAR STAMP are in one line of sans-serif capitals, on the blue 2 1/2d stamp.

Our fourth group comprises the 1/2d green, and 1 1/2d on 2 1/2d orange with the words WAR STAMP in one line of sans-serif capitals overprinted from the London stereotypes.

ADDRESS YOUR LETTER PROPERLY.

There are five persons connected with the WEEKLY and their duties are widely different. It will be a great advantage to all concerned if subscribers will note these instructions:—

New U. S. Issues and Varieties.—

Mail these to Mr. Ward, whose address you will find at the head of the New Issues Department. Don't mail them to Beverly, Chicago, or Portland.

New Foreign Issues and Varieties.—

These go to Mr. Smith and you rock the boat when you send them anywhere else. Note his address.

Subscriptions and Advertising.—All this matter should go to Mr. Wylie at Beverly.

Inquiries should be sent to Chicago and Mr. Severn's address will always be found on the editorial page. If there is anything you want to know, he will give you learned and considerate attention.

As for Mr. Jewett at Portland be very considerate. He already has enuff to do, managing the mechanical detail of our Portland office, so spare him all you can.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

LABUAN.

This is one of the smallest colonies of Great Britain but one of the best known to the stamp collector through the exploitation of its stamp issues. It is a small island with an area of but thirty square miles, lying at the entrance of Brunei Bay on the northwest coast of the island of Borneo. It was ceded to Great Britain in 1846 by the Sultan of Brunei, or Borneo, for the purpose of establishing a small colony there as a basis for operations against the Malay pirates who were doing much injury to commerce. It has a mountainous surface and productive soil and is valued for its coal deposits worked by a British company. There is a fine harbor on which is the capital, Victoria, a town of some 2,000 inhabitants. The population, mainly of Malays and Chinese, amounts to some ten thousand.

The first issue of stamps was not made until May, 1879, when a modest set of four values, 2, 6, 12 and 16 cents, in the well known neat little design made its appearance. They were likewise printed in neat little sheets of ten stamps only, two horizontal rows of five! The watermark was Crown and CA far apart, a paper intended mostly for fiscal stamps of a long upright shape, and the stamps were printed sideways on this paper, so that the crown usually falls on one stamp and the CA on the next beside it. The stamps were line engraved and besides the value in English at the bottom have it repeated in Chinese at the right side and Malay at the left side.

In January, 1880, the same four stamps were issued with the usual Crown and CC watermark, in its proper upright position. A 10c value was added at the end of the year; but meanwhile the apparent need of an 8c value was overcome by surcharging the 12c stamp in August, 1880, with a heavy figure "8" in black, while the figures "12" on the stamp were usually, though not always, crossed with a pen line in red or black ink, or covered with another figure "8", usually on its side. The 16c stamp was also converted into a 6c stamp by a heavy figure "6" in red which was also repeated sideways over the figures "16" on the stamp.

Evidently handstamping the figures was too laborious, for in March, 1881, the surcharge appeared as EIGHT CENTS, printed in two lines in capital letters. In June, 1881, it was changed to upper and lower case letters. The latter surcharge occurs double and inverted and with several defective letters. At last the permanent 8c stamp appeared in April, 1882, in the carmine color of the discarded 12c stamp and with the Crown CC watermark.

In January, 1883, the set began to appear with the regular upright Crown CA watermark, including the values 2, 8, 16 and 40 cents, the latter a new value, though it is reputed to exist with the CC watermark. In May, 1883, a manuscript surcharge of "one Dollar" followed by the initials "A. H. H." (A. H. Hamilton, the postmaster) in red made its appearance, though for what particular need has never been explained. It was on the 16c stamp with the CC watermark. In 1885, the 2 cent stamps ran out and both the 8 and 16c stamps with the CC and CA watermarks were used to make provisionals until the new supply arrived in September, 1885, which were in a carmine color instead of green. The 8c appeared in violet instead of carmine at the same time. The ten cent yellow brown appeared with the CA watermark in January, 1886, being changed to black brown in May, 1886, when the 16c also appeared in grey blue.

On January 1, 1890, the administration of Labuan was transferred to the British North Borneo Company, so that the 6c surcharges that appeared in August, 1891, were due to that company. In 1892, the company had all values that had been previously used printed on unwatermarked paper by Messrs. De La Rue & Co., who held the plates. Two provisionals were issued locally in December, 1892, the "Two Cents" on 40c and the "Six Cents" on 16c. In April, 1894, all these values were again issued lithographed, but just why no one seems to know, for they were almost immediately followed by the pictorial issue of North Borneo printed in changed colors and surcharged "LABUAN". The lithographed stamps were cancelled in London with the heavy black bars and sold broadcast at a fraction of face value, so that the reason for their appearance can at least be guessed at. The subsequent issues for Labuan, made by the North Borneo Company, have been throughout of a speculative nature and are hardly worthy the attention of serious collectors, as they have been cancelled to order with the heavy bars in London, and also with the postmark locally, being sold very cheaply as a result. They are of course collectible unused as regularly issued stamps, but with the black bars should be utterly tabooed. With postmark cancellation we may judge that they have at least been in Labuan, but the only satisfactory way to collect them used is on the original cover.

By Letters Patent dated October 30, 1906, Labuan was incorporated with the Straits Settlements and now uses those stamps. The local issue at that time (the "Crown" type) was used up by being surcharged "Straits Settlements" as well as making some provisional 4c stamps, that being the local letter rate at the time.—New England Stamp Monthly.

SIX "DON'T'S" FOR ADVERTISERS.

Don't build up the catalog value of a packet with such trash as punched Philippines stamps or Ecuador revenues. A satisfied customer is better than a single sale.

Don't offer any premiums for a certain number of "first" replies to your advertisements. There is an element of chance there that the postal authorities dislike. If the premium goes to every patron, "chance" disappears.

Don't reflect in any way upon the advertising of your competitor. Every tub should stand upon its own bottom, and your prices will speak for themselves. Buyers are cautious of dealers who seek to rise by riding rough shod over their neighbors.

Don't advertise a stamp with fiscal cancellation and quote catalog price for a postally used copy. Let alone the moral aspect, from a business standpoint, honesty is the best policy.

Don't advertise a stamp at the catalog quotation when the revised prices mark it down to a fraction of the original amount.

Don't wait until Thursday to mail ad copy. Have it in our office Thursdays. These "don'ts" MUST be heeded.

UNSOLICITED

Packet No. 124 entirely satisfactory. I added over 450 new varieties to a previous collection of 20 stamps.—H. S. Lynn, Pittsburgh, Pa. I was very much pleased with the War Stamps I received in your 3 variety packet as I added about 0 varieties to my collection of 0 Wars. It is a splendid packet through.—R. Speer, Long Beach, Calif.

I added 316 stamps to a collection of about 3200, not counting the envelope stamps—(given as a premium)—I also found many better specimens to substitute for not-so-good ones already in my album. I made up the balance of the stamps into smaller packets and sold them to collectors for $3.00. As I only paid $3.25 for packet No. 124 in the first place, my net expense was 6 cents on the deal. I got so much in looking the pile over (worth a good deal in itself) that I am converting to packets from now on.—F. Gracey, Cambridge, Mass. Received packet No. 126 (2000 varieties at $10.00) in good condition and am very much pleased with same. Another order enclosed.—C. Colyer, Altoona, Pa.

PANAMA AND ITS POSTAGE STAMPS.

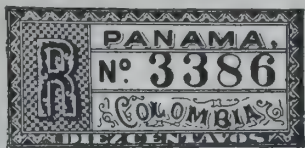

By FREDERICK E. HEYDON.

CHAPTER XIX.

Panama Registration Stamps.

There has been some confusion in the minds of collectors as to the Registration and Acknowledgment of Receipt stamps, and I will endeavor to explain the matter. For all practical purposes their use was confined to the City of Panama, Colon and Bocas del Toro, and even at Bocas del Toro the number used was very small. At Panama the practice almost invariably was to use special registration and acknowledgment of receipt stamps, surcharging them when required, and the Panama registration stamps when used were stamped with a blue control number. At Colon the ordinary adhesives were used surcharged with an appropriate handstamp, but this was done with such extreme carelessness that it has been seriously questioned whether the stamps were to be regarded as surcharges or cancellations. A few special registration and acknowledgment of receipt stamps were also used at Colon, but the practice was exactly contrary to that at Panama, extending even to the control number, which at Colon, was always on the cover and never on the stamp. Bocas del Toro seems to have followed the Panama practice except that the control number is written in as the business was too trifling to require a numbering machine. I have specimens, evidently used at small offices, from the written low control numbers, and with stamps of the Panama type, but not being on cover, the origin is unknown.

Registration Stamps Issued in the City of Panama.

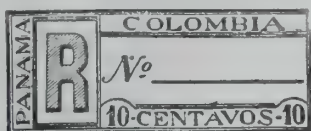

1898 Issue. Lithographed in black on colored wove paper. Perforated 13½.

401. 10c black on gray paper.
a. Part perforated.
Reprints or Proofs.
b. Blk. on gray, Perf. 13½, imperf. or part perf.
c. Blk. on blue, Perf. 13½, imperf. or part perf.
d. Blk. on straw, Perf. 13½, imperf.
e. Blk. on blue-gray, glazed surf. colored p.
f. Blk. on crimson, glazed surf. colored p.
g. Blk. on vermil'n, glazed surf. colored p.
h. Blk. on light green, glazed surf. colored p.

The remarks made in Chapter IV as to the status of the varieties in perforation and paper apply also to these registration stamps which accompanied the 1887-1892 Issue. Those on the glazed surface-colored paper are found in various stages, perforated, part perforated or imperforate; but as there is no evidence that these stamps were ever authorized or even used for postal purposes, it would be a waste of time to record the varieties.

In 1900 a second issue appeared. Like the first it was made by lithography. The stamps were printed in sheets of twelve—six horizontal pairs. Each stamp differed slightly from the others, the most prominent varieties being No. 6 without period after "CENTAVOS", and No. 11 with a large period after "COLOMBIA". At first these stamps were printed in black on light blue wove paper, but in 1901 the color was changed to dull red and the paper to stout white wove. The perforation gauges 11. Some sheets of the red stamps are fully perforated, while others have no perforation at the outer sides of the stamps.

402. 10c black on light blue wove paper.
403. 10c dull red, thick white wove paper.

In 1902 the depreciation of the currency made it necessary to increase the fee for registered letters to 20 centavos. To meet the demand for a registration stamp of this denomination, the current registration stamp was surcharged with a new value, the figures "20" being handstamped over the figures "10" at each end of the lower label.

STAMPS OF THE CAYMAN ISLANDS.
By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

CHAPTER XV.
Postmarks.
There is so close a connection between postage stamps and postmarks, that a short chapter on the obliterations used by the various post offices in the Cayman Islands needs no further reason for finding a place in this volume:—
I.—The first postmark, which came into use late in 1889 or early in 1890, is of sufficiently large dimensions to almost cover a pair of ordinary-sized stamps. It was used at Georgetown until about the end of 1894, and was applied in a violet ink by means (apparently) of an indiarubber stamp with changeable date—it looks like an impression from an ordinary revolving "dater", on the base of which an appropriate inscription has been permanently fixed.

Two concentric transverse ovals—the inner plain, the outer serrated—contain the inscription "Grand Cayman" above, and "Post Office" below, the date appearing in the centre of the design. This postmark is found only on Jamaica stamps used in the Caymans.
II.—This also is a Georgetown postmark, but of more orthodox shape—a plain circle lettered "Grand Cayman P O" and the date in the centre. It was struck in a dark purplish ink and evidently superseded type I, but how long it remained in use seems to be uncertain. It is found only on Jamaica stamps which have paid postage in or from the Islands.
III.—Within a double-line circle is "Grand Cayman—Cayman Islands", the date appearing in the centre. Struck in black ink, it is found on Jamaica stamps used in 1899-1900, and on the earlier Caymans down to 1906, or thereabouts.
IV.—Similar to type II, but lettered "Georgetown—Grand Cayman", this name "Cayman Brac". Impressions in black are to be found on Jamaica stamps and, as the postmark is still used, on the regular Caymanian series up to date.

VIII.—Apparently this is a postmark though undated, unless by an addition in MS. Mr. Bostwick is of opinion that it was in use prior to type VII, and mentions that many "small post offices in Jamaica used a postmark just like this about this period (the middle 'nineties). It was stamped in black, and had the date filled by hand".

IX.—This, as the inscription denotes, is a local cancellation applied to letters, etc., collected in the rural districts of East End. The envelope, from which this obliteration was copied, bears the Georgetown postmark with date of May 9, 1911. The stamp, which was used with violet ink, is evidently an india-rubber device, and the setting-up is remarkable for the mistake in spelling the last word with "G" instead of "C". The letter is perfectly formed in every part, and is without the slightest doubt a "G". Whether the spelling was corrected or not we cannot say.

X.—This large cancellation, for the Grand Cayman rural collection generally, is probably of recent make, the specimen illustrated being on an envelope postmarked at Boddentown on January 1, 1912. Like type IX, the impression is evidently that of a rubberstamp.

CHAPTER XVI.

The Scandal.

The raison d'être of a provisional is, or should be, the lack of the ordinary postage stamps, arising either from the non-arrival of the necessary denomination by the day appointed for issue, or from the failure of a stock of the current series.

Various things contribute to each of these unfortunate conditions—the responsible officials are just too late with the new value, and a makeshift has to be improvised; or the same officials shut their eyes to the fact that there is such a hobby as stamp collecting, and ignore its demands when ordering the initial supply of stamps.

These are more or less legitimate reasons, though probably an ordinary individual, with due regard for his good business name, would in the one case be punctual, and in the other provide for the inevitable (if non-postal) demand.

Occasionally, there is another reason: some member of the public—possibly, on the strength of semi-official information—buys up the entire stock of a particular value, allowed to run abnormally low, so creating a dearth; or, the dearth being bona fide, unexpectedly requires a sheet or so of the non-existent value.

In either case, a surcharged provisional can meet the demand; and there again, a small printing soon runs out, necessitating another provisional; and so on, until at last a very large stock, sufficient to supply all demands, is made, and no one speculates save to a modest extent.

In any of these cases, the philatelist cannot reasonably grumble at the post office, though he may blame official shortsightedness and the ubiquitous speculator.

Collectors are, however, entitled to, and do, grumble at the creation of a provisional, the alleged necessity for which is the outcome of careful official manipulation of the stock of the various denominations.

The beginning of the Caymanian troubles was the unexpected shortage of the Halfpenny value, caused by "a large foreign order"; and the official letter communicating this fact prophesies "in the course of a few months" a shortage of "other denominations, when"—and this shews the wonderful workings of the official mind—"the question of a new issue of all denominations" will be submitted.

No present submission, or promise of an early one; nothing of the kind. No present hurry! Wait till we are short! This may be all prejudice, but the request for a surcharged provisional ("One Halfpenny," on Penny), coupled with a disclosure of the official programme, makes one look ahead and watch—if not pray—for another provisional or two!

The first Caymanian wandering from the path of philatelic virtue would most likely have been forgiven, for, after all, the "large foreign order" could hardly be attributed to the postal officials; but when rendered bold or reckless by the success of the first downward step, the post office produces three more provisionals, the regret at the first lapse becomes first a doubt, and then a strong suspicion, about the bona fides of the latest efforts.

First "One Halfpenny" on Penny; then "1D" on Five Shillings; then more of the lower value—this time "1/2D" on Five Shillings; and lastly "2 1/2D" on Fourpence; all, except the first, executed with a handstamp, one of the most fruitful sources of surcharge and overprint varieties.

Naturally, there was a universal chorus of condemnation, and so loud did it become that the British Secretary of State for the Colonies considered it his duty to institute an Enquiry, the result—we do not suggest "object"—of which was to whitewash—or "exonerate" if that word be preferred—all those against whom the philatelic fulminations had been directed.

In June (or July), 1907, the first provisional was ordered; and it is interesting to know what was then the available stock of the surcharged denomination, "One Halfpenny", either in the Caymans or in Jamaica.

Miss Parsons, the Postmistress, writing to a wellknown firm of dealers on May 30, 1907, says that "the old issue has been withdrawn from circulation, and cannot now be supplied by the Post Office at face value."

Again, on September 18, the lady writes—though this letter is not directly material, but it is instructive—"No; the old 6d brown and 1s orange have not been destroyed nor are they likely to be (!), neither are they on sale at face value (!)."

On October 11, a further communication states that Miss Parson does "not know what the Commissioner intends doing with the old stamps . . . though he will not sell them at face value"; and this is followed, on November 9, by a suggestion that application should be made direct to the Commissioner to "find out at what value he would be willing to sell."

Meanwhile the "One Halfpenny" on Penny had appeared.

Early in 1908, the firm of stamp dealers received the following important letter:—

"GRAND CAYMAN, B. W. INDIES,
Dec. 9th, 1907.

Sirs,

I am in a position to dispose of the whole of the remainder of the issue of stamps withdrawn from circulation in March, 1907, viz.: 1/2d, 1d, 2 1/2d, 6d, and 1s, also the whole of the remainder of the original 1d stamps (Queen's Head), issued by this Government. The face value of the two parcels is £670 or thereabout, to be disposed of in one lot. In addition there are also a few sheets of surcharged stamps, viz.:

1 sheet 1d surcharged One Halfpenny.
2 sheets 5s surcharged 1/2d (19 sheets originally).

2 sheets 5s surcharged 1d (15 sheets originally).

None of the surcharged stamps have been issued to Stamp Dealers. If you care to handle these stamps, I shall be glad to have your offer.

I remain,
Yours sincerely,
W. M. COCHRAN."

Before receipt of this letter, Messrs. Whitfield King & Co. (the firm referred to) had written for particulars of the stock in the Commissioner's hands, and the reply from that official was:—

"COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE,
GRAND CAYMAN, Jan. 29, 1908.

Sirs.—The postage stamps referred to in your letter of Dec. 10, 1907, are now in the hands of the Governor of Ja-

EDITORIAL.

Honor—The report of the Honorary Secretary of the Royal Philatelic Society, London, for 1919-1920, while presumably an historical register of the transactions of the society, is in fact a review of philatelic achievement generally for the past twelve months. We are pleased to find some particulars of the award of the Tapling Medal by the society to Mr. C. Lathrop Pack for his paper with illustrations on the two pence Victoria (Half-Lengths) and the Reconstruction of the Fourth Printing by Thomas Ham. It is proposed that the obverse side of the society's medal "shall be engraved with the portrait of the member who is commemorated and whose name will also appear, while on the reverse of all three medals the following words will be inscribed: 'Royal Philatelic Society, London, Founded 10th April, 1869—Utile dulci.'" The Crawford Medal was bestowed upon Mr. Hugo Griebert for his work, "The Stamps of Spain", 1850-1854, and the Tillard Medal given to Lieut.-Col. A. S. Bates for his display of the essays of Great Britain. Mr. C. Lathrop Pack is now the special representative of the Royal Philatelic Society, London, for this country.

Ferrary—It has been announced that the last will of Mons. Von Ferrary left a legacy to the Royal Philatelic Society, London, to the extent of a perpetual annuity of 6,000 kronen. It is estimated that if no obstacles prevent the collecting of the bequest, "Mons. Von Ferrary being legally an Austrian subject," it is doubtful "whether our Hon. Treasurer will feel justified in expending the funds which are under his control." We may add that the total membership of the society, organized in 1869, now numbers 366; and of these, 348 are Fellows and 18 Members.

Bad—We are informed by Theodore Siddall, Shanghai, China, that not a few of the Chinese surcharges circulating in this country are bad. From Japan, too, the same news has reached us with particular reference to Turkestan surcharges. In the latest issue of his interesting stamp sheet, Mr. Siddall illustrates two of the forged surcharges.

Reported—The following letter from Mr. Peter A. Brannon, department of archives and history of the State of Alabama, received some time ago, is of interest as tending to substantiate several additions to the list of Confederate provisional envelopes: "I have just had shown me several Confederate provisional envelopes which I consider sufficiently interesting for a note in your columns, possibly. One is a 'Greensboro, Ala., Paid 10.' Greensboro is spelled 'boro'. The Paid 10 is a small 'paid' over a large 10, the two filling nearly the inner circle, Greensboro, Ala., being enclosed between a larger circle and a smaller one. The postmark, September 26, without year shows Greensboro spelled 'Greensborough.' Another is a Tusculumbia, Ala., 10 Paid. 'Ala.' is in type one-half the size of 'Tusculumbia.' Paid is in caps on the lower circle. The postmark is September 13, without year but the letter enclosed in the envelope, dated September 13, 1861, referred to the shipment of clothing to a Confederate Hospital. Another item is a black on yellow Haynesville, Ala. The envelope shows 'Paid 10 cents' in three lines, P-A-I-D in all caps, 10, same size, 'Cents' in caps and lower case, in much smaller type. The envelope is dated August 31. The stamp of the postmark shows only a 3, the 1 having been added with a pen. The letter enclosed is dated August 30. Without doubt, this is a provisional. Other items in the collection are four 'Montgomery, Paid 10, T. Welch.' Two in blue and two in red. One of the red '10' on a yellow envelope originally was a 'Paid 5' which was cancelled by stamping the word Paid twice in the form of a cross over this circle and adding to the right the raised denomination '10'. Two of these Montgomery envelopes are marked to be 'charged,' one to the Assistant Quartermaster General, Confederate States, while the other is marked, charge to 219. A Confederate States of America Quartermaster Department envelope is used; therefore, I suggest that 219 was this officer's designated number."

Parched—We do not see Punch regularly as we are over-weight, as it is, but Mr. R. P. Brook relays the momentous information that in a recent issue Punch said that a conclusive proof that the U. S. had gone dry was found in the fact that recently all letters received over there from Scotsmen living in the U. S. were found to have the stamps pinned on the envelopes. Har! Har! We have found stamps stuck on the envelope with sealing wax and even sewed on but never pinned on. However, we do remember how a collector requested a large firm in Chicago to send him an unused two dollar and a five dollar of the issue then current. He lived down state and when the stamps came to him, he found that each one was pinned securely to the letter-head of the firm,—but this has nothing to do with the arid age, nor the irrigated, for that matter.

Ready—Old Doc Twodrops, the boss of the entourage at the philatelic rest cure, Nut Knoll, has kept his promise to write: "By the time Count Lapp de Booz gets to Zuforgia, the new stamps for that country will be ready for him. The design, fittingly, full length picture of the Count, is printed in light colors so as not to obscure in the least the watermarks, which, deeply impressed in the thick paper, will stand out like a light-house. The first plan of gumming the printed side of the stamps has been abandoned as the cancellation might play havoc with the spotlessness of the watermark. Still, collectors who prefer to do so may hinge the stamps watermark side up in their albums. The H₂O theme is carried out in the watermarks of the set,—waterfall, bottle of soda, water-fowl, trout, mill-wheel and schooner. A pretty conceit, isn't it?" Watermarks that may be seen almost with the eyes shut will sweep in on a wave of high popularity. We hope that the Count will not succumb to the temptations that are uncorked just outside the three mile limit.

Pitcairn—The Postal Bulletin informs us that the transit rates on parcel-post packages destined for the Pitcairn Island have been increased so that it is now possible to send eleven pounds for $1.44. Pitcairn Island, the last word in romantic adventure, inhabited by descendants of the mutineers of the "Bounty," until they were removed to Norfolk Island, is brought close to us by the agency of the postage stamp. One by one, the outposts in distant, mystic lands fall before the stamp, but we should have predicted that Pitcairn Island, 25 degrees and 3 minutes S. lat., would stand a monument to the imagination of Poe and the others for long time to come.

A FEW SUGGESTIONS.

Inclose return postage on all orders of less than 50c, or letters of inquiry. Ordinary courtesy demands it.

Don't wait a month before answering ads and expect the dealer to have the goods wanted.

Don't send unused stamps for remittances of over 50c. The dealer loses at least 5% in cashing, say nothing of both. They are not legal tender.

Don't expect (unless specifically stated) you are to get picked copies at ordinary "as they run" prices and the other fellow take the "left overs".

Remember if you send for approval goods, every day you retain them in your possession may lose a sale to someone else. Be prompt with returns. You expect the dealer to fill orders promptly.

Please consider the stamp business today as a real business, calling for business ability and capital, and like all businesses deserves a fair return. Co-operation between dealer and collector is absolutely necessary, neither can do without the other.

L. G. HUNT.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

The records in regard to the match factories in operation in Chicago during the '70's are too fragmentary to render possible a complete story of them, but the records of the stamps they used as given in the Boston Book, if correct, are quite complete, and these records, together with such collateral data as is available, can be formed into a fairly accurate history. The die that was used by the most firms in Chicago is the one of which L. G. Hunt was the first owner. His establishment was known for a time as the Garden City Match Manufactory, but whether the changes in the die represented changes in the ownership of the same factory or the different stamps were used in different factories is not known.

The Garden City Match Manufactory, L. G. Hunt proprietor, appears only in the Chicago directory for 1870; address 316-18 So. Clinton St. In 1871 he is listed as a match manufacturer, no address given. In 1872 he appears again at 316 So. Clinton St., and in 1873 Lyman G. Hunt is listed as a contractor. That is the last reference to him. He was in the match business during the time of the great Chicago fire and perhaps his establishment was burned. Regarding the Hunt stamp the Boston Book states:—

Die approved, Feb. 18, 1870.
 First issued, April, 1870.
 Last issued, July, 1874.
 210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).
 1,922,760 issued on old paper.
 634,410 issued on silk paper.

"This die was sold to Griggs & Goodwill in 1873 and they used stamps printed from it from July, 1873, to July, 1874, inclusive, before it was altered by inserting their name."

The stamp forms an upright rectangle of the standard 1c size. An oval in the center contains a three-quarter portrait of Mr. Hunt facing left with a curved label at either side—the one at the left inscribed "L. G. Hunt" and at the right, "Chicago, Ill." A curved label following the top of the oval reads "Garden City" and another label across the bottom of the stamp is inscribed "Percussion—Matches" in two lines, with a numeral of value on an irregular panel above either end. A slightly curved label across the top is inscribed "U. S. Inter. Rev." and in the irregular spaces below either end of this label are "One" at the left and "Cent" at the right. Acanthus ornamentation at the sides completes the design.

This is one of the later Carpenter productions and all were printed in Philadelphia by the Carpenter firm. It is cataloged on old paper and on silk paper and also exists on the experimental silk paper. In fact, most of the specimens showing silk fibres are on the full silk paper of the second issue, and it is probable that the stamps classified on old paper are from portions of the sheets of "ex" silk paper which happened to escape the silk fibres. If pairs of the Hunt stamp were common it would be quite possible to find a pair on which one of the stamps would show silk fibres and the other would not, and the fortunate—or unfortunate—owner would have old paper and silk paper in the same pair! The man who invented experimental silk paper would have relieved M & M collectors of a vast amount of annoyance if he had utilized his genius in some other direction.

The Hunt on full silk paper is a real rarity, even ordinary condition being almost unobtainable. The writer has been able to trace less than ten copies all told. Almost every one is overprinted vertically "G. & G." with a date, all in red. These, of course, are copies used by Griggs & Goodwill before the die was altered. The prices quoted reflect the growing appreciation of the scarcity of the Hunt stamps, especially when the reader bears in mind that the price for silk paper is for any stamp showing silk fibres:—

Old Paper.	Silk Paper.
1888 Sterling	$1.50
1895 Scott	2.50
1896 "	3.50
1900 "	5.00
1903 "	6.00
1920 "	6.00

Nine times out of ten the purchaser of a copy on silk paper gets the "ex" silk paper and not the full silk, simply because the seller can deliver only the variety which he has. Theoretically, the price is for either full silk or "ex" silk but actually the price is for "ex" silk because that is what the buyer gets. In the writer's opinion the old paper and the experimental silk paper having probably come from the same sheets are about equally scarce and should be so valued. The full silk is rare enough to be worth several times the present quotation.

READ AND RUSH.

My Dear Friend Mr. Wylie:

Enclosed find a letter and envelope from China to show you just from how far people made me happy by sending me stamps, due to the notice you had in your dear stamp paper. No one knows how happy I am with the stamps—many new ones I have added to my collection. I shall never forget you and the staff.

I will be 33 years of age this coming Aug. 12th and how I wish I could get a mail shower through your dear paper. As lying here in my deformed condition, the mail man means much to me. Would it be too much in asking through the paper for such a birthday letter shower from the stamp comrades? A stamp or two will mean a bright, joyful Birthday.

With best wishes to you all.

Your crippled shut-in friend,

If you have any varieties of foreign stamps, new or otherwise, that you feel are deserving of mention in the WEEKLY, please forward the same to Mr. Smith, whose address may be found in the heading to our Chronicle.

If it be United States stamps please note that all such should be sent to Mr. Ward, whose address is also to be found in the Chronicle heading.

It will be appreciated by Mr. Severn and Mr. Wylie both if subscribers will note the above disposition of correspondence. It is absolutely impossible for them to keep track of these matters with the many details of WEEKLY work that come in regular order.

ARE YOU A KANGAROO?

You will jump with surprise when you see the contents of the packet I am asking you to send me a dollar for and if you try to figure out how I can do it for the money you'll surely get the jim-jams! Nice fresh stamps, practically all 20th Century from Siam, Straits Settlements, Africa, Asia and the Islands of the Seven Seas that have never had a hinge on them but are waiting for you to be the first to stick them in an album. Many are on pieces of original covers and if you want them soaked off add 35c to your remittance—otherwise save that much and have the fun of soaking them yourself.

Don't expect to find the common truck. You'd be tickled half to death at the chance to buy some of the stamps at small discounts for this packet is made up to a standard and not down to a price. Runs strongly to odd values that you don't often see because they are hard to get. Many pretty South Americans, etc.—all genuinely used. I won't even say how many stamps each packet contains but if you aren't pleased just send it back and I'll sell the stamps through my approval trade for at least twice the money. You can't lose.

The supply is limited and I will not sell over 1000 of the packets. They are made right here in the Westfield peach orchard and they are worthy of it. Orders will be filled in the order of their receipt and the first packet will be mailed about September first. For every reader of the WEEKLY who wants one some six or seven others will have to go without so send your dollar early and don't get what the last fellow gets—LEFT. Just ask for a Kangaroo packet. It goes post free for one small dollar. (The stamps will catalog about $5.) See next week's ad. for further particulars.

United States New Issue Service

There are today hundreds of collectors too busy to follow the stamp journals or too far away from the centers of philatelic activity to keep in touch with the new things that are being issued and are being located from time to time. Varieties come and go before the collector has time to learn of their existence. Those who have been following my advertisements have possibly noticed that I am as a rule among the first to have the new and unusual things. For the busy man, for the collector who wants to be sure of getting the new varieties, for the investor who wants a gilt edge investment I recommend my new issue service.

A deposit of $25 will be required for the postage stamps, $10 for revenues and $10 for envelopes. You may subscribe to one or all. For the time being I will only distribute blocks. Except in the case of new issues which will be billed at a slight advance over face you will be required to keep only what you want. If you want to go to bed at night knowing that your collection is being kept up to the minute by one who follows U. S. issues closely write for my circular on the subject.

A service for the serious collector.

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents. The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. UNITED STATES.—We have been looking for sometime for the first plate of the 2c surface print, No. 10818, to turn up and are now advised by Mr. Frank A. Hollowbush that he found these on sale in Atlantic City, N. J., the latter part of May. We have not heard of them from any other source.

Some of the provisional 2c on 3c envelopes have been coming to hand from the South Atlantic seaboard and I am unable as yet to tell where they were overprinted. Dr. William Evans sends one from Norfolk, Mr. A. H. Robertson sends one used from Danville, Va., while Messrs. J. J. Pendergrast and G. M. Strader send copies bought at Charlotte, N. C. We will list these under Norfolk and Charlotte until we know definitely where they were surcharged. The Hilton Stamp Company sends another variety from San Francisco, while Mr. G. G. Ryder sends an unchronicled size from Boston.

It took a collector from so-called slow Philadelphia, however, to go to Boston, call at the Post Office and bring to light about a dozen new varieties from that city. We have to thank Mr. George H. Smith for his energetic work, not only in locating these from Boston but some new ones from Philadelphia as well.

Rev. E. M. Gearhart tells me that he has located the 2c and the 20c Stock Transfer with double impression. It is the stamp that is double, not the surcharge. I have seen several of the documentary stamps with double impression but this is the first I have learned of the surcharged stamps double.

We note from the Scott's Monthly that these Stock Transfer stamps are now coming with a slightly different overprint. Only the 20c value has been noted to date. As your editor will be in Washington this week, he will make inquiry at the Bureau regarding this change.

We wish to thank Messrs R. F. Molitor, Edw. A. Shaw, E. J. Mauer, B. & E. Stamp Co., E. H. Draper and Dr. Chas. H. Haase for notes of interest.

AITUTAKI.—We have received copies of the 1d New Zealand stamp, type A42, surcharged directly across the middle of the stamp "Aitutaki" in blue in capitals.

FENNEL STAMP CO. INC., 520-521 FULLERTON BLDG., ST. LOUIS, MO.

For these we are indebted to Mr. J. H. Smyth and the Economist Stamp Co.

ALLENSTEIN.—Mr. Louis Voss has submitted to us for chronicle a copy of the 5pf German stamp surcharged for use in Allenstein as described in last week's issue.

ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.—The Revue de la Société Philatèlique Argentine illustrates the "Peace" commemoratives recently prepared by the Argentine Mint but not issued. This series comprised three values—viz., 2, 5 and 12c—which were inscribed "Pax Mundi 1919," and had as their principal subject a representation of the monument "The Christ of the Andes," erected on the Plain of Cordillères in 1904 to mark the conclusion of peace between Chili and the Argentine Republic.

Our Argentine contemporary expresses regret that these stamps, which were beautifully produced, were after all not allowed to fulfill the object for which they were devised. We presume the issue was withheld for political reasons. —Stamp Collecting.

ARMENIA.—Mr. Raymond S. Williams advises us that he has a block of 1r stamps of this country showing three varieties, one of which is new. This is the double surcharge on No. 18. He also further advises that he has No. 17 double and No. 30 inverted. Also a 50k with small surcharge in black, perforated and a 25k with large surcharge in black, perforated.

AUSTRALIAN COMMONWEALTH.—Mr. T. H. Troon, of Maryboro, Victoria, kindly sends us a block of four of the current 1½d King George adhesive, with portion of bottom margin attached, the uppermost two of which have the interesting variety "no top to Crown," the top line of the frame being absolutely unbroken.

Mr. Troon, whose letter is dated May 4th, tells us he has reason to believe the 1½d with Multiple watermark is now obsolete, and he has not seen any for some time. He adds that he has the ½d value with a variety similar to that described above, of which he has only seen one copy so far. This "topless Crown" seems to have occurred once only in the sheet of halfpennies, but as to the number to be found in the sheet of 1½d stamps we are unable to say—probably only the two as mentioned above.—Stamp Collecting.

BARBADOS.—We are informed by the Colonial Postmaster that the issue of Peace stamps so long expected will probably be placed on sale about the 15th of August and will be of all values up to and including the 3sh.

BAVARIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the following values of the new official stamps of the type with the "Dienstmarke Bayern" in an oval with the numerals directly above a shield within: 60pf green, 70pf purple, 75pf rose, 80pf blue, 90pf olive. Also there is a 50pf scarlet of the same type. There has also appeared 1½m and 3m of the type of the higher values and the colors are terra and red, respectively.

GERMANY.—The Philatelic Francaise report the additional value of 2.50m surcharged "Saargebiet." This completes the set.

Mr. Guy Malambre calls our attention to the appearance of the 1m, lithographed, which has begun to arrive and also the 1m yellow brown engraved, with figures obliterated, surcharged "1.50 M" in black in one line.

HONDURAS.—Mr. Henry E. Dansereau has shown us a copy of the 6c stamp of the design of 1919 with Statue of

Its denomination ested to be five piastres, and the f issue Damas. The inscriptions in Arabic characters, except the 920, and are translated 'Damas Service 1338-1920 Arab Govern- A commemorative inscription in overprinted in green, reads 'Victory of Syrian Independence, 8, 1920.'

The provisional stamps of the "King of Syria" were briefly chronicled in a press paragraph in our issue for 20th last.—Stamp Collecting.

A.—The Economist Stamp Co. H. Smyth have submitted to us chronicle the 2d violet and sepia with the portrait of Queen Victoria in the centre. The stamp is marked turtles.

OF SO. AFRICA.—The Stamp announces that they are informed 1½d value is being printed in to provide for the new postal which came into operation on the May last.

By JOSEPH WARD.

TUNIS.—The franc value of this French protectorate, issue of 1906, give us a picture of a Roman galley such as was used in the days when Rome and Carthage contended for world supremacy. The ruins of the latter city are located within the boundary of Tunis and are shown on some of the lower values of this same set.

TURKEY.—A fine view of the Dardanelles and surrounding forts are shown on the twenty paras stamp issued in 1913. A merchant ship is seen in mid-stream. This stamp is perhaps the only stamp in existence that pictures two continents.

The two piastre stamp, same issue, shows a clean cut warship of modern type presenting starboard side view.

TURKS AND CAICOS ISLANDS.—And still another type of the sailboat is shown on the 1900-9 issue of these islands. Two designs were employed in this issue. The first, used on the ½ pence to one shilling values, pictures a boat through a circle, above which in a curved line appears "Turks and Caicos Islands." The second type is used on the two and three shilling stamps and shows the same ship through an unbroken circle. The ship itself is about the same size, although the stamp is made larger by the added frame.

URUGUAY.—This South American country has given us three types. The first, displayed on the twenty centesimo, 1895, which pictures a steamship with sails presenting a portbow. The second type represents a complete set issued to commemorate the independence of Uruguay and consists of three values. The design of this set is taken from a painting of the bay of Montevideo and shows the armored cruiser "Montevideo" and the gunboat "118 de Julio". Above the scene is the legend "1825 25 Agosto 1908". The twenty-fifth of August is a national holiday in Uruguay as the fourth of July is ours. The third type was used the next year and consisted of two values, two and five centavos.

PANAMA AND ITS STAMPS.

409. 20c red-brown on light blue same surcharge in rose-red and "10" 4 mm. high in rose-red.
a. Surcharged "10" 3 mm. high in rose-red.
b. Surcharged "10" double in rose-red.
c. Surcharge omitted, "10" in rose-red.
d. Surcharge in rose-red. "10" in blue-black.
410. 20c blue on light blue same surcharge (a) in rose-red and "10" 4 mm. high in rose-red.
a. Surcharged "10" 3 mm. high in rose-red.
b. Inverted surcharge "10" in rose-red.
c. Surcharge omitted, "10" in rose-red.

The varieties with surcharge omitted if used postally might be of some interest.

In May, 1904, probably on account of the old handstamp wearing out and the Fourth Panama surcharge not being adapted for use on the long and narrow registration stamps, a new handstruck surcharge was adopted:

411. 20c red-brown on light blue, surcharged rose-red.
a. Without period before 10.
b. With period after 10.
c. 10 omitted.
d. Surcharge double.
e. Surcharge "10" only 3 mm. high.
412. 20c blue on light blue, surcharged rose-red, 4 mm. high.
a. Without period before "10."
b. With period after "10."
c. "10" omitted.
d. "10" inverted.
e. Surcharge double.
f. Surcharge "10" only 3 mm. high.

The minor varieties of this issue do not seem to me of any great significance except the two styles of numerals.

We now come to the registration

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

The issuing of these two types of stamps was a part of the intended celebration of the opening of the port of Montevideo. Other marks there are none. Due to a great calamity, all festivities were countermanded at the last minute. On the morning of the 24th, the day before, the Argentine excursion steamer Columbia and the North Lloyd steamship Schlesien collided resulting in the sinking of the former with the loss of two hundred or more lives.

VENEZUELA.—The twenty-five centavos stamp of this country shows within a frame a picture of the discovery of America by Columbus, authorized by the following decree:—

"The Chief National Executive has seen fit to decree, that the new types of postage stamps created by the resolution of 28th of February of the current year to celebrate the fourth centenary of the discovery of America and participation of Venezuela at the Universal Exposition at Chicago, shall be 25 centimes and color violet.

(Signed) MUNOZ UNDRADO."

Ten years later a postage stamp was issued by this country that pictured a three mast and one funnelled steamship, wide side paddle wheels. Later this stamp was surcharged for use in another province.

ZANZIBAR.—This stamp-issuing colony has given us our last subject, three types. All the types represent the same native boat but in a different position. The ten rupees value, issue of 1908, pictures the native boat near the shore, while the other two designs, one and ten rupees values, issue of 1913, place the ships far out to sea.

stamp with the large R previously referred to. I illustrate the surcharge from a copy in my own collection which was received with one or two others in New York in 1904.

THE PROF. PERAMBULATES.

Forrest C. Middleton, stamp collector, of Madison, Wis., who had been a Chicago business visitor, spent a night in Waukegan, Ill., recently, with Ralph L. King, a fellow philatelist, and left next morning on foot for his home city via Kenosha, Racine, and Milwaukee. While in Chicago he purchased a fine camera and took pictures enroute. The walking stunt was a part of his vacation plan.—Waukegan Newspaper.

DO NOT ASK US TO CHANGE YOUR Address for Three or Four Weeks.

It is the vacation season. When you take yours ask your postmaster to forward the paper to you. It will only cost you a cent a week and there will be no break in the paper's coming. Otherwise we have two name plates to make and clerical work that means money.

ORIGINAL COVERS

Read this in the May Stamp Herald—"Covers bearing many of the New Europe and War stamps should be worth considering in a few years. These are hard to get, legitimately used, and many of the stamps offered so frequently in unused or cancelled to order condition, are good as gold when used on cover." B(uy) Wise.

TWO MORE COLLECTIONS!

Through the recent purchase of two collections we are now in better shape to fill want lists than at any time since we bought the famous Holton collection. The net retail of both books probably figures $12,000 with no great rarities, so we can fill 90% of average lists. Every stamp is priced NET, just what we think a fair price for the particular copy.

We shall be glad to send anything on approval, but please note that we do business every day! Thus, some of the stamps may be sold!

We could easily put 500 to 1000 more items of this sort in an advertisement, but these will show the scope and give a general idea of our immense stock. We can only repeat—no matter what you want, write us! We naturally offer in an "ad" of this sort only the better class and condition of things but we have all kinds; if you will buy average copies at 50% off or poorer ones at 75% to 90%, we often have them in collections. We want to do business; every stamp in stock is for sale.

DUVEEN STAMPS NOT TAXED.

Stamp collectors who were aware of the fact that the late Henry J. Duveen, art dealer, spent several hundred thou- sand dollars in gathering one of the most important stamp collections extant, the value of which is now said to have more than trebled, glanced through the list of assets of the Duveen estate as reported to the transfer tax appraiser to learn the present value of the collection, and found no mention of the stamps.

Inquiry yesterday at the office of La- fayette B. Gleason, attorney for the State Controller, revealed that when the ap- praisal of the Duveen estate was being made, Stanchfield & Levy, attorneys for the estate, notified Mr. Gleason that the notable collection had been given by Mr. Duveen to his wife, Mrs. Dora Char- lotte Duveen. A clause in his will re- ferred to the fact that Mr. Duveen had presented collections of art objects, prints and other valuable gifts to his wife, but no specific reference was made to the stamps.

Under her husband's will Mrs. Duveen got her husband's personal effects and a life interest in $2,211,734.—New York Sun.

PARIS STAMP CURRENCY.

PARIS, June 20.—Despite the issue of notes of the value of 1 franc and 50 centimes by the Paris Chamber of Com- merce, the small change problem is not solved. Stamps are still used as cur- rency.

The new notes, besides still being in- sufficient in number, are not convenient, being exceedingly difficult to handle in crowded shops and public conveyances. The Mint authorities have already de- cided on aluminum and bronze coins, and state that these can be put into circulation within four months.—New York Times.

DON'T REMIT IN STAMPS.

We are compelled to decline stamps as remittances on amounts over 50c and urge dealers to make the same rule with their patrons. A dollar bill should be used when possible and any small amount remaining can be enclosed in stamps. Checks or money orders should be used on all remittances of $2 or over.

A LITTLE POST OF HIS OWN.

By JOSEPH WARD.

The dream of the revival of a private post between home folks in Russia and relatives in United States was brought to an end here yesterday by the com- bined action of the postal authorities and city police.

Charged with collecting from five to fifteen dollars apiece for letters from Russia to this country, S. B. Conn is under arrest in New York City, after two of his agents were caught working in the "Quaker City".

On the five dollar ones, Conn's agent told the police, the "boss" kept two dollars for himself and gave the other three to charity.

When caught in Philadelphia, one of the agents had delivered 137 letters, and had 179 more to deliver.

What the Russian senders were charged no one is able to fathom, but he charged from five to fifteen a letter. To make it more profitable to himself and the charity (?) he opened each original letter and when it contained two or more sheets, he would place them in several envelopes; and should the addressee desire to get all the "home news", he was compelled to "buy" the one, two, or more "letters".

This attempt has gained much prom- inence in the daily press. The last "offence" in this line that we can recall was committed by some telegraph com- pany with offices in New York City and Philadelphia. Owing to government ownership, crowded wires and what not, the company took the messages at the various offices in each city and sent them to one central point. Then a messenger was sent by train to the other city, where they again passed thru a central clearing house and were delivered by messenger. It was true, as the tele- graph company pointed out, the mes- sages were delivered quicker than if sent by "wire" owing to the congested condition of the "wire world"; but that was no excuse for Uncle Sam's Post Office Department.

CAYMAN ISLANDS.

During all this period, there were available supplies in the hands of high officials, or at all events at their disposal—

- 9720 stamps at ½d
35460 stamps at 1d
10660 stamps at 2½d

If we deduct from the above figures, the quantities of the various provisionals (of which Mr. Cochran mentions five sheets surviving) we arrive at an available surplus of—

- 3120 (9720 less 6600) at ½d
33300 (35460 less 2160) at 1d
10180 (10660 less 480) at 2½d

All this surplus was, as the Crown Agents stated in 1908, "available for prepayment of postal charges".

Having stated what the facts were, it was no surprise to learn that the Colonial Office had directed an enquiry as to the bona fides of several notorious provisional issues, including those of the Cayman Islands; and, without discussing the complaints of the stamp trade—admirably voiced by a leading British firm—as to the way in which their applications for stamps had been treated, it will suffice to give a single extract from the report of the enquiry:—

"With regard to the stamps of the Cayman Islands, the Governor of Jamaica reports that early this year the Commissioner of the Cayman Islands made proposals for an internal post in the Islands at a reduced rate (viz., a halfpenny for letter postage) and that the farthing stamp was printed for the newspaper and post-card postage. The Commissioner has so far refused to sell these stamps to dealers through the post, on the grounds that they are primarily intended for local use, and that owing to the cost of production outside sale is not profitable."

The concluding part of the last sentence suggests that a sale of stamps, for which no return is required, is less profitable than a sale of stamps for actual use on postal packets, or that the stamps cost over "face" to produce; the absurdity of such a statement is too apparent to need any refutation.

Lord Crewe's Reports naively puts it that "the primary object in all cases is the local convenience" possibly, but when the secondary object is profit, the "local convenience" is apt to receive more than a fair share of official consideration.

However, the postmaster who succeeded Miss Parsons received explicit instructions to refrain from provisionals generally, and the postmistress's announcement of her supersession will (if it reached her successor) assist him in remembering of what he has to steer clear—"Mr. McCausland, an Englishman, has superseded me."

We do not intend to quote further from the Report of the Colonial Post Offices Commission, as the above excerpt is quite sufficient to prepare our readers for the complete vindication of the Jamaican and Caymanian officials, and the establishment of the absolute bona fides of the much-abused provisionals; evidently, from the official point of view, the surcharged issues were necessary, although there were at the time sufficient stocks of the ordinary stamps on hand.

A decision, based on the reports of the persons interested and whose actions have been subjected to severe hostile criticism, cannot be ideal; but the "whitewashing" extended in this instance was certainly a surprise to philatelists in general.

Those of our readers who care to go more deeply into the Caymanian exploitation of collectors are referred to the contemporary philatelic press, full references to which are given in the Bibliography infra; but it is not too much to say that the responsible persons, and their prospective successors, will most probably refrain for many a long year from following in the footsteps—or should we say "hand-stamps"—of their predecessors who held office in the golden period of 1907-08.

BRITISH PROSPECTS.

For the philatelist there is more in this year's Budget than taxes and duties. He sees in it the possibility of new issues of British postage stamps—a prospect that never fails to excite the stamp-collecting community. In the land that gave birth to the adhesive postage stamp we are chary of making new issues, and any addition to the list of the stamps of Great Britain is a thing to get excited about and make the most of. A twopenny letter rate will not in itself necessitate a change, for there is a twopenny stamp already; but the parcels post proposals would appear to suggest more than a possibility of fifteenpenny and eighteenpenny stamps. It is suggested also that it may be thought necessary to revive the service of the eightpenny stamp as a useful multiple of the new minimum letter rate of twopence. In addition to these possible changes there is the hope that the postal authorities will yet look kindly on the proposal to create special stamps for air-post purposes.

Many other nations have adopted, or are "considering", air-post issues, and there seems to be no reason why this handiest of all means of advertising our aerial mail facilities should not be adopted. An argument that should have weight with the Chancellor of the Exchequer is the undoubted fact that thousands of pounds' worth of unused specimens would be locked up in philatelists' collections, never to claim a single pennyworth of service!—London Times.

PAYMENT OF RETURN POSTAGE

It may seem to be a trifle, but the course of a day's mail it means a lot to those who are engaged in a order business. We speak not only of ourselves, but on general principles, believing that unintentionally many correspondents are neglecting what should be an ordinary courtesy. When writing seeking information, which calls for reply by mail, it is only right to enclose a stamped and addressed envelope should be enclosed. We do this in our own correspondence and feel that in accord with the ethics of business.

SSAU STAMP CO.
assau St., New York City

UNITED STATES 3c 1857-60.

By ELLIOTT PERRY.

The 3c United States postage stamps first regularly issued in perforated condition fall naturally into two groups:—first, those printed from plates which had previously been used for imperforate stamps, and, second, those printed from plates made purposely for stamps that were to be perforated. For many years the stamps of the first group have been designated as Type I and those of the second group have been called Type II. This classification is perfectly satisfactory for the average collector and is fairly satisfactory for the specialist because it separates the stamps by their most noticeable difference which is the presence or absence of two horizontal frame lines, one just above the top and the other just below the bottom of the main part of the design. Because Type II exists only in perforated condition most collectors probably are aware that this type occurs only on plates made purposely for perforated stamps and that the reason type I occurs both imperforate and perforated is because plates which had been in use for imperforate stamps were continued in use for some time after perforation commenced.

Just how long the Type I plates were in use after February, 1857—when perforation of postage stamps is believed to have commenced—cannot be stated, but specimens of Type II are known to have been used in the fall of 1857, and the use of Type I plates may have ceased when those bearing only the Type II design were ready. From the relative scarcity of the two types it is reasonable to suppose there were no printings from the Type I plates after the summer of 1857, and copies known to have been used much later are of no value in determining the length of time that printing of Type I stamps continued simply because the date of use proves only that they had been printed sometime before that date, but not how long before, which is the vital point.

TYPE I.

It is stated that there were eight or nine Type I ("imperforate") 3c plates and students are of the opinion that all of them from No. 3 on, and perhaps those earlier than No. 3, were used for perforated stamps. Some of these plates have extensive re-cutting on the stamp designs. The recutting often varies on the individual stamps, and as there were 200 subjects on each plate there may be hundreds of minor varieties and the total number of such varieties may even exceed a thousand. With two exceptions no other U. S. postage stamp presents the field for specialized study that does the 3c Type I perforated and one of the exceptions is the same stamp imperforate. Any variety of the imperforate 3c will also exist perforated provided the plate from which it was printed was in exactly the same condition when perforated stamps were printed from it as when it was used for imperforates. The reader will note, however, that plates which were recut before being used for perforated stamps and not again recut after printing of perforated stamps from them commenced will show only the same varieties perforated as they show in their last state imperforate.

Many of the varieties found among the imperforate 3c stamps will not be found on stamps printed from the same plates after perforation commenced because alterations in the plate, or plates, were made before 1857, and having once been altered the plate cannot produce exactly the same varieties as before there was recutting on the stamp designs it contains.

It is not the purpose of this article to go into a detailed study of the stamps from the Type I plates. The field is so large and so difficult that the average collector cannot hope to attain anything like a complete knowledge of either the imperforate 3c or of the perforated stamps printed in 1857 from the "imperforate" plates. In order properly to understand the perforated Type I stamps the collector must have a good working knowledge of the imperforate 3c, which in itself requires much painstaking study and more material than today is readily obtainable. The writer will content himself with pointing out a few facts that may be helpful to the collector who is more of a collector than he is a specialist.

The Type I stamps may be sub-divided into two groups: First, those which have a single frame line at the sides; second, those which have a double frame line at the sides. The outer of these frame lines is the same on both main varieties of the Type I stamps, and the difference between the two sub-varieties is caused by the cutting of an inner frame line at either side on the stamp designs on certain of the plates after those stamp designs had been rocked onto the plates. The inner frame lines so cut on the plates are properly called tangents because they connect the upper and lower rosettes at a tangent. The variety commonly found perforated has the single frame line. Perforated stamps with tangents—that is, with double frame lines at the sides—are much scarcer. The two sub-varieties may be conveniently referred to as Type Ia (with single frame line), and Type Ib (with tangents).

TYPE II.

The Type II stamps may also be divided into two groups: first, those on which the vertical frame lines extend only to the top and bottom of each stamp; second, those on which the vertical frame lines are continuous from the top to the bottom of the plate. These two sub-varieties may be conveniently referred to as Type IIa and Type IIb. So far as the writer knows the first 3c plate made purposely for perforated stamps (Plate No. 10) is the only plate on which the side frame lines are not continuous from the top to the bottom of the plate. Probably all the stamps on this plate are Type IIa. The Type IIa stamps can easily be identified when in blocks or vertical multiples, but can rarely be identified when in singles because the perforations usually cut into the design at either top or bottom and unless, as rarely happens, there is margin enough at both top and bottom of the stamp to show that the frame line does not extend to the adjoining stamp above or below it is quite impossible to tell whether the frame line is continuous or broken between each two stamps. Type IIb stamps from top or bottom rows may be mistaken for Type IIa stamps because on such Type IIb stamps the frame line stops level with the top of the stamps in the top row and at the bottom of the stamps in the bottom row.

All the remaining 3c plates of the series (Plates No. 11 to No. 28 inclusive) are believed to be very much alike and have only Type IIb stamps on them. On all these plates the vertical frame line at either side of the stamps was cut into the plate after the designs had been rocked in, but instead of cutting these vertical lines in ten sections with a break between each two stamps the lines were cut continuously from the top to the bottom of the plate. About 99% of the Type II stamps are from plates No. 11 to No. 28 and these are the 3c 1857-60 commonly found. Plate No. 10 stamps are decidedly uncommon, being much scarcer than the Type I stamps with single frame lines at sides.

In these 3c stamps of 1851-60 we pass from one extreme to the other. The imperforate 3c and the first perforates abound in varieties and it is hardly an exaggeration to say that of the 1,600 or perhaps 1,800 stamp designs on the first 3c plates no two are exactly alike, while the varieties on the last 18 plates are so few that it has not seemed worth while to attempt a study of them.

The most noticeable varieties found on Plates No. 11 to No. 28 are the stamps with extra frame lines at the sides, and from the limited amount of suitable material which has been available the writer inclines to the opinion that these extra lines are to be found only on certain of the 18 plates. Some plates apparently have none of the extra lines, while on other plates these lines occur in several rows. As in the case of Plate No. 3 of the 12c stamp the extra frame lines may come from the attempt of a careless workman to strengthen the original frame lines or perhaps may be due to several attempts to cut the frame line in its correct position. Frequently the extra lines are found outside the true frame line, but they may also occur within the latter line, as on the right hand rows of the right pane of Plate No. 24.

There are a few minor varieties worthy of mention here. One of these is called the "gash on the shoulder" and shows a line of color several millimeters long near the button on Washington's bust. This variety is believed to be caused by a scratch on the plate and is relatively scarce. Another variety was caused by damage to the transfer roll and occurs several times on at least one of the plates. It consists of a colorless notch, roughly V shaped, just above the lower left rosette and inside the frame line, where the raised lines of the lathe-work border design on the transfer were damaged and failed to make proper entry on the plate. Stamps with this imperfection are not especially rare and we may assume that they occur throughout one or more horizontal rows on at least one plate. One plate on which this variety occurs was recut and the damage repaired, but the writer cannot say whether there was only one such damaged plate or whether another plate with similar imperfect stamps was recut. Possibly stamps showing the notch and those showing the notch repaired come from the same plate or plates at the same time or they may come at different periods and therefore represent different states of the same plate. A copy with the notch has been noted on a cover postmarked February, 1859.

The writer has not identified any reliefs on the 3c plates and cannot say how many reliefs the transfer rolls contained. On plate No. 28 and on all the earlier plates seen, the imprints are of the type used previous to 1860, that is, the imprint consists only of letters in color, not enclosed in a panel. From this fact we may deduce that all the 3c Type II plates were made before plate No. 12 of the 1c, plate No. 3 of the 12c, and before the 30c and 90c plates. So many of the plates made in the 1857-59 period were transferred from six relief rollers it is only reasonable to suppose the 3c plates were also transferred in a similar manner, and the writer expects that when the study of these 3c plates has proceeded further it will be demonstrated that a six relief roller rocked in 1-2-3-4-5-6-3-4-5-6 in each vertical row was the method employed.

Plates No. 10 to No. 28 are very similar to the 5c plate No. 2, the 12c plate No. 3, the 10c plate No. 2 and many of the 1c plates bearing numbers higher than 4 and lower than 11, all of which belong to the same period. The characteristic narrow vertical spacing and wider horizontal spacing prevails throughout this period. It is no trick at all to obtain a fine 3c Type IIb well centered horizontally but far from an easy matter to find such a copy on which the perforations do not touch at either top or bottom, although the stamp is so common that there is plenty of material in which to search for that which one may truly class as "perfection".

POSTAGE STAMPS OF NOVA SCOTIA.
By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

The United States rates to be taken on letters forwarded between the United States and the British North American Provinces, under Article 13 of the Convention of December the 5th, 1848, shall be as follows:—
On any letter not exceeding half-ounce in weight, conveyed, or to be conveyed, any distance within the United States not exceeding 300 miles a rate of 5 cents, and for any distance exceeding 300 miles a rate of 10 cents.
When the United States rates of postage are collected in British North America, 5 cents shall be considered equivalent to 3d. and 10 cents to 6d., Provincial currency.
The Provincial rates of postage, to be taken under the provisions of the same article, shall be as follows: On any letter not exceeding half an ounce in weight conveyed, or to be conveyed, any distance within British North America not exceeding 60 miles a rate of 4d sterling or 8 cents. Above 60 miles but not exceeding 100 miles a rate of 6d. sterling or 12 cents and so on, an additional rate of 2d sterling, or 4 cents for every distance not exceeding 100 miles.
In 1852 a new agreement was entered into between the United States and Nova Scotia under which a considerable reduction in postal rates was made viz:—
No. 12
"Articles of agreement between the Post-office Department of the United States, and the Post-office Department of Nova Scotia.
For the purpose of establishing and regulating the exchange of mails between the United States and Nova Scotia, it is agreed between the Post-office Department of the United States, and the Post-office Department of Nova Scotia:
1.—That there shall be an exchange of mails between the United States and Nova Scotia at the following points viz.,
On the side of the United States at Boston.
On the side of Nova Scotia at Halifax.
2.—The postage to be charged in the United States on a letter not exceeding half an ounce in weight, to and from Nova Scotia and Cape Breton, shall be five cents (three pence) for any distance within the United States not exceeding 3000 miles, and exceeding 3000 miles within the United States, 10 cents (sixpence) the single letter, every additional weight of half an ounce, or additional of less than half an ounce, to be charged as an additional rate; the rates of this section mentioned having been agreed upon by the Postmaster General of the United States by and with advice and consent of the President.
3.—The postage stamps of either country shall be taken as evidence of the prepayment of postage.
4.—The Post Office designated for the dispatch and receipt of the Provincial mails on the side of the United States will stamp 'U. STATES' upon all letters sent into Nova Scotia for delivery; and the office designated for the dispatch and receipt of United States mails on the side of Nova Scotia will stamp 'NOVA SCOTIA' upon all letters sent into the United States for delivery.
The exact date of issue of the 1d value is not known, but it was probably some time in the early part of 1853, and in his Report for that year the Postmaster General refers to them, viz.:
"One Penny postage stamps having recently been received from London, and put into circulation, are now to be had in nearly every post-office in Nova Scotia.
There are at present stamps for 1 shilling, 6 pence, 3 pence and 1 penny; and the public have thus every facility afforded them to prepay their letters to any place to which stamps can free them. His Excellency's Government having at considerable outlay introduced into the country the system of prepayment by stamps, it is a subject of congratulation that the public at large are beginning to feel and appreciate their convenience and advantages, a much larger amount having been issued from my office during the past than the present year, being an increase of over 25 per cent., as will be seen by reference to Report I."
In 1853 the question of a reduced rate of postage to the United Kingdom was raised and after some little correspondence it was agreed not only that a reduction should be made but that there should be a uniform rate between Great Britain and all her Colonial possessions.
The new rate was fixed at 6d sterling per half-ounce, viz:—
"The details of the arrangements are that the present postal charges on letters between the United Kingdom and all the British Colonial possessions shall be reduced to a uniform rate of 6d. the half-ounce, according to the following scale, which is that in use in the United Kingdom, viz:—
Not exceeding 1/2 ounce, 1 rate
Exceeding 1/2 ounce and not 1 ounce, 2 rates
Exceeding 1 ounce and not 2 ounces, 4 rates and so on. The postage to free the letter to its place of destination, and to be prepaid or not at the option of the sender."
When this rate went into operation Nova Scotia had no stamp of the value of 7d currency (equal to 6d sterling) and the difficulty of making up the correct postage was surmounted by an official notice authorising the bi-section of the 3d stamp.
The discount of 5 per cent., that had been allowed to all buying stamps to the value of £5 and upwards, did not appear to give satisfaction to the country postmasters, as in 1855 the Postmaster-General asked that this privilege should be cancelled. The report says: "When stamps were first introduced into this Province, not only were postmasters authorized to sell them on commission, but merchants, stationers, and others obtained a discount of 5 per cent. on their purchase on all sums of £5 and upwards. This was done with a view to their general circulation, and in the hope that in this manner the public would sooner perceive their utility and convenience. The object then sought having been to a great extent attained, and postage stamps being now in circulation throughout the Province, I would therefore beg to suggest that in future the commission or discount, as the case may be, be confined to postmasters alone (including the Halifax office). This course would somewhat increase the postmasters' emoluments, and give them a privilege, which in my opinion they are fairly and justly entitled to." This not unreasonable request was acceded to and thereafter merchants or others selling the stamps for the convenience of customers did so without profit.

That the use of postage stamps showed a satisfactory increase is evidenced by the Postmaster-General's Report for 1857 in which the total of stamps sold for the preceding year is given as £2855 5s 2d against £335 2s 6d sold in 1852.
During the session of the Legislature for 1859, the Decimal Currency Act was passed changing the money system of the Province from one of pence and shillings to cents and dollars.

The interesting part of this Act we quote as follows:—

"CHAPTER III.

Be it enacted, etc., the several coins hereinafter mentioned shall be legal tender at the following rates:—

1.—The gold sovereign of the United Kingdom at five dollars. The silver coins of the United Kingdom at the following rates:—

Silver crown of the United Kingdom,
one dollar and twenty-five cents.

Silver half-crown of the United Kingdom, sixty-two and a half cents.

Silver florin of the United Kingdom,
fifty cents.

Silver shilling of the United Kingdom,
twenty-five cents.

Silver sixpence of the United Kingdom,
twelve and a half cents.

Silver fourpence of the United Kingdom,
eight cents.

5.—In the laws of the Province now in force, whenever any fees, charges, or other sums in currency are mentioned,
the amounts so mentioned shall hereafter be computed and taken to represent dollars and cents in the following scale:
a £ shall represent $4.00; a 1s shall represent 20c; a 1d, 2c; 2d 3½c; 3d, 5c;
4d, 6½c; 5d, 8½c; 6d, 10c; 7d, 11½c;
8d, 13½c; 9d, 15c; 10d, 16½c; 11d, 18c;
12d, 20c."

A complete change in the system of keeping accounts was necessitated by this Act and it also made a new series of postage stamps necessary. It was put into effect in the Province before the new decimal coinage was ready to be put into circulation or before the new stamps were ready. The natural result was widespread confusion and considerable loss, especially to the post-office; so much so in fact that the matter was referred to at some length in the Postmaster-General's report for 1860, dated January 20th of that year, when the currency had only been changed for the short space of twenty days, viz.:—

"The Act to establish the 'decimal system of accounting', published in the Royal Gazette on the 8th of November last, for the information of all public functionaries, was given practical effect to by this department on the 1st of January inst.—the necessary instructions,
together with the various forms of account, etc., having previously been issued by me to all Postmasters and way office keepers. Much difficulty, however, has already been experienced by the Postmasters in satisfactorily carrying out the provisions of the Act, owing to the want of proper coins to represent the decimal currency, a value, much beyond its intrinsic worth, having been given by law to the copper coin, whereby the revenue of the Department will sustain a very material loss."

The particular part of the complaint relates to a want of proper copper coins
to meet the requirements of the decimal currency and the excessive value attached to those then in circulation. To a certain extent this was remedied later on by charging extra for letters prepaid in coppers, for Mr. King succeeded in unearthing a postal notice published in the Royal Gazette, relating to the establishment of a book post to Bermuda and Newfoundland in which the rates were given in coppers only, viz.:—

"NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

Book Post to Bermuda and Newfoundland.

The Government of this Province having consented to the establishment of a book post to Bermuda and Newfoundland, under an arrangement proposed by the Postmaster-General of England, said arrangement will come into operation on the 1st of June next. The regulations for the transmission, etc. . . . and the rates of postage will be as follows:
Not exceeding 4 ounces, 8 coppers.

Above 4 ounces and not exceeding 8
ounces, 15 coppers.

Above 8 ounces and not exceeding 16
ounces, 30 coppers.

Above 1 lb. and not exceeding 1½ lbs., 45 coppers.

The following conditions must be observed:

1. The entire postage must be prepaid
by postage stamps.

(Signed) A. WOODGATE, P.M.G.
General Post Office, HALIFAX, 11th May, 1860."

On June 6th following, an advertisement appeared in the Royal Gazette relating to the dispatch of an English mail by way of Quebec, and this gives an excellent illustration of the extra amount charged for letters prepaid in copper coin, viz.:

"NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

Notice is hereby given that a closed mail for the United Kingdom and Europe by this channel will be made up at this office on Saturday next, 2nd, inst.,
at 8 p.m., and on every alternate Saturday during the summer season. The postage on a letter not exceeding ½ an ounce will be 6d. sterling or 12½ cents;
when paid in copper coins 15 half-pennies.

(Signed) A. WOODGATE, P.M.G."

Toward the latter part of the year 1860 the new bronze coinage was placed in circulation and the old copper coins withdrawn, so that the postal rates reached their normal level.

Until this time prepayment of postage had been optional in most cases, but on October 1st, 1860, a new regulation went into effect making the prepayment of postage by means of postage stamps compulsory. This notice, which appeared in the Royal Gazette for September 5th, is as follows:—

"NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC AND INSTRU-CTIONS TO POSTMASTERS.

Compulsory Prepayment of Letters by Postage Stamps.

Commencing on Monday, the 1st day of October next, the postage on all letters posted in Nova Scotia, and addressed to any place in this Province,
the other British North American Provinces, and the United States, as well as to the United Kingdom, must be prepaid by stamps. The design, color and value of each class of perforated stamps are as follows, viz.:—

The 1 cent stamp, the Queen's head in profile, black.

The 5 cent stamp, the Queen's head in profile, blue.

The 10 cent stamp, the Queen's head in full face, red.

The 12½ cent stamp, the Queen's head,
full face, black.

Any letter which may be posted, prepaid, by the Nova Scotia stamps now in circulation, will be allowed to pass through the Post-office in this Province for one month after the system comes into operation.

Letters sent unpaid to any part of the above-named places will be charged with a double rate of postage.

The Postmaster-General would respectfully suggest to the merchants and others the expediency of their keeping themselves constantly supplied with postage stamps, to prevent disappointment and annoyance in the event of a postmaster or way-office keeper being out of stamps when applied to.

It should be distinctly understood that no other stamps than those issued by the department are to be taken in this Province in prepayment of letters posted within the same. These stamps can be had at the General Post-office, Halifax, and of all the postmasters and way-keepers.

GENERAL POST OFFICE, HALIFAX,
August 22nd 1860."

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—In all probability Milwaukee will be an aspirant for the American Philatelic Society convention for 1921. This city is one of the most flourishing centers of today, and is far in advance in a philatelic sense over what it was in 1900 when the last A. P. S. convention was held there.

—In a recent article on Finland in the Saturday Evening Post, a story is told of the refusal of the postmaster of a small Finnish village to accept a letter written by the Czar of Russia and stamped with a Russian stamp for mailing. His Majesty was peeved, and out of the small incident the wheels for the "Russification" of Finland were set in operation.

—A picture in the New York World for July 18th, 1920, shows Major Hogan "putting a postage stamp on a 2,000 lb. bas-relief shipped by mail," incidental to sending the Knights of Columbus statue of Lafayette to France. We wonder what stamp was used.

—From the publisher of Philatelic Gossip, A. V. Dworak, we have heard that his wife passed away, after an illness of some years. Burial was at Denison, Kansas, the former home. As Mr. Dworak does not expect to stay in Siloam Springs, Ark., and has not decided yet upon a new location, the next issue of his paper will be delayed.

—The weekly edition of the London Times, with its stamp articles and philatelic illustrations, makes us rejoice over the flourishing condition of collecting in Great Britain. Our eyes must deceive us, for we find a batch of stamps issued under "Philatelic Novelties and Rareties." If Homer nods, the WEEKLY should be allowed to take a snooze without exciting comment.

—The Kansas City Star had an article headed "The U. S. Postage Stamp is 73 Years Old This Month," in which some readable information was given of the early stamps and postal regulations.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from J. A. Havirland, Maitland Milliken, Jos. Silver, Herman W. Boers, O. Blackstad, Gordon J. Campbell and H. K. Carter.

EDITORIAL.

Up—United States plate-number 11111 has made its bow on the two cent surface printed, and it seems but a short time since we recorded the coming of plate 10000. As we look upon our plate number 1 on the two cent, 1894, we suppose that it is expected that something be said about the flight of time,—we have it: "How noiseless falls the foot of time." We congratulate the Bureau upon achieving 11111, which certainly is "fat" for the engraver.

Wins—Philately wins in the Saturday Evening Post of July 17th, through the medium of "The Oblige," by Hugh MacNair Kahler. Young Cornish made stamp collecting a lever that advanced him in the export company—South and Central America—although he did so unpreparedly. He broke a business rule: "There was the affair of the Guatemalan stamps, for instance. Jimmy Carroll had yearned for a set of the new issue, uncanceled, and it had seemed so simple to ask Ceballos e Hijos to buy them." Then: "Remember those stamps I got for Jimmy? Well, by the time I got through thanking that chap down in Guatemala for it, we were friends for life. He calls me Don Heriberto, and you might think we'd gone to kindergarten together. And it worked on old Rodolfo Blasco, in Maracaibo, too."

* * *

Changed—We made a mistake in saying that the luckless wight who got our center block of the two cent, type one, surface print, imperforate, for fifty cents asks a hundred or two dollars for it. He says that the figure is three hundred dollars. When he got our center-line block, he plunged and bought at face, plate-number and arrow blocks. When the news broke, subsequently, he kindly offered to donate a block to us, perhaps as a sop to Cerberus, but stifling our "gimme" inclination, we resolutely refused the gift. We want the debacle to be complete.

Slip—Ossa on Pelion. The Order of Philatelic Merit seems to have gone where the woodbine twineth; and so we shall not have the ineluctable pleasure of adding "O. P. M." after our name when we write to friends afar. Hear the heartless word of the London Philatelist: "Not much time was left for the report and motion relative to the establishment of an Order, or the grant of a Diploma of Philatelic Merit. The former proposal was judiciously withdrawn in face of the practically unanimous opinion of those present, and the question of an Award or Diploma was referred to the Permanent Executive Congress Committee to consider and to report upon to the next Congress." Ah, yes, "Oft expectation fails, and most oft there where most it promises."

Cheer—Each day is a little world; and now we have received a fine ten cent, 1851, recut at top and bottom, on cover. This stamp comes once in the sheet, and is sweet on cover. Inside the envelope is the original letter, from which we extract the following side-line on early trans-continental travel: "Shasta, Cal., April 15th, 1856. Brother Mike:I know but little about the routes of travel; take which you like best, buy yourself a small dirk, which carry in some convenient place; and don't be afraid to use it, if necessary."

* * *

Big—Here it is just as received: "Post Office Department, Office of the Assistant Attorney General, Washington: Copied expressly for Hon. C. E. Severn, O. P. M., Chicago, Ill., by Erastus Dusenderfer, Philatelist, from 'The Old Packet and Clipper Service,' which appeared in Harper's New Monthly Magazine, No. CCCCIV—January, 1884—Vol. LXVIII, Page 227. 'A captain of a packet or clipper was a much more important personage than a Cunard captain is today. He was an owner as well as a commander, and he met the shipping merchants on terms of social equality. He was absolute master of his vessel, and of every man on board of her. A Cunard captain has no control over his engineer. His income was often $5000 a year, consisting of five per cent. of all freight money, five per cent. of all steerage passage money, twenty-five per cent. of all cabin passage money, the entire receipts for carrying the mails—two pence a letter from the British government and two cents a letter from the American government—and a salary of $360 per annum.'

Closed—From Mr. Leon Minassian, British Post Office, Smyrna, Asia Minor, we have received the note: "The Greek authorities here in Smyrna have taken hold of the Turkish post office today, June 22nd, 1920. The Turkish post offices were all closed. There were four Greek soldiers at the doors, and no one could go into the buildings."

Grasp—Last May, Mr. F. Cleveland Bundlie, Grand Forks, North Dakota, sent us a remarkable extract from "The Great Desire," by Alexander Black, and published by Harper and Brothers, New York. Mr. Bundlie thought naturally that we would be interested in learning what a writer of the ability of Alexander Black had to say of our pursuit. It happened that for one reason or other, the weeks passed without the appearance of the lengthy quotation; and now our friend Mr. Harry E. Huber sends us the same material, which we shall plan to use at once. We thank Mr. Bundlie for relaying to us so promptly what we regard as one of the greatest tributes ever paid to stamp collecting. Here is something to chew mentally: "But the sheer probability of your knowing, without the study of stamps, the deep-lying significance of human evolution, the intricate wonders of race struggle, the spiritual orientation of that poor, faltering, but amazing tenacious biped, Man—this probability, I tell you, is absolutely negligible." A front seat for Alexander Black in the philatelic academy.

Whiskered—Knowing our interest in antiquities, Mr. Albert Smith Faught, Philadelphia, sends us the following illustrated joke from the Bulletin: "Farmer Backup—'I want ten cents' wuth o' stamps.' Aleck Smart (the new clerk)—'What denomination?' Farmer Backup—'I'm a Baptist, but I don't know as it's your business.'" In print, and even on the stage, this venerable jape has endured for many a decade; and evidently it was not born to die. It is a veritable Nestor of stamp jokes, and we suppose that generations to come will encounter it. It ranks with the boyhood classic: "Do you collect stamps?" If the answer is yes, the questioner, gagging gleefully, stamps on the feet of the victim, "Here's one."

* * *

Rewarded—A teacher in one of Chicago's public schools who employs stamps to advantage in class-room work, sent a number of food drafts to a schoolmaster in Austria whose family was reduced to dire necessity because of conditions there. The gratitude of the recipient for the loan, as he called the benefaction, was profuse; and he wanted to show it in some tangible form, he insisted. The teacher said that unwittingly, perhaps, he had made a return, as the stamps that he used on his letter happened to make an addition to her collection. That was sufficient, and now a procession of stamps of Austria, Hungary, etc., is leaving from the foreign strand in question.

Question—"Why," asks a reader, "have you ignored the boy collector who made his collection in partnership with one of the neighbor's boys? I had a collection in which my pal had an undivided half interest. Once when he got mad at me, he sold his title to me for a lot of tin tobacco tags. I have the stamps yet,—some of them." We may have forgotten to mention this type of old-fashioned collector, although we have a dim recollection of having given him a whirl.

If There Have Been Some Delays

In filling your orders the past week or so, I beg your pardon—moving has been the cause. By the time this appears I will no doubt be comfortably settled in our new domicile in the Foothills of the Colorado Rockies, in the shadow of Long’s Peak at Longmont, Colorado. There the light air and cool nights are so exhilarating and invigorating that I will probably be able to do twice the work in a given time that I could do otherwise and THEN find some time for play. All correspondence should be addressed to me there until further notice and all orders will be promptly and carefully filled as usual. I am expecting a good consignment of good old U. S. and fine Foreign from my buyer in England and who goes to Belgium this month to buy for me, any day now. Will be glad to receive your want list for either U. S. or Foreign.

L. B. DOVER, (Now) LONGMONT, COLORADO

GRIGGS & GOODWILL.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

1c Black, 1c Green.

Neither this firm nor either of the members are listed in the Chicago directories, and the writer has no information regarding them. According to the Boston Book, they bought the L. G. Hunt die and used stamps from it from July, 1873, to July, 1874, but if this statement is correct, it would appear that they used the Hunt stamp on silk paper contemporaneously with their own black stamp from March to July, 1874. Of the Griggs & Goodwill stamps, the Boston Book states:

Die approved, July 3, 1873.
First issued in black, March, 1874.
Last issued in black, December, 1874.
556,920 issued in black on silk paper.
First issued in green, December, 1874.
Last issued in green, July, 1875.
240,910 issued in green on silk paper.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).

These stamps differ from the L. G. Hunt die only in the change of firm name in the label at the left of the portrait to read “Griggs & Goodwill.” All were printed in Philadelphia. Both of them are very much scarcer without overprint than when overprinted, but overprinted copies are not at all scarce. In view of the small quantity issued, this is rather surprising, but it is a fact, nevertheless, and nice specimens are easy to obtain. That, however, applies only to single copies. The writer has not noted any pair of the black stamp, and has seen only two small blocks of the green one.

The black stamp is usually found with the overprint (a) in red reading either upwards or downwards. This is like the overprint on the Hunt stamp on full silk paper, but the only date of the latter noted is Feb. 10th, ’74. The black Griggs & Goodwill has been noted with the overprint dated Aug. 25th, ’74.

(a) Sept. 25th R., C. & Co.
’74 July 1,
G. & G. 1875.

The green stamp is usually found with the (b) overprint in black. This overprint is easily explained. Quoting again from the Boston Book,—“Griggs & Goodwill sold out to Ransom, Clark & Co. of South Chicago, Ill., early in 1875, and in April of that year the latter firm wrote to Mr. Carpenter asking terms for inserting their name in place of that of Griggs & Goodwill. The change was never made, but, commencing in June, 1875, the new firm commenced to use the stamps from their predecessors’ plate.”

If the green stamp varied much in shade, the writer would suspect a printing by the National Bank Note Co., and a much larger issue after July, 1875, than the total issue of the Carpenter printing up to that date, and possibly there was such a National printing and the total number of green stamps issued was much greater than is stated in the Boston Book, but the shade is always practically the same, and there is no direct evidence of a National printing. We are obliged, therefore, to accept the figures given and to believe the stamp is common, because an unusually large proportion of them were not destroyed.

IN THE NEWSPAPER.

Postage stamp collectors throughout the world are being warned against forgeries on a large scale which have been discovered in Germany. Several arrests have been made. Usually forged words are printed on the stamps of countries which changed hands recently owing to the war. The latest instances are the German stamps with a French surcharge of the Saar district, now spelled “Sarre.”

Experts declare that some of these latest forgeries have reached Paris and London, but that experts will not be deceived. The false stamps are detected from the overprint “Sarre” which they bear. In the genuine ones the “S” of this word has a rounded top, whereas in the forgeries it has a straight top.

These stamps were regular German stamps, but when the French occupied the territory they surcharged the word Sarre. Since then the surcharge has been changed to “Saargebiet” and this is what makes the first Sarre stamps precious to collectors, fetching from $40 to $50 for the full set.—N. Y. Sun and Herald.

CHANGES OF ADDRESS.

It takes two weeks to make a change of address. Don’t wait until the last moment.

And don’t bother us with the return date in September. Let a post card do it.

Remember that new stencils cost money and two changes are necessary. Should we stand that expense?

If you happen to miss a number we will try and make it good, but bear in mind that the air mail is yet in its infancy.

“NATIONAL APPROVAL SERVICE.”

NATIONAL STAMP CO., San Luis Obispo, Box 212, Cal.

ADDRESS YOUR LETTER PROPERLY.

There are five persons connected with the WEEKLY and their duties are widely different. It will be a great advantage to all concerned if subscribers will note these instructions:—

New U. S. Issues and Varieties.—Mail these to Mr. Ward, whose address you will find at the head of the New Issues Department. Don’t mail them to Beverly, Chicago, or Portland.

New Foreign Issues and Varieties.—These go to Mr. Smith and you rock the boat when you send them anywhere else. Note his address.

Subscriptions and Advertising.—All this matter should go to Mr. Wylie at Beverly.

Inquiries should be sent to Chicago and Mr. Severn’s address will always be found on the editorial page. If there is anything you want to know, he will give you learned and considerate attention.

As for Mr. Jewett at Portland be very considerate. He already has enuff to do, managing the mechanical detail of our Portland office, so spare him all you can.

All of which is respectfully submitted. THE MANAGING EDITOR.

ARE YOU A KANGAROO?

You will jump with surprise when you see the contents of the packet I am asking you to send me a dollar for and if you try to figure out how I can do it for the money you'll surely get the jim-jams! Nice fresh stamps, practically all 20th Century from Siam, Straits Settlements, Africa, Asia and the Islands of the Seven Seas that have never had a hinge on them but are waiting for you to be the first to stick them in an album. Many are on pieces of original covers and if you want them soaked off add 35c to your remittance—otherwise save that much and have the fun of soaking them yourself.

Don't expect to find the common truck. You'd be tickled half to death at the chance to buy some of the stamps at small discounts for this packet is made up to a standard and not down to a price. Runs strongly to odd values that you don't often see because they are hard to get. Many pretty South Americans, etc.—all genuinely used. I won't even say how many stamps each packet contains but if you aren't pleased just send it back and I'll sell the stamps through my approval trade for at least twice the money. You can't lose.

The supply is limited and I will not sell over 1000 of the packets. They are made right here in the Westfield peach orchard and they are worthy of it. Orders will be filled in the order of their receipt and the first packet will be mailed about September first. For every reader of the WEEKLY who wants one some six or seven others will have to go without so send your dollar early and don't get what the last fellow gets—LEFT. Just ask for a Kangaroo packet. It goes post free for one small dollar. (The stamps will catalog about $5.) See next week's ad for further particulars.

He who hesitates is lost. Now is the opportune time to obtain these interesting provisional surcharges. Many are coming to hand in small lots and are likely to sell for as many dollars as I ask cents. From many cities, on blue, white, amber and buff, Dies A, E, F and H. An albino or double print in every package or will sell these latter two separately at 30c each. A N. Y. and E. O. dealer asking much more.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—I am able to definitely inform our readers that up until July 23rd no decision had been made as to either the denominations or designs for the new Pilgrim stamps. The Post Office Department has suggested to the Bureau what is wanted, and sketches have been prepared. These, I am informed, will be submitted with recommendations to the Postmaster General before August 1st, and he will decide as to what we will have. They will, however, be printed in one color only, as the Bureau of Engraving & Printing has its hands full at present with the numerous bonds, certificates of indebtedness, notes, stamps, etc. To print them in two colors would double the work. It is expected that they will be vastly superior to the Victory stamp, and it is hoped that they will equal, if not surpass, the very fine series issued for the Omaha Exhibition.

There will probably be more than one denomination, but this will rest entirely with the Postmaster General. The bill as it passed the Congress, however, called for a "series", and it is quite likely that this will be interpreted to mean more than one. In such a case, we would have a 1c value which will be printed in green for use on postals, drop letters and circulars, a 2c carmine for domestic letter use, and a 5c in blue to carry the glad tidings abroad. I am sure that the Bureau would like to have the series stop here, and if the department considers the matter from that point of view, it will. We may have a 10c in yellow, or rather orange, for registered mail, to round out the set. Then, too, we should hark back to the time when John Wanamaker was Postmaster General and issued the Columbian series through the $5 value for the collector, as he stated they would buy thousands of dollars worth. And it will be recalled that he was not far wrong. It's up to Postmaster General Burleson, and if he will see that we obtain real works of art, we will forgive him his Victory emission.

The center of attraction still proves to be the ever interesting 2c on 3c provisional envelopes. Mr. G. H. Grinnell, as well as Mr. H. E. Jones, sends new ones from Los Angeles. Mr. Clarence A. Bartlett has located a window type from Philadelphia, while Mr. Arthur Cantrell sends some new ones to add to the ever increasing list from Chicago. Mr. Harry C. Goebel sends a couple from New York, including a high back Die A, which is not met with frequently, as most high backs are Die H. While in Washington this last week, I found on sale a few of one size on extra quality paper. They were surcharging quite a few envelopes while I was there, but I understand these are going to the outlying districts. This new surcharge again differs from any coming from Washington heretofore. I understand that this die will remain in Washington, and will be used to overprint all sent to this city from now on. Those that I reported from Charlotte, from Norfolk and from Danville, were surcharged in Washington.

Since the last chronicle, I have seen

Gen. C. A. Coolidge sends for inspection a copy of the 6c orange aeroplane stamp precancelled in black, reading down, "Detroit Mich." It is self-dom that we meet with the aeroplane stamps precancelled, especially from the larger cities. They were all issued contrary to postal regulations, but it is hard to expect the clerks to keep up with the thousand and one regulations of the department.

Mr. Cassius S. Clay sends a series of the current documentary stamps with the second New Orleans "NARCOTIC" overprint. The surcharge is in black, and all of the letters are capitals. Two values were found with the double overprint.

My attention is being called, by a great number of our readers, to the fact that many of the 1c, 2c and 3c envelopes are coming through the mails with the official penalty overprint. The Post Office Department has been making use of the redeemed envelopes in this way for several years. Here of late the dead letter office seems to be using this type of envelope almost exclusively. Those being used by the office of the Third Assistant Postmaster General generally are sent to the Postmasters.

Mr. J. Harmon Williams sends me about a dozen varieties.

For their kindness in sending me unusual items and calling my attention to new things, I wish to thank Messrs.

ARGENTINE.—Mr. George Soulman has submitted to us a copy of the 12c stamp of the 1917 type, with a very fine rough perforation, and also watermarked all over the stamp with a large sun.

AUSTRALIA.—The Australian Stamp Journal announces that the current 2½d has appeared in a deeper shade of blue (almost indigo). Also, that when the present stock is exhausted, no more postage dues above the 1sh value will be issued, as there is little demand for them.

BAVARIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. and Mr. Otto E. Staehel have shown us the recently issued 2m stamp surcharged "Deutsches Reich" in black and in two lines. The type is the woman standing with an infant held in her left hand.

The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the 4m stamp of the previous issue surcharged "Deutsches Reich" in one line at the base of the stamp, covering the word "Bayern".

BRAZIL.—Mr. Fred L. Onken has sent us a copy of the 500r red brown stamp of a new type. At the top is "Brasil Correio" in two lines, and at the base, "500 Reis," with a man sitting on the top of the globe in the center.

CAYMAN ISLANDS.—We are in receipt of an announcement from the Colonial Postmaster at Grand Cayman, in which he reports that the last issue of War Stamps, 1½d on 2d grey, are entirely sold out, and that no more will be issued. He also adds that the 1½d on 2d orange War Stamps are very nearly exhausted.

CHILE.—Mr. George Soulman submits to us a copy of the 1c revenue stamp of 1900 issue that is being used postally. Mr. Fred L. Onken has shown us the 5p olive green and black, typographed.

COLOMBIAN REPUBLIC.—Mr. L. A. Beebe and Mr. Fred L. Onken have shown us the 1c and 5c stamps of the type A94 with the added "Provisional" in a frame in the plate from which the stamps were printed. These stamps are lithographed and perf. 11.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. and the Coleport Stamp Club have shown us the new set of stamps of this country. The values and colors are as follows: 5h blue, 10h green, 15h red brown, 20h red, 25h violet brown, 30h red lilac, 80h purple, 90h grey black, 100h grey green, 200h purple, 300h scarlet, 400h brown. The first three values show a bird with outstretched wings and "Posta Ceskoslovenska" in a curve through the center of the stamp. An envelope is in the bird's mouth and at the base of the stamp with the numerals of value at each side. The 20h, 25h and 30h type shows a figure with arms outstretched kneeling on the left knee. The words are at the top and the numerals of value each side of the centre. The 80h and 90h show a man standing with what appears to be a cup in his right hand and the words are on the two sides and top with the value numerals in each lower corner. The last four stamps of this set have the value in the upper left corner and the words in a scroll while the image is resting on the left knee and supports a book with the right arm.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC.—Mr. George Soulman has shown us the 1917-19 issue 1c and 2c values surcharged "1920" in red.

ECUADOR.—Mr. George Soulman submits to us for chronicle a copy of the 5c green fiscal stamp surcharged "Casa de Correos Un Centavo" sideways and in black in two lines.

ESTHONIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. has submitted to us for chronicle a copy of a stamp 22x29 mm. size. The frame is of dark blue while the central part is brown. At the top is "70 pen EESTI POST 70 pen". Between the words "EESTI" and "POST" is "85 pen", together with another word that we are unable to make out on account of the blurring of the print. At the base is "15 pen Vigastatud Soduritele 15 pen". The middle of the stamp in brown shows a wounded soldier passing between two platforms with a maiden on each side in the act of presenting him with some gift.

FRANCE.—The following announcement appeared in the London Star on June 14th:—

VICTORY STAMPS.
NEW DESIGNS SUBMITTED BY FRENCH ARTISTS.

The "Semeuse," a female figure scattering grain, familiar on French postage stamps as well as on the silver coinage, is shortly to be supplanted, at all events as far as postage stamps are concerned (says Reuter).

Designs are now being submitted by artists to the Ministry of Fine Arts.

Rarities, High Grade, Standard and Also Medium Priced

EARLIES

of U. S., Canada and B. N. A., and of all other countries are our specialty. We carry, mostly 19th Century in our auctions—we want our customers to buy the good old stuff, with no risks, as a safe investment.

Piles of letters of appreciation are in our possession. If you like to follow the row of satisfied customers, ask for our catalogue. We guarantee full satisfaction to everybody, we give personal service. We are the only concern on the Pacific Coast to hold monthly sales and we are the only auction firm to issue printed reports, sent to each bidder right after the sale.

EARLIES in real fine condition, large specialized collections, bought at real highest prices. Correspondence invited. Bank Account: Placer County Bank, Auburn, Cal.

NEW ISSUE NOTES.

By CHAS. S. THOMPSON.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA.—The current issue has been surcharged in paras and piastres for use in Turkey. It is understood that this issue is on a par with that made by the Russian steamship company which produced all the surcharges on recent Russian issues. (These are listed under Ukraina in Scott.) The following values have appeared: 5p on 5h, 10/10, 15/15, 1pi on 25h, 2 pi/50, 5pi/100, 10pi/200. The three highest values are imperforate.

HUNGARY.—Two new postage-due surcharges have appeared, the 50f on 2f, and the 100f on 2f, green and red.

INGRIA.—Here is another new name in stamp albums. Ingria, or Ingermanland, as it is called in Europe, is a district in Russia belonging to the Government of Petrograd. A set of stamps, evidently of Finnish occupational origin, has recently been issued. These have the same frame design as the current Finnish set, but have the coat-of-arms of Ingria in centre. Above this is "POHJOIZ," below, "INKERI" and figures of value. The following denominations have been reported to me: 5, 10, 25 and 50 penni, each 125,000; 1 and 5 Mark, each 7500; 10 Mark, 1000. My correspondent did not indicate colors, but I take it that they are the same as the Finnish stamps of similar denomination.

MARIENWERDER.—A large number of stamps from this plebiscite district have been received, five varieties being those of the Germania and Post-office types surcharged "Commission Interalliee" Marienwerder in three lines, with new value above in two cases. The others constitute a definite issue of decided, though by no means handsome design, but of decidedly poor execution. They depict a female figure surrounded by the flags of the allies: in front, at her feet, is a ballot box, inscribed "Populi voluntas". This ballot box looks like a coffin, hence the set it called the "sarg" or "coffin" issue in Germany.

Germania type: 75pf green and black, 80pf lake and black, 2m on 2½pf gray, 5Mk on 7½pf orange.

Post-office type: (A17), 1Mk carmine rose.

"Coffin" type: 5pf green, 10pf red, 15pf gray, 20pf orange-brown, 25pf blue, 30pf orange, 40pf brown, 50pf violet, 60pf red-brown, 75pf chocolate, 1Mk brown and green, 2Mk dark violet, 3Mk red. The 5Mk is reported as being ultra and rose, but I have not yet received it.

SCHLESWIG.—A second printing of these stamps has been made in Copenhagen. The shades differ slightly in most values, but the 2½pf is blackish gray instead of pale gray, the 2Mk pale sky-blue instead of deep blue.

SWEDEN.—Three new values have appeared, in designs selected from a number submitted in competition several months ago. The 30 red-brown is somewhat similar to type A13, but the orb is on a solid background, unframed, and figures and word of value are at bottom, "Sverige" at top, in colorless caps. The 50 green figures a lion "passant regardant, dexter", with his "sinister talon" fondling the triple-crown orb. Value above, name below. The 150 claret shows a portrait of the king, "Sverige" above, value to right.

The stamps are perforated vertically only, and are for use in vending machines.

DON'T REMIT IN STAMPS.

We are compelled to decline stamps as remittances on amounts over 50c and urge dealers to make the same rule with their patrons. A dollar bill should be used when possible and any small amount remaining can be enclosed in stamps. Checks or money orders should be used on all remittances of $2 or over.

PARIS

PHILATELICAL DISORDER.

By HARRY E. HUBER.

"The Great Desire," a recent publication by Harper, shows that its author, Alex. Black, has not alone a knowledge of things philatelic, but what, perhaps, is more interesting, the ways of philatelists.

"We were indeed in his secret haunt—a little room corresponding to my own. But it had no look of mine or any other. At a first glance a house-keeper might not feel sure that he had kept war out of it. If there is such a thing as a precise disorder, this nest was an example. You might guess that everything in the jumble was where it was by his appointment. Nevertheless, the effect was of an amazing confusion of books, papers, prints, maps, photographs, cigar-boxes with labels, pasteboard boxes tied with strings, heaps of envelopes tied with strings, plaster casts, pipes and dead clocks. A small part of the table not covered by pamphlets and litter might have been used for the purposes of a writing desk. The chair in front of this had two cushions and a supplemental wad of newspapers.

"Giving me a knife-edged glance, he asked:

"Are you a collector?"

"I hardly thought I was.

"Stamps?"

"Not since I was a boy."

"It would be a good thing for a boy."

"I can understand—" I began.

"That is doubtful," he jerked out. "If you could drop it, then it did not really reach you. Human capacities differ."

"Do you mean capacities or tastes?" I demanded, not too humbly, it may be.

"I mean capacities," he insisted. "Just that. Tastes must have capacity space to grow in. Very likely you think you know something about a thing like stamp study. Yet nothing is more improbable than that you do. It is necessary only to consider what you are not likely to know to appreciate the improbability of your understanding the profound significance of a study like this. You are a professor sort of person, and you may know the difference between a yen and a sen. You may know where the Straits Settlements are, when the Dutch took over Curacao, when Italy broke into the Levant, or that clever old shark Diaz absconded from Mexico. You may know the dialects of Obock, the emblem of the Orange River Colony, the revolutions of Paraguay; be able to count in the krans of Persia, the atts of Siam, or the avos of Timor. You may know Charkhari, and Gwalior, and Hyderabad, and Jind, and Kedah and Perak, and Sungei Ujong. You may know something of the tragedies of Selangor, or Uganda, or Tibet, and Cundinamarca, and a thousand other superficial facts. But the sheer probability of your knowing, without the study of stamps, the deep-laying significance of human evolution, the intricate wonders of race struggle, the spiritual orientation of that poor, faltering, but amazingly tenacious biped, Man—this probability, I tell you, is absolutely negligible."

SOME EASY ONES TO LOOK FOR.

By EARL E. BYRD.

Did you ever start out to find something that you had no particular reason to expect to find, and find it? If you have been badly bitten by the stamp bug you may have had a hunch similar to mine, perhaps the same one,
and that was to find shifts that resulted in double border lines to all the principal varieties of U. S. Stamps. By "principal" varieties of U. S. I mean of the issues of 1847 to 1868, because those issues interest me more than the later ones.

Where my hunch came from I have no notion, for I never had heard of a shift nor a re-entry, but I presume the fact that the catalog mentioned a 5c
New York with extra line at the bottom suggested the idea that other stamps ought to come the same way. At any rate I started in, and of course had no great difficulty in locating the 5c and 10c 47's with extra line at top or bottom or both. Not much fun in this, however, for the varieties are so well known as to have a well recognized market value and about the only way to acquire them
was to dig deep.

The shifts showing double lines in the '51 issues are not so well known, but in course of time I found the 1c with the wide shift across the bottom; the 3c with double outer line at bottom, which is a very obvious variety and harder to find than the "line through Three Cents".
The 5c imperf. of '56, not often found by the hat-full, yielded nothing nearer to an extra line variety than a blurred printing, but the 10c provided the "Evans" shift with distinct doubling of the words in the upper label and a faint doubling of the lines surrounding the corner ornaments; and after long search
the 12c gave me the shift at the bottom, showing strongest in the lower right corner ornaments.

In the 1c, 3c, 10c Type I, and the 12c, of the 1857 or first perforated issue, the same extra lines are to be found as in the '51 issue, though infinitely more difficult to find because these plates were soon discarded in favor of others with wider spacing between the stamps. But the 10c Type II gave me just the sort of variety I was looking for in the shift with double line at the bottom. This shift results in clipping so many corners

from letters in the lower label it is not difficult to identify. If the 24c exists with doubling of any border lines I have not been able to find it, though I have had eagle-eyed individuals try to show me such shifts on the 30c; the yellow ink on yellowish paper makes them too difficult to study out in minute detail.
Need I say that an examination of such copies of the 90c '57 as I ever possessed did not take much time and gave none of the desired results.

But the series of 1861 and 1862 proved
the most promising field of all U. S.
issues for freaks with double border lines. All these stamps are common enough to afford plenty of material for this sort of work, for which superb copies are not demanded. Often I have been laughed at for the disreputable looking "junk" I have at times mounted in my albums, and many a collector has told me I ruined the whole thing by giving place to specimens I regarded as highly desirable. Of course, it is all a question of the point of view, and whether the individual collector finds his philatelic pleasure in studying and poring
over stamps in search of the unusual or in the tasteful mounting of only superb specimens. The condition of the old Coliseum at Rome is not so good as that of St. Peter's, but it is perhaps equally interesting to the student of architecture. Naturally, one prefers to have all his stamps in immaculate condition, but to my mind historical monuments are worthy of preservation almost regardless of appearance. When it comes to a stamp showing, say, a date
in advance of the supposed date of issue, or a marked variation in type, to my mind condition has little to do with its value.

There is, so far as I know, no authentic history of the plates used for the 1861 issue, but anyone starting to study these emissions will soon come to the conclusion that plates of several values must have been re-entered or re-impressed, either because the first impressions were not deep enough or because the plates became worn. There is one other field for speculation and that is the possibility that the plates made up from the so-called "August" dies were re-entered with the "September" designs,

which theory is rather upset by the fact that the 2c Black Jacks show stronger indications of having been re-entered than any of the other values.

In any event those who are interested in double outer-line varieties will find promising material in the 2c, 3c, 10c and 12c stamps of this period. I watched for years before I found the 1c, 5c and 90c with even a faint doubling of any outer lines, and never have found such varieties in the 24c and 30c.

The variety in the 1c shows a clear doubling of the curved line below the lower label.

The 2c Black Jack shows almost every variety of shift one may care to look for; you can have the lower left corner doubled and with more than a millimeter separating the two sets of lines; or the lower right corner in duplicate, or the lines and foliate ornaments across the bottom of the stamp. For myself, I think the most interesting oddity in these shifts is that showing two knobs on the upper left corner. Among the fifty or more shifts known on this stamp many show more or less duplication in these upper corner ornaments, but the one stamp referred to shows two almost complete knobs.

At first I found the color of the 3c made the search for extra lines very difficult, until I found a copy of the unissued 3c lake very clearly shifted across the bottom; then it was an easy matter to find similar shifts in the other shades. By careful looking you will find several varieties showing duplication of the foliate ornaments below the lower label and also a clear doubling of the curved line below the label.

The 5c I class with the 1c as the most difficult double-lines to find, but on one plate at least No. 1 of the upper right pane shows a clear doubling of the curved line below the lower label; the doubling is clearer at the right side.

The 10c green almost equals the 2c in the number of line varieties it offers. Examination of a few hundred copies gave me three shifts across the top, doubled outer lines in the upper right corner, the same in the upper left corner, and a doubling of all the outer lines across the top of the stamp. But what I most wanted was to complete the set with double lines below the label, and, this after six years of watchful waiting, I found in an old specialized collection of U. S. owned by H. F. Colman. This collection had been "stripped" long before I saw it, and about all that remained were a few shifts and double grills which the original owner had valued at such figures they had been passed over. Apparently no one else could see $2.50 worth in this stamp, but I was glad to get it in exchange for the very slight discomposure attaching to owing Mr. Colman that much for it.

Following close behind the 2c and 10c in the number of shifts provided is the 12c black. Aside from the two recognized shifts showing diagonal lines through the upper label, and the letter "E", the 12c will give you full double border line at bottom, full double line at top, and in other varieties, more or less doubling at the sides. The doubled lines at the top and bottom of this stamp are very easily distinguished, as they are of equal strength and clearly separated.

My luck with the 15c Lincoln has been poor, and much eye-strain has shown me only the recorded shift that results in doubling the frame of the lower left corner. Of the three higher values only the 90c has outlines clear-cut enough to show slight shifts, and in this value I have found one stamp with a faint doubling of the left line above the upper label.

It is quite possible, of course, that the faint doubling of these outer lines on the 1c and 90c is the result of imperfect printing, caused by paper curling slightly so that a very faint impression is made before the full weight of the roller falls fairly on the paper.

Prominent shifts in later issues are very few and far between. The "bank-note" issues give us the 1c widely shifted across the bottom; the 3c with foliate ornaments double; the 6c with upper label partly doubled, outlines of "POS" showing quite clearly below the upper label; the 7c Continental, No. 1 of the right pane, showing a very distinct doubling of the ornaments in the lower right corner; the 5c Taylor shifted across the entire top of the stamp. These shifts have nothing to do with the double border lines I started to write about, but are tacked on because I have not seen a detailed list of recognized 19th Century U. S. shifts published in recent years. For the benefit of those in search of such information I append a fairly complete check list of these interesting varieties:

1847, 5c Double line at top.
Double line top and bottom.
Lines of background crossing "O" in upper label.
Left side line double at bottom.
Dot in "S".
Dot in "U".
Dot in "5".
10c Upper line double.
Line through wide stroke of left "X".
Line through wide stroke of right "X".
Line crossing bottom of left "X".
Vertical line through "F" of "Office".

1851-57, 1c Plate 1, second state, shows so many shifts it is impossible to list all of them, but the most sought varieties are: inverted transfers, showing a diagonal line through the center of upper left corner ornament and traces of lettering below the bottom of stamp; double lettering in upper or lower labels; lines of background crossing colorless border of vignette; bottom of stamp shifted and showing a doubling of the design about 2 mm. below stamp; a similar doubling along the left side.

3c Line through "Three Cents".
Bottom line double.
Triple shift, showing triple circle in upper left rosette, and rays of lower right rosette on Washington's shoulder.
Double circles in centers of rosettes.

5c ?
10c "U. S. POSTAGE" of upper label doubled.
10c II Outer line at bottom double, and lower label shifted.
12c Lower right ornament shifted South; bottom line is partly double.

Letters of upper label shifted.
1861-68, 1c Faint doubling of outer line and ornaments at bottom.

3c Various shifts, none so striking as those of the 2c, show-

UNITED STATES 3c 1857-60.

SHADES.

Considering the large quantities printed during the four years the perforated 3c was in use, the variation in shade is not extensive, and most of the variation occurs during the first year and among the Type I stamps. These latter are found in the dull red of the common variety and also in some of the scarcer later shades of the imperforates, such as the rich purplish hue known as plum and which indeed is strongly suggestive of plum color. The coppery shade known as orange brown and the brilliant carmine, both of which distinctive hues are characteristic of certain early printings of the imperforate 3c are not found in any of the perforated stamps. Brownish black and blackish brown shades, however, are quite common, but these are merely due to what is termed oxidation and are easily restored to normal by the peroxide bath. A collector with a keen eye for color can obtain perhaps a dozen fairly distinct shades in which the red is duller or brighter and to some degree suggests rose, carmine or vermilion. Pale tints from worn plates are occasionally found.

CANCELLATIONS.

During the period of its use the 3c stamp represented the single rate of postage for a letter sent within the United States, except to or from the Pacific coast, and hence was most frequently used in single on domestic mail east of the Rocky mountains. Used pairs are not specially common, larger multiples are rather scarce, and blocks are rare, either on or off covers. Altho sometimes employed to make up a foreign rate copies used on foreign mail are not often seen today. Single copies of Type I and Type IIa are scarce unused, and blocks of them, either used or unused, are very rare. Type IIb is common unused and blocks and even full panes are still obtainable.

Among the cancellations found on the 3c those in which black ink was used predominate. Blue is less common and other colors are exceptional. Some offices used one color for the postmark and another for the cancellation, as in Boston, where we often find a red postmark and a black cancellation. Occasionally there was no separate cancellation and the postmark served also to cancel the stamp. As a large proportion of the red cancellations come from such offices probably most of the red cancellations are really town postmarks.

During the life of the 1847 series black cancellations were seldom used because black did not show up well on the black 10c stamp and as red would show on both the 5c and the 10c it was most frequently used. Blue was nearly as effective as red on both of the 1847 stamps and so blue cancellations are not rare in that series. But as soon as the 1851-60 series came into use there was an abrupt change and the red so commonly used before 1852 gave way to black which had been seldom used before that date. Red would not show up so well as black on the red 3c stamp which after 1851 was the denomination in greatest use and from 1852 on red cancellations become increasingly scarce. They would be much scarcer than they are were it not for their use in special cases, such as certain postmarks on foreign mail which for many years were stamped with red ink.

For this reason low value stamps of the 1857 and later series which were used chiefly on domestic mail seldom have red cancellations and red cancellations are relatively less scarce on the higher values because a much larger proportion of the higher value stamps was used on foreign bound mail. The 1857 series is the first series of U. S. stamps on which the postmarks show the year date with any frequency. Year dates are rarely found before 1857, but with that year a number of offices began to use them and by 1861 year dates become fairly common. Not that most post offices used a postmark with year date, or that a large proportion of them did during 1857-61, but that so many more offices used such a postmark during those four years than was the case previous to 1857.

The variety of cancellations found on the 3c 1857 compares favorably with what can be found on the imperforate 3c but is far less extensive than is found on the 3c of 1861-67. There are comparatively few very odd designs before 1861. Various PAIDs, with or without the numeral "3", targets, grids and once in a while a plain or fancy star about covers the range. The harp used in Canton, Mississippi, by a postmaster there who is supposed to have been a musician of Hibernian extraction is perhaps the most famous 1857 cancellation and is certainly one of the most interesting. Numeral cancellations are commonly "3" or "PAID 3" but sometimes show a "5" or a "10" and in the latter cases probably are marks first used by a small office during 1847-51 and retained in use despite the change in rate to 3 cents in 1851 and not finally discarded until many years thereafter. Similar "5" cancellations are found as late as 1879 on the 3c greens.

Mail route cancellations are of great historical and philatelic interest. They include railroad and steamboat lines and indicate their character by the words "STEAM" or "STEAMBOAT", "WAY", etc., or the name of the railroad. They were relatively in much commoner use during 1857-60 than in recent years for at the present time it seems unlikely if more than one letter in each 100,000 mailed has a railway post office, ("R. P. O."), or other route cancellation and if only a similar small part of the number of letters mailed before 1861 had route postmarks or cancellations such cancellations would be excessively rare on the 3c and other values of the 1857 series. Route postmarks on the 3c 1857 are by no means common but they are not 100,000 times as rare as any other cancellation. Possibly they will average about one to a thousand.

WATCH YOUR STEPS.

If you have any varieties of foreign stamps, new or otherwise, that you feel are deserving of mention in the WEEKLY, please forward the same to Mr. Smith, whose address may be found in the heading to our Chronicle.

If it be United States stamps please note that all such should be sent to Mr. Ward, whose address is also to be found in the Chronicle heading.

It will be appreciated by Mr. Severn and Mr. Wylie both if subscribers will note the above disposition of correspondence. It is absolutely impossible for them to keep track of these matters with the many details of WEEKLY work that come in regular order.

POSTAGE STAMPS OF NOVA SCOTIA.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

The 8½ cents value was not ordered until some months after the 1c, 5c, 10c and 12½c denominations, but this is mentioned in the Postmaster General's Report for 1860 together with the other values, viz.:—

"Postage stamps of a new design, and adapted to the decimal system, were obtained with the consent of the Governor in Council, from the New York Bank Note Co., and circulated on the 1st of October last.

The design, color, and value of the stamps are as follows:—

The Queen's Head (profile) black, 1 cent.

The Queen's Head (profile), blue, 5 cent.

The Queen's Head (full face) green, 8½ cent.

The Queen's Head (full face) red, 10 cent.

The Queen's Head (full face) black, 12½ cent.

A supply of 19,000 sheets or 1,900,000 heads, equal in value to $132,000, has been obtained from the above firm, costing for their manufacture and incidental expenses $991.50."

In 1863 the County Postage Act was introduced under which "Letters mailed at any office in the Province for delivery within the county in which the office is situated shall, if prepaid by stamp, be liable to a charge of 2 cents per ½-oz. If not prepaid such letters shall be subject to the ordinary rate."

Mr. King says it did not work very satisfactorily, as so many of the postmasters in the smaller places were ignorant of county limits. A special 2c stamp was prepared and issued to meet the requirements of the new rate, a fact that is mentioned by the Postmaster General in his Report for 1863. He also refers in an unfavorable manner to the change, viz.:—

"To enable me to carry out that part of the Act passed during the last session, in reference to the Post-office, reducing the postage to 2 cents on a letter posted in the county for delivery in the same county, it is necessary to procure for the public convenience a stamp for the prepayment for this particular class of letters. Application was accordingly made to the American Bank Note Company for a supply, and 5000 sheets were procured at a cost to the Department, including the die, of $226.00.

The reduced rate came into operation on the 11th May last, and has yielded for the five months ended 30th September last (as far as I have been able to glean from the returns in my possession) a revenue of $450.00—a less amount, in my opinion, than would have been realised under the higher rate for the same period."

This is the last report of any philatelic interest and closes the official history of Nova Scotia. The Province joined the Dominion of Canada in 1867 and its special stamps were discontinued.

CHAPTER III.

The Pence Issue.

The first postage stamps for the Province of Nova Scotia were issued in 1851, the set consisting of three values—3d, 6d, and 1s. They were engraved and printed by Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co., of London, and are perhaps the handsomest of the many beautiful designs produced by this famous firm. The design is the same for all three values, the stamps being of diamond or lozenge shape with the design set diagonally. In each corner is a small diamond containing the numerals of value, the shilling having the figures "12" indicating the number of pence. Around the outer edges of the stamps, between the corner diamonds, are four narrow tablets inscribed "Nova" at the upper left, "Scotia" at the upper right, "Postage" at lower right, and the value in words at lower left. In the center is a Royal Crown within a small octagonal concave-curved frame. Above the Crown is a rose, to the left a shamrock, to the right a thistle and below a mayflower. The three first named symbolise England, Ireland and Scotland respectively, while the mayflower is the national emblem of the Province. Each flower is surrounded by an eight-pointed star. Around this central design is a white curved line, forming a conventionalized four-leaved flower, probably taken from an English fleur-de-lys. The outer points of the leaves just touch the points of the corner diamonds. The ground work consists of four full-blown eight-leaved flowers, with light dots showing in the centre of each. The flowers are arranged in a square; each flower is placed between two stars of the central design, the whole forming a circle around the Crown. Over these flowers and filling the spaces left by the central design is a delicate tracery of fine lines.

The mayflower shown in the lower part of the design seems to have caused considerable concern to early philatelists and was the subject of much discussion and theorising until 1866, when a well informed botanist wrote to the Stamp Collector's Magazine that:

"It is epigaea repens, and it belongs to the order of ericaceae, or heath family. In the 'Botany of the United States' by Professor Asa Gray, it is described as 'a prostrate or trailing plant, with evergreen leaves and rose-colored flowers, which appear in early spring, and exhale a rich spicy fragrance'."

It is, in fact, the fragrant plant most generally known as trailing arbutus. It is one of the hardiest of wild flowers, its delicate blossoms perfuming the air long before the snow is off the ground.

While these Nova Scotia stamps were engraved and printed by Perkins, Bacon & Co., and the first supply shipped by them on August 6, 1851, direct to the Nova Scotian government, the actual order for the stamps was placed with Mr. Trelawney Saunders, a London stationer, as shown by the Postmaster General's Report for 1852, which we quoted in the preceding chapter.

The actual date of issue of these three stamps was in dispute for many years until, in 1889, Mr. King was fortunate enough to find an advertisement in the Chronicle newspaper for August 30, 1851, which settled the matter beyond dispute, viz.:—

"NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

Postage stamps having been received from England, notice is hereby given that stamps of 3 pence, 6 pence, and 1 shilling can be purchased at this office on and after Monday, the 1st day of September next.

NOTE.—Postage stamps before using should be examined to ascertain that they will firmly adhere (as in the event of their falling off, the letters become charged with postage), they should then be placed on the front of the letter, and upon the right hand corner of the upper side.

Should this direction not be attended to, from the rapidity with which the duty must be performed, letters which bear stamps will frequently be taxed, while the parties receiving them will be put to much trouble in obtaining a return of the postage improperly charged.

In all cases of complaint of any irregularity, the covers of the letters (and contents in all practicable cases) must invariably be kept and sent to the Post-office as affording the only means of investigating the complaint.

A. WOODGATE, D.P.M.G.
GENERAL P. O., HALIFAX, August 25th, 1851."

The stamps were not long in use before it was found that the lack of a 1d stamp caused great inconvenience, as it was required for the drop letter rate in Halifax and also to make up the proper rate on prepaid letters sent to the United States, Bermuda, Newfoundland, etc.

AS SPECIAL BULLETIN for the
AS SPECIAL APPROVALS. The CE line. Reference, please.
Yours for service,

A. A. HYDE
SHERMAN, TEXAS.

The Post-office Commissioners mentioned this matter in their first report
after the Province's postal affairs had been taken over from the Imperial government, viz.:-

"The Committee recommend that the Governor in Council should be legally empowered to introduce a 1 penny stamp, in addition to those now in use, the same being necessary to prepay letters to the United States, Bermuda, and Newfoundland, and to accommodate the people of Halifax; and also to make regulations to secure the safe passage of
money letters."

This recommendation was acted upon
as soon as possible and one penny stamps were issued. The exact date of issue is not known, for the Post-office do not seem to have issued any special notification to the public nor could Mr. King find anything about it in the Government Gazette. The nearest approach to the date is the first requisition for this value made by the Postmaster-General on the Receiver General, who had custody of the stocks of stamps:—

"HALIFAX, May 12th, 1853.

SIR.—I have the honor to request that I may be furnished with a supply of 200 sheets of 1 penny stamps (amounting to £100) for the use of the Post-office in this Province.

(Signed) A. WOODGATE, P.M.G."

In his Report for 1853 the Postmaster General says:—"One Penny postage stamps having recently been received from London, and put into circulation, are now to be had in nearly every Postoffice in Nova Scotia."

Evidently, therefore, this value was first placed on sale some time during the month of May, 1853.

The design of this value was quite different from the others of the series,
and while the stamps are of the same size the design, is set in the usual vertical position instead of diagonally. In a central diamond on an engine turned background, is a portrait of Queen Victoria
wearing a Crown and pearl necklace.
The head is turned slightly to the left so that the left ear is shown, and from this a pendant hangs. The portrait, in fact, is taken from the same source as the one which was used for the first 12d stamp of Canada. In each of the four corners is a small square containing the numerals of value, and around the border, between these squares, are four narrow bands of color inscribed "Nova"
at top, "Scotia" at bottom, "One Penny" at left, and "Postage" at right. The lettering is much smaller than that shown on the other values of the series. The points of the diamond containing the portrait touch the center of each inscribed label, while the diamond itself rests on the large fleur-de-lys, mentioned in connection with the other design, each petal of which contains a half star. The spaces between the points of the diamond and the fleur-de-lys are filled with petal shaped ornaments. Though the design is a handsome one, it would seem that had the portrait been set square and thus given the stamp a diamond shape it would have been more in keeping with the others of the series.

A second supply of 3d, 6d and 1s stamps was ordered in 1857 as shown by the following extract from one of the letter books of the Post Office Department:—

"GENERAL POST OFFICE, HALIFAX.
July 2nd, 1857.

SIR.—The stock of postage stamps procured from England some time ago being nearly exhausted, I have the honor to request that you will be good enough to issue the necessary directions to Mr.
Stanford, No. 6 Charing Cross, London,
for a further demand, viz.:-

10,000 sheets of 3d postage stamps,
value £20,000.
2,500 sheets of 6d postage stamps,
value £10,000.
1,250 sheets of 1s postage stamps, value
£10,000.

Each sheet to contain 160 labels of 3d, 6d and 1s stamps, making each sheet of the value of £2, £4 and £8 respectively.
and to be the color of those affixed on the margin.

The last supply of stamps were furnished by Mr. Trelawney Saunders, who has transferred his business to Mr. Stanford. In applying for these postage labels, therefore, it will be necessary you should furnish Mr. Stanford with your authority to produce the key for opening the box containing the dies, which are now in the possession of the engravers, Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Petch, who are also in possession of a key for the safe custody of the dies.

It is particularly requested that the stamps may be forwarded at as early a period as possible, those remaining on hand being not only nearly expended, but much injured. When making the requisition it would be as well to caution the engravers not to pack the parcels too close, for when they are strictly confined they adhere and become useless, as was the case with some of the packages in the last supply furnished.

I have, etc.,
(Signed) A. WOODGATE, P.M.G.
The Hon. C. H. Tupper, M.D., M.P.P., Halifax."

Mr. King does not think that more than two supplies of the 3d, 6d, and 1s values were ever sent from England.
"The accounts contain but two, there are two only mentioned in the Reports, and there are but two distinct series of shades in the stamps." Mr. King infers that there were more than one supply of the 1d value owing to differences in shade which may be noted. But as only the one supply is mentioned anywhere in official records and the stamp was limited in use to drop letters in Halifax and making up rates to certain places, it seems more than probable that the supply sent out in 1853 was the only one of this denomination.

The 3d, 6d, and 1s values were printed in sheets of 160 and the 1s in sheets of 120. All the stamps were issued imperforate and the paper used was of very even weight and texture, so that no varieties of thick and thin paper are found.
The paper was probably all of an azure
tint originally, but this blueing varies considerably. Possibly some of the varieties are due to fading and others to a combination of the blue ingredient in the printing ink with the original color of the paper.

The 1d varies in shade from a dull
reddish brown to a bright brown red.
The first printing of the 3d was dark blue and the 1857 supply was much paler.
But in both supplies many shades may be found, including one that is almost a true deep ultramarine. The first printing of the 6d was in yellow green and the second supply deep green, and these show but little variation. The 1s as first supplied was in violet and the later printing in reddish violet, though both printings show distinct shades.

Mr. King tells us that "the gum used for the first printing was of a very dark brown color, and of a pliable nature, as even on unused specimens now it does not show any cracks, and it can be bent without cracking." On the other hand the gum of the second printing is "yellowish white and crackly. It is very brittle;
if a stamp is bent the gum cracks all over and in some cases the paper will nearly break."

EMBARGO REMOVED.

The indications are that the French government has removed the ban against the exportation of stamps other than those of France and colonies. We have received parcels from France that indicate that the embargo has been lifted.
There is some satisfaction to know that the old business relations may be established with France.

STOCK STORIES.

The ideas of the world change; what is unwelcome today becomes welcome tomorrow. There is an interesting bit of evidence of that in an amusing incident long forgotten and now brought to light.

When postage stamps first came into use in England, some persons declared that the effigy of majesty was too sacred to serve as a label for letters.

"Have you seen the stamps yet?"
wrote one ardent loyalist in 1840. "This is the greatest insult the present ministry could have offered the queen."

King Ferdinand of Sicily took the matter so seriously that he had a special postmark made in the shape of a frame, so that the officials could cancel the stamps without striking his portrait.— Newspaper.

A FEW SUGGESTIONS.

Inclose return postage on all orders
of less than 50c, or letters of inquiry.
Ordinary courtesy demands it.

Don't wait a month before answering
ads and expect the dealer to have the
goods wanted.

Don't send unused stamps for remittances of over 50c. The dealer loses
at least 5% in cashing, say nothing of bother. They are not legal tender.

Don't expect (unless specifically stated) you are to get picked copies at
ordinary "as they run" prices and the
other fellow take the "left overs".

Remember if you send for approval
goods, every day you retain them in
your possession may lose a sale to someone else. Be prompt with returns.
You expect the dealer to fill orders
promptly.

Please consider the stamp business to-
day as a real business, calling for business ability and capital, and like all businesses deserves a fair return. Co-operation between dealer and collector is absolutely necessary, neither can do without the other. [cow2]

PHILATELY'S WAY.
By GEO. M. MORELAND.

You ask me why I keep smiling
Tho' others are gloomy all day.
I'll tell you, my friend—it's a secret—
Now try it. You do it this way;
When home from the office and worry,
Sit down at the table with ease,
And journey to Stampdom for pleasure—
To Cochon or Spain, if you please.

Far down to the Chilean mountains.
Or through the wild woods of Brazil;
To England or China or Perak,
You wander to any at will.
To ocean-kissed land of Hawaii,
To Mexico-bandits and all—
Or 'mong the wild tribes out in Hejaz,
Or down 'mong the Dutch of Transvaal.

To Africa's wildest of jungles,
To Iceland, Honduras or Hind,
Or Malay or Queensland or Horta,
Or delve in emissions of Ind.
If tiring of foreign, and longing
Back close to your home to be seen,
Just delve in the pleasures and wonders
Of Uncle Sam's issues of green.

Yes, that's the way, boys, to be merry,
And whistle while working all day;
Now try it and see if I'm "yarning,"—
The best is Philately's way.

HENRY A. CLARK.
By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

Henry A. Clark is believed to have been the Clark of Ransom, Clark & Co., who bought the Griggs & Goodwill die in April, 1875. Neither Ransom, Clark & Co. nor any Ransom who can certainly be identified with that firm is listed in the Chicago directories, and Mr. Clark is not listed there as a match manufacturer, but from 1874 to 1878 appears there as a member of Swan, Clark & Co., furniture manufacturers of Philadelphia. Swan, Clark & Co. of Philadelphia succeeded Swan & Clark about 1874 and were succeeded by Clark Bros. & Co. about 1879. Henry A. Clark and his brother, Emory A. Clark, were members of the furniture firm, and the Philadelphia directories give Henry A. Clark's home as in that city from 1872 to 1879, except for the year 1873, when his residence is given as Chicago. No other Henry A. Clark appears in the Chicago directories of the period. It is not known whether the matches were sold from Chicago or from Philadelphia.

The Boston Book gives the following data:—

Die approved, Oct. 27, 1877.
First issued, November, 1877.
Last issued, February, 1878.
210 stamps per sheet (14x15).
440,160 issued on silk paper.

The Henry A. Clark stamp is quite an improvement over the Griggs & Goodwill die, from which it was altered. The Hunt portrait in the central oval is replaced by a circular disk containing masonic emblems. The crescent shaped spaces left above and below the disk are filled in with floriated ornaments. Along the left limb of the compass is "Clark's" and along the right limb, "Best". In two lines in the space between the square and the compass is "The—Match". The T of THE is taller than the H and E and is placed between them, making the word appear HTE. Below the left limb of the square is "Trade" and below the right limb is "Mark" in very small letters. The firm name in the label at the left of the central disk now reads "Henry A. Clark".

The plate was made in New York and all the stamps from it were printed there. The shade is so uniform that probably there was only one printing. The imprint reads "Printed By The—National Bank Note Co. New York" in two lines.

This is one of the most popular match stamps and rightly so, for it is truly handsome and is often found in good to very fine condition. The collector doesn't have to search and wait ten years to obtain a satisfactory copy. It is not known cancelled and copies with gum are not specially uncommon. Probably most of the specimens in existence are remainders or came from a supply purchased from the firm when the stamp was current. This may explain why it is not so rare as other stamps of which far greater quantities were issued. It is not easy, however, to understand why the Henry A. Clark should be scarcer than the green Griggs & Goodwill, of which only about half as many appear to have been issued.

The stamp has varied little in price in the past 33 years. From 1886 to 1900 the Scott catalog quoted it at $1 or 75c and since 1902 it has held steady at $1.25. Sterling priced it one nickel or five cents in 1888, but it is not believed he sold many, or had many to sell, at that low figure. Color, bluish green.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We respect the man who devotes himself earnestly to promoting an idea or plan from sheer belief in its value to those who are banded together through a common collecting impulse. This thought is inspired by the receipt of No. 1 of The Collector's Library, published by A. H. Pike, Buffalo. In this sheet, Mr. Pike tells of the difficulties that beset his path as publisher of the annual number of The Collector's Digest. Copy was sent the printer June 1st, 1919 but the dinged disciple of Gutenberg is still asleep at the switch. For over a year the Lorelei of the types has been singing to Mr. Pike, but now he is disenchanted. He says: "It was not thought practical to get out a 1920 edition, especially ahead of 1919. It is now too late to think of it. So we are planning an edition in 1921." This faith should be rewarded.

—Filatelie Facts is still coming our way, and the publisher, E. L. Church, Raymond, Cal., seems to have the editorial instinct. He says that his paper does not compare with ours but that it looks good to him.

—Stamp Life is about completing its first volume, and the publisher is carefully watching his acorn grow. His persistence bids fair to accomplish a difficult project; and that is to keep a stamp paper going along and not up.

—The Philatelic Nightmare is a new little paper that survives and shows signs of vitality despite its name.

—The Philatelic Disturber is a lively contemporary that is rounding out its first year of publication. It is proud of its record of prompt publication for the past eleven months, a fact on which it may plume itself. The Disturber sees the quainter side of philately and succeeds in ticking the risibilities.

—From Mr. Max Casper, Dallas, Tex., we have received samples of a letter-head and postal card, respectively, handsomely embossed with the seal, in blue, of the American Philatelic Society. Mr. Casper's idea is to provide appropriate stationery for members of the A. P. S., for a consideration.

—Elsewhere in this issue Harmer, Rooke & Co. of London are advertising the catalog of two auction sales to be held the last of September. Many splendid lots are offered, including the entire stock of a deceased French dealer. During the past season this firm made a record total of 47,370 lots sold at auction, an average of one thousand lots per week during the entire season. Wholesale sales are held every three months. Readers interested in auction sales should send for this catalog at once.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from C. S. Davis, Cedric W. Le-mont, Herman W. Boers, Lindsey Brothers, Allan J. Roos, George R. Rankin, and C. Lat. Wilhelm.

—If the party in Bound Brook, N. J., who ordered stamps from Charles W. Parker, Meriden, Conn., and forgot to give name and address will communicate these to Mr. Parker he will be glad to fill the order.

ONLY ONE LITTLE DOLLAR

is all I ask for one of those Kangaroo packets I told you about in my previous ad. Each packet contains between 100 and 200 different clean postage stamps only and will catalog about $5. Stamps cat. under 2c don't count when a Kangaroo is being hatched! Nothing but postage stamps that have done legitimate service in the international mails from the land of the white elephant, the blue baboon, the Bengal tiger, the cunning hippopotamus and perhaps even the home of the famous cherry-colored cat. In short, many odd corners of the world are represented and often by the unusual values you aren't apt already to have.

Practically nothing from Neuropo—or Oldenurope either—but lots of nice stamps from South America, South Africa, Australia, and the East and West Indies. Here's a sample of the stamps that go into the packets. Every packet will have some of them and the value will run just as uniform as it is possible to make it. In many cases from 25 to 100 fine copies of the following are being used:— Argentina 50c and 1 peso of 1908 to 1917.
 Australia 1913-18, up to the 2 shilling.
 Dutch Indies 1912, up to the 50c.
 Japan 1915, 4 sen and 10 sen.
 Nicaragua 1918 surcharges.
 Peru 1917-18 up to the 20c.
 Guatemala 1902, 50c to 2 pesos and 1918, 1p 50c.
 Siam 1915-16 surcharges and 1912, 14s.
 Union of South Africa, 23p large and up to the 1 shilling.
 Malay States (tiger) up to the 8c.
 Uruguay 1912 up to the 20c.

Remember:—I will not sell over 1,000 of the packets and when I get tired of making them up I shall quit even if only 500 or 300 or 200 are made up. If I make only 200 only one reader of the WEEKLY in each forty can have one. Delivery in September. Send 35c extra if you want the stamps soaked.

READ AND THINK

I quote from a letter that I sent a valued client under date of July 31st.

"Your remarks that you are much pleased with your purchase from me of two blocks of the 2c imperforated surface print type I at $3 a block caused my memory to run back a number of months and I cannot help bringing it to your attention at this time simply to show you the inconsistency of the average collector. The fact that a letter is now on my desk from a collector who wants a block at $3 when he knows they are worth $15 adds to the subject.

When I sold you a sheet of the 24c aeroplane stamp with the right arrow at $27.50 you were satisfied for it went above $100 in a short time; when you obtained these 2c blocks that are worth $30 for $6 you were pleased but the one time when you paid me $10 for blocks of the compounds and they dropped to $2 you couldn't get a letter off fast enough to ask what I was going to do to make good and I made good, too, by sending you something that today sells for $30. I certainly do not expect you to send me anything for I was perfectly satisfied with my profit but the next time you buy something from me or anyone else that goes down instead of up give this letter a thought.

Very truly yours,
 PHILIP H. WARD, JR."

Think it over.

PLEASE BEAR IN MIND

that I handle the scarce old issues of all countries, both in fine and ordinary condition. If not too particular about condition, I can offer some real bargains, U. S. or foreign.

I am only interested in buyers having at least $10 to spend; I do not handle new issues or cheap stamps, so if you only have $2 to $3 to spare I cannot accommodate you. Anyone with $25 to $100 (or more) to invest in real, old-time, hard-to-get varieties, please give my approval books the once over, and be sure to inform me which countries you need, U. S., B. N. A., old Europe, S. A., W. I., etc.

UNITED STATES.—Providence, R. I., has evidently received their die for overprinting the provisional 2c on 3c envelopes, for Mr. Harry B. Agard sends us a copy of the revalued envelope that he has purchased at this office. On first glance I was under the impression that this work had been done in Boston, but close examination shows that this is not the case. Only one size has been placed on sale as yet.

Mr. H. M. Norton, who sent us the first of the St. Paul surcharges some weeks back, now kindly favors us with five new varieties, all on white. While they have quite a few of the 3c envelopes on colored paper in St. Paul, they have not as yet started the overprinting of them. The St. Paul type, by the way, has the vertical lines closer together than any other that has come to my notice as yet, although Seattle and Des Moines are somewhat similar. Each of these dies are cut separately by hand, hence their minor differences.

The Hilton Stamp Company, as well as Mr. Richard Friedlander, send new ones from San Francisco and these too are on white. Mr. Arnold Hermann as well as Mr. George P. Smith have sent me some new varieties from New York with the first type surcharge, while Mr. Smith as well as Mr. Clarence A. Bartlett have located several new items from the Quaker City. It seems that every trip to the post office produces new varieties and it is suggested that our readers keep in close touch with their home office.

Since my last chronicle I have seen:—

Mr. A. A. Bartels sends for inspection a very curious envelope, namely, the 2c circular type, Die H on white, Size 13, Wmk. 20, showing two distinct colored embossed impressions. One of these is located in its proper place in the upper right hand corner of the envelope, while the other is slightly below. I recall chronicling some months back other double impressions, namely, one envelope showing an impression of the 1c in green and 2c in red and another which showed the 2c and the 3c each in their proper colors. These may be considered as printer's waste, but they came back along with the regular envelopes and are certainly entitled to standing accordingly.

FENNELL STAMP CO. INC., 520-521 FULLERTON BLDG., ST. LOUIS, MO.

James and Benj. Cadbury, have called my attention to the fact that in my July 17th installment of the "Coil Stamps of the United States" I have transformed my list of plate numbers used for the "Coil Stamp" plates. The list given for the 1c are those of the 2c and vice versa. My rough proof shows that my list is correct, but I will take the blame for incorrectly transcribing my notes, although I will bet a good Havana cigar Mr. Jewett's assistant was the one that stayed out late the evening before.

I wish to thank the following gentlemen for notes of interest: Messrs. Ernest Irion, Carroll G. Alton, Herbert C. Hansen, Edwin H. Draper, C. T. Kryner and R. H. McAllister.

BATOU.—We have just had advices from Messrs. Bright & Son that they were in receipt of a new issue of the British Occupation on Palm Tree type, in entirely new colors. They are as follows: 1r red brown, 2r pale blue, 3r rose, 5r deep brown, 7r yellow, 10r green, 15r violet, 25r scarlet, 50r deep blue, with error "P" instead of "B" in British, one stamp on a sheet of 308 top row, fourth stamp from right.

BAVARIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the 80pf blue of the last design overprinted "Deutsches Reich" in two lines in black in the same manner as other values described in recent issues.

BELGIUM.—Mr. A. Brun calls attention to the fact that the so-called reprinting of the 1f and 2f, King Albert with helmet type, has so far not materialised and the two stamps will be the scarcer for it.

BULGARIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us copies of the 2s, 5s, 10s, 15s, 25s, 30s, 50s and 2l of the 1919 issue and the 1l of the 1911 issue together with the 3l of the 1917-18 issue surcharged with an additional 1/2 of their value in black which they inform us is for the benefit of the homecoming prisoners of war.

CZECHO SLOVAKIA.—We are informed by Mr. Victor Seitz that he has just received No. 4 and No. 46 surcharged "S O 1920" in two lines in black.

DANTZIG.—Mr. A. Brun advises that the current stamps of Germany, viz.: 5, 10, 15 lake, 20, 30 and 50pf, 1m lithographed, 1m25, 2m, 2m50 have appeared surcharged in black "Danzig" in gothic type.

FRANCE.—Mr. W. Ward informs us that, owing to great quantities of the War Orphans' stamps being left over, in consequence of the indifferent sale (chiefly the 35c by 25c, 50c by 50c, and 1fr by 1fr), it is the intention of the Government to overprint them with the original postal value (35c, 50c, &c.), for sale at the normal postal rate.—Stamp Collecting.

GERMANY.—Mr. Benj. Cadbury has shown us a booklet pane with four 20pf and 2, 15pf stamps thereon. The 15pf is of a new shade, a fine soft plum color.

The Economist Stamp Co. has submitted to us for chronicle the 1m green and the 1m brown surcharged "1.25 M" and "1.50 M" respectively in black and in one line. The former values are obliterated by ornaments over the original printings.

HUNGARY.—Another Hungarian rhapsody is in process of composition, the motif this time being a royal one; for it is stated that the Government of Hungary has grown tired of being a republic, and are going to revert to the nominal autocracy of a kingdom, to signalize the restitution of which they are going to reintroduce that little word "KIR"

SOCIETY PHILATELIC AMERICANS.

The convention at Pittsburg after having been called to order, heard the President's address as follows:

"This occasion is a very great one, for if this meeting means anything it means a commemoration of the embodied spirit of friendship and righteousness. It is a pleasure indeed to convene in the City of Pittsburg, the great 'Steel center of the East', and I trust that we shall be a potent factor for Philately largely in proportion to the way in which we make it evident that our attitude is due, not to inability to defend ourselves, but to genuine repugnance to wrong-doing, and a genuine desire for self-respecting friendship with our brother Philatelists.
I look forward with hope to increasing the already good feeling that exists in the S. P. A., and I think the S. P. A. is to be congratulated on what they have accomplished in the direction of Philately, for with an organization as with an individual the most important things are those of the household, and not only have the officers so ably fulfilled the requirements of their offices, but many of the members and individuals have done some good for the cause of Philately and the S. P. A.

It is a pleasure, as President of the
S. P. A., to extend our hearty appreciation of your very kind and generous hospitality in receiving us in your splendid midst, and I know as Pittsburg is a Bulwark to the Nation, so will its people
and its philatelists make for the comfort, pleasure and benefit of the S. P. A. the right to acquire and the undisputed right to hold the memories of this great convention. We are indebted to our Pittsburg friends, and I take this opportunity to thank them personally and on behalf of the Society for their unfailing zeal and energy to do anything necessary to make this meeting a success.

The work of the S. P. A. during the past year has been occupied with the development of details and with perfecting
the Organization. Our Vice-President has very ably fulfilled his official duties during the past year. He not only was a great asset in the preparation of the Convention last year, but has carried with him and imparted it to other members and officers of the Organization the wonderful philatelic influence and atmosphere that helps to buoy up the most inert philatelic feeling. We hope to have him with us many, many more years in the philatelic world.

Our Secretary has just finished another year of work in said office, stabilizing the workings of the Organization, creating the various lines of communication and establishing our Organization in such a way that its bearing upon the right of peaceable majority be protected from the injurious acts of an aggressive minority. The results of his work are a great credit to the Society, and I know I voice the sentiments of many when I say the Society loses a capable man in the office of Secretaryship. However, we shall still have him with us in the office of Treasurer and I know he will continue his active interest as heretofore.

Our Treasurer has been a great asset to the Organization, adding to his and other offices many suggestions that have been carried into effect, thus advancing the interests of the Society as well as individually. We regret exceedingly his inability to continue in said office, and hope that on his return to the East he has fully recuperated from his strenuous official connections during the past years and will again resume his active duties with our Organization. I know the Organization, as well as I personally, wish him Godspeed, and an early return.

Our Exchange Manager has controlled his particular department in a very efficient manner, trying to enforce the requirement as authorized by the Organization, thereby causing very little loss,
if any, to the Society. His own interests have been of great benefit to the Organization and we trust he may continue to increase his receipts in said office as his work continues.

Our Sales Manager has most creditably fulfilled his official duties, and it was only because of his own personal time and attention given this department, mentally, physically and financially, to make this department a credit to the Association, that he has accomplished and advanced its interests to the extent he has today. I personally, as well as any member who has taken advantage of this department, have had splendid, cautious and unlimited attention from our Sales Manager himself. It is indeed unfortunate that the losses having been reported involved such enormous amounts,

and special attention will be drawn to this fact in a later paragraph, wherein our Sales Manager will verify the facts himself as presented to you. This department has been placed on a standard with any such departments of work, and it is only through the shrewd foresightedness of this officer, that same are being recalled.

The Auction Manager has set aside a great part of his time and attention to the Auction sales of the Society, and many of the members have been greatly benefited by using this department with the aid of the Manager. I know that the personal supervision given the sales and the receiving and mailing of them has been very beneficial to the participant
as well as the department and the Society generally.

Our International Secretary has been of great assistance to the Society generally as well as many of the members individually and especially since mails have become more normal, enabling the members and brokers to enter into the Foreign markets again. This office requires much discretion on the part of the officer and I know our Secretary is capable of handling it in every detail.

Our Attorney very ably and discreetly handled matters of a technical nature,
legally advising the various committees,
as well as many of the individual members who had matters of a serious nature for correction intervening them and some other individual of the Organization, and great credit is due him and the Society generally for having the services of such a capable man.

Our Counterfeit Detectors, who were always ready and willing to administer any service when the opportunity presented itself, alienated, to a large extent, public approval, and have helped the Organization to the extent of keeping it on a standard of beneficial, advantageous, educational, industrial and healthful atmosphere, and have played a great and important part in the Organization.

Our Publicity Manager has used much care and discrimination in the publicity of his work and that of the Organization and Philatelists, and has brought to many readers news of much interest and benefit to them. The Organization needs the services of men for Publicity to keep awake the daily happenings of Philately. The Organization is greatly indebted to our Manager for his work in this particular department.

Our Librarian, although not active in philately to the extent of his undivided interests, still maintains his department of the Society with splendid system, causing absolute commendation for worth, and recognition of the Society.

Our Assistant Librarian has been particularly active to the extent that the Organization needed him and his services, and his reports monthly to me have been a source of great comment. His services have been noted with great regard and we are now glad to have him be still more active in the office of Secretaryship, and know the Society will greatly benefit by his work.

Our Trustees have acted in their official capacity whenever called upon, and their decisions in all of the matters referred to them have been of equal and fair decision, for the mutual benefit of all concerned. The appreciation of their work is shown by all who came in contact with them.

The Chairman of the Recruiting Committee has been in constant touch with the rest of the officers and members of the Organization and has helped materially to solicit new members and reinstate old ones and help build up the Organization for better and more good.

those who served the Organization in every patriotic capacity during my term and hope that my services were of some value to the Organization.

During the past six months I have entered in real estate investments to such a great extent that my undivided time and attention must be given them, and in order not to harass any of my philatelic affiliations, I hereby notify you of my last term of office in said Organization, if again elected, and hope to give it my entire time and attention that is necessary to promote the interests of the Organization until such a time that my office will expire.

However, should the S. P. A. see fit to appoint a new President for the coming year for my unexpired term I shall be glad to be relieved from said office, but I want to fully realize and feel that my successor will continue the office with as keen if not keener sense of the work that has been done by myself, and realize that it is not only an honorary position but a great 'Labor of Love', and with that knowledge in mind and the work at heart, it is indeed a very interesting and pleasant office for a good live-wire.

I therefore offer to you members and friends of the S. P. A. my sincere thanks for your great appreciation of my work, and if I have caused any offense individually or collectively I sincerely apologize and hope that it is understood that my intentions were for the good of all.

Wishing you all, individually and collectively, a most successful year, and that your efforts will grow greater and greater for the growth of the S. P. A."

Yours fraternally,
CLIFFORD W. KISSINGER, President.

The Secretary's Annual Report in part read:

"It is with no small degree of pleasure that I am able to present this, my seventh annual report as Secretary of the Society of Philatelic Americans. While keenly regretting the unfortunate circumstances which make it impossible to present this in person, still I am sure that a goodly number of the active members are present and represented, so the welfare of the future for us is assured.

We have a right to feel proud of our achievements during the past year. The issuance of the Society's Year Book incorporating both years' proceedings has brought us up-to-date and fulfilled our promises. The prompt issuance of the Stamp Herald with our reports each month is a matter for which we owe them our gratitude.

We have weeded out those members during the past year who were not thoroughly interested in the Association, and I am able to report 1,113 paid up members in good standing. I feel that these 1,113 members form a basis once again to bring the S. P. A. to its place as the largest stamp society in the world. It seems a shame that the S. P. A. had to lose many of its most active members and officers during the war; but we can feel thankful that during my present term of seventeen months as Secretary no stone has been left unturned by me or any of the other officers to build the S. P. A. up to its old life of activity and usefulness.

The grim reaper has taken from us six active members:—

- 1303. Maj. Pierre C. Stevens, Berwyn, Maryland.
- 2022. Austin Lewis, Morgan Farm, Beloit, Michigan.
- 1195. D. J. McDermott, Reading, Pa.
- 1847. Theodore Kendall, Reading, Pa.

3200. Kenneth Damon, Williamsburg, Mass.
 1124. Earl E. Boyd, Watertown, N. Y.

President Kissinger and the various officers have at all times stood ready to be of any possible assistance to the Secretary and I take this opportunity to express my appreciation.

In closing this report, I wish you a most successful convention, and am sorry that it is impossible for me to be with you.

Respectfully submitted,
C. V. WEBB, Secretary.

THE CONVENTION.

The 1920 convention of the Society of Philatelic Americans was held in Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 4th to 7th. Headquarters were at Hotel Schenley while the meetings were held in Lecture Hall of Carnegie Institute, a block distant.

The official business was dispatched in routine manner, many important matters were discussed and among those adopted were: the dues were made $1.20 per year, initiation fee, 25c; subscription price of the official organ, The Stamp Herald, 50c to members and $1.00 to all others; Minneapolis, Minn., selected for the 1921 convention city.

The following officers were elected for the coming year:—President, C. W. Kissinger, Penna.; Secretary, Samuel Bennett, N. J.; Treasurer, C. V. Webb, Ohio; International Secretary, J. Stern, N. Y.; Sales Manager, Harry S. Swensen, Minn.; Exchange Mgr., E. T. Wallis, Indiana; Auction Mgr., M. Ohlman, N. Y. C.; Counterfeit Detector, A. H. Weber, Calif.; Attorney, L. M. Lang, Penna.; Publicity Mgr., P. M. Lawrence, Penna.; Librarian, W. R. Ricketts, Penna.; Asst. Librarian, Geo. Kemp, Ohio; Trustees, C. M. Tyler, Penna., J. Bassler, Wis., and V. W. Rotnem, Minn. For Official Organ, The Stamp Herald, Indianapolis.

The exhibition of rare stamps and valuable collections was of special interest and we give the list of awards as follows: Class A, United States, postage stamps, revenues and postage stamps cancelled on original envelopes—Gold medal awarded to N. A. Georgantas, Pittsburgh; Silver medal awarded to C. W. Kissinger, Reading, Pa.; Bronze medal awarded to J. M. Stahn, Pittsburgh. Class B, European countries except British Colonies—Silver medal awarded to Richard Blum, Pittsburgh. Bronze medal awarded to O. E. DeSio, Pittsburgh. Class C, British or French Colonies—Silver medal awarded to Wm. Schwarz, Pittsburgh; Bronze medal awarded to Selmar Jansen, Pittsburgh. Class D, South American countries or Asia—Silver medal awarded to C. M. Tyler, Pittsburgh. Class E, Selection of twenty-five rare stamps—Bronze medal awarded to Wm. Schwarz, Pittsburgh; Silver medal awarded to Wm. J. Price, Pittsburgh. Class F, Collection of proofs, essays, curiosities and forgeries—Bronze medal awarded to N. A. Georgantas, Pittsburgh. Class G, Collection depicting special study in U. S. Stamps, Bronze medal awarded to N. Hagenauer, Pittsburgh.

The program included the usual group photograph; an auction sale in two sections; a lecture by Mr. N. Hagenauer on "Arrows, Guide Lines and Plates of U. S. Stamps," which it is hoped to have printed in booklet form, and a banquet on Saturday evening attended by nearly forty members and their wives, at which C. M. Tyler acted as toastmaster and remarks were made by C. W. Kissinger, Harry S. Swenson, E. T. Wallis, Adam E. Daum, J. M. Stahn, N. A. Georgantas and N. Hagenauer.

The WEEKLY acknowledges with thanks receipt of letters and clippings from several friends in attendance.

FOOCHOW PROVISIONAL NEUTRALITY.

These rare stamps are being forged so extensively by Chinese in Foochow, and are sold here in Shanghai to inexperienced collectors and visitors in such large numbers, that it is an urgent necessity to give a description of these forgeries in order to protect those to whom they are offered. The best protection, of course, would be to purchase these stamps only from an undoubtedly reliable source, but many collectors seem to be unable to resist the temptation of acquiring what they think might turn out a good bargain, with the result that they are taken in.

Comparing the first character from the left of the genuine stamp with the forgery, it will be noticed that the first vertical stroke at left is too short in the forgery, while in the original it very nearly touches the top horizontal line.

The second character from the left has in the forgery the horizontal rectangle too near the top of the vertical stroke, and at the foot of the vertical line there is a kind of swelling which does not exist in the genuine stamp. The second character is also much too close to the third character at its right in the forgery.

The third left-hand character composed of two parts, affords us much the best test of all. In the forgery the first part of this character is quite different from the original overprint. In the original the first vertical line is short, and the second vertical line long, while in the forgery the first is long and the second short. The second part of the third character has at its upper end a small vertical stroke. This line is in the forged overprint in the middle of the vertical stroke, while in the original it is nearer to the vertical line below it.

The fourth composite character from the left (first right-hand one) does not call for any special comment; besides, it contains a further test which I do not wish to give away.

The above notes were published by me for private circulation last year. Some time afterwards new forgeries appeared, in which the fakers have endeavored to correct their previous mistakes, and they are therefore the most dangerous of all. The stock of unused 3c stamps must have run out, and the swindlers have therefore fallen back on the 4c, 5c and 10c blue postage due, which have so far been seen by me, and besides a dollar stamp with forged postmark, 17th Feb., 1912. The best test for these frauds is the right-hand character which at its upper end has a small hook, which in the genuine overprint extends beyond the right side of the small square immediately below it, while in the forged overprints the horizontal line of this hook is too short, and therefore does not extend beyond the right vertical line of the small square below it.

The left-hand character has its first vertical line still too short, as described previously.—Stamp Collecting.

JANUARY, 1880.

Mr. J. F. Ritter, Englewood, N. J., sends the following review from Harper's New Monthly Magazine for January, 1880:

"Our American boys and girls who have added the collection of postage-stamps to the traditional pastimes of hoops and marbles, dolls and baby-houses, will scarcely recognize their new amusement by the hard name of 'Philately', with which it has been christened. Still, we can assure them they will not find it any less pleasant as a recreation or more difficult to master on that account. It is as easy and as engaging as ever, and forms an intelligent indoor amusement at least as harmless and more instructive than many of their old-time diversions. We are therefore disposed to cordially welcome a volume* which is a comprehensive collection of all the facts connected with the issue of government postage-stamps, illustrated by nearly fifteen hundred facsimile engravings of all that have been issued to this date."

U. S. POSTAGE STAMPS AS NECESSITY WAR MONEY.

By HENRY RUSSELL DROWNE.

In the early part of the Civil War the prospect of a long struggle between the North and South caused the people of the North to hoard their money. Gold, silver and copper money in circulation to the extent of many millions of dollars, disappeared in a comparatively short time as if by magic. In consequence people and tradesmen found themselves without the means of carrying on the smallest money transactions without great trouble and inconvenience. This was in part due to the desire of the timid to save something of actual value from the threatened wreck of the Union, and to the foresight of the avaricious to hoard what might soon command a large premium. Trade actually suffered severely for want of small change and even stage, street car and milk tickets were temporarily pressed into service. This resulted in the voluminous issue of the well known "shinplasters" and "copper-

*Large amounts of silver coin were exported to Canada and South America, and a premium of from 10 to 12 per cent. was offered for small amounts by business men who desired it for convenience in making change.

*Promissory notes of small value, generally from one cent to one dollar, issued by merchants, institutions and corporations, redeemable either in goods or in stated amounts at their place of business. The term "shinplaster" originated in the days of the War of the Revolution when the Continental currency had become almost worthless.

heads," but there was an intervening period before the engravers. Lithographers and die sinkers found occupation, when on account of the immediate necessity and for want of a better medium, postage stamps, of the issue of 1861, were used as a substitute for small change.

It was only natural that in the early days of the great emergency attention was directed to this only remaining issue of the Government that represented money, and people unhesitatingly accepted even this flimsy substitute as a circulating medium. Unfortunately postage stamps were not adapted to stand the wear and tear of barter and trade and it was soon apparent that they would stick to anything else, just as readily as they would to a letter. (Excerpt from an old song)

"The till I keep here in my pocket so safe,
I light up my kerosene lamp;
At daylight I put up my shutter so tight,
Then go in to count up my STAMPS."
E. Harrigan.

The writer well remembers his rather telling of the difficulties encountered, during the winter of 1861-1863, in trying to pay his six cent fare in a Broadway stage on a cold stormy night with postage stamps. He described the trouble arising when change had to be made and how when the driver tried to pass back the change through the little hole, high up in the front of the stage, where you pulled a bell to attract his attention, the stamps would stick to his wet woolen gloves and were hard to pick off; and you occasionally had to make him put his hand back a second time to get them. Sometimes, also, they fell and were lost in the straw on the floor of the stage, and when wet you had to hold them carefully until they dried, before you could put them in your pocketbook. This was an exasperating method, but was the best substitute then in sight. The stamps used for money became quickly soiled and defaced, and for their better protection, as well as for convenience of assembling them in stated amounts, little envelopes to hold them were made.

Unfortunately this method, adopted in a hurry to help people out of their difficulties, did not prove an entire success, for the stamps could and would stick to themselves as well as to anything else, so their career covered only a brief period of time. They had their day, passed away quickly and have now been long forgotten.

The custom of using envelopes for stamps seems to have been confined almost entirely to our large cities and after several years of careful search the writer has so far located them in New York City, Albany, Brooklyn and Jersey City, but he has been informed that some few were made and used in Philadelphia.

The denominations found by the writer are as follows: 10, 13, 15, 20, 25, 30, 50 and 75 cents. Those for 25 cents are by far the most common, about half as many are for 50 cents, and a quarter for 10 and 75 cents, and the 13 cent in only one instance.

Denominations were frequently altered on the envelopes with pen and ink, and several issues have the space left blank so that the value of the contents could be filled in. The writer has so far been able to list ninety separate issues of different designs which can be summed up briefly as, patriotic 15, stationers 29, theatres 7, business, etc., 25, nameless 16 and home made 1. The following is

*Metal tokens issued to take the place of cents during the Civil War, 1861-1865. Many bear the Indian head copied from the small United States cent, patriotic and other designs were also used in great variety. They were made principally in 1862, and their use was prohibited in 1863. The term "copper-head" applied particularly in the early days of the Civil War to Northern sympathizers with the Confederates.—Loyal persons.

*The Postmaster General in his report of December, 1862, says, "In the first quarter of the current year, ending September 30th, the number of stamps issued to postmasters was one hundred and four million dollars; there were calls for about two hundred millions, which would have been greatly sufficient to meet the usual demand for the year. This extraordinary demand arose from the temporary use of these stamps as a currency for the public in lieu of the smaller denominations of specie, and ceased with the introduction of the so-called 'postal currency'."

Mr. Thomas Cunningham in an article published on page 75 of the American Journal of Numismatics for 1893, states "the New York Central Railroad utilized postage stamps by enclosing various amounts in small envelopes which were used as change." The writer has never met with any of these, but without doubt this statement is correct.

It seems useless to attempt to enumerate or describe those that bear no names whatsoever, as their general character is similar to the others. Some of the envelopes have denominations on both back and face, the majority are marked U. S. or United States Postage Stamps, but in some cases only the name Postage Stamps, P. O. Stamps, United States Stamps or U. S. Stamps is used, and a few bear only the denomination. There are also some that have peculiar titles, as for example:

"Uncle Sam's Change", on Chris. O'Neill and Pettit & Crook.

"Legal Currency", on Harlem & N. Y. Nav. Co.

"U. S. Official Documents", on Hamilton Johnston.

"Government Currency", on Reuben Scovel.

The greatest variety and the largest quantity appear to have been issued (twenty-five varieties having been listed and on one set alone we find the denominations 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 50 and 75 cents) by the stationer, J. Leach of 86 Nassau St., New York City, where this business is still conducted.

Patriotic designs with flags, eagles, shields, etc., were numerous. The portrait of Washington appears to have been the only one used, and has been found in only one instance (by Hamilton Johnston). They were variously printed with black, blue, red and green ink on white, amber, lemon, pink, orange, violet, blue, pale green, buff, manila and brown paper; but for all this red, white and blue, that is red and blue ink on white paper, seems to have been the most popular combination. There was no elaborate work employed in their manufacture, wood cuts and electrotypes seem to have been generally employed, although the majority were only type set and all show evidences of having been hastily made and printed. When assembled, however, there is a marked variety and they make a novel and attractive collection.

The metallic "Encased Postage Stamp" has been enthusiastically collected for many years, but these envelope containers, which preceded even these, seem to have escaped attention, and have now almost entirely disappeared. In Newport, R. I., on July 4, 1862, notes were issued by William Newton & Co., for 5 and 10 cents, each note having stamps pasted thereon—thus for example the five cent note in possession of the writer has two one-cent and one three-cent stamps, and the ten cent note has three three-cent and one one-cent stamps. Designs were also made for similar 25 and 50 cent notes, but none were ever issued. In only one or two instances were any notes of this singular character, combining a printed bill with the value pasted on in United States postage stamps, known to have been issued.

It is quite evident that the necessity which caused the use of postage stamps as a substitute for money, resulted in the issue of the United States Fractional Currency and the caption under which it first appeared, "POSTAGE CUR-

Nassau St., New York City

THIRTY-FIFTH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE AMERICAN PHILATELIC SOCIETY, PROVIDENCE, R. I., AUG. 10-12, 1920.

The majority of the officers and members of the American Philatelic Society arrived in Providence during Monday, Aug. 9th, and the afternoon and evening were spent in renewing former friendships and getting acquainted with new ones in the spacious parlors of the Narragansett Hotel, which was the official headquarters of the convention.

The first business session opened at 10.30 Tuesday morning, with President
H. H. Wilson presiding. The feature of the opening session was the announcement of the result of the election for officers for the fiscal year conducted by mail ballot.

The election results were as follows.
President, Dr. Carroll Chase of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Vice Presidents, Robert C. Munroe, John W. Prevost and H. P. Atherton, all of Springfield, Mass.; International Secretary, Eugene Klein of Philadelphia, Pa.; Secretary, Dr. H. A.
Davis of Denver, Col.; Treasurer, J. E.
Scott of Detroit, Mich.; Directors at Large, H. B. Phillips of San Francisco, Cal., and Alvin Good of Cleveland, O.

Committees to function during the present convention were also announced by H. H. Wilson, the retiring President.
These include, with their membership:
Finance, R. W. Smith, F. H. Mason and
George A. Bell; sales, P. M. Wolsieffer, August Vollman and J. C. Hof-stetter; library, H. A. Diamant, Henry Lord and A. D. Slater; branch societies, Alvin Good, Hugh Clark and Rev.
C. C. Silvester; resolutions, C. E. Severn, Dr. H. A. Davis and A. W. Bach-elder; by-laws, H. H. Wilson, W. C.
Stone and F. H. Burt; next convention,
C. F. Heyerman, Percy McG. Mann and
J. B. Leavy.

The session was welcomed briefly
by Robert S. Emerson, President of the Rhode Island branch of the society, who introduced Edwin O. Chase, President of the Providence Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Chase welcomed the 120 delegates to the city in the name of the chamber. He said a few words on the present tendency of people to forget the past and the predominating trait of mistaking pleasure for happiness in remarking on the simple happiness the society members derive from stamp collecting. He explained the reason of his having been chosen to welcome the convention by speaking briefly of the progressive work of the Chamber of Commerce, and told his audience that the next time they convened here, Providence hoped to have the pleasure of welcoming them in its new Biltmore Hotel.

A motion to present the official wel-comer with a "packet of 1000, all different," met with the unanimous approval of the delegates.

The session was mainly devoted to the reading and passing to appropriate committees of the various yearly reports.

THE PRESIDENT ADDRESS.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., August 10th, 1920.
Fellow-Members of the A. P. S.:

This is the thirty-fifth time our Society has met in annual convention which is a record that any society may well be proud of.

When I took office a year ago I found the society more or less disorganized by the death of President Scott. In addition to this two of our most important officers had resigned, Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer, our efficient Sales Superintendent for so many years, and Mr. Joseph
B. Leavy, Editor of the American Philatelist, who refused to serve any longer at the meagre salary of $100.00 per year which is the amount specified in our By-Laws.

Several months elapsed before Mr.
Guest who succeeded Mr. Wolsieffer qualified, and in the meantime the work of this department was at a standstill, causing much dissatisfaction among our members. We were fortunate in securing a successor to Mr. Leavy, Mr.
Stone agreeing to serve regardless of the small salary, and I think the society owes a debt of gratitude to him for the efficient manner in which he has carried on his work.

I shall be greatly disappointed if at this Convention the salary of the Editor is not increased to a sum more in keeping with the responsibilities that belong to and go with this position. I

ANNOUNCING

Something New War and Europe Packets

In Popularity, Attractiveness and Value-for-your-money, this series of packets is only excelled by our general War Collection which, of course, includes War Issues of nearly every country.

As the name suggests, the following contains European War Issues, including Austria, Belgium, Bosnia, Czechoslovakia, Estonia, Hungary, Latvia, Poland and Roumania. In addition, many stamps issued during the War are put in. This means that you get some very good "Boys," as the issues came and went in rapid succession. Many stamps advanced in value at the same speed.

Finally, you get treated to a real representation of the numerous Revolutionary, Succession, and Plebiscite Stamps which appeared and disappeared during the Armistice, and later.

These packets (except the smaller ones) contain Schleswig and Silesian Plebiscite Stamps; Bavarian Issues used in Germany, and German Stamps in Bavaria; Occupation Stamps from France and Fiume; War Issues from Austria to Ukraine; Stamps with the French, British and Italian Flags used in Prussia (think of it!); together with stamps Big and Little, Perforated and Imperforated, Used and Unused, Three cornered and Four cornered, stamps with the Cross, stamps with the Crescent, stamps in nearly every Language in Europe, in short, stamps which are Interesting, Profitable, and in Great Demand.

What more can we say to "Boost 'em?" Nothing! Your order will be a test. Let's have it. You'll be pleased.

19TH AND 20TH CENTURY U. S. COLONIES.

I am breaking up a superb collection of Canal Zone, Cuba, Danish West Indies, Guam, Hawaii, Philippine Islands and Porto Rico.

believe the members of this society appreciate the fact that we are publishing a very high grade paper and want this standard to be maintained. If so, they should be willing, and I believe that they are willing, to pay a more liberal salary to the Editor.

In this connection I also want to call the members' attention to the small salary paid our Secretary, whose labors have increased tremendously since the sum of $200.00 per year specified in our By-Laws was thought to be sufficient. I believe this matter should also have attention during the Convention and I so recommend.

Regarding our membership, the goal of two thousand set up as a slogan in 1917 seems almost impossible to attain, due principally to the fact that almost every year we are obliged to drop a hundred or more members for non-payment of dues. The increase in membership this year over last is very small, which is a great disappointment to me. Our Recruiting Committee although not appointed until half of the year had elapsed, have worked hard and have secured many new members, for which they deserve the thanks of the members.

At the St. Louis Convention last year two committees, Lookout and Publicity, were added to the list. The former has made progress and I think, should be continued. The latter, however, should be discontinued unless the Society is willing to appropriate a liberal sum of money, which we unfortunately failed to do at St. Louis. Mr. Diamant, Chairman of the Committee, submitted an elaborate plan of publicity to the Board of Directors and asked for a liberal appropriation, but the Board thought that this matter should be referred to the next Convention and so nothing has been accomplished during the year. I therefore recommend that unless we are willing to finance this project properly, that this Committee be discontinued.

In turning over the office of President to Dr. Carroll Chase, I feel that the Society in honoring him has honored itself, and I sincerely hope that under his direction much more will be accomplished than has been during the past year. In closing I wish to express my appreciation of the honor conferred upon me and also to thank all of those officers who have helped to carry on the affairs of the Society during my term of office.

A feature of the report reading was that presented by Eugene Klein of Philadelphia, the counterfeit detector the past year, who startled the society with a revelation of clever counterfeiting of Danish stamps that is being carried on by a resident of Germany. Mr. Klein had with him samples, which the German advertises as "half-originals." We reproduce the report in full:—

REPORT OF COUNTERFEIT DETECTOR.

1318 Chestnut St., Phila., Pa.,

August 7, 1920.

To the Officers and Members of the American Philatelic Society,

Gentlemen: From August 15, 1919, to date 370 stamps were submitted to me for examination. Of these 162 were originals, 68 counterfeits, 22 reprints, 31 forged overprints and cancellations and two faked grills; also, 85 stamps presented for classification.

There is considerable interest in the stamps of the near East, especially Egypt. There are excellently done forgeries of the 1888 issue postage due, both perforated and imperforate, which are frequently offered as genuine stamps and sometimes as reprints. The inner frame enclosing the value consists of three parallel lines, a thick line in the middle. Part of this thick line on the right side extends beyond the corresponding line at top and touches the upper frame line in the originals. In the forgeries this short line is lacking and the frame lines appear to be regular. I submit for your inspection forgeries and originals, also a diagram in which the difference is indicated.

Many new stamps have been issued in Europe during the last two or three years which have found their way into collections and which, according to recent information received, appear to be unauthorized. Several of the West Ukrainian and Hungary surcharges seem to come under this category. Issues like the Russian West Army and Tirol seem to be devoid of philatelic value. However, time will clear all.

My attention has been called to a German forger who produces wonderful errors in postage stamps and rarities in cancellations. In answer to an advertisement by a member of our Society asking for his specialty, which happens to be Denmark, a letter was received which I give in full translation as follows:

"Referring to your advertisement I take the liberty of sending you a sample selection of interesting stamps on approval and I hope to be able to furnish you other interesting stamps. According to your advertisement you purchase originals as well as forgeries. Since you particularly seek cancellations of Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Schleswig Holstein, old German States with Danish cancellations, or vice versa, I would be in a position to furnish you enormous material in half originals at low prices. As you will see by the inclosed samples, I am able to transfer any stamp picture or cancellation from one original stamp to another without hurting or altering the cancellation in any way. I could, for instance, take unused old Danish stamps and transfer to them original cancellations from Swedish, Norwegian and German stamps and vice versa. You understand that in this way it is possible to produce the greatest rarities in cancellations, etc., in half originals. With careful work it is impossible to distinguish them from originals. As you will see by the Thurn and Taxis 30k, the 220 ring cancellation was transferred from a cheap 3k stamp. You will no doubt find many purchasers there for these half originals. The method is new and I could possibly let you have the use of it in the United States. It can be easily learned and you could employ a young man or girl from fourteen to sixteen years old to do the work. As you will see from the samples, it is possible to produce various philatelic curiosities, such as double prints, shifted prints, inverted surcharges and other things very easily; all these are readily sold with large profits. If you are interested in this matter please send me at once a selection of cancellations on common stamps or entire, and I will transfer them to Danish and other stamps. You had better send me the unused stamps along with indications which cancellations are to go on them.

Please pay me in U.S.A. bank notes for the inclosed stamps in case they interest you. I will leave the price to your integrity. For transferring cancellations on stamps that you furnish I will charge you from Marks 5 to Marks 10, depending on the amount of labor involved, providing the order is not less than 200 pieces. Cancellations from entire can be transferred more easily and cleaner, which please bear in mind. Hoping to have your early reply, I remain

Very truly yours,

POSTAGE STAMPS OF NOVA SCOTIA.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

CHAPTER III.

The Bi-sected Pence Stamps.

In 1853 the question of a reduced rate of postage to the United Kingdom was raised and after some correspondence between Her Majesty's Government and the various British possessions it was agreed that the rate of postage between the United Kingdom and all the British Colonies should be reduced the 6d sterling per half ounce.

When the reduced rate became effective in Nova Scotia there was no stamp of the value of 7½d (equal to 6d sterling) for the use of those who wished to prepay their letters. This difficulty was surmounted by the issue of a notice to the public authorizing the 3d stamp to be cut into halves and each portion used as 1½d. The Postmaster-General refers to this in his Report for 1854 as follows:—

"The Imperial Post Office authorities having completed the necessary arrangements for reducing the comparatively high rates of postage charged on the correspondence between the United Kingdom and British North America, etc., the reduced rate came into operation on the 1st August last.

This considerate act on the part of the parent country cannot but be considered as a great boon, especially to the poor man, who can now send or receive his letters by packet for the comparatively small sum of 7½d currency, the single rate of half an ounce. To remedy to some extent the serious inconvenience said to be experienced by merchants and others, in consequence of there being no seven and one-half penny currency postage stamp, by which parties who feel desirous could thus prepay their letters to England, and not wishing to put the Province to any further expense in having another die prepared, I considered it expedient to allow half stamps to be used with those now in use, to obviate the want of accommodation complained of, and a circular was accordingly forwarded to my deputies, and a notice issued to the public to the effect that letters could be prepaid to England by parties using a sixpence, or two threepenny stamps together, with half a threepenny stamp. The threepenny stamp to be cut diagonally, and the half to be equivalent to 1½d."

The threepenny stamp alone to be used for that purpose. This is probably the only instance in which a half stamp was officially authorised as a permanent issue. Other countries have authorised the use of bisected stamps, but only as a temporary expediency while regular ones of the required value were being prepared. But this bisect was authorised and used until decimal currency came into effect—a period of seven years in all.

Although the official notification specifically stipulated that only the 3d value was to be bisected these orders were not strictly adhered to, for both the 6d and 1s values were halved and quartered on occasion, in a similar manner to the corresponding values of other

British North American colonies, and these splits seem to have passed without question. In fact, the practise of bisecting stamps was anything but unusual and custom was perhaps the main factor in allowing them to pay postage, though contrary to official regulations.

Curiously enough, a stamp cut any way but diagonally is a rarity. A list of the cut stamps can only be considered as approximately complete as new varieties are always likely to be unearthed and there are, of course, many in private collections that have never been recorded in the philatelic journals. In the following list we have only given those varieties which have been properly authenticated.

CHAPTER IV.

The Cents Issue.

In 1859 the Decimal Currency Act was passed and the Province adopted a monetary system of dollars and cents similar to that introduced by Canada the previous year. New stamps were ordered bearing the facial values of 1c, 5c, 10c and 12½c, respectively, and these were placed on sale on October 1st, 1860. At the same time the payment of postage by means of stamps was made compulsory and instructions to this effect were issued to the Provincial postmasters, viz.—

"INSTRUCTIONS TO POSTMASTERS.

Any stamps now in use remaining in the hands of Postmasters are to be returned to the head office at Halifax, and the amount to be taken credit for
 in account current for quarter ended 30th September.

All letters which may be posted at your office prepaid by the stamps now in use are to be allowed to pass, as at present, for one month after the system comes into operation. To prevent as far as possible the possibility of a stamp being used a second time, Postmasters are particularly enjoined to be very careful in examining the letters, to see that the stamps are effectually obliterated, either by using the obliteration stamp, or by crossing the stamp with pen and ink.

(Signed) A. WOODGATE, P. M. G."

The 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ c value was not mentioned in this circular for the reason that this denomination was ordered at a later date. It is mentioned by the Postmaster General in his report for 1860, and though the exact date of issue is not known it is probable that this value was issued soon after the others, for a voucher dated October 6th gives details of a payment to the American Bank
 Note Company for the plate of the 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ c and printing 2000 impressions from same. It is interesting to note, by the way, that each of the plates for this issue cost exactly \$100 each.

In 1863 the County Postage Act was introduced making a 2c stamp necessary as explained in our chapter dealing with postal rates. This new rate came into operation on May 11th, 1863, and apparently the new stamp was placed into circulation on that date.

The stamps of this series were most beautifully engraved in taille douce by the American Bank Note Company of New York, and printed in sheets of one hundred arranged in ten rows of ten.

The designs of the 1c, 2c and 5c are of the same type and show a profile portrait of Queen Victoria, facing to the left, on a circle outlined with a heavy uncolored line. In the case of the 1c and 5c the background is composed of crossed lines, while for the 2c there are horizontal lines only. An article in the "Stamp" for January, 1895, gives an excellent detailed description, viz:—

"The face has a calm, good-natured expression. The nose is aquiline and the nostrils clearly marked. The lips are slightly parted, the eye has no pupil
 but the lid is clearly cut. The hair falls over the ear but more than half the lower portion is visible, showing part of the external opening. Above the circle and resting on it, is a heavy curved frame, and on a deep bank of color in the frame are the words 'Nova Scotia.' Below in a similar frame curved around the bottom of the circle is the value in words. A period is placed after the value in the one-cent stamp. Resting on top of the upper frame is a delicate wreath of roses,
 shamrocks and mayflowers and thistles,
 and below the lower frame is a similar wreath of leaves."

The designs of the 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ c, 10c and 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ c values are very similar and show as a central design a full faced portrait of Queen Victoria within a perpendicular oval. The writer already quoted likewise gives an excellent detailed description of these stamps which we cannot do better than quote in full, viz:—

"The circumference of the oval consists of a broad white line shaded at the top, outside of this is a line of color, then a thin white line, and another thin line of color. The ornaments and frame hide the top and bottom, but on the sides another white line shows, tipped by a very thin line of color. In the centre of the Crown is a Maltese Cross with large jewel in centre, and on the right and left a fleur-de-lis. Below this is a row of pearls, then a plain band and another row of pearls. In the two rows about 40 or 50 pearls can be distinguished. The hair is dark and regular, hiding the ears. A pendant hangs from the hair on either side.
 The eyes are small but the pupils are distinct. The eyebrows are light, especially at the outer corners, and are some distance apart. In the necklace about the throat, which consists of two rows of pearls and a pendant, can be counted about 50 pearls. Above and resting on the oval is a ribbon scroll on which are the words 'Nova Scotia.' In the 10 cent stamp the oval rests on a somewhat similar scroll, on which is "Ten Cents", followed by a period. The scrolls are shaded vertically, while the groundwork of the portrait is shaded horizontally. On the left side of the oval just under the upper scroll hangs a rose and thistle. On the right side are the shamrock, rose and mayflower.
 About the ornamental supports above
 the lower scroll are, on the left, shamrock, rose and mayflower, and, on the right, rose and thistle. At the bottom of the 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ c and 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ c stamps in place of the curved scroll is a straight ribbon label the width of the stamp. The corners are not square but curve inward."

The stamps of this series vary but slightly in shade, pale to deep tints being about the extent of the variations.
 Two varieties of paper are usually recognised—white and yellowish—but the yellow tint on the latter may be due to some extent to the color of the gum used. The perforation was the work of a single line machine and gauges
 the characteristic 12 of the American Bank Note Company.

Four supplies of the 5c value, the one in most frequent use, were received from the printers, three lots of 1c, two shipments of 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ c, 10c and 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ c, and only one supply of the 2c. The total numbers sent to the Province were as follows:—

1860—May 29th: 1c, 250,000; 5c, 750,- 000; 10c, 500,000; 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ c, 200,000. Oct.
 6th: 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ c, 200,000.

1862—1c, 400,000; 5c, 1,000,000; 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ c,
 400,000; 10c, 500,000; 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ c, 400,000.

1863—2c, 1,000,000.

1864—1c, 500,000; 5c, 1,200,000.

1866—5c, 1,000,000.

Totals: 1c, 1,150,000; 2c, 1,000,000;
 5c, 3,950,000; 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ c, 600,000; 10c, 1,000,- 000; 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ c, 600,000.

CHAPTER VI.
Remainders.

When Nova Scotia joined the Dominion of Canada and its distinctive stamps ceased to be used, there were a number of remainders of all values except the 5c. These seem to have been entirely forgotten until the early part of 1896 and in May of that year the Hon. W. S. Fielding, then Premier and Provincial Secretary of Nova Scotia, cabled to a well-known English firm asking "For what quantity Nova Scotia stamps of cents issue will you give face value?" The firm in question cabled for particulars of the numbers of each value and in the meantime the lot was bought up by Messrs. A. A. Bartlett and Donald A. King for the sum of $18,000.
The purchasers were asked to give the quantities of each denomination in this lot of remainders but preferred to make a secret of it by stating:—

"We do not feel called on to take the dealers into our confidence and give them details of the number of stamps
we purchased; and so far as the collectors are concerned, we think they will scarcely find any grave cause for complaint, when we cheapen the set to them as we do, and give them that queen of handsome stamps, the 8½ cents, at a quarter the price it has been selling at in the past year, and at the same time we guarantee never to lower the price."

Naturally, as no authoritative figures were published, all sorts of rumors were afloat regarding the number of stamps

in the lot, these ranging from an estimate of 200,000 sets to 52,000 1c, 54,000
each of the 2c and 8½c, 28,000 of 10c,
and 12,000 of the 12½c. The first estimate was much too high and the latter too low, for its face value would be but $10,490 instead of the $18,000 officially given by the Premier in his budget speech made before the Assembly of the Legislature in Yarmouth on February 1st, 1897, viz.:—

"I have now mentioned the principal source of revenue. But there are one or two items of an exceptional character to which I should like to refer. It is to be expected—although I recognise that anticipations in that direction are gradually growing less—that unforeseen expenditures may be looked for. But it does not often happen that we have the good fortune to have a windfall in the shape of an increase of revenue.
During the fiscal year we were in receipt of the sum of $18,000.00 from the sale of postage stamps. In order to acquaint the members of the House with the nature of this transaction I may state that at the time of the confederation we had on hand a number of provincial postage stamps which were withdrawn from circulation, and which remained at Ottawa, being replaced by an issue of Canadian stamps. These Nova Scotia remainders were not considered of any value. But recently, owing to a desire on the part of a large number of persons to possess themselves of stamps as curiosities, it has been our good fortune to be able to add to our revenue to the extent above stated. The transaction was a most agreeable surprise to me, as I feel assured it will be to every member of the Legislature. That any number of gentlemen were prepared to risk such a large sum in a transaction of this character is indeed a matter of surprise. In this connection I would like to say—and I trust that the gentlemen in this House will not require any further explanation upon this point—that when the sale of stamps took place it was accompanied by a proviso that the Government on their part would keep the quantity of stamps secret, and at this moment I have not the slightest information as to the number of stamps which were sold to bring in this handsome sum to the province. I presume that the idea of not making this information public is for the reason that if stamp purchasers throughout the world knew the quantity they could better judge of the value of these stamps; and all opportunity for legitimate speculation would be lost."

The fact that so much secrecy surrounded the actual numbers led to all sorts of wild rumors and there was much discussion at the time as to the real value of the stamps. They were marketed chiefly through the instrumen-tality of two important firms—one in the United States and one in England—by their holders, and guarantees were given that the prices then quoted would never be cheapened. It is interesting to note, however, that the retail values fixed for the 1c and 2c are the same as the catalogue quotations to-day, while the 10c and 12½c are both cheaper and the 8½c can now be procured for less than half the prices quoted 24 years ago!

CHAPTER VII.

Essays and Reprints.

The only essay of any Nova Scotian stamp we have seen described was mentioned in the "Stamp Collector's Magazine" for June, 1863, viz.:—

"The groundwork a minute pattern of white, and two shades of rose color;
the figure 6 inclosed in an octagon in the centre; 'Six', above; and 'Pence', below; 'Nova Scotia', on the left and right sides; and the figure 6 in each of the four corners."

Proofs of the cents issues are not uncommon as is the case with most of the products of the American Bank Note Company. They may be found in various colors and with or without the word "Specimen".

It will interest you gentlemen to see the work of this man, and I am therefore submitting for your inspection a few of the characteristic pieces as follows:

Printed on both sides:

U. S. 1902, 13c

Brazil 1906, 300r

Double Prints:

Denmark 1902, 150 printed over 1896, 100.

Sweden 1886, 20c. This is a remarkably well made piece. The forger no doubt took pains with it.

Surcharge transferred:

Denmark 150 surcharge of 1904 on 150 stamp of 1902.

Cancellations transferred:

Denmark 1896, 85 with Reykjavik (Iceland) cancellation.

Thurn and Taxis 30k with cancellation transferred from a common stamp making this stamp catalogue $12.50 in place of 25c.

You can readily see the possibilities that this man's work opens up before us. Fortunately the forged portions of the stamps are soluble in water and we therefore will have a fairly good test in determining similar forgeries.

Respectfully submitted,

EUGENE KLEIN,
Counterfeit Detector.

A trip to Rocky Point in special trolley cars provided by the Providence Philatelic Society occupied the afternoon.

The evening was devoted to a comprehensive lecture on "The Providence Stamp" by A. B. Slater of Providence, well known for his exhaustive study into the history of his subject and his resulting collection.

A decided tribute was paid to the speaker in the unusual interest manifested in his talk and the stamp collection on exhibit despite an unusually humid evening, which made remaining indoors more than uncomfortable.

After being introduced by Robert S. Emerson, President of the Rhode Island branch of the society, Mr. Slater launched into his subject from the time post offices and stamps first became known. The first Government post office, he pointed out, is on record as having been established in France in 1462 and England 1581, the United States not falling into line until 1710. The first stamp collector, according to his investigations, lived in France in 1660.

The stamped envelope was the forerunner of stamps, he showed, first making its appearance in France in 1653. In May, 1840, adhesive postage stamps were adopted by Great Britain, this nation perfecting the perforated stamp in 1852. The date when such appeared in the United States was indeterminate, he pointed out, owing to the fact that several of the well-known express companies of the period were issuing stamps in this country. The early custom of the Government, as he showed, was to allow different postmasters to issue his own stamps for his sections. Formal recognition of this custom was given to the New York Postmaster in 1845, the United States issuing its first stamps in 1847. Stamped envelopes were issued in New York July 7, 1845.

Having covered the history of stamps from their origin, Mr. Slater discussed the early Post Office in this city which was established in 1844 under the directorship of Samuel Chase, in the Union building on the southwest corner of Market Square, where the Merchants Bank now stands. In that year, he pointed out, a force of six men with the Postmaster was needed to handle the business.

The first Providence stamps were issued Aug. 24, 1846, when Welcome B. Sayles was Postmaster. They were ungummed and had to have their backs covered with mucilage before being put on sale. Postmaster Sayles, to promote their sale, had handbills printed advertising the novelty, and these were given wide publicity through convenient posting and through publication in the Providence Journal. They were on sale only approximately 49 weeks, the speaker pointed out, as United States Government stamps made their initial appearance July 31, 1847.

Mr. Slater devoted considerable discussion to the results of his investigations in tracing the stamps, and the probable whereabouts of those that are still unaccounted for. His talk included a history of the original plate, which he now has in his possession.

Practically the entire second day of the convention was enjoyed with a diversified program when the delegates and friends were the guests of the local Society, whose Committee did its best that all should have a trip ever to be remembered. The day's activities began when the party left the hotel at 8.30 o'clock in the morning for a sail to Newport, where a change was made to special cars which conveyed all to Easton's Beach. Here several hours were spent on the board walk and on the beach and after posing for the usual official group photograph enjoyed an excellent shore dinner in the pavilion.

On board the steamer Mount Hope on the trip to Newport, a brief business meeting was held. Routine business was transacted and reports from committees were heard. In addition several proposed amendments to the by-laws were discussed.

The return to Providence was made by steamer, arriving after 7 o'clock.

At the evening session at 8 o'clock four of the finest stamp collections in America were exhibited in the parlors of the hotel. Robert S. Emerson, President of the Rhode Island branch of the society, showed his collection of United States revenue stamps of the Civil War period. The famous Senator Ernest R. Ackerman collection of United States stamps of 1847 was the centre of interest for many delegates. Considerable interest was manifested in the large exhibit of Roumanian stamps owned by Percy McGraw Mann of Philadelphia and the collection of Providence postmaster's stamps owned by A. B. Slater of this city.

The final sessions of the convention were held Thursday, opening with a business meeting at 10 o'clock in the hotel parlors. At 2.30 many of the delegates enjoyed an automobile trip to Roger Williams Park. The convention closed with a banquet at the hotel at 7 o'clock in the evening. Robert S.

Emerson acted as toastmaster and spones were made by many collectors of note who remained.

It was a largely attended convention some over 170 registering, and a deal of enthusiasm was in evidence next week the WEEKLY will give national news of events both personally otherwise occurring during the convention days.

PAYMENT OF RETURN POSTAGE

It may seem to be a trifle, but the course of a day's mail it means to those who are engaged in an order business. We speak not of ourselves, but on general principle, believing that unintentionally many correspondents are neglecting what should be an ordinary courtesy. When seeking information, which calls for reply by mail, it is only right to stamp and address the envelope should be enclosed. We do this in our own correspondence and feel that in accord with the ethics of business.

CHARLES S. HALE.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

The Chicago directory for 1870 lists
Warner & Hale, coal dealers, at Beach and De Koven Sts. and in 1877-78 Chas.
S. Hale is listed in the coal business at South Chicago. The directory for 1878-79 lists him as a manufacturer at the same locality. No connection between him and Albert L. Hale, president of the Chicago Match Co., has been discovered.

Regarding the Hale stamp the Boston Book states:—

Die approved, Nov. 24, 1877.
First issued, December, 1877.
Last issued, April, 1878.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).
330,000 issued on pink paper.

This stamp was made by altering the Henry A. Clark die. The word "Hale's" now appears over the left arm of the compass in the central disk and "Charles S. Hale" replaces Clark's name in the label at the left. The plate was made by the National Bank Note Co. and all the stamps were printed in New York by that concern. The indications point to only one printing and the color is much like that of its twin, the Henry A. Clark stamp, but the shade of the latter is more bluish. The green ink printed on pink paper gives a most unusual and pleasing effect.

The entire issue cost Mr. Hale just $3,000 net, so it is evident the business was not a tremendous success. If the South Chicago factory had been more successful quite likely it would not have changed hands so often. The reader will note that the Hale and the Henry A. Clark stamps were being issued at the same time and that less than a month elapsed between the dates of approval of the two dies. Apparently many of the Clark stamps, and perhaps all of them, were issued to Mr. Hale.

Like its pretty predecessor, the Hale stamp comes in much better condition than many of the other match stamps and when the collector finds one of them he is apt to find a good one. The centering is not always perfect and the stamp is far from being common, but is not extremely rare and patience is the chief requisite necessary to obtain a nice copy. For many years they have sold around $5 to $6. Sterling priced it at $2 in 1888; the Scott quotations were $3.50 in 1895, $4 in 1896, $6 in 1900, and $8 in 1903. It has held its own successfully ever since. The writer has located between twenty and thirty different copies and possibly there are as many more in existence, so the Hale isn't much rarer than the 6c proprietary of the first issue.

NEW BELGIAN PARCEL POST STAMPS.

By CHAS. S. THOMPSON.

Apparently the entire set of Parcel Post stamps are to appear in re-engraved types, as about a dozen values have just arrived which show very sensible differences from the previously-current stamps. The centime values differ in having the winged wheel complete, and not truncated at the top by the tablet of value. The spokes also are very distinct and in addition, several color changes have been made.

The franc-type has the words "Francs Frank" very much smaller, and the corner numerals are very differently shaped. The abbreviation Fr. following the figure of value in the top tablet has two thin lines under it instead of a thick, framed line and a period, and finally, the corners of the shield (which separates the French and Flemish words for franc) touch the frame line, while in the original type they are a full millimetre above it.

Some of the colors are almost exactly the same, so further changes will likely be made. The 50c, 60c, Fr 2.00 and Fr 3.00 resemble one another very closely, as do also the Fr 1.40 and Fr 10.00.
The latter is so pale as to be almost illegible.

About 500 Stamps

from the land of the white elephant are being used in making up the Kangaroo packets which I am advertising to sell for one dollar. These are mostly Siam Nos. 149, 158, 159, 160, 166, 167 and 168 and give you a fair idea of the quality that it takes to make a real Kangaroo. The packets consist mostly of recent 20th Century issues, all postally used, and unless you already have a large collection you will probably find about $3 cat. value of stamps that you seldom see on 50% approvals and which you need for your collection.

Did you ever try to get the 4c Ecuador No. 207? I am using quite a bunch of these in the packets, and also the 3c black, which you won't find on every huckleberry bush. Also many good stamps from Curacao, the Dutch East Indies, China, Hong Kong, Salvador and the Canal Zone. Hardly anything from Europe, either old or new, and very few from the land of the cherry-colored cat. Briefly, I am trying to make the Kangaroo famous for the next ten years as the biggest value that was ever sold for a dollar. Stamps cataloging 25c, 35c and 50c are going into the packets and there are between 100 and 200 varieties—all yours for less than 1c each. The total cat. value is about $5 and the penny stamps don't count.

Will there be a little Kangaroo in your home next September? The only way to be sure is to order one today.

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents. The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Mr. John E. Lord has sent for my inspection a left plate block of the 2c surface print, type II, perforated 11 from sheet No. 11400, showing every figure etched in by hand. When the plate was made, this number was evidently overlooked and later put in hurriedly, for the work is poorly done and the numbers fall alongside two stamps instead of along one stamp as is the usual custom.

Mr. H. F. Colman has shown me a plate number booklet leaf of the 2c perforated 11, unwatermarked, from sheet No. 10220 in which the stamp directly under the plate number is out of alignment. Such a variety seldom occurs and is caused by the transfer roll not being rocked accurately in place. The pin upon which it revolves may have been loose, or else the man who did the transferring did not have his plate flush against a straight edge. Had the subject been noted at the time it would of course have been re-entered. I have never seen a stamp so badly aligned before, although I have been watching the work of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing for a number of years.

The stocks of the 3c envelopes in the smaller cities are now being sent to different centers for overprinting. Mr. Leon D. Peaslee and Dr. Wilbur L. LeCron send me varieties of the 2c on 3c envelopes which were purchased in Milwaukee but were without doubt overprinted in Chicago. They are, however, varieties which have not been seen heretofore with the Chicago overprint and will be chronicled as new items from the latter city. Mr. H. A. Thatcher also sends some from Sioux City with the same overprint and it is odd that they happen to be Die E, the same as those sold in Milwaukee.

Mr. L. I. Newton, as well as someone who signs his or her name J. G., sends me copies from Buffalo that were placed on sale on August 6th. These were also without doubt overprinted in Chicago where the excess post office help must be large, for they are doing the good work for the cities some miles around.

Offhand I cannot recall any of the really large cities that have not started to sell the surcharged envelopes, with the exception of Detroit. Why this large city which has millions of the 3c envelopes on hand to be overprinted should be left until the last I cannot say unless they happen to have substantial quantities of the regular 2c envelopes in stock. The collecting of these provisional envelopes has certainly aroused considerable interest and hundreds are obtaining them as a side line to their adhesive collection. From an historical point of view they, along with the surface prints, the Victory and the A. E. F. booklets, will rank as the only stamps issued in this country as a direct result of the war.

Mr. A. F. Gamber sends me one of the provisional 1c on 2c postal card which was surcharged in Columbus. These seem to be coming slowly from the different cities. While recently in Washington I saw whole sheets of the postal cards which were surcharged before they were separated. These may have been overprinted at the Government Printing Office where the cards are printed but I am not sure of this fact. So little interest seems to be taken in postal cards that I am afraid that many varieties will come and go and we will not be the wiser.

ALEXANDRIA (French P. O.).—Messrs. Yvert and Tellier inform us that, this office having run out of its current 1c and 50c stamps, and not wishing to create surcharged provisionals, those denominations of the series of the French Office at Port Said are also being used at Alexandria. A very commendable proceeding!—Stamp Collecting.

ARGENTINE.—Mr. Benj. Cadbury calls our attention to the appearance of a new stamp of this country. It is 5c value with red border and rectangular design in blue in centre. It is of slightly larger size than the current low values but oblong placed horizontally. The dates at the bottom are "1820—1920" and imply some anniversary. A small inscription reads: "Creacion de la Baudera Nacional Centenaria de Belgrano."

From the Philatelie Francaise we learn that the stamp commemorates the first centenary of the death of General Manuel Belgrano and the following other values of this set are noted: 5c red, showing the tomb of Belgrano at San Domingo; 12c blue and brown, portrait of the General; and 50c brown and blue, special design.

ARMENIA.—Mr. M. Dicranian has submitted to us a specimen of the Russian 10k on 7k, blue, that came to him on an envelope from Erevan, the capital of this new republic. The stamp shows a new surcharge, 5r right above the first surcharge and at the top is an Armenian letter which the correspondent advises means Armenian Republic.

CONGO.—Mr. A. Brun advises that a new set of four values, for the aerial mail, has just appeared as follows: 50c, orange; 1f, violet; 2f, blue; and 5f, green. All have centre in black, illustrating different local scenery. The stamps are inscribed at the top "Service Postal Aerien" and at the bottom "Postichtdienst", also "Congo Belge" and "Belgisch Congo" at sides. Mr. Brun notes that they are beautifully engraved and printed by Bradbury and Wilkinson, Ltd., of London.

FIUME.—Guest's New Issue Service has shown us the 20c, 25c and 45c stamps of the 1919 Posta Fiume type surcharged "Franco 5" in black on the first two values and "Franco 15" on the 45c stamp. All surcharges are in black and in two lines.

THE SEVENTH PHILATELIC CONGRESS.

A REVIEW.

Now that it is all over one can sit down quietly and consider what alteration (if any) the Seventh Philatelic Congress at Newcastle-upon-Tyne has made to the course of philately.

There is no question but that the North of England Society has done well in reviving the Annual Convention of Philatelists, and the thanks of all are due to them for the splendid way in which the President and Secretary, with their Committee, worked for the entertainment and comfort of the visitors. But looking back dispassionately on the week it seems to me that a little more attention to detail would have obviated one or two rather unfortunate contretemps.

The first thing that struck each of the visiting delegates was the bad placing of the Bourse. To begin with, the room was too far away from the Hotels at which the delegates stayed, and also separated from the Exhibition. Then again it was difficult to find. I met people on Wednesday (who had arrived the preceding Monday) enquiring where the Bourse was being held! And while on this particular part of the Congress I should like to know what happened to the Post Office? A large stall stood there labelled "Post Office" and supporting a post-box, but nothing was obtainable in the way of stamps or stamped stationery. True, the Congress Programme said, "Postage stamps can be purchased at the various stalls," but unfortunately this was not the case, as far as concerned the current issues of the United Kingdom.

Another point in which perhaps a little more care would have avoided annoyance, was in the use of two hotels for the delegates. With a large hotel like the "Station" it should have been possible to have arranged for the accommodation of the sixty odd visitors.

As regards the excursions these are being dealt with elsewhere, but although I was detained in Newcastle on business and so prevented from going on the various tours, yet I gathered from conversation with my fellow delegates that they had thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Here again a little more attention to detail would have avoided a most unpleasant incident. Two prominent philatelists were left behind, although they were in the lounge at least fifteen minutes before the advertised time of departure, and when they went out at 8.30 to enter their car they found that the expedition had set out five minutes early.

However, I had only intended to deal with the actual business sessions of the Congress, and I find my pen has run away with me on other matters. Looking back now at the three mornings set apart for the discussion of the affairs of philately I can only parody the words of Longfellow and say "Something attempted—nothing done, to earn a night's repose." Perhaps I am a bit hard there, since item five of the agenda for the first morning, although it was firmly and rudely criticised, did result in the dissolution of the Permanent Congress Committee, and the appointment of a Permanent Congress Executive Committee, a properly constituted body with power to act. But, oh, the amount of time wasted over hair-splitting! If looks and thoughts could have killed, one or two of the delegates would have been consigned to a gridiron in the infernal regions long before that first morning was over. Of course we all wanted to re-elect the same recording committee as last year, but it was surely waste of time to go on fighting for twenty minutes, the objections of one of the members when he definitely said he would not stand again.

And then the two magnificent papers read at the Wednesday morning session by Mr. P. C. Bishop, and Mr. Benjamin Goodfellow. Why was there no discussion? Hundreds of points arose which should have been thrashed out in full Congress, and yet what happened? The papers were referred to the new Executive Committee for consideration.

And the same occurred on Friday. Mr. F. H. Vallancey read a paper on "Philatelic Propaganda in the United Kingdom," by Mr. D. B. Armstrong, which embodied much of the work which has been done by the Junior Philatelic Society for some years past. Mr. Fred. J. Melville put it to the Congress to consider whether it would not be wise to appoint a Sub-Committee to set up a central information bureau as a department of the Permanent Committee, but the suggestion was at once "gagged", and again nothing was done. Exactly the same fate awaited Mr. Bishop's proposal for an award of Philatelic Merit.

Gathering up all my recollections of Newcastle, one question stares the philatelist in the face and that is, "Of what use is the Philatelic Congress?" If everything is to be referred back to the Permanent Congress Executive Committee for their consideration and necessary action, why should the delegates waste their money and time on long railway journeys and hotel bills, when they might just as well send their suggestions and papers to the Headquarters of the Congress in London and let them deal with it there, themselves staying quietly at home.—Philatelic Journal of Great Britain.

STAMPS OF NOVA SCOTIA.

In the Philatelic Record for November, 1890, a description is given of some reprints which were shown at a meeting of the London (now Royal) Philatelic Society. The 1d is described as in a shade of brown not very like that of the originals, but "the colors of the 3d and 6d, (the latter in dark green) have been very well reproduced". The 1s was not included with these reprints, all of which were on a thin white wove paper quite unlike that used for the original stamps. We cannot trace anything further regarding these Nova Scotian reprints, which are apparently of the greatest rarity, though the history of the corresponding reprints of New Brunswick, first mentioned at the same time as those of Nova Scotia, is well known.

CHAPTER VIII.

Bogus and Counterfeit Stamps.

Occasionally the 3d and 6d stamps of Nova Scotia are found surcharged 5 CENTS or 10 CENTS respectively and it was at one time considered that these were a provisional issue brought out at the time of the change of currency to meet a shortage of cents stamps in one of the country post offices. They seem to have been "discovered" by a Mr. Hechler, a stamp dealer of Halifax, who told a very circumstantial story in the old familiar vein of the stamps having been turned up by an old gentleman who knew nothing about stamps but kept them as curiosities, etc., etc.; but as this same gentleman had also "discovered" some Canadian stamps overprinted SERVICE his veracity was seriously questioned. In fact, nothing in their favor could be discovered and all existing specimens were traced back to Mr. Hechler. Occasionally these 3d and 6d stamps are found with a handstamp reading 5 or 10 cents, but these are only cancellations which were inadvertently applied to the stamps. In the articles of agreement governing the new rates of postage between Nova Scotia and the United States, given in the chapter regarding postal rates, clause 9 specifies that certain marks should be applied on the letters passing between the two countries and this, Mr. King tells us, explains these new value marks to some extent, viz.:—

"Although the clause only calls for 'U. States' or 'Nova Scotia' to be stamped on letters exchanged between the respective countries, yet I have never seen one cover with that inscription alone on it. The commonest form of these inscriptions is PAID 6d on United States letters, and PAID 10 CENTS on Nova Scotia letters. This handstamp is usually found in two lines, PAID above, and the value in a half circle beneath. Other types of these handstamps are not uncommon in either country. I have before me a letter mailed at Providence, R. I., and postmarked 'June 4, 1859', prepaid with a United States 10c stamp of 1857. It has a small, doubled-lined oval stamped on it, within which are the words 'United States', and in the centre of these words '6d'. The stamp is cancelled with PAID in a circle. Although all the stamping on this cover is done in red, yet the ink of the postmark and cancellation is quite different from that in which the 'United States 6d' is struck. The handstamps used may sometimes have been struck on the stamps and thus would make the so-called surcharge; this, however, does not in any way resemble that which would be made by printing. I do not believe in the least in any such variety made by the latter means."

Counterfeits of all values are to be met with but none we have seen can be considered dangerous, for they are only very crude lithographic imitations of the genuine articles. In the early 'nineties, however, a very dangerous forgery of the 6d made its appearance and though it was produced by lithography its general appearance was so good that experts of the time agreed that it might easily deceive the unwary. Mr. C. B. Corwin, the well-known philatelist, wrote the Monthly Journal as follows:—

"It is so good an imitation that the aid of a glass is required and, as well, even with that aid, a very close examination—in order to accurately note the differences. The easiest test is that of a comparison of the figure '6', which appears four times on the stamps; this can be determined by the naked eye, as in the imitation the figures are of a different shape and are less heavy than in the genuine. The eight points of the four stars enclosing the heraldic flowers are more irregularly shaped than in the genuine, and differ entirely in all minute details.

The shading in the upper part of the crown also differs; in the genuine this shading is somewhat broken at the top, while in the forgery it is very regular. The stem of the rose at the top of the stamp in the genuine comes well down in the lower point of the star, and inclines a trifle to the right; in the forgery it ends about half way down the point and inclines to the left.

The white curved line surrounding the central design has a line of color following it in the inside and outside in the genuine; the forgery presents no such line on the outside, and on the inside it is very faint. The differences in this line and in the four figures "6" are the best tests we have discovered, as they are plainly apparent to the naked eye.

We might go on multiplying these tests ad infinitum, as the stamp is of a very intricate design, and the forgery differs from the genuine, in a very slight manner, in nearly every detail; but we think that we have pointed out enough to put philatelists on their guard."

"I will lead
 Thy steps toward my father's house
 Where all Phaccia's nobles thou shalt see.
 There, on the summit of the hill, is built
 Our city, with its proud bulwarks fenced around.
 And laved on both sides by his pleasant port
 Of narrow entrance, where our gallant barks
 Line all the road, each station'd in her place.
 And where, adjoining close the splendid fane
 Of Neptune, stands the forum with huge stones
 From quarries thither drawn, constructed strong.
 —Odyssey, (vi., 308)

What a wonderful, limitless thing, that stamp collection! Limitless, I say, not in the number of bits of paper, not in the shades, the watermarks, the errors and countless other minuta, but in that infinite chain of associations and facts which should link every new acquisition as firmly as does its hinge to your album.

Perhaps you have never cast more than a passing glance at the unprepossessing appearing spaces allotted to the stamps of the Ionian Islands. There being only three major varieties (and for some less costly ones), but if you are a real student of interesting stamps, you will not need a specialized collection in order to enjoy the association, historical, classical and otherwise, of your Ionian trio.

The islands of Corfu, Cephalonia, Zante, Santa Maura, Ithaca, Cythera and Paxo, with their several minor dependencies and fragments, form the group termed collectively, the Ionian Islands, or, as they were at one time called, the Septinsular Republic of Ionia. They lie off the western coast of their present guardian, Greece, and consist mainly of limestone and tertiary beds belonging to the great calcareous formation of Greece. Being extremely mountainous, and in many parts incapable of cultivation, the only crops which are produced in any abundance, are those of currant, vine and olive, which, with the native fruits and sheep herded on the upper slopes, form the principal diet of the inhabitants.

I read from an old volume of the manufacture of wine in the islands at an early date:

"The grapes are left heaped together for many days, and are then squeezed with the skins, at first by the feet of men, and afterwards with a screw. The must is fermented with the old husks of black grapes to deepen the colour. Black grapes and white are mixed together; and little care is taken in any part of the manufacture. The must, when obtained, is put into pig skins, and carried on the backs of mules or donkeys to the towns, where the fermentation is completed, either in casks or in vats of masonry."

The setting of Homer's Odyssey was undoubtedly laid in these islands, forming a fruitful source of interest to the student-collector. But the present barren slopes of Corfu and Ithaca are in marked contrast with "the shaded gardens of Alcinoos" with their abundance of apples, pears, grapes and a variety of other fruits so vividly described in the great epic. Indeed, it would seem that like the dead cities of Egypt, Time has also faded the splendor of Homer's courts.

VIC ROTNEM,

MABEL, MINN.

Our earliest knowledge of the islands dates back to the latter part of the ninth century, probably about A. D. 890, when Leo the Philosopher formed the entire group into a distinct province, giving it the title of Thema Cephalonia, or Seven Islands.

Then came Robert Giscard, who, after subduing the main island, Corfu, would probably have been the founder of a new Norman dynasty but for the intervention of his own death.

From this time on for a long while conditions remained unsettled. The islands passed from one hand to another, even at one time being overrun by the Turks, until in 1809, Great Britain stepped in and gained control of the entire group, with the exception of Corfu, which she did not acquire until later.

Sir Thomas Maitland, nicknamed "King Tom" because of his seemingly autocratic government of the group, was appointed first Lord High Commissioner. But he used his powers only in order, as he saw it, that he might better the condition of the inhabitants. Indeed, he did much to lift them from the state of degeneracy in which he found the masses of the lower class. His system of education worked very well, and his strict sense of justice preserved order.

At that time the coasts and smaller islands were infested with pirates, who used the numerous secluded islets and caverns as places of concealment for their plunder. These, also, he partly exterminated, but as the general idea of the majority of the people, of liberty, seemed to be the liberty to rob and murder and absolute license, the revolutionary fever broke out in 1848, the results of which set the progress of the islands many years behind.

The first, last and only issue of stamps for the Ionian Islands under the British rule, were printed in May, 1859, by Messrs. Perkins, Bacon and Co., and consisted of a 1/2d orange, unwatermarked; a 1d blue, watermarked a large, double-lined 2; and a 2d carmine, watermarked a 1 similar to the 1d watermark. The design consisted of an oval belt enclosing the profile of Queen Victoria, with the inscription "Ionian Islands" in Greek letters above.

Special care should be exercised in purchasing these stamps used on original covers, as quite dangerous forgeries have been made by using the genuine stamps with spurious cancellations.

On the 30th of May, 1864, the Islands were ceded by Great Britain to Greece, causing the stamps to become obsolete. This also accounts for the comparative commonness of the set in unused condition, while it is becoming increasingly difficult to secure used specimens; the three cataloguing, used, a hundred and fifty dollars in the latest catalogue. —Collectors' Journal.

UNSOLICITED

Packet No. 124 entirely satisfactory. I added over 450 new varieties to a previous collection of 2000 stamps.—H. S. Lynn, Pittsburgh, Pa.

I was very much pleased with the War Stamps I received in your 3000 variety packet as I added about 100 varieties to my collection of 300 Wars. It is a splendid packet all through.—R. Speer, Long Beach, Calif.

I added 316 stamps to a collection of about 3200, not counting the envelope stamps—(given as a premium)—I also found many better specimens to substitute for not-so-good ones already in my album. Then I made up the balance of the stamps into smaller packets and sold them to collectors for $3.00. As I only paid $3.25 for packet No. 124 in the first place, my net expense was 25 cents on the deal. I got so much fun looking the pile over (worth a good deal in itself) that I am converted to packets from now on.—F. M. Gracey, Cambridge, Mass.

Received packet No. 126 (2000 varieties at $10.00) in good condition and am very much pleased with same. Another order enclosed.—C. C. Colyer, Altoona, Pa.

Don't Hesitate—Your opportunity is now. Remember the packet must satisfy or we refund your money plus your postage in returning same. Could we be more convincing of these packets sterling qualities? Try one today—acts like a good tonic.

1015 VARIETIES FOR $3.25

Our Leader Packet and a Bonanza at the above price. Selling hundreds of them which is our best advertisement—better than lots of dealers sell at $4 to $5.

Packet No. 124 with Special Premium, $3.25

2000 VARIETIES FOR $10.00

An ideal lot for any collector having less than 7000 stamps. Many small countries, War and New Issues liberally represented at the above price makes it one of the best Emco packet bargains we have offered at this price for some time.

Complete with special premium of five stamps, Cat. $8.75, for $10.00 net.

3000 VARIETIES FOR $26.00

Another Bonanza, especially strong in War Stamps including Poland, Bosnia, Jugo-Slavia, G. E. A. on East Africa and many of the scarce War Stamps. Wide variety of French, Portuguese and British Colonials, etc., etc.

With special premium of stamps cataloging $18.25 for $26.00 net.

NECESSITY MONEY.

PARIS.—Your real Parisian is nothing if not versatile. Paris today is changing the order of things. Instead of doing business on the proverbial shoestring, everybody in the French metropolis seems to be doing business on a postage stamp—or rather, on many postage stamps.

You buy a newspaper on the street. Your change is in stamps.

In a store you tender a 5-franc bill for a 2-franc purchase. You may get three transparent envelopes, each containing 1 franc's worth of stamps of different denominations, or you may get two dirty 1-franc bills and just one packet of stamps. But some stamps you are certain to get.

Down in Les Arles, where the train stops long enough on the way from Nice to Paris to enable passengers to get a buffet lunch, a party of American tourists received in change 1 franc and 50-centime bills issued by the Chambers of Commerce of Nice, Marseilles and Toulon, and several packets of postage stamps. It was a weird and wonderful collection, and it was only by accident that the visitors learned that their Nice, Marseilles and Toulon bills would be worthless to them in Paris.

How do you get rid of all the stamps you get in change? That is simple enough. Watch the plates on which the waiters return your change. It is seldom indeed that you see anything but stamps used for tipping and, if the diners happen to be natives, the waiter need not be a mathematician to reckon up the size of his "pourboire." The frugal Frenchman has it all over the canny Scot.

Tipping Always With Stamps.

A Parisian never dreams of tipping a taxi driver with anything but stamps, and some Parisians so keenly resent the doubling of taxi charges since the armistice that they forget altogether that most of the drivers still need gratuities to enable them to make a living wage.

If you haven't the right change when you go to one of the boulevard stands for a newspaper, the chances are that you won't get your paper. To those who know Parisian tradesmen this may sound incredible, but the fact remains that the dealer frequently passes up a sale rather than attempt to make change for a franc. This same tradesman, not so long ago, would have run a block rather than miss a 20-centime sale. Things have changed everywhere.

A year ago there seemed to be an abundance of silver and copper coins in Paris. But since then the price of silver has advanced and silver coins had almost gone out of circulation before the banks realized that the whole nation was getting up a corner in 1-franc, 2-franc and 50-centime pieces.

The profit accruing to the original barterers in silver coins was small, but French people believe with the British

CHANGES OF ADDRESS.

It takes two weeks to make a change of address. Don't wait until the moment.

And don't bother us with the date in September. Let a postcard do it.

Remember that new stencils, money and two changes are needed. Should we stand that expense?

If you happen to miss a number will try and make it good, but be mind that the air mail is yet infancy.

BROWN & DURLING.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

1c Black, 1c Green.

Regarding this firm, Mr. S. C. Durling, cashier of the Wadsworth Savings & Trust Co., and son of one of the partners, wrote under date of June 21, 1919:—

"Jacob R. Brown and James K. Durling (my father) formed a partnership in 1860 under the name of Brown & Durling to manufacture matches and were in partnership until 1865, when Mr. Brown, who was a half-brother of my father, bought my father out and continued the business one or two years, after which the manufacture was discontinued. The business had no connection with the Ohio Match Co., but my father was a stockholder in the present concern of that name.

Both Mr. Brown and my father travelled over nearly the whole state, especially west as far as Toledo, and as far south as Cincinnati. They would take turns on the road, and one partner would stay at home while the other partner was out selling what he had made previously. An eastern man who had had experience with phosphorous, came through this section and taught the Barbers, my father and Brown, and other parties in this section of Ohio.

Mr. Brown went from here to Mansfield and engaged in the wholesale notion business. He became quite well off and died there about sixteen years or more ago. My father embarked in the clothing business and later organized the Wadsworth Bank of which this bank is the successor. He died eight years ago, leaving a large estate. Both Mr. Brown and my father started without a dollar but had that rugged, honest character and the perseverance that overcame all obstacles.

Regarding the latter part of your letter in which you state that you fear the matches made by Brown & Durling were not so good as those of today, would say I have a small part of a block of matches made by Brown & Durling in 1862, or about 58 years ago. They were discovered in a case in the cellar of a drug store at Akron nearly 25 years ago where they had lain for years, and every one is a good match and you are sure of a light, (even if you do get a little smell), which is not always the case now."

The Boston Book gives the following data about the stamps:—

Die approved, May 16, 1865.
First issued in black, June, 1865.
Last issued in black, August, 1865.
378,000 issued in black on old paper.
First issued in green, August, 1865.
Last issued in green, July 23, 1867.
2,787,500 issued in green on old paper.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).

On June 17, 1865, Butler & Carpenter wrote to Brown & Durling as follows: "The first printing of your plate was in black as you know by those received on your first order. Reference made recently to the question recalls the fact that you expressed a preference for red, pink, or yellow. Be kind enough to state whether you desire us to print hereafter in one of these colors or to continue the black. Our first printing was 2,000 impressions, or 420,000 stamps. Of course you have not exhausted these yet."

To this Brown & Durling reply, under date of June 23, 1865: "It does not make much difference to us now, you may continue the same color or change it to suit yourself if you wish." Finally, before the first printing was exhausted, green was decided upon as the future color, and the next lot were so printed. Out of the 420,000 printed in black 42,000 were spoiled, so that but 378,000 were actually delivered.

The design is an upright rectangle of the standard 1c size bearing a full face portrait of Mr. Brown in an oval. At the top is a curved label inscribed "Inter. Revenue," the ends of which turn back to enclose the letter U at the left and S at the right. "Brown & Durling, Wadsworth, Ohio," follows the curve of the portrait oval. In each lower corner is a numeral 1 partly enclosed by a curved ribbon, the one at the left reading "Friction" and the one at the right reading "Matches." Between them, at the bottom, is a small label inscribed "One Cent." Scroll work with pearls at the corners fills out the design. The frame was evidently used for the Henning & Bonhack stamp later, for it is identical with the latter. The upper part of the frame is also like that found on the Farr, Hotchkiss and 1c Richardson stamps.

The shades given in the Boston Book are pale yellow green, full green and dark blue green, and a few less distinct variations of color can be found. The yellow green is believed to be the earlier color used. A horizontal pair in this shade reposed in the Brown family bible for many years and upon being discovered there was transferred to the collection of a well known Ohio philatelist. One is tempted to recall the old saying that if it is desired to hide anything where it will not soon be found, the family bible is just the place!

Both shades occur either uncanceled or overprinted in black, the blue green stamps being more frequently found with the printed cancellation or "surcharge." Four principal varieties of the overprint have been noted, all being placed horizontally on the stamps, but it is likely many minor varieties and perhaps other major varieties exist. Such information as the writer possesses points to three settings, one of Brown & Durling, February, 1866, and two of J. R. Brown, the latter being in July or August, 1866, and lastly, in February, 1867. These dates would indicate Mr. Brown bought out Mr. Durling sometime between February and July, 1866, instead of in 1865 as stated by Mr. Durling's son.

(c) and the figures of the date are like those on overprint (a). On overprints (b) and (c) the first letter of the month is sometimes lower case and because these two overprints sometimes occur in the same pairs and blocks, they were probably on the same setting.

A few copies of the black stamp are known to exist on silk paper, but as Brown & Durling were out of business several years before either the experimental silk or the regular silk paper was used, these copies can hardly be considered regularly issued stamps. They are on a thin, soft paper much resembling that of India proofs with many dark colored silk fibres distributed through their texture. The ink is a peculiar purplish black quite different from the full clear black of the issued stamps. All copies seen were perforated. No doubt they can be safely assigned to one of the numerous experimental printings which preceded the second issue. The Brown & Durling plate would serve as handily as any other to experiment with since that business had ceased to exist, and in all probability there would never be another order for Brown & Durling stamps.

The green stamp has always been fairly plentiful and for many years good to fine copies have sold at $2 to $3 each, exceptionally fine specimens occasionally bringing more. The catalog quotation has remained at $4 practically all the time for the past 25 years. Considering the quantity issued, the black stamp is surprisingly rare. It has never been plentiful and even copies in the usual imperfect condition are hard to find. The writer has been able to locate less than 15 copies and only three or four of them are well centered and not damaged.

In his 1888 catalog, Sterling priced the black stamp at $50, which price Scott also quoted in 1895. The next year Scott reduced the black to $40 and raised the green from $3 to $4. From 1898 to 1904 the black stamp was quoted at $50, but since 1906 the price has been $25 in spite of the fact that unless the present writer is greatly mistaken, the black Brown & Durling is not more than twice as common as the Rock Island, which is quoted at five times as much. The reader might well bear in mind that raising the price of a stamp does not make that stamp any scarcer and reducing the price does not make it any easier to find. The latter move, however, may help one to obtain a stamp cheaply when good fortune enables him to find it.

"THE STAMP SHOPPE-R."

The Stamp Shoppe at Little Rock, Ark., has just completed a contest for the name of their monthly price list. Mr. M. Ohlman, of New York City, is the gentleman to whom the Hungarian Communist set would have gone but who directed in his letter to The Stamp Shoppe, "If I win give the stamps to some shut-in."

This new list will appear monthly and will, we understand, offer stamps of the better class. Any reader may have a copy sent monthly by sending in his name. "The Stamp Shoppe-R" is the name of the new publication as suggested by Mr. Ohlman.

THE BISHOP "AU REVOIR" DINNER.

Verbatim Report by THE EDITOR.

Some fifty scribes and scribesses, subscribers and philatellites (the term aptly coined for the occasion by Mrs. Terry), and other friends, dined and made merry at the Coventry Restaurant, London, on Friday, July 23rd, with Mrs. Percy C. Bishop in the chair. Though there was merriment, there were loud lamentations too, for the company had come to say "Au Revoir" to Mr. and Mrs. Bishop, and to drink to their health, happiness, and prosperity in their new and, we hope, temporary home in South Africa. The guests included: Mr. H. Ahrens, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Armstrong, Major Austin and friends, Mrs. Bannister, Mr. Sidney Bishop and party, Mr. A. B. Creeke, Miss Creeke, Mr. R. W. Gosse, Mr. A. H. Harmer, Mr. A. H. Harris, Mr. W. B. Haworth and party, Mr. W. Howard, Mr. W. E. Imeson, Mr. Derek Ingram, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Johnson, Mr. F. Kraemer, Mr. Fred. J. Melville, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. J. Readhead, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley Telfer, Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Terry, Mr. A. H. Thompson, Mr. S. D. Timms, Captain and Mrs. G. L. Tinker, Mr. and Mrs. F. Hugh Vallancey, Mr. and Mrs. H. Vincent, and others.

After the toast of "The King" had been honoured, Mr. Fred. J. Melville, rising to propose the toast, "Percy C. Bishop," said:

"Right Reverend and Most Arch Mrs. Bishop.—As a society the Stamp Scribes are unique among philatelic societies. They have no particular objects, and probably fewer rules. If they have any object at all, it is just to dine together once in a while and enjoy the pleasure of each other's company. Perhaps we might adapt those of a certain London Friendly Society, by saying that the primary objects of this mysterious body are the glory of God and the decent interment of its members. (Laughter.)

As to rules, there is only one that I can remember, and that is that there should be no speeches. But you must remember that the Stamp Scribes, as a corporate body, were founded in the days before the Liquor Control Board! However, I will be like the windmill that is run by water, and do my best.

"If perspiration had been inspiration I should have found some to-night, but it really did seem to me fitting that I should be asked to speak about my old friend, Percy Bishop, rather than make a speech. I do feel rather inclined to leave the serious part of the toast to my secondor, Mr. Telfer. Nobody will take me seriously as a rule, and this is rather a serious subject.

"A good many years ago, somewhere not far from this part of London—I should not be surprised that it was no farther away than Islington—a little Bishop was born into the world. Just about the same time a number of the early stalwarts of philately gathered together and founded the society which we now know as the Royal Philatelic Society. I am very glad to say that Percy Bishop and the Royal Society have grown up side by side, and that at least one of the two is to-day in a flourishing condition. Percy Bishop was born with a pen in his hand, and he has wielded it, from the earliest moment when he was taught to hold it in the orthodox manner, largely for the benefit of our interests and our hobby.

"Thirty-four years ago—in 1886, precise—he became editor, publisher, proprietor of his first philatelic journal the 'Philatelic Exchange List,' and the time that has passed since then has never ceased to use his pen for good of our interests, which I hope will continue to do for at least another thirty-four years to come. His first enterprise did not last long. I ran it for seven numbers, and in the seventh number such had been the success of his venture up to that time that the 'Philatelic Exchange List' swallowed up five of its rivals. Five of them amalgamated with it, and possibly that cause the 'Philatelic Exchange' suffered severely from over-digestion. At any rate, Percy once told me certainly neither the editor, nor the publisher, nor the proprietor got a penny out of it; the printer was probably only one who did get something out of it. The history of the 'Philatelic Exchange List' reminds one of the story of one of Pharaoh's fat kine swallowed up the lean kine, and being no fatter quence. Percy then thought better and soon after he consolidated his elic interests, and incorporated my ournal with the 'S.C.F.'

Bishop's main walk in life has ournalism. He has served on the of the 'Evening Post' and the ing News,' was sub-editor of the ing Leader,' and then went back
'Evening News.' He was editor veral of the publications of the amated Press. At the time I first in he was editor of the 'Fortnight-d the 'Heartsease Library.' When ided to give more time to the
, he left the Amalgamated Press,
his work there fell to me. Mr.
p has not only dealt with facts,
are what we look for in a paper

like the 'S.C.F.' but he has also produced fiction light as air. I wonder if the author will allow me to read just a short extract from one of his early masterpieces, which I discovered the other day in looking through an early file of the 'Heartsease Library,' written under his pen name of 'Percival Cooke.' [Mr.
Melville then read portions of a novel-ette, entitled 'Shadows,' apparently a very highly coloured and melodramatic story, the reading of which was heard amid laughter from the audience and blushes on the part of the author.]

IMPRESSING THE PUBLIC.

"But, however much we appreciate these brilliant effusions, the main thing for us is that since those days Percy Bishop has devoted his pen to the interests of philately, and in informing the wide, wide world of the fascination of stamp collecting. No man has had a more facile pen, and a better way of conveying to the public what the charm of stamps really is. It is a very difficult thing indeed to be able to impress an obtuse and sceptical public. But Percy Bishop has succeeded where others failed. To the general public there is very little romance about the postage stamp, and there are still misguided individuals who think that philatelists are only fit for the lunatic asylum; which reminds me of the story of a patient in an asylum who was going to stick a stamp on a letter which he wanted posted. After moistening the stamp it fell from his hand towards the ground.
Just then a cockroach ran along in front of his feet, and the stamp fell right on to the insect, where it stuck. The patient did not see the cockroach; all he did see was his postage stamp zig-zag-ging all over the ground, and finally ran up the wall in front of him. 'That's done it,' he exclaimed, 'I don't leave here for another five years.'

"Now, before I ask Mr. Telfer to support me I have a very pleasant task to perform. As you all know, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop are going away from us.
They are going to Durban, which I understand is one of those beautiful and very rare places where they have yet to kill a man in order to start a cemetery. We are very sorry indeed to part with them, and we only hope that it is only a temporary parting, and that the day is not far distant when, thanks to regular and frequent air service, Durban will not be such a frightful distance as it is now, and that we shall be able to take a trip there on frequent occasions.
"Percy, a good home is worth more than gold, but in these difficult times we have to ask you to accept something that is a little more precious than gold—a scrap of paper, and with it a pen, from which we hope will flow that inspiration that will keep Durban in constant touch with London in the years to come."

The toast was supported by Mr. J.
Stanley Telfer, who said:—

"Most worthy Chairman, dear old friend Percy, Scribes and Laymen,—My old friend, Mr. Melville, is a man of many surprises. He told me, in fact, that he had undertaken this very pleasant task to-night, and that he wanted
my support. Well, as if a man like him would want any support at all. He carries out this sort of thing to perfection, in a most delightful way. He has placed me rather in the position of a picture restorer. You know something of those gentlemen, perhaps; you take them priceless masterpieces to 'restore,'
and they will probably ruin them for
you. That is how I feel about this sort of thing; but I must say this of my old friend Percy Bishop, that he possesses the gift of a wonderful personal magnetism. I know in the days gone by, when I have been sitting in my chair at the office, trying to unravel some problem about a stamp or stamps sent in for sale or advice by somebody anxious to make a huge profit out of it. Knotty problems of this kind do arise frequently,
and I defy even the 'King of Neurope' to solve some of them. Well, often have I been deliberating thus, when Percy Bishop has come in to cheer me up with words of counsel and advice, and it has been just like a breath of fresh air to have his genial company. New ideas come to one under his marvellous personal magnetism.

A LOST OPPORTUNITY.

"At the same time, while our old friend has been a veritable storage battery in this way, I may say that Mrs. Bishop has been the generating station. You know, we English people are rather stolid, rather slow to grasp opportunities, but I ask you to imagine what might have happened if the Government had given Percy Bishop some responsible appointment, say, the Ministry of Transport.
Think what he would have done as Minister of Transport, what ideas, what energy he would have put into it? We should have never been in the muddle
that we are in now if they had done this.

"But to turn from what might have been to the actual present: this is rather a sad gathering here this evening. We are to lose these two great friends, and have gathered to wish them good luck and our utmost good wishes, hoping that events will prove they are only going away for a time. I think I might put our wishes in three forms: health, happiness, and a rapid realization of all they desire. We also trust they will be cured of what they are at present suffering from an attack of—and I am afraid
I have no alternative but to use a German word—what we know as 'Wanderlust.'

"There is a little presentation to be made to our most worthy Chairman, and we have entrusted to Mr. Vallancey this most pleasant task on our behalf. Our little gift takes the form of a box, on which is what I consider to be a very appropriate inscription, and here I am going to anticipate things and tell you what that inscription is. It reads: 'England—Africa,' and the date on which they sail away. Now, we shall not be content, and shall not regard that inscription as finished, until the time comes when we are able to have it completed by the words 'Africa—England—
Home.' (Applause.)

Mr. Percy C. Bishop, responding to the toast, said:—

"Scribes and Scribesses, I do not know how to find words to thank you.
I speak from a very full heart. It is indeed very gratifying to me to have so many old friends around me and to know that I am held in kindly remembrance by many old friends who are not here to-night. At the same time, it is extraordinary that the fame of this little gathering has reached people in places far distant. It may astonish you to know that we have had telegrams from leading people in every walk of life.
If you will allow me to read one or two of these, you will realize how widespread is our hobby and the interest in philately. One of the telegrams is signed 'D. L. G.,' initials which I expect you will all readily recognize. He wires: 'Good luck, may you climb to the mountain tops and see the delectable valleys beyond; I only wish you could take Austen Chamberlain with you.'
The second telegram is from the War Office, from the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, who says: 'I hope you won't find South Africa dull; they tell me it is full of bores. My own experience is that it is an excellent place to escape from.'

"Well, ladies and gentlemen, I again
thank you most heartily for your very kind wishes. I thank Freddie Melville and my old friend Stanley Telfer for having given, with the most amiable intentions in the world, quite a wrong impression of my poor abilities. I have not yet dared to look at this scrap of paper, which I understand represents 55 shekels from 55 subscribers. I am most grateful indeed for this. There are many who are not here to-night who would have been if they could. I only want to say this: neither my wife nor myself have any intention of remaining away from the Old Country permanently. South Africa is a long way

Features—The annual conventions of the two leading national philatelic societies are events of great importance in our sphere, as they are the philatelic demonstrations of the year and may be likened to the "rally" of the political party or the parade that shows the strength of the adherents to a "cause." Latterly, the conventions of the American Philatelic Society have developed advantageously in many ways and for several years past they have reflected the demand for greater efficiency that has been sounded throughout the world of endeavor. While, as a rule, from time immemorial, conventions have been joyful occasions, it was sometimes felt that on the score of real accomplishment, they often were lacking. However, the last two conventions, for instance, have been of a character to merit the approbation of the critical as they made progress of a definite kind and that in a workman-like manner. Those who think that our conventions have not attained a relatively high plane are respectfully referred to conventions held by other bodies,—the comparison between them and those of the A. P. S. will be favorable to the stamp folks. Results now follow the philatelic meetings and though plans are put in operation that through force of circumstances evolve slowly, yet they proceed surely. It is to be said that important measures in hand advisedly are not to be made the subject for open discussion.

Reports—The two committees appointed last year at St. Louis, the Look-Out and Publicity Committees, have not been idle even though a suspicion may have been held here and there to the contrary. The Look-Out Committee having in charge the question of legalizing the use of cuts of U. S. stamps, reported progress and in that one word there was much meaning compressed. The Publicity Committee made its report, which was embric and shorn of all frills, it emphasized the necessity for a liberal cash appropriation with which to carry on the work on a scale that would bid fair to prove effective. The principal recommendation of Mr. H. A. Diamant, the chairman, was that a sum of one thousand dollars be appropriated from the treasury of the American Philatelic Society, provided that at least a second thousand dollars be raised by the committee by popular subscription from the stamp dealers. The proposal evoked discussion on the floor and after the smoke of controversy had cleared away, it was referred to the Committee on Resolutions, Messrs. Severn, Batchelder and Davis. It was apparent that it was not feasible to draw on the stock fund and at Wednesday's session on the boat, the committee reported that the levy be made, under certain stipulations and the question, after some debate, was carried. On Thursday, a special committee, Messrs. Diamant, Batchelder, Clark, Elliott and Severn, presented a scheme for the expenditure of the money; and in brief, it called for the selection of a manager, who, under the joint supervision of the Publicity Committee and the Board of Directors, in effect, would cultivate avenues such as the general press, the branch societies, with their local influence and illustrated lectures, the Y. M. C. A., Boy Scouts, Rotary and similar organizations, as a means of pressing the work. With a fund of at least two thousand dollars, it was thought that a fair test could be made of the possibilities of the plan. The dealers, as the probable direct beneficiaries of the exploitation of stamps in a public way, may make their contributions to the fund created by the American Philatelic Society with the assurance that the money will be spent wisely and properly. The society's object is to promote philately in a broad sense, trusting that its reward may come in time through increased membership and consequently, prestige. Here we may say that the secretary's report showed a healthy growth during the year, with a net gain of 108 members, and 135 applications pending. The secretary did not hesitate to commend the work of the recruiting committee in boosting the numerical standing of the society.

Next—There was no call for a proxy vote and on the selection of the place for the next convention there was no division. The recent activity of Milwaukee as a philatelic center was fittingly recognized by the bestowal of the honor for 1921. It was in 1900 that Milwaukee won its spurs as a convention host and since that time a new generation of philatelists has arisen, and we speak with firsthand knowledge when we say that the city will meet all expectations as entertainers. It is one of the most progressive of cities in a philatelic sense, and its recent philatelic welfare work proves that it can meet any occasion. We take this opportunity to thank the A. P. S. for its tribute to Milwaukee, the city that will take pride in its selection for the greatest event in the philatelic calendar each year. The convention for 1922 undoubtedly will be given to Springfield, Mass., as once every ten years this enterprising city enters the lists; and as 1912 was the year of the last convention held there, Springfield should come into its own next year at the convention. Application was made on behalf of Philadelphia for the 1926 convention, as on that year the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence will be celebrated.

Details—The yearly dues were increased from $1.80 to $2, the subscription price of the American Philatelist having been raised from sixty to seventy-five cents a member. The salary of the editor of the official journal was placed at $300 a year and in this connection it is to be said that the report of the editor, Mr. W. C. Stone, was a most interesting one. The value of the official journal is apparent and plans for increasing the scope of the publication were fore-shadowed. The character of the reading matter in the journal indicated that the publication was receiving the co-operation of those members who had recorded their researches for the benefit of all of us. The ovation given Mr. Stone will inspire him to greater industry than ever, we are sure. The secretary's salary was doubled and now that officer will have four hundred dollars to fritter away on the luxuries of life after paying for competent help at the prevailing high prices. The attendance of members was an even hundred, while guests to the number of 74 registered, making an aggregate of 174. The official photograph taken on the sands at Newport is one of the largest ever taken at a philatelic convention. The Wednesday session on the boat to Newport was interesting to those within ear-shot of the speakers, but unfortunately not a few of the members found it impossible to get near enough the throne to hear what was done. However, it is not to be gainsaid that much business was transacted in a shipshape manner.

Providence—A well-ordered programme was offered by the entertainers of the convention city and every endeavor was made by the local members of the Rhode Island Philatelic Society to anticipate the comfort and convenience of visitors. The accommodations of the hotel at which the sessions were held were taxed and it was not easy to look after the crowds. The receptions, the trip to Rocky Point, the all-day sail and stay at Newport where a "shore dinner" was enjoyed, the trip to Roger Williams Park, the lecture on the Providence stamps by Mr. Slater were all entered into with appreciation. The banquet on Thursday, August 12th, was the climax of the social side of the convention. The president of the Rhode Island Philatelic Society, Mr. Robert S. Emerson, presided as toastmaster, while the speakers were the retiring president, Mr. H. H. Wilson; Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, Dr. Carroll Chase, the new president; Mr. A. W. Batchelder, dealer extraordinary of some years ago; Dr. H. A. Davis, the secretary; Mr. A. B. Slater of Providence and C. E. Severn, editor of the WEEKLY. The speakers were interesting and the banquet, from all reports, was an unqualified success. A reception followed the occasion and terminated the convention ceremonies.

* * *

Various—The report of the counter-feit detector was most significant, and we are glad to have been able to present it to our readers through the courtesy of Mr. Klein, that efficient officer. The Treasurer reported the stock fund at over $5,000, with the insurance fund growing and the general fund not languishing. The Board of Vice-Presidents expelled six members on various charges duly substantiated. The sales manager submitted a promising report which showed that he has the department affairs well in hand. The genus pest, the stamp substitutor, unhappily is not yet extinct. The proxies were never used in a vote and were well distributed. There was no opposition to the ticket placed in nomination some time ago and headed by Dr. Carroll Chase; 484 votes were cast and the following were elected with votes ranging up to 467: President, Dr. Carroll Chase; Vice-Presidents (three) Robert C. Munroe, Jno. W. Prevost and H. P. Atherton, Springfield, Mass.; Secretary, Dr. H. A. Davis, Colorado; International Secretary, Eugene Klein, Philadelphia; Treasurer, J. E. Scott, Detroit, and two Directors at large, H. B. Phillips, California, and Alvin Good, Ohio. There was some discussion over the report of the Assistant Librarian and it was suggested that the contents of the library should be listed for the benefit of members and brought to their attention. The President's Address was received with plaudits and that popular officer warmed to his task of presiding.

Thanks—After resolutions had carried unanimously thanking the members of the Rhode Island Philatelic Society for their hospitality and the newspapers of Providence, especially the Providence Journal, a vote of thanks to the retiring president for his efforts to promote the welfare of the society was given with cheers.

Attendance—The attendance was very representative and we submit the names of some of the visitors in proof of this statement. From Houma, La., came the Greece expert, Jos. H. Pullen and son, and Topeka, Kan., Capt. D. C. Ham-matt. Dr. Davis went from Denver and H. A. Diamant and A. Bollman and sister, St. Louis. Detroit sent confirmed convention attendants, John Kay, W. H. Barnum and wife, C. F. Heyerman, J. E. Scott, J. D. Hubel, C. C. Keller and Karl Koslowski. Chicago contributed B. L. Voorhees, C. E. Severn and F. E. Farnham. Cleveland offered Alvin Good, director. Stanley B. Ashbrook and S. W. Richey went from Cincinnati. Philadelphia claimed Eugene Klein and wife, P. M. Wolsieffer and wife, and Percy McG. Mann and wife. New York's delegation was large and included John N. Luff, Hugh M. Clark and wife, M. Ohlman and wife, Duncan S. Wylie, J. A. Ritchie, A. Krassa, Edgar Bradford Nelson, and the two presidents, incoming and outgoing, came from Brooklyn, and so did Henry C. Needham. Senator Ackerman came from Plainfield, N. J., and Elliott Perry from Westfield, N. J. It was comforting to see our old official stenographer, Frank H. Burt, in place. The attendance from New England and neighboring states was large and rolled up the mark to an even one hundred.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—At the banquet at Providence, August 12th, those present received a steel ruler and millimeter gauge with the compliments of the Rhode Island Philatelic Society.

—We have to thank Eugene Klein for particulars of the First International Congress of Postage Stamp Dealers in Zurich, Switzerland, September 4th, 5th and 6th. This gathering will be an important one and it will emphasize the international commercial spirit among dealers to the advantage of all of us. We shall give further details in the next issue.

—L. Dworkovsky, ex-President of the Michigan Stamp Club, gave a talk on the war stamps of Poland at the meeting of the society held August 8th, at the club rooms. He spent six months in Europe and collected over two thousand stamps, many in pairs, strips, blocks and sheets and covers. Many rare surcharges and special issues were shown, making it a wonderfully complete collection.

—Through the courtesy of Mr. H. A. Diamant, St. Louis, we have received an envelope carried on the first trip of the St. Louis-Chicago regular air mail service. The special cancellation reads "Aeroplane Station No. 1, Aug. 16, 1920, St. Louis, Mo., Aviation Field." We understand that a special cancellation was used on the envelopes that left Chicago on the first day for St. Louis.

—The absence of the editor at Providence for a week was responsible for some delay in attending to correspondence, which for this time of year is abnormally heavy with all stamp folks, we understand.

—From the Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman we have received a copy of his statement in the House of Representatives on the tax question which has received so much attention and approval, it may be added, in the newspaper press of the country.

—It was estimated by a statistician who was present at the A. P. S. Convention that the value of the stamps shown there was actually nearer a million dollars than half that figure.

—One of the English directories presents a picture of "the late Edgar Bradford Nelson." As Mr. Nelson was in attendance at the A. P. S. Convention in the flesh, it pains him to have to disagree with his English friend who would do him mortuary honor, but he does think that the report at least is premature, thereby varying Mark Twain's greatly exaggerated objection.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from John H. Feeman and Walter Hartman.

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith)
W. Somerville, 44, Mass.

NOT ONE CENT OF PROFIT!

The stamps which go into the Kangaroo packet for which I ask you to send me one dollar cost me not less than 100 cents! That is why I charge 35c extra if you want me to soak the stamps off the little pieces of original envelopes on which they come to me. I am not selling these packets to make money but to make you remember the Kangaroo packet for the next ten years.

If the advertising of the Kangaroo has seemed a bit over-enthusiastic to you, discount it 50% and the packet will be still twice as good as you should expect for $1. It would be easy to make the packet twice as big or to make it catalog twice as much for the same price but it would then be the kind of a packet you would just as soon forget. The Kangaroo contains 100 to 200 different stamps cataloging from 2c to 25c or 35c or 50c each and will total about $5. I've taken pains to tell you what kind of stamps it contains so there's no need of going over that again. Read the previous Kangaroo ads.

The number of packets is limited. I am likely to quit at 500 and may quit sooner. But I shall protect the fellow who sends his order and his dollar from way out west if he doesn't wait, and the nearby fellow who waits till the last minute will probably get his dollar back. And if any customer wants to sell me back his packet for $1 within 5 days of its receipt by him I'll be glad to accommodate him.

Buy a Kangaroo. Take out $1 to $2 net worth of stamps for your own collection, and sell, swap or give away the rest to start or help some other collector. Good business. The way I feel today this will be the last call. Send me that dollar.

PLEASE BEAR IN MIND

that I handle the scarce old issues of all countries, both in fine and ordinary condition. If not too particular about condition, I can offer some real bargains, U. S. or foreign.

I am only interested in buyers having at least $10 to spend; I do not handle new issues or cheap stamps, so if you only have $2 to $3 to spare I cannot accommodate you. Anyone with $25 to $100 (or more) to invest in real, old-time, hard-to-get varieties, please give my approval books the once over, and be sure to inform me which countries you need, U. S., B. N. UNITED STATES.—Mr. George M. Brack has kindly sent for inspection a cover carried in the inaugural flight of the Chicago-Twin City Air Mail Service. The envelope is one of the official penalty kind without stamps and was sent by the Postmaster of Saint Paul from Chicago to Mr. Brack in Saint Paul. The letter left the former city according to postmark, which, by the way, is the regular one, and not special for the air service, on August 10th at 7.30 A. M. From a penciled note I learn that it reached destination at 2.50 P. M. Rubber stamped upon the cover is the following notation.—"Delivery of this letter expedited one business day by Air Mail." The envelopes were specially prepared for this trip, for in the lower left corner we find printed in two lines, "Inaugural Flight—Twin Cities—Chicago Air Mail Service."

The letter from Postmaster Otto N. Rath enclosed calls attention to the fact that this is one of 30,000 letters which reached Saint Paul on the first flight of the officially designated Twin-City-Saint Louis via Chicago Air Mail Service. It connects at Chicago with the Trans-continental line from New York to San Francisco, thus saving fourteen to eighteen hours.

Mr. E. J. Gifford sends a very interesting illustrated clipping from the "Saint Paul Pioneer Press" of Wednesday, August 11th, giving a full history of the event. A crowd of about twelve thousand people witnessed the arrival at 1.38 P. M. of the giant Martin machine which had left Chicago at 6.45 A. M. The plane arrived at La Cross at 10.15 A. M., but because of the celebration there the plane lost considerable time and did not get under way until 11.15. The clipping tells us that the plane will make the return trip to Chicago on that day, that is, August 11th, and expects to leave Saint Paul at 12.30 P. M. Those desirous of sending mail in this manner are instructed to have their letters in the Saint Paul Post Office not later than 11 o'clock, stamped with ordinary postage but marked "Airplane Delivery."

Mr. Percy M. Mann has shown me a block of the 2c surface print, type II, perforated 11, double print. The second impression is quite light and is slightly to the right of the main impression. The stamp at first glance appears to be an over-linked impression but inspection with a glass shows the doubling plainly. This is the first double we have seen of the 2c stamp, although it has been in use sometime. There is less likelihood of the 2c double happening than in the case of the former 1c and 3c surface printed stamps, for these new stamps are produced somewhat differently. The stamp is in a bright rose carmine shade. 1920, Surface Print, Perf. II, Type II. 2c rose carmine, double print.

Every mail brings to light something new in the way of 2c on 3c provisional envelopes and this week is no exception. Mr. James Nicholson as well as Mr. F. C. Collins, sends me envelopes from Saint Louis with a second type of overprint. The overprint is similar to that used in Pittsburgh with the vertical lines closely spaced. Mr. Collins informs me that although Saint Louis finished sometime back surcharging its own envelopes, it is now receiving from the surrounding territory supplies to be overprinted. Mr. J. J. Prendergast kindly sends a window variety from Cleveland that came in the mail to his company. Mr. Harry R. Agard sends another new one from Providence, while Mr. Robert F. Molitor sends a heretofore unlisted variety from Cleveland. Mr. H. W. Lindaman finds an old friend in Chicago on amber but this time with a new watermark, and the same valued correspondent sends a small blue one from Columbus that is new to me. The Hilton Stamp Company is watching the San Francisco Post Office carefully in our behalf and sends a new variety on white. This office, by the way, has not started to surcharge its colored papers as yet although it has some on hand. Mr. G. M. Strader kindly favors me with a number from Charlotte, but as these were overprinted in Washington they will fall under the Washington classification. Mr. J. J. Klemann, Jr., in going over a package of my envelopes, calls my attention to the fact that the overprint that I have marked as "Baltimore" is identical with those that I have marked "4th Washington". Investigation shows that those which we have heretofore called Baltimore were overprinted in Washington on the same machine that surcharged the recently listed Charlotte, Norfolk, etc. In the future these will therefore be known as the "4th Washington."

While the "rejected die" was actually the first to be surcharged in Washington, it was really the third to appear but we have always called this the rejected die and therefore have not classified it as a Washington type. The first to be placed on sale in Washington were those with the horizontal lines in black on the size 13 and in red on the size 8. This is known as the "First Washington" type. The second overprint was only applied to the size 8 on white, had the vertical lines and was well illustrated in Mr. Barrett's article some weeks back, this is the "Second" type. The third overprint to appear in this city was on size 5 only and while with vertical lines, the "2" showed the pear shaped lobe peculiar to the Cleveland overprint. This die has not shown up in any other city and where it is now I cannot say. This is the "Third" type. The fourth to appear was somewhat similar to the second and is the die now in use in Washington for surcharging envelopes for the surrounding territory. Only two varieties from this die have been sold in Washington, namely a Die H and a Die F both on white, size 13.

Will our readers please continue to send me copies for chronicle of any new envelope surcharged in their city or any old ones that they have obtained that have not as yet been listed. For their trouble I will gladly send them some from other cities.

There is nothing new to report insofar as the new Pilgrim stamps are concerned. Up until August 16th the Post Office Department had not selected designs for the new stamps but it is hoped that the finished product will be on sale by November.

We wish to thank Messrs. W. E. Dowser, Clyde McMillan, Leslie A. Boone, C. Bangs, and F. S. Wist for information of interest.

ARGENTINE.—The Economist Stamp Co. has submitted to us for chronicle the 12c, 20c and 30c, multiple watermark.

BELGIUM.—The Economist Stamp Co. has called our attention to the appearance of the 1915 5f stamp with the word "Frank" directly below the figure "5" in centre of the top of the stamp. Formerly the word has been "Franken."

BULGARIA.—Mr. D. Stockman, of Tooting, S. W., shows us a vertical block of six of the recently issued 2stot greenish-grey, from the right-hand side of the sheet, on the fourth stamp of which there is an interesting variety, i. e., top left-hand corner uncolored, and the first letter of the inscription missing. Our informant states that this happens consistently on the tenth stamp of the seventh row, once on each sheet, of which he has several, all showing the variety.—Stamp Collecting.

DANZIG.—The Economist Stamp Co. has submitted for chronicle the following German stamps surcharged "Danzig" in black: 5pf, 10pf, 15pf lilac, 20pf, 30pf, 50pf, 1m rose, 1.25m green, 2m, 2.50m.

DENMARK.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the following new values of the current type: 80 grey, 700 brown and green, 900 brown and red.

DOMINICA.—Mr. E. H. E. Dalrymple, of Dominica, kindly sends us our first example, postally used, of the new 1½d provisional, issued there on June 10th. It consists of the 2½d orange view stamp, surcharged in black over the original denomination thus:—

We understand there are two varieties in the sheet, viz., short fraction bar (on the 29th stamp), and straight serif to figure "1" (54th stamp).—Stamp Collecting.

GERMANY.—Mr. Otto F. Henker advises us that, a short time ago I received a letter from Dresden, Germany, bearing an Advertising postmark which reads "Nimm ein Postscheck Konto," which means that the advertisement invites to have a check account opened with the Post Office with a view to avoid payments in cash.

LUXEMBURG.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the 12½ and 25c postage due stamps of 1907 surcharged "15" and "30" respectively, in black and with three lines obliterating the former value.

MARIENWERDEN.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us a set of stamps of a new type just issued. At the top are the words "Commission Interalliee" in two lines and the centre shows the likeness of a woman standing among several flags. Below is the name "Marienwerden." In each corner are the values. The values are as follows: 5pf green, 10pf red, 15pf grey, 20pf orange, 25pf blue, 75pf brown. The stamps are printed on paper of a greyish tinge and are perforated 12. Our correspondent adds that they have also received the 30pf, 40pf, 50pf, 60pf, 1, 2, 3 and 5m values.

MONACO.—Prince Albert of the Gaming Tables has a daughter—fact. Another fact, said daughter is going to attend a wedding, in which she takes the leading part. It was hoped that papa would celebrate the occasion by granting a 25 per cent. rebate on all losses at roulette for a week or so. But papa is more up-to-date than that, and, with considerably more profit to himself, he is going to signalise the event by issuing a provisional set of stamps. The present charity set of 9 values is to be overprinted with the date of the wedding. What it is to be a philatelic pa; but is he so philatelist to do such a thing like this? Will there be a new set every time a new grandchild appears? Then, later on, new sets can be rung in to celebrate the first tooth cut, the first walky-walk, and, perhaps, the first long trousers.—Australian Philatelic Record.

NORWAY.—The 150 stamp is now appearing in a new color. It is dark blue and Mr. I. Sonnee has submitted to us the first copy we have seen.

PERU.—From our Manchester agent, Mr. Jas. Malings, we have the following description of a new 5c value:—

"Portrait of A. B. Leguia in black, rest of stamp in brown. Arms at top centre, figures of value (5 centavos) in top corners in brown in white circles, in lower corners in white on colored squares. Size 30 mm. wide by 38 mm. deep, perf. 11½. Lithographed by Berrio, Lima. Inscription 'Patria Nueva' in white block letters across the top. 'Commemorativa de la Constitucion de 1919' in thin colored letters round the portrait; 'A. B. Leguia' in thin colored letters in tablet below portrait; 'Correos del Peru' in thin colored letters below this tablet; 'Centavos' in white letters in tablet at bottom. Earliest postmark seen in Manchester, Februarv, 1920. Shortly after the first few of these stamps arrived on letters in Manchester some came over with the color changed from brown to ultramarine, the earliest date seen being March, 1920. A pair generally used together with the ordinary 2c to make up the postage of 12c."—Stamp Collecting.

RUSSIA.—Post Offices in China.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the recently issued Harbin provisionals. The 1909-12, 2k has been surcharged "35" and the 1k imperf. stamps of 1917-18 have been overprinted "70". Both printings are in black.

UPPER SILESIA. — The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us a set of four values of stamps of a new type. The figures of value are in the centre of a circle surrounded by the words "Commission de Gouvernement Haute Silesie", while below are the words "Ober Gorny Schlesien Slask" in scrolls. The background is of vertical lines and colors as follows. 5pf green, 10pf red brown, 15pf purple, 20pf blue.

CURRENCY ADJUSTMENT.

A new silver trade dollar, expected to replace the Austrian coin throughout the Red Sea commercial district, has been put into circulation in Eritrea by Italy, according to an announcement by the Italian embassy.

Besides Eritrea, the Red Sea district includes Abyssinia, French, British and Italian Somalilands, Socatra, Makalla, Aden protectorate and the Arabian Red Sea provinces of Yemen, Asir and Hejaz. Primarily the new Italian coin is for Eritrea, but its more extensive use is predicted by the Italian officials.

Italian money is the legal circulating medium in Eritrea, and the new dollar will be used solely as a trade dollar. The Maria Theresa dollar of Austria, which has been the trade coin of the Red Sea district, was solely a trade dollar, and was not issued for governmental use.—Washington Star.

SEPTEMBER CLEARANCE SALE

Mr. C. S. Watson is now in Europe buying stamps for the coming season's trade. We expect him to return next month with a large supply. We must have room for this new stock and accordingly are quoting the following very attractive prices for quick sales. Of some of the items we have comparatively small quantities, so an early reply to this advertisement is advisable. Every item is worthy of attention.

Postage extra, please, under $1.00.

"Mrs. Chairlady, Ladies, and Gentlemen,—I am very puzzled to know how to propose the toast of 'The Stamp Scribes' without making a speech, but I will make a confession instead. I have already become quite notorious in connexion with the gatherings of the Scribes. The first occasion was many years ago, when the first Chairman of the Scribes, consort of the present Chairman, chased me round the room to extract from me the penalty of a forfeit called up the chimney. The second occasion took place quite recently and was enacted on the grand staircase of the Central Station Hotel, Newcastle-on-Tyne, where there was an important assembly of Scribes and Philatelists, when Mrs. Terry was seen to kiss Mr. Melville on the stairs. (Uproar.) But let me explain to those who do not know that it is not unusual for me to kiss my brother goodnight whenever I get the opportunity. (Laughter.)

"I have many other pleasant recollections of the Scribes, and will ask you, Scribes and Philatelists, to drink to the health of the Scribes, root and branch, and may they flourish for ever."

Mr. Douglas B. Armstrong, responding on behalf of the Stamp Scribes, said:

"Madam Chairman, Ladies, Gentlemen, and Fellow Scribes, unlike my colleague, Mr. Melville, I shall be very brief. As one of the original founders of the Stamp Scribes, I should like to support Mr. Melville in his protest at the breaking of one of the most rigid of its rules—namely, that there should be no speeches. However, we may regard this as a privileged occasion. There has been a lot of talk to-night about Pharisees. Now, in the old days we used the term 'Scribes and Subscribes.' The Scribes, I need hardly say, were those poor misguided individuals who, like myself, wield a pen for a living, having no trade union to support them in their calling. The Subscribes were those even more misguided people who support philatelic journals in one way or another. I think it is only necessary for me to say what very great pleasure it always gives the Scribes to meet one another and the Subscribes at these little dinners. We welcome to-night all those Scribes and Subscribes and Pharisees who are here to say 'au revoir' to our old friend and colleague, Percy C. Bishop. Mr. Bishop I think it was who first helped to set me in the path of philatelic journalism. I don't know whether I ought to thank him for that or not, but, anyhow, I wish him and Mrs. Bishop the best of luck and a very speedy return from South Africa."

"THE LAST WORD."

"The Chairman" was proposed by Mr. F. Hugh Vallancey, who said

"Mrs. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen.—There has been keen competition for the honour of proposing this toast, and I must consider myself very lucky to have won it. At the same time it has been a bit of a shock to me to hear such terms as 'The Chairwoman,' 'The Chairlady,' &c. I prefer to propose this toast to 'The Woman who occupies the Chair.' You know it is easy to say niceties alone, but not so easy to say them in public, and if I said all the nice things that I should like to say to the woman (a fine old word) in the chair I should make her blush. Therefore, perhaps it is best to act on a policy of 'Deeds not words,' and to that end I have the pleasure of offering Mrs. Bishop, in the name of you all, a silver box as a souvenir which I trust will prove acceptable. Some weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Bishop were staying at my home, and it seemed to me that I frequently heard the words 'Percy, a cigarette,' and so I put it to my colleagues when we organized this little presentation that we might ask Mrs. Bishop's acceptance of a box in which to put those cigarettes. In future the demand for a smoke will no doubt be changed to the invitation 'Percy, dear, have a cigarette.'

"I think I may say, ladies and gentlemen, that what Mr. Bishop is Mrs.

Bishop has made him, and, like a police-woman, if she'd take him she'd take anyone. However, to be serious, in the name of you all, I ask Mrs. Bishop to accept this little visible token of our esteem and affection, and may 'Ada and Percy' live happily in their new home—happy in the thought of all their philatelic friends here waiting to welcome them back again whenever they should wish to return. I hope I have said enough to convey the warmth of our regard, but as usual, as there is a lady in the case, she will have the last word!"

Mrs. Bishop made a graceful little response.

During the evening songs and recitations were rendered by Miss Creeke, Mr. Reginald W. Gosse ("Reggie, the Rapture of Regent Street," with an apt reference to "The Stamp King"), and Mr. Timms; and Mr. F. T. Terry mystified the company with a clever little conjuring trick. A most enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and the National Anthem.—Stamp Collecting.

THE PHILATELIC CONGRESS OF GREAT BRITAIN.

Permanent Congress Executive Committee Meeting, June 15th.

Present: Capt. H. R. Oldfield, E. R. Woodward, W. Hadlow, F. J. Melville, A. Wallace McGregor, and the Secretary, Capt. H. R. Oldfield was unanimously elected to the chair. The following gentlemen were co-opted to serve on the Committee:—W. J. Cochrane and Percy C. Bishop.

The verbatim official report of the Congress was fully considered, and Mr. Melville and the Secretary were instructed to see Mr. Vallancey and try if some arrangement for the printing and publishing of the Official Report in Stamp Collecting could be made free of cost to this Committee.

The questions referred to this Committee by the Seventh Congress were fully considered, and the following decisions arrived at:—

Sectional Catalogues.—A sub-committee consisting of Messrs. E. R. Woodward, P. C. Bishop, and W. Hadlow appointed to prepare a scheme and report to this Committee.

The Paper on Status of Perforations was referred to this Committee for consideration.

Philatelic Propaganda.—A sub-committee consisting of Messrs. F. J. Melville and D. B. Armstrong appointed to prepare a scheme and report to this Committee.

Award of Philatelic Merit.—It was resolved "that the twenty-five names to whom the Award had already been made should be accepted as worthy recipients without question by this Committee."

A sub-committee consisting of Capt. H. R. Oldfield, Messrs. E. P. Woodward, W. J. Cochrane, B. Goodfellow, and A. Wallace McGregor, with power to add to their numbers, were entrusted with the task of preparing a scheme to bring this object into being and to report to this Committee.

The debt of £55 due by the Congress for publications was considered, and it was decided the matter must be regarded as urgent and be energetically dealt with. This Committee undertook to find £15 towards the debt and resolved that the members of the Committee acting at the time the debt was incurred be written to and asked to bear a considerable share of the loss, also that all Associated Societies (except the North of England Society) or their members be asked to assist this present Committee in placing the Congress affairs on a sound and business basis.

A gift of £5 towards the Congress Fund was received from Mr. and Mrs. Vallancey, and the Secretary was instructed to express to the donors this Committee's great appreciation of, and thanks for, the gift.

NORTH-WEST PACIFIC ISLAND STAMPS.

We have been informed that the military Government at Rabaul will cease in September, and from then on the territory will be controlled by a civil administration. Part of the programme of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales is to visit the late German New Guinea, now generally known as New Britain. He will be accompanied by the Prime Minister, Mr. W. M. Hughes, and it is generally expected that that gentleman will announce the policy of the Government of the territory when at Rabaul. It is almost certain that some change will take place in regard to the issue of stamps. As soon as the mandate has been received, which will probably be in a few months, the name of the territory must be altered. It can no longer be designated North-West Pacific Islands, for the Australian sphere of influence is confined to the region below the equator. In all likelihood the present Australian stamps will be continued for a while, probably leaving out the word "North," but it is contrary to the declared policy of the Australian Government to issue overprinted or surcharged stamps, consequently an entirely new issue may be in evidence before long, or the stamps of Australia may be used in the West Pacific Islands without any special designation. As, however, Papua has distinctive stamps, we are inclined to the opinion that a similar pictorial issue will eventuate. If so, there would be no justification for changing the Papuan stamps at present in vogue, consequently something is bound to happen in the near future. We sincerely trust that the Commonwealth Government will not follow in the footsteps of the New Zealand Legislators. We would prefer that Australian stamps, not differing in any respect whatever, should be sold and made available for postal use in both New Britain, as it is now generally called, and Papua.—Australian Journal of Philately.

A. P. S. BANQUET.

A banquet last evening in the Narragansett Hotel at which the list of speakers included several of the most noted of American stamp collectors, brought to a close the three-day 35th annual convention of the American Philatelic Society, which has been in session in Providence since Monday evening with the hotel as headquarters.

Robert S. Emerson, President of the Rhode Island Society, presided as toastmaster. The speakers included Retiring President H. H. Wilson of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Senator Ernest R. Ackerman of New Jersey, one of the oldest collectors in the United States and owner of the famous collection of U. S. stamps of 1847; Dr. Carroll Chase of Brooklyn, N. Y., newly elected President of the society; A. W. Batchelder of Boston, whose activities in stamp collecting have extended over 50 years; Dr. H. A. Davis of Denver, Col., the re-appointed secretary; A. B. Slater of Providence, owner of the Providence postmaster's stamp collection, and Charles Severn of Chicago, well-known collector.

TELLS EXPERIENCE.

Senator Ackerman related personal reminiscences of his stamp collecting experiences since the day he first became interested in the hobby. Included in his remarks was a suggestion to philatelists to notify their Congressmen and Senators of their interest in stamp collecting, a procedure which he thought might result in beneficial results to the hobby. There are now 1,000,000 stamp collectors in America alone, he pointed out.

Mr. Batchelder interested the gathering with a story of a miraculous finding of five Hawaiian stamps of the first issue which had lain for over 35 years in the furnace of an old tannery until brought to light by a laborer, who discovered them among a surplus of papers that had fortunately smothered the fire.

Dr. Carroll Chase was among the other speakers who for one day out of the year were prepared to ignore the

RAMBLES IN THE FAR EAST.

By HENRY H. HART.

As I promised you in my postal from Bangkok a few weeks ago, I am sending you another instalment of my philatelic wanderings in the Far East, continued from my letter of March. In reading over these notes, please remember that I have seen no philatelic papers or news in fourteen months, and mayhap I am saying many things which are already old to your readers.

Just before I sailed from Saigon, on May 4th, after a hot, wearisome residence there of nearly four months, the fifteen centimes appeared in the Post Office, surcharged. This leaves only the four centimes and ten francs stamps now remaining unsurcharged, and none of the latter unsurcharged are obtainable at the Saigon offices.

But very few of the "Orphelins de la Guerre" stamps are bought, except by collectors, and I have never seen a used one of any denomination in the colony. However, I used them on all my letters home, so I am sure of a small supply for exchange. The full set is on sale, however, to all comers.

On my arrival at Singapore, after a delightful two days on the André Lebon, of the Messageries Maritimes line, which I spent playing chess with a French colonel, hero of a dozen colonial wars, I went to the Post Office. I found that since my departure in November, the six-cent value had been put on sale, I also saw that the only two dollars being sold were the "white backs", a supply having been found in the Stamp Office. I was assured that they would be on sale for some time, and as I was in a hurry to secure a passage for Java, I put off their purchase until my return.

I may add here that, on my return, the supply was exhausted, and, try as I will, I have been able to find nothing except one used copy about town. Practically all of these high value stamps are used on check-books and documents, and a postal cancellation is most difficult to obtain here. No value is on sale, or is known, here, above the $5.00, the catalogues to the contrary notwithstanding. Gibbons, Part 2, and their war catalogue, 16th Edition, have arrived here lately. About the lack of dealers, I believe I have written already.

Practically the only things here are held by Tamil dealers, who demand exorbitant prices. None the less, some errors and good things are obtainable. For instance, I found a Trengganu error (inverted "ss" on the war stamp No. 19b) for 15c gold! But that $2.00 white-back lot was one of life's lost opportunities.

On my arrival at Batavia, as usual, I paid my pilgrimage to the shrine of philatelists, the General Post Office. This building has been under construction for a long time, but I could not see that even a brick had been added since my departure in November last. However, one gets so used to such things out here that progress and speed seem strangely out of place—particularly in some parts of the tropics.

I found that the 22½ cent orange had been put on sale only a few weeks before my arrival, and that the first supply of the 2½ Gulden pale carmine had come in a few weeks before. In fact, some of the offices are still selling the small remnant of the old 1905 2½ Gulden stock (gray-green). I also found some stamp booklets containing the old set of 1902-1909.

At Djokjakarta, a wonderful old city, whence I paid a second visit to the marvelous ruins of the Borobodoer and the Plain of Brambanan, I resurrected a small forgotten lot of the Red Cross stamps, and found a few more, with a slightly different shade of surcharge, in Batavia. These are now exhausted, except for a very few stray sets. They were not available for international postage, as I found to my sorrow after decorating several letters with blocks of four, etc. I may also mention that all new stocks of Dutch East Indies stamps are now being supplied without gum, and are affixed by paste, of which a huge pot stands at the stamp windows.

Of course, I re-visited the batik makers, the kulit (buffalo skin) carvers and the pasars (bazaars) of Djokjakarta, and Buitenzorg with its peerless Botanical Garden, and Batoe Toelis, and Mount Salak and the Tjiliwong River and I never can visit Java without returning each time to its most beautiful

19TH AND 20TH CENTURY U. S. COLONIES.

I am breaking up a superb collection of Canal Zone, Cuba, Danish West Indies, Guam, Hawaii, Philippine Islands and Porto Rico.

Now, Mr. Collector, is the time to fill those vacant spaces. Want lists solicited.

H. F. COLMAN, 2ND NATIONAL BANK BUILDING, Washington, D. C.

valley, the Plain of Leles, with its fairyland of lakes and streams and hot springs, all ringed about with smoking Papandajan (The Smith) and Tjikoeirij and Goenoeng Goentoer (Thunder Mountain). I believe that this is earth's fairest spot. It is even more beautiful than Hawaii's paradise. I could write whole chapters on Java's wonders, but I am sure that your readers would be bored, so I'll return to stamp affairs.

After a month in Java, I returned to Singapore, and thence sailed for the eleventh time in a year through the South China Sea, into the Gulf of Siam, over the dangerous bar, and up the beautiful Menam (Mother of Waters) for thirty miles. Finally after passing the graceful dagoba of Paknam, and the floating houses moored by the hundreds on the banks, we arrived at the Borneo Wharf, and set foot for the first time on the soil of the Land of the White Elephant.

I could spend hours writing of this fascinating city, one of the most interesting of the whole Far East, and the only independent capital which I had visited since leaving Tokyo many months ago. I have the good fortune to know intimately the son of one of the highest-class Siamese families, a Harvard graduate. Naturally I was taken care of by him during my whole stay, and saw many phases of Siamese life which are not shown to the casual tourist, such as the home life of the upper classes, the club life, the functioning of the governmental departments, etc. I met so many Luangs and Nais and other notables in all branches of the government service that my head was constantly in a whirl. The city is remarkably progressive and I was agreeably surprised to find the many modern conveniences as Bangkok offers, from electric lights to the finest of modern department stores. Dusit Park is a small but beautiful replica of the Champs Elysées, and contains a magnificent approach to the Audience Chamber, which is covered with white marble. In front of it stands the bronze and gilt equestrian statue of King Chulalongkorn, pictured on our stamps. I also visited the Wat Cheng, which appears on the stamps of 1906, the Wat Po, where reclines a hundred and sixty foot statue of the Buddha in Nirvana, much the worse for wear, the Wat Sa Ket, the famous Wat Phrya Keo, or Temple of the Emerald Buddha, and others, the great swing, the statue of the pigs, etc. Bangkok is most interesting. I shall cease writing of it, but can most thoroughly recommend it for a vacation trip, if you don't mind heat and an execrable hotel.

But one thing I must mention, especially for the benefit of those who might have begrudged the money which they spent for the Red Cross stamps issued by Siam.

I spent a half day visiting the Chulalongkorn Red Cross Hospital, an enormous place covering at least ten acres of ground. I may say that the electrical apparatus, X-ray rooms, operating rooms and laboratories are the finest I have ever seen, and in general equipment, except for the beds, which, on account of the climate, are of wooden slats with no mattress, I have never seen as fine a hospital in the western part of our own country. It is far finer than anything I have seen in the Orient, and any money contributed by stamp collectors to its maintenance has been well spent. I became so enthusiastic that I paid ten ticals (accent on most Siamese words on the last syllable) on the spot to become a member. Except for a few words, written Siamese is a closed book to me, but I take it for granted that the page of weird characters handed to me by the secretary is a receipt for the money. Incidentally, the spoken language, although tonic, like Chinese, is not very difficult, and in the course of a few days I learned enough to bargain for Chengmai panungs and silver tical lumps, as well as for the exquisite niello silver work, which, alas, is one of the lost arts of the Siamese. However, thanks to the assistance of my Siamese friend, I obtained a wonderful silver bowl with a frieze of dancing Apasaras—yes, the same ladies as you see on the stamps of Jhalawar, but a little more graceful—which several connoisseurs pronounced worth several hundred "tics", as the coins current are usually called.

But there I go wandering far afield again, and I am sure that you would rather hear of things philatelic than of my search for beautiful Laotian "sines", (hand-woven, many-striped skirts) Siamese jewelry, weapons and brasses, so let us go to the Post Office.

That Post Office No. 2 of Bangkok I shall never forget. First of all, the only stamps of the current set on sale are the two and three satangs of the re-engraved Vijiravudh type (he calls himself Rama VI), the new five satang type (which I am told the king desires withdrawn, finding his nose too long thereon), the ten satang surcharged on twelve satangs, the fifteen satangs blue of the last type, and the one tical of 1906, Chulalongkorn type. I was informed that others were to be had at the No. 1 office, which was closed whenever I visited it, but a messenger in the shape of a very active and enthusiastic young American lad, a real stamp "fiend," resulted in the report of "none to be had". But the first thing one learns in Siamese is "mai dai, mai pena rai", i. e., "if possible, it doesn't matter," and "mai pena rai" is as common as the Malay "tid' apa", of similar meaning, on the streets of Soerabaja or Kuala Lumpur, or "Maskee", the pidgin word of the coast from Tientsin to Hoi Hao. Now, let us see what novelties offered themselves to me, though these may have been heralded to the world philatelic, and catalogued long ere these lines reach you.

There were (I use the past tense advisedly) on sale when I reached Bangkok, a set of stamps issued for the benefit of the Boy Scout Movement. The Boy Scouts are called in Siamese "Wild Tigers" (I'll send you the translation, if you want it), and the set which I was able to purchase at the stamp window consisted of the 2, 3, 5, 10 on 12, 15 satangs and 1 tical, i. e., the stamps which I described above. The surcharged 5 on 6 in dark green was exhausted on my arrival, though I could buy sheets of 100 for 6 ticals the sheet.

The surcharge consists of a rude tiger's head, very reminiscent of that of the stamps of Afghanistan, surrounded by a circle of lettering. The upper half circle reads "Wild Tigers" in Siamese, the lower, "Scout's Fund" in English. The surcharging, evidently done by hand, is in gray-black ink. It seems to have been done in sheets of fifty, which were then attached together at the back by means of stamp margins into sheets of 100. I judge that the surcharging was done by hand, as the work is different as regards ink and pressure for each stamp on the sheet. Though I examined many sheets, I was unable to find a single error, except one which might or might not be a double surcharge. I was unable to find a single inverted surcharge. I discovered a half sheet of the 5 satangs, with one stamp attached to the top margin, with inverted surcharge, as I thought. But alas, it was just a case where the fifty

Just glance at your wrapper immediately in order to make sure that your subscription is paid up. You have ample time in which to renew and be saved the inconvenience of a discontinuance. Moreover, under our new system we are making no plans for furnishing back numbers and subscribers must not expect that we can supply back numbers when we have made every effort to notify them.

We are satisfied that the system we have inaugurated is the only one under which a newspaper can do business these days, and subscribers must understand that free copies of the WEEKLY will not be sent to those who are in arrears.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Convention.—The annual convention of the American Numismatic Society was held in Chicago the week of August 23rd and was given notice liberally in the newspaper press. A feature of the meeting was an excellent exhibit of coins at the Art Institute. Among the delegates were a number who are known to be interested in stamps as well as coins.

Timely.—In Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Circular for August we find an opportune study of the philatelic publicity question, which is the first of several "Propaganda Papers" by the editor. The subject is well presented and is of particular interest to us by reason that the recent action of the American Philatelic Society in making a generous appropriation for the proper advertising of philately. We shall take the liberty of reprinting the article in this or an early number of the WEEKLY. While conditions in Great Britain are not the same compared with those that prevail here, yet they are similar and suggestions from the experienced observer there may be revised to serve here with good effect. One sentence cannot be over-emphasized: "There will, however, be an immense amount of effort wasted if it is not realized that work must first

Rejected.—A friend, who is one of the greatest and most successful publishers in this country, favors us occasionally with a letter in which usually there is something to share with readers. When we returned from the Providence convention, somewhat aglow over the publicity prospects developed at the convention, we wrote to this publisher asking in effect if he would print an article on stamp collecting in his paper. We cited precedents for a stamp article in a general publication and made out rather fair case, we thought. The reply of the busy man was a long one, but reduced to a few sentences, it was substantially as follows: As a special article for a newspaper feature, the stamp article should be acceptable but in a magazine for the masses, such an article would not appeal to a large enough percentage of readers to justify the use of its space. To attempt to give an outline of philately in an article would be as hopeless as to try to give one in photography, for instance, to a circle of readers who in the main knew little of anything of it. He refrains from exploiting a subject unless a certain proportion of his readers are interested in it or from his knowledge of them is certain to be interested. We find the reply gracious enough but somewhat unpalatable and we can understand the position that our friend finds himself in but there is one sentence in his honor that should be dwelt upon: "If with the increase of collectors philately gain a hold on the popular mind or if spread by word of mouth publicity, sufficiently to strengthen the half-identified position it now does publicly, the word would be different." That "word of mouth" is a good one and resolves itself into the remark: "Work must start first in the ranks of stamp collectors."

Dealers.—The International Congress of Stamp Dealers at Berne, Switzerland, at the "Tonhalle," on September 4th, 5th and 6th, 1920, evidently will be an occasion, significant and of much interest. That the "trade" will discuss and probably adopt plans for the improvement of conditions generally is expected, and we know that this first congress will have a good moral effect. The organization of dealers is to be encouraged as a body of this kind is a strong factor

BOUSFIELD & POOLE.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

1c Lilac and 1c Black.
3c Lilac and 3c Black.

John Bousfield appears in the Cleve-land directory for 1857-58 as a foreman and the following year at the Cleveland Woodenware Manufactory. 34 West Center St. From 1861 to 1868 he was a member of the firm of Hervey & Bousfield who made pails, tubs, chimes, clothes-pins, etc., on Leonard St. In 1866-67 the firm appears as Hervey, Bousfield & Co., and was composed of Joseph B. Hervey, John Bousfield, and John Poole. From 1867-68 to 1873-74 the firm name was Bousfield & Poole, manufacturers of woodenware and matches, at 70 Leonard St., until 1871; thereafter at 94 Leonard St. In 1873-74 the Bousfield & Poole Mfg. Co. is listed at 94 Leonard St. John Bousfield, pres.; John Poole, vice pres.; J. M. Gorham, secretary. There was no further change until 1877-78, when Bousfield is listed as a woodenware manuf-acturer and Poole appears with the Stand-ard Oil Paint Co. In 1882-83 Bousfield was president of the Ohio Woodenware Mfg. Co. The directory for 1872-73 states that Bousfield, Poole & Co. and the American Match Co. produced during the previous year 140,000 gross boxes of matches valued at $308,000; employed 120 operatives, many of whom were boys and girls, and paid out $42,000 in wages on a capital of $80,000.

Regarding the 1c stamp the Boston Book states:—

Die approved, May 7, 1867.
First issued in lilac, Aug. 12, 1867.
Last issued in lilac, February, 1868.
290,000 issued in lilac.
First issued in black, February, 1868.
Last issued in black, May, 1875.
8,895,190 issued in black on old paper.
11,155,346 issued in black on silk paper.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).

The 1c design is extremely plain, per-haps as a fitting frame for the rugged features of Mr. Bousfield, whose por-trait is probably the likeness pictured thereon. The portrait is embellished by a beard of the well known scrubbing brush variety and except for this the stamp is almost bare of ornamentation. Straight panels across the top and bot-tom read "U. S. Inter. Rev.—Cleveland, O.," and there is a numeral in an oval on either side of the portrait. "Bous-field & Poole" is arched around the upper part of the central disk bearing the portrait and "Friction Matches" in the plainest of plain letters is found sim-ilarly below. "One—Cent", also in extremely plain letters, occupies the triangular spaces between the disk and the marginal labels at the top and again at the bottom. There is nothing about the stamp to attract any lover of the artistic. One can imagine that Mr. Bousfield's pails and tubs, like his matches, sacrificed no feature of prac-tical service in order to attain beauty.

All the 1c stamps were printed in Philadelphia. The silk paper is quite common but the black color on old pa-per is surprisingly hard to find, espe-cially in nice condition, and the lilac, which always looks as though it had been left in the sun to bleach, and left too long, even when at its best is little to brag of. Still, there are a few fine specimens in existence—a very few.

The 1c die was ordered engraved on April 15, 1867, and ordered to be printed in purple on July 15th. But one print-ing was made in this color; that con-sisted of 1,900 sheets, or 399,000 stamps, which were not exhausted until Febru-ary, 1868. Meanwhile, on November 7th, 1867, a telegraphic order was re-ceived from the proprietors to print their stamps in black thereafter, which was done.

Regarding the 3c stamp the Boston Book states:—

Die approved, May 13, 1867.
First issued in purple, Aug. 12, 1867.
Last issued in purple, November, 1867.
83,600 issued in purple.
First issued in black, November, 1867.
Last issued in black, October, 1876.
7,019,192 issued in black on old paper.
6,104,789 issued in black on silk paper.
41 stamps per sheet, (22x22).

This stamp was ordered engraved April 22, 1867. As with the one cent, it was ordered printed in purple, July 15th, and but one printing was made in this color; that was 1,900 sheets, or 83,600 stamps. The balance on hand October 31st was 38,600 and on November 4th an order for 73,334 was received. This order was filled in part by the lilac stamps on hand and Butler & Carpenter advised the proprietors that the balance of the order could not be filled until a new lot had been prepared. This brought forth the telegraphic order to "print in black," which was dated November 7th, and the balance of the order was filled in that color.

The 3c is a strip stamp measuring about 3/8 by 5/4 inches and is a far more attractive engraving than the 1c, al-though it also bears the same rugged countenance attributed to Mr. Bousfield. The portrait is found in a small circle in the middle of the stamp. At either side are five circular disks, three of them inscribed "111" and two of them in-scribed "3", arranged alternately. A long ribbon twines over and under these disks and is inscribed "United States Internal Revenue, Three Cents" at the left of the portrait, and "Bousfield & Poole, Friction Matches, Cleveland, Ohio," at the right. "U. S." appears eight times on short ribbons above the 2nd, 4th, 7th and 9th disks and below the 3rd, 5th, 6th and 8th disks.

This denomination is considerably scarcer in black on old paper than on silk and the so-called purple color is one of the very rare match stamps. The writer has been able to trace less than a dozen copies and almost every one of them has some defect. It is hard to say what the color looked like when it was printed for the stamps always have a faded out appearance and range from a dirty pale grayish brown to a deeper reddish brown that is not quite so hid-eously unattractive. The term lilac, or purple, for either this value or the 1c, is most unsatisfactory. Both lilac and purple contain blue and there is no trace of blue in either of these mud-colored stamps.

NOT ONE CENT OF PROFIT!

The stamps which go into the Kangaroo packet for which I ask you to send me one dollar cost me not less than 100 cents! That is why I charge 35c extra if you want me to soak the stamps off the little pieces of original envelopes on which they come to me. I am not selling these packets to make money but to make you remember the Kangaroo packet for the next ten years.

If the advertising of the Kangaroo has seemed a bit over-enthusiastic to you, discount it 50% and the packet will be still twice as good as you should expect for $1. It would be easy to make the packet twice as big or to make it catalog twice as much for the same price but it would then be the kind of a packet you would just as soon forget. The Kangaroo contains 100 to 200 different stamps cataloging from 2c to 25c or 35c or 50c each and will total about $5. I've taken pains to tell you what kind of stamps it contains so there's no need of going over that again. Read the previous Kangaroo ads.

The number of packets is limited. I am likely to quit at 500 and may quit sooner. But I shall protect the fellow who sends his order and his dollar from way out west if he doesn't wait, and the nearby fellow who waits till the last minute will probably get his dollar back. And if any customer wants to sell me back his packet for $1 within 5 days of its receipt by him I'll be glad to accommodate him.

Buy a Kangaroo. Take out $1 to $2 net worth of stamps for your own collection, and sell, swap or give away the rest to start or help some other collector. Good business. The way I feel today this will be the last call. Send me that dollar.

MINT BLOCKS OF FOUR.

See my last several advertisements. Most of the blocks are still in stock. If you want blocks, coils or booklets of any of the late issues I can furnish them. Have just bought a nice U. S. collection and can offer such things as blocks of Nos. 304b, 370i, 409a, 410b, 411c, 429, 435c, as well as a 24c invert (432a) and a superb set on blue paper including the rare 4c and 8c. By the way, I can use an extra 4c at this time and although Mr. Scott only wants $100 for it I am willing to pay $110 for a fine copy.

UNITED STATES.—The most unusual provisional error envelope that has as yet come to my attention and one that will rank among the rarities of this issue has been located in Philadelphia and obtained from Mr. George P. Smith. This time the 2c red circular die has received the black Philadelphia 2c overprint. Yes, on reading this you will say the same thing that I did when I was told about it but had not seen it—anyone with sufficient influence with the clerk who does the overprinting can have this done. But behold the envelope itself, it has two cards printed in the upper left-hand corner and behind this lies a story. I have spent a day interviewing the firms in question so that I am in a position to give the actual facts and can state that the stamp's antecedents are without the slightest philatelic taint.

The first card in the corner is that of the Fred Werner Company and the printing of this card is the work of the envelope manufacturers; the second name card was applied by a local printer and the first line reads "The Corporation for the Relief, etc." It seemed odd that they did not use their full title but a visit to their place of business showed the reason. Their corporate name, and by the way, they were incorporated in 1760, is "The Corporation for the relief of Widows and Children of Clergymen in the Communion of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania." After calling upon these people, as well as their printers, I am in a position to give the full history of the error.

It seems that a year or so back the Werner Company ordered a quantity of 2c stamped envelopes through the post office with their return card upon them. The envelope manufacturers in turning these out ran twenty copies too many. The pressman simply stuck these extra twenty in a box without return card, but through error got them in with the 3c envelopes. These in time reached the Philadelphia Post Office. Being packed in the complete box of 500, they were not noticed in Philadelphia and were placed on the shelf with others when the 3c rate was discontinued. On receiving instructions from Washington to re-value their stock, this box with the thousands of others were overprinted. It was quite natural that a clerk running these envelopes through the machine would not notice these few in red, consequently they were put back in their box and of course finally reached the sales window.

About this time the firm with the bunch of words in their corporate title was running low on envelopes and gave an order to their printers, Thompson & Company, to furnish them a thousand envelopes with their imprint in the corner. Thompson, as is their usual custom, bought the thousand stamped envelopes and started printing the corner card. While running them through the press it was noticed that some of the envelopes already had a return card in the corner, so these were thrown out, although a number of them had by this time received the second card. The printer recalled that twenty in all were put in the waste, for it was necessary to account for the postage.

My call upon the relief corporation resulted in learning that the order was placed about two months back, that none of the red ones had been delivered to them but they had on hand some of the re-valued 3c envelopes from the same lot with the exact overprint. They also gave me the name of the printers. At the printers I saw the man that actually did the work. When I showed him the envelope he recognized it and told me exactly how it happened. He remembered the number, 20, and later checked it up with his records. No one connected with any of the above firms ever collected stamps and knew nothing about them from a philatelic point of view, and I can say positively that none of them have profited one cent by these errors.

I have given the full history with firm names in order to establish their standing, although as a rule I dislike to publish such facts. I have found that in the past that such information hardly appears in print before the interested firms are the recipients of dozens of letters. I might state for the benefit of such readers that the ground has been covered and none of those mentioned have any of the covers.

 B. & E. STAMP CO.
 1227 BRYDEN RD. COLUMBUS, OHIO

for the first time. These plates are evidently used on medium sized presses larger than the standard for 400 and not quite as large as the press for 1600.
 It is my personal opinion that sheets of 1600 subjects are too large to be efficiently handled and that the Bureau is now trying an 800 subject plate number rather than buy more presses of the larger type. It will also be noted from the above that plate number 11724 is the 1c ordinary curved of 170 subjects, that is a coil plate, while the following three plates are of the same type for the 2c.
 It is my opinion that all four of these plates are of one denomination and that the Bureau has made a typographical error in furnishing the information. I say this because these rotary plates must be made in pairs and must be so arranged that they fit together perfectly.
 This can only be done at great expense and the two plates must be adjusted to each other at the time they are made.
 Plates of one pair are never interchangable with plates of another pair. About 550 plates are given in this list, most of which are of the 2c offset type. This large number of plates is necessary in order that the Bureau may keep up with the constantly increasing demand for stamps of this denomination. The offset plates seldom if ever last more than one or two days, while the engraved plates will last for months.

Mr. L. E. Bopp has called my attention to the fact that the 20c blue Proprietary revenue stamp has exactly the same plate number as the 40c of the same series. This procedure seemed most unusual and I learn upon investigation that both of these denominations are on the same plate. It seems that the Bureau runs all of these Proprietary stamps on their large presses taking plates of 1600 subjects and as it was thought that the demand for the two higher values would not be excessive,
 one plate was made with 800 of the 20c value and 800 of the 40c. As these sheets are cut into smaller sheets of 100 each before being sold to the public, it will be impossible to obtain a block containing both values. If we could only induce the department to sell an imperforate sheet we could cut some unusual blocks from it.

I have a long list of new 2c on 3c envelopes for chronicle but these will be held over until next week.

BELGIUM.—Mr. A. Brun advises us that the 65c stamp is out. It is the size of the current 35c, color is lake with black centre, showing the burned City Hall at Termonde. The stamps are 25 to the sheet.

EGYPT.—It is stated that, on account of the increase in the inland letter rate,
 a 15 millièmes denomination is to be added to the current series almost immediately. This new stamp is to have the effigy of Rameses II, the great Pharaoh who reigned from 1300 to 1230 B. C.

We also learn that the Postage Dues are to be modified, in that they will in future have the inscription "Postage Due" in English, instead of in French
 as heretofore.

Another impending change is in the watermark, which is henceforth to be devised in the form of the Egyptian triple star and crescent, whereas hitherto it has, of course, represented the Ottoman emblem.—Stamp Collecting.

ESTHONIA.—Mr. A. Brun advises us that the 70p violet on pelure paper has been surcharged in black "2 MK."

GOLD COAST.—The Philatelic Courier
 announces that Mr. G. L. Jackson reports the following values have been printed from plate 6, viz.: 3d, 6d, 1s and 2s. They are of lighter shade than previous issues.

JAPAN.—Mr. R. Yokohri advises us that a fine set of commemorative stamps will soon be issued in this country in connection with the census taking of the whole of Japan, which is the first attempt, and will take place on the first of October. The denominations are of two kinds, namely, 1's and 3s, and they will be put on sale on or about Sept.
 25th. At the same time a special cancellation stamp will also be issued and used only at the first, second and special third class post offices. The date mark of the occasion will be stamped in violet color.

MEMEL.—Rather to our surprise, the rumored issue for this Baltic port has materialized, and proves to be a provisional series overprinted on the stamps of France. Mr. Edgar Priddy has shown us the 20c "Sower" type, surcharged "MEMEL—40—piennig" with two short black horizontal bars in line above, and informs us that he has the 25c value with a corresponding surcharge. C. H. Crawford also shows us
 the 50 on 35c.—Stamp Collecting.

SWEDEN.—Mr. A. Brun submits to us a copy of the new 20c blue stamp showing the head of Gustavus Adolphus.
 There is only one value issued and the stamps are imperforate at top and bottom and perforated on the sides. At the top is "Sverige" and at the base the name of the hero and "20 öre", while at the left is "1620" and the right, "1920."

UPPER SILESIA.—Mr. Maxwell Krause advises us that the scarce values in the 2nd Plebiscite set are the 2½, 3, 25pf and 5m. As all of these German Plebiscite issues seemed to have "sleepers",
 we sometimes wonder if certain values are not cornered or the authorities intentinally issue a small number only.

overprint, reveals the fact that one stamp in each sheet has a broken "8", so that the surcharge appears to be "1913." This occurs on the second stamp in the ninth row. The ninth stamp in this row has a leaning "1" in some sheets, the angle being about 30°.

The 10h Witwen und Waisenwoche occurs in two very different shades, one light Mars yellow, the other deep brown bistre. Evidently the same shades occur in the unsurcharged stamp, but I have seen only the overprinted varieties.

GERMAN AUSTRIA.—Three new values
 have been added to the Newspaper set, 5h slate, 6h pale blue, 10h red.

SAMOA.—The New Zealand Victory set has been surcharged SAMOA in the usual type. The overprint is in red on the ½d and 1½d, and blue on the 1d and 3d. The 6d and 1sh I have not yet received, but were issued about July 4.

By the same mail I received from the Lady Bountiful, who had given me the stamps a week before, a letter franked with Scout Stamps. In it was a tiny blue stamp, about five millimeters square, containing the portrait of the king with a Siamese inscription beneath. It appears to me to be made by a blue-print process. Knowing nothing of it, I cannot do better than repeat the few lines which accompanied the gift.

"I am sending you herewith enclosed a small stamp I am sure you will not have in your collection, as it is very difficult to get same on account of these stamps only being used in the king's toy village. You will have probably heard about this village in Dusit (Park) where the king has an ideal village, in which Tcs. 800,000 were spent (for construction). Nothing is missing in it; even a daily newspaper is published."

I am now trying to get more information on this matter, and I'll communicate to you the result of my investigations.

Now, a word about the new book on Siam, and I have done. I do not know whether or not the new book of the Siam Philatelic Society has arrived in America, so I shall not essay to review it here. I have found it most instructive reading, and most helpful. If you have not been fortunate enough to have received a copy of this work, I shall be glad to lend you my copy. It is very interesting reading, even for a non-philatelist.

Tomorrow I go to Johore, and I'll mail this letter from there. I expect to sail in a day or two to Hong Kong and North China, and I shall, if you so desire, continue to recount what I see en route in the philatelic world of the Far East.

BRITISH VIEWPOINT.

The fact that one at least of our contemporaries in this country is urging the need of new stamp scribes, and that our latest American confrere is appealing for "pep, punch, and life" in manuscript form, reminds us that the position of the philatelic writer is not altogether an enviable one. For the most part his is a labour of love, and, with the possible exception of the one weekly stamp journal that is published in the United States, we doubt whether the margin of profit derived by the editor of any philatelic publication is sufficient to obviate the necessity of his supplementing it from any other source. Surely, this is a most undesirable state of affairs. How can we expect to see all those ambitious propaganda ideas fulfilled, or even adequately approached, if the headquarters staff are only able to work at them in "spare time"? Speaking in the first person singular, it has always been a case of "faith, hope, and charity," coupled with determination and an innate love of philately. It is not too much to say that philatelic journalism very often means philatelic philanthropy, and, so long as that state of affairs lasts, all our hopes that the business of postage stamps should be recognized by the world at large as an important department of commerce are in vain. For this reason it seems to us futile to appeal for "new writers" in this fine cause. Personally, we do not feel that this need is urgent. Our chief difficulty is to be able to squeeze in our weekly numbers some part of what our readers would regard as the most newsy items out of the immense accumulation lying on our desk, such is the pressure on our space in consequence of the exorbitant cost of production. But if writers are to be expected to take up philatelic journalism seriously, with the idea of extending the size and developing the scope of stamp papers, then they must be offered adequate cash terms.—Stamp Collecting.

OLAF GRILSTAD, Trondhjem, Norway [tf]

THE VISIT OF HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS, THE PRINCE OF WALES.

On the 16th of June His Royal Highness made his official entry into Sydney. He was greeted with tumultuous cheering and enthusiasm. His landing at Farm Cove was most picturesque and his progress through the streets of the city was in every sense a royal one.

Although the middle of winter, the weather was glorious and more like a day in early spring. The decorations were magnificent and the illuminations were enchanting, turning the centre of the city into a veritable fairy-land.

It is becoming a hackneyed expression to say that His Royal Highness captivated the hearts of everyone, but the fact remains. During the nine days of his stay in Sydney and other parts of New South Wales, he was cordially greeted everywhere he went and the expressions of loyalty which were vouchsafed to him were widespread, greatly owing to his charming personality.

His visit has done more to attach the people of this country to the British Throne than 50 years of legislation could do. This is saying a good deal, but we are confident that when His Royal Highness ascends the throne, which we trust is many years distant, he will be surrounded and supported by a great throng of loyalists, amongst them being the entire population of Australia.

At the usual meeting of the Sydney Philatelic Club, held on the 23rd June, the anniversary of His Royal Highness's birthday, his health was drunk with great enthusiasm. The evening was intended to be a tribute of the esteem in which he was held by members, and was a pronounced success.

There has been a good deal of discussion as to whether His Royal Highness is a philatelist. This subject is settled by a letter, a copy of which appears in the report of the Philatelic Society of Victoria, published elsewhere. He is not.

His Royal Highness increased his popularity by stating in a speech at the State banquet, held in this city, that "Sydney was the London of the Southern Hemisphere." And he told the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth when he said that Canberra, the Federal Capital, consisted mainly of foundation stones. It is provided in the Constitution that the Capital shall be in New South Wales, but beyond selecting the locality and laying several foundation stones, nothing else has been done, although 20 years have elapsed!!

Some of our readers might say that this has nothing to do with philately, but it has; for in the ordinary course of events, His Royal Highness, the present Prince of Wales, will become King and Emperor, and those who are alive when he ascends the throne will have the gratification when they see his portrait on a postage stamp of recollecting the days when he visited Australia, and laid the foundation stone of the Capitol.

So far the Federal Government has not issued a series of stamps relating to His Royal Highness's visit, and we trust they will not do so, but should a new series be contemplated, we are quite satisfied that the portrait of His Royal Highness on at least one denomination would be very popular.

In days gone by it has been a practice to consider Emperors, Kings and royalties above the common level of beings, and a different class altogether; but the Prince of Wales has shown himself to be a man, a human being, a democrat of the purest type. May he go on gaining knowledge and experience. May he have many happy days before him, and, when he ascends the throne, may he do so with the full knowledge that his presence there is heartily welcomed by all his subjects throughout the British Empire.

In accordance with the resolution passed by the members of the Sydney Philatelic Club an illuminated address was presented to His Royal Highness through the courtesy of His Excellency Sir Walter Davidson, State Governor.

THEODORE CHAMPION
 PARIS 13 rue Drouot 13 PARIS

The address was prepared by Messrs. John Sands, of this city, and was a work of art. It read as follows:—

To HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS,
 Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David Prince of Wales, Earl of Chester, in the Peerage of England, Duke of Rothesay, Earl of Carrick, and Baron of Renfrew in the Peerage of Scotland, Lord of the Isles and Great Steward of Scotland, K. G., P. C., G. C. M. G., G. M. B. G., M. C.

May it please Your Royal Highness, We, the Members of the Sydney Philatelic Club, of which His Majesty the King is Patron, desire to extend to you Greetings and a Hearty Welcome to New South Wales.

This Club was founded in 1890. It has done a great deal in the spread of Philately, and is generally considered to be the premier Society in Australia. Furthermore, it has performed a part in the Great War by sending a number of its members on active service, and also raising a considerable amount of money for patriotic purposes.

During the visit of your Royal Father in 1901, he, at his own request, became Honorary President of this Club. Upon ascending the Throne, he became our Patron.

Acting upon this precedent, we humbly approach Your Royal Highness with a request that you may see your way clear to confer upon us a distinguishing mark of your favour, to become Honorary President of the Club of which the membership numbers about 100.

With further expressions of loyalty, we express the hope that your stay in this country may be a memorable and happy one.

Signed on behalf of the Sydney Philatelic Club,
 C. F. WILLIAMS, President.
 E. B. H. SUSSMILCH, Hon. Secretary.

THE OLD ALMANAC.

On picking up an old almanac, dated 1814, I found the following rates for postage on letters, magazines and pamphlets and ship letters.

POSTAGE RATES.

"For every single letter by land, for 40 miles, 8 cents postage; 90 miles, 10 cents; 150 miles, 12½ cents; 300 miles, 17 cents; 400 miles, 20 cents; and for more than 500 miles, 25 cents. No allowance to be made for intermediate miles. Every double letter is to pay double the same rates; every triple letter, triple; every packet weighing one ounce, at the rate of four single letters, each ounce. Every ship letter, originally received at an office for delivery, 6 cents. Magazines and pamphlets, not over 50 miles, 1 cent per sheet; over 50 miles, and not exceeding 100 miles, 2 cents per sheet."

This is a very interesting account of what it cost 106 years ago to send a letter or magazine—and should be published to give the young stamp collector an idea of the letter rates in use when his great-grandfathers used Uncle Sam's mails for their correspondence.

CHAPTER X.

The Unperforated Issues.

Before dismissing the coil stamps engraved from the flat plates, I desire to cover those varieties that we have heard so little about, yet are just as distinct government coil issues as any of the others, namely the unperforated coils. These first made their appearance shortly after the Bureau of Engraving and Printing first issued the perforated coils. They have been disregarded by all but a few philatelists, first, because not many know of their existence, and secondly, because of the possibility of making them from the unperforated sheets. I have had complete coils of most of the denominations, and while I have spent hours studying them I must admit that I cannot conceive of any definite manner in which a stamp from such a coil may be distinguished from the regular unperforate. This remark does not apply to the 2c rotary press unperforated coil, which can readily be distinguished, but to those printed from the flat plates.

I can say this, however: there are few collectors that have gone in for these varieties and as a result there has been no attempt to fake them, and therefore a strip, say, showing parallel sides or parallel top and bottom without indications of a shear cut, is likely to be the coil variety.

In the early days of coils most of the vending machine companies perforated or rather, notched their own coils and these special means of separation were applied to these unperforated coils. In those days large quantities, comparatively, were sold. Gradually the companies that did not adopt the regular government perforated coils found it more economical as well as efficient to perforate and reel their own coils from the unperforate sheets, and consequently the post office discontinued the reeling of unperforated coils during 1914.

One who specializes in the issues of our country, and certainly those who collect coils, should have strips of these, secured from reliable sources, in their collection. As previously mentioned, they are distinct government issues and further, they are of peculiar interest because it is from these coils that many of our early private perforates were made. It is also from these that many of our scarcer coils and odd varieties were faked. Scott has never listed them, for they claim that they cannot be told from the sheet unperforated. Whether they are taking the correct stand in omitting them is not for me to decide. Personally I think them well worthy of catalogue recognition.

A casual search of the records at Washington insofar as these unperforated coils are concerned, has only given a few dates of issue. They are, however, quite complete insofar as which denominations have appeared in this form. It is my personal opinion that most of the varieties were issued on or about the same day that the regular perforated coils appeared. All that have been issued unperforated are known perforated but there are several perforated varieties which never appeared unperforated.

Of the 1908 issue, design of 1902-1903, the 1c green Franklin and the 2c red Washington, shield type, both were issued in unperforated coils in the side-wise as well as the endwise coil. The 1c were all in coils of 500 stamps, while of the 2c some were in coils of 500 and some 1000. Of this issue only twenty-one coils in all, consisting of 12,000 stamps, were reeled so that if the stamps had real distinguishing marks they would be rarities.

I have seen a vertical strip of three of the 5c blue, design of 1902, unperforated, 21 mm. wide, supposed to have been issued in this form officially. In tracing the strip I found that a reliable dealer had purchased a part of a coil from one of the vending machine companies and sold them at the time simply as the unperforated stamp, coils then being of little interest. As this company coiled a number of its own stamps, I am of the opinion that this is their work. The post office records do not show that this was issued in unperforated coil form.

Of the design of 1908, double line watermark, there were issued in the endwise coil the 1c green, the 2c carmine, the 3c purple, the 4c brown and the 5c blue. The first two values appeared early in 1909 and the three latter on May 5th of the same year. I have had complete coils of all of these except the 3c and this value I have never seen. Director Ralph in a letter sent out from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing on July 24, 1917, mentions the 1c, 2c, 4c and 5c in unperforated sidewise coils, but I believe the one who secured the data for this letter from the Bureau's files, not being a philatelist, has them mixed with the perforated issues. The records of the post office give no such information, nor have I seen these stamps after constant search for some years.

2ND NATIONAL BANK BUILDING, Washington, D. C.

Insofar as the single line watermarked issue of 1910 is concerned, only the 1c and 2c appeared in unperforated coil form, but these two values were issued in both the endwise and sidewise coils. The 1c has a portrait of Franklin and the two cent Washington with its value expressed in words, "Two Cents". I have had complete coils of all.

The same four coils are found in the issue of 1912, that is the 1c green with head of Washington and the 2c carmine with a similar head and its value expressed "2 Cents 2". I have had coils of each of these.

Outside of the above, no other variety appeared in the unperforated coil, with the exception of the 2c rotary coil, which will be treated in a later paragraph. In all there were 17 from the flat plates and one from the rotary.

Dr. Warren L. Babcock, on page 163 of the American Philatelist for April 15, 1916, Vol. XXIX, No. 14, mentions a 4c endwise coil unperforated on single line watermark paper and goes on to say that it is "not catalogued by Scott owing to the claim that in single copies or vertical pairs it cannot be distinguished from unperforated stamps cut from unperforated sheets, which were current at the time". As this stamp with the single line watermark was never issued unperforated in sheet form, it could be distinguished, and under the circumstances I am under the impression that Dr. Babcock referred to the double line watermarked stamp that I have mentioned. This assumption is further confirmed by the fact that the double line watermarked coil was on sale in Dr. Babcock's home town of Detroit, for I purchased them at that office myself.

1908 ISSUE (1902-1903 Design).

The 1c green, coiled sidewise, unperforated, was issued early in 1908, and while I have never seen a complete coil I purchased some years back a part coil from Mr. J. W. Scott. There were about forty stamps and they were no doubt from an official coil. Part of them were badly cut into at the bottom, and the top and bottom were parallel throughout. Unperforated coils were not thought about at the time and anyone cutting them apart to sell to collectors would never have cut them into strips and then ruined them by cutting into the bottom. Of this stamp, five coils, each consisting of 500 stamps, were issued.

The 1c green, coiled endwise, unperforated, was issued about the same time and in the case of this variety I have seen but a single stamp. This was taken from a collection where the owner had single copies of all of the perforated coil stamps and this was among them with the notation that it was cut from a coil. The sides are certainly parallel and it may be the real thing, but the owner, who had disposed of the collection some years ago, could not remember where he obtained it. Of this stamp but two coils were made each of 500 stamps.

The 2c red, coiled sidewise, unperforated, was also issued during the early months of 1908, and of this stamp twelve coils were issued. Ten of these consisted of 500 stamps, while two were coils of 1000. I have never seen the coil, nor do I know of anyone who has.

The 2c red, coiled endwise, unperforated, was issued in 1908 and of this stamp one coil of 500 and one coil of 1000 were reeled and sold. Where these went to and who bought them I cannot say. I doubt if any of them are in existence today. I have never seen them nor heard of them in the hands of anyone, but the record is clear that they were made and issued.

1908 ISSUE (1908 DESIGN).

The 1c green, coiled endwise, unperforated, appeared possibly in March or April, of 1909. The records show how many of these stamps were reeled, but as they do not distinguish between the watermarks I can only give the figures for the two varieties combined. In all, 49,788 coils of 500 and 1,043 coils of 1000, were sold to the public. Without doubt the greater portion of these were with the double line watermark. The variety is relatively common and may still be purchased in some of the larger post offices.

The 2c carmine, coiled endwise, unperforated, was issued between March and May, of 1909. There were distributed 162,552 coils of 500 and 1,495

f 1000, but then it must be re-

The 4c brown, coiled endwise, unperforated, was issued along with the 3c on May 5, 1909. In all, 145 coils of 500 stamps were made and some of these were sold in Detroit, from which post office I obtained a coil. While the variety is not common, it may be obtained with little trouble.

The 5c blue, coiled endwise, unperforated, like the 3c and 4c, was first issued to the public on May 5, 1920. The records show that two coils of 1000 each were made but is not clear, insofar as coils of 500 are concerned. It is possible they may have been mixed with one other unperforated coil was issued by the Post Office and that is the 2c sidewise, watermarked, from the rotary press. The history of this variety will be found in a chapter to follow.

140 WEST 34TH STREET
 NEW YORK CITY

We beg to announce that at the above address we have opened an Office for the Purchase and Sale of United States and Foreign Postage and Revenue Stamps, and Philatelic Accessories.

As in the past, we purpose making a specialty of the better grades of Nineteenth Century Issues, particularly those of Austria, Belgium, France and Spain, as well as British and French Colonials.

We have in preparation a series of Approval Books, arranged by Countries—Priced Net—which we will be pleased to submit to responsible collectors. Of course references will be asked from those unknown to us.

We ask a continuance of the patronage of our present large clientele and hope to enlarge our circle of acquaintances.

COVERS.

Dear Mr. Severn:

I note that one of your readers inquires about "made in Germany" covers. By far the greater number of central European collectors collect used stamps only. They scorn mint copies; their ideal is a stamp bearing a centered postmark, so that city and date are clearly shown. Whether the stamp has been postally used or not very often makes little difference—"philatelically used" (i. e., postmarked to order), stamps are much preferable to unused ones. As a result, many collections in that part of the world contain, for instance, British and French colonials neatly cancelled, but with original gum. Of course, the purchasers paid as much for the items as they would have had to pay for unused copies, if not a little more, as postal clerks sometimes require a tip before using the canceller at the request of the original buyer. In importing stamps, one frequently gets complete sheets, O. G., but neatly postmarked. I have had many German colonials, Italian colonials, and Neuropé galore in this shape. Some foreign dealers, in making offers, distinguish between "used", i. e., real postally used, copies, and "cancelled" ones, i. e., those postmarked to order. I think I am not wrong in saying that 50% of the Italian and German colonials, and Central European Levant issues, 75% of the recent Turkish surcharges, and most Neuropé items "used" on the market today, are cancelled to order. Because no distinguishing postmark is used, as is the case with North Borneo and Liberian stamps, collectors do not generally recognize them as such and are fooled.

Some dealers do not take the trouble to soak off the original gum, which is tell-tale evidence, but some do. Beautifully postmarked copies of the stamps mentioned above are generally cancelled to order, though sold by dealers with gum or without.

But this has led me somewhat astray from the matter of "philatelically used" covers. I have mentioned that the average central European collector wants a stamp to have a neatly centered postmark, if it is a copy off cover. However, there is one thing that he prefers even more—that is, to have his stamps used on cover, a whole issue on one cover. I have seen many bearing complete issues, as Malta 1 farthing to 10 shilling, U. S. 1c to $5, Chile 1c to 10p, etc., etc. Now, as a matter of fact, most of these covers really passed through the mail; the majority of them came registered, and as a rule, they bore several postmarks from transfer stations along the way. They were postally used without question, but were "philatelically used" all the same. The very fact that they were all on one cover, neatly arranged in order from lowest to highest value, is proof to even the most casual observer. Yet, these are the things our Continental cousins revel in.

This fad goes to such ridiculous extremes that some years ago, I filled an order for a German dealer for 100 covers, each bearing 1c to 5p Mexico with "Gobierno" surcharge, made up here by me, posted in Mexico, and sent on to him by registered mail. Postally used they were, of course, but I, for one, can't see who wants to fill his albums with such items. Similarly, I had orders for Sonora Coach Seals, 1c to 50c, in tete beche pairs, one set of pairs to a cover. Postally used, of course, but—!

In the past five years, I have had complete "philatelically used" sets from Albania, Abyssinia, all the Italian colonies, French Levant offices, Poland, Hungary, Czecho-Slovakia, and many other places offered to me. That many Central European dealers do a regular business in such items can be seen by glancing over any German or Austrian stamp journals. Most offer "complete sets on one cover".

The class of covers so far referred to have all unquestionably passed through the mail. Because they bear from ten to two hundred times the required amount of postage, according to the face value a complete set may have, the covers such as these almost invariably come registered, and the various postmarks are substantial evidence of their really having done postal service, or rather having actually gone through the mail, even if for philatelic purposes only.

There is another class of cover, however, those which are made up, sometimes addressed and sometimes not, given to the postal clerk with a tip commensurate with the number of covers involved, and received back in a few moments with the stamps nicely cancelled, though they have not been used, i. e., they have done no postal service. Such covers cannot always be told readily; some, indeed, would deceive anyone. Generally, however, they can be detected because they are immaculately clean, bear postmarks lightly and carefully applied, because they are carelessly offered to you unopened, because they bear the postmark of some town or come from some colony where it is known that such practices are liberally indulged in, because obsolete handstamps are used, or what not.

Examples of this type of cover are the Danish West Indies 4c splits, Macau splits, the greater number of Abyssinian covers, recent Curacao provisionals, and, I am sorry to say, many of the Neuropé issues. When you have letters from dealers, offering you unaddressed covers by the thousand bearing odd values as ordered, "to which you can apply your individual address, which will then seem like passed through the post", you can be certain that this sort of cover is finding its way onto the market in increasing numbers. Albania was a flagrant offender, and so was Mexico, or rather, so was one of the ex-Nogales, Sonora postmasters, who skipped across the border with his stock and cancellation stamps, laid in a supply of envelopes, and got to work during the unpleasantness in those parts some years back.

It is because such things go on in the back rooms of so many comic opera republic and colonial post offices, that I have always preferred unused stamps, even though, in the case of British colonials, they may be either postage or revenue stamps when unused, as one correspondent never fails to remind me. When I do include used stamps in my collection, they are from countries which do not indulge in cancelling to order, and if on cover, they are not obviously made to sell.

I don't know how other collectors feel about it, but I, for one, would prefer to pay "fourteen times as much",

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Busy—With the beginning of "school" there always is something of a stir in stamp collecting, particularly if we discriminate between "philately" and "stamp collecting"; and accord the more sounding term a distinction over mere stamp collecting. It is fair to call the younger element stamp collectors as they have not had time to look into the deeper pools of philately; and it is they who make the bustle when they are once settled again in school. A few successive days and nights that are cool enough to make it pleasant in-doors vivify the latent collecting instinct; and we predict that this coming season will see philately flourish in the schools as never before. Incidentally, we believe that the attractions of collecting are more appealing and varied today than they were in days of yore.

Boys—The boy collector is an interesting and important factor in philately and for downright enthusiasm for and concentrated attention on his hobby, he is unmatched. We can understand the position that parents and teachers sometimes take that the thought and the time given to stamps are detrimental to progress in study but we are of the opinion that under the sympathetic guidance of parents and teachers, the philatelic ardor may be confined within proper bounds and so directed as to aid and facilitate study, in certain branches, especially. We know of some teachers who employ to advantage the collecting interest of the young and encourage its growth; and may their tribe increase. We must cater to the younger collectors and let them know that they are regarded amiably; and we should not hesitate to go out of our way to smooth the road to philatelic learning. The saying that the boy collectors of today make the *Tiffanys of tomorrow is more than founded on fact and if we who are already within the pale cannot take the trouble to boost the boy over the fence, we are selfish, indeed. The boy does not want officious or undue attention but he does want to receive treatment that will not make him feel that he is not wanted. *Name your own favorite superman of philately in quoting this "truism."

Good—Opportune of the foregoing remarks, we submit the following from Mr. George R. Rankin, Brownstown, Indiana: "I quote from page 54 of 'Our Boy', a study in child nature, published by the Union Press, Philadelphia. Harry E. Bartow is the author: 'We did not think it strange that the hobby of collecting should develop just when it was most needed and could accomplish the most, for that is God's way of working. Everything he collected taught him something. Coins and stamps made maps become more than colored pages in his books.'

Mail—The New York American recently gave an idea of the mail received daily by a Presidential nominee, showing that he did not need to patronize the ads headed, "Get a Big Mail." Out of a daily batch of 1,000 pieces, the average is supposed to include "260 requests for him to address conventions of undertakers, milliners, hardware merchants and stamp collectors." As Mr. Reginald P. Brook snappily says: "This looks as if philately is at last taking rank as one of the four essential industries." It would be a bit of all right to have heard President Wilson introduce our next President, Carding-Hox, who would open the deliberations of the A. P. S. convention in these simple words: "You do me honor, ladies and gentlemen, in asking me to address you. I am told that there are one million stamp collectors in this country and I trust those who are of age, vote right. I commend the work that you are doing and hope that each one of you will attain your goal which I understand is to collect one million stamps. Your objective shows that you are scientists of the first water; and O, science, your wonders are contemplated with awe. When I am in the White House, I shall give you the key to the nation. I have brought with me some campaign literature for distribution that will strike terror into the hearts of the mercenaries who oppose our glorious principles, so sacredly wrapped in the folds of Old Glory. Also, you may have my likeness beautifully colored by lithographic process and suitable for framing from the gentlemanly usher who will now pass among you. Remember me when you are alone with your conscience and your ballot in the sanctity of the polling-booth this November, for I may claim that I am the stamp collector's friend. It inspires me to face this intelligent audience of scamp—stamp collectors, and as my eye searches yours, I see mirrored in them the answer to my question, Will you vote intelligently at the coming election? Enjoy yourself in this beautiful city of er, er,—Providence, the home of fair women and brave men." The cheering continued for thirty-six minutes, amid a scene of wild enthusiasm.

Home—Our managing editor, Mr. Wylie, who went to Europe in July has sailed for home and should be at his desk by the time these words are printed. Some of our correspondents may have noticed that their letters have not received the prompt attention that they should have but when we are relieved of the extra work entailed by Mr. Wylie's absence, we shall soon be running on schedule time again. We have had a busy summer and our experience has been such as to make us believe that comparatively few vacations were taken by stamp collectors; at least, we know that many of them stayed at home and wrote us letters. Here, let it be said, that we are glad to get into touch with as many of our readers as possible and if we neglect any of the little amenities of correspondence, we assure our friends that the omissions are not intentional; and, even so, we do manage in the process of time, to attend to all our mail. In this connection, we call attention to the fact that all during the hot months of July and August, we ran twelve-page papers when planning was required to balance reading matter with the fluctuations in advertising and to handle big news events, such as the conventions. Mr. Jewett, our printer, is entitled to all consideration for the creditable results obtained during trying times.

Introduce Mr. Nicholas Caruso, the member of this celebrated family, to stamp collectors. He is a philatelist of the most eccentric and industrious stamp collector and I feel certain that he will take first prize." The Star says: "Nicholas Caruso was arrested prowling, vide: 'Mitchell' and his latch key in the mail box." So, who says that he is a philatelist looking through the mail box, ostensible for stamps to add to his collection, he discovered the key." He went to the house and was arrested after he had stolen a bit of money. He is now in slang for hoosegow. We have heard many crimes committed in the name of philately but we award the palm to the nimble-wit whose excuse is unique. Suppose that while in the lock-up, Caruso will write to the stamp dealers for suggestions on approval and then get his latch key to cash in the stamps for him.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.
SWEDEN'S NEW ISSUE.

By PERCY MCGRAW MANN.

There have been several changes of the postal rates in Sweden since 1917, due principally to financial stress in European countries during and after the war. But the number of new values of stamps has not been large. We meet with such denominations as 3, 7, 12, 27, 40, 55, 65, 80 and 90 öre issued in this period, 1917-19, and almost as soon as issued, a change again in postal charges rendered some of these unnecessary. A new period in Sweden has now dawned, and the government has been proceeding with the manufacture of its own postage stamps, and odd value denominations are not as yet apparent in those of the series so far at hand.

The governmental manufacture is not the only innovation disclosed by the new issue, the following values of which are at hand: 3, 5, 10, 15, 20 and 30 öre. They are issued in coils (of 500 at first) wound horizontally, imperf. top and bottom and perforated 10 vertically between.

Going back over Sweden's stamp issues we do not find any with a perforation of this gauge, which tells us immediately that new perforating machines are in use at the government factory. Does this not set one to thinking?

The new stamps in coil form will prove to be popular in America, because they are printed upon Stickney Rotary Presses in the same manner as our own United States coil stamps (and recently issued sheet stamp perf. 10x11). In this method of printing Sweden will stand as the first country outside of the United States to use Stickney presses for the production of its postage stamps.

Last year we read about Mr. Ben. Stickney's visit to England. At the time an English philatelic monthly published a criticism of the United States postage stamp, confusing the Stickney Rotary Press printed stamp with the Harris Automatic Press offset printed stamp. It was probably about this time that Mr. Stickney induced the Swedish government to install presses of his invention and we now await stamps produced by these presses, printed by other governments than the United States and Sweden. Not long ago we heard rumors that England was contemplating the production of all its own postage stamps (beside those now printed at Somerset House, which is a government institution). Was this rumor a forecast of the use of Stickney presses by that country?

The new Swedish stamps bring to mind that good philatelist, the late L. Harald Kjellstedt, who could have secured desirable information about them for philatelic consumption. However, some friend of the WEEKLY, in Sweden, will probably give us further information.

The stamps are recess-printed, from engraved plates curved about a cylinder, on dry paper fed to the press from a continuous roll.

The 3 öre, as well as the other values, is of simplified design. The well known "arms" of Sweden, three crowns (2-1) on a spherical shield surmounted by a crown, is on a ground of closely placed crossed lines (horizontal and vertical), with "SVERIGE" in uncolored capitals across the top of the stamp and "ÖRE" at the bottom, with large numeral "3", uncolored, in each lower corner.

The 5 and 30 öre display a lion guardant with its sinister (left) fore paw resting on the Swedish shield (without the surmounting crown), with "SVERIGE" in large uncolored capitals across the bottom and the numeral of value and the word "öre" in the upper left-hand corner, all on a closely woven cross-line background.

The 10, 15 and 20 öre picture the head and left shoulder of King Gustav V at the left, with the value in large, uncolored numerals at right-center with "öre" just under it. "SVERIGE" (Sweden) is in uncolored capitals across the top of the stamps. These also have the closely woven cross-line background.

The stamps are remarkable as being all that stamps should be, viz.: striking recess-printed designs with dark background, showing prominently the name of the country and large figures of value. Sweden is to be congratulated upon the occasion of its new issue, and stamp collectors will be proud to add the new stamps to their collections.

As I finish writing I am shown a commemorative stamp of 10 öre denomination from the same country—it is dated "1620-1920" and displays a picture of Gustavus Adolphus. It is also a coil stamp, perforated 10 vertically, and printed by the Stickney press method.

FAKING COLORED CANCELLATIONS.

HERMAN W. BOERS.

Now that collectors have taken to collecting cancellations of various designs, the demand for colored cancellations is steadily increasing.

Not long ago I had a selection of cancellations sent me and among them were a lot of green. I saw a fine maltese cross cancellation, clean and distinct outline. The ink was too new for a stamp cancelled many years ago. I called the attention to this stamp of several collectors and all agreed with me that it did not look good.

Recently I bought a number of stamps; among them was an 1861 10c green with a green cancellation. Later, I looked this over more carefully and saw the ink was too new; I wet it lightly and the ink ran over the stamp. I then took my handkerchief, rubbed it gently and the ink showed in my handkerchief. Now it's a shame collectors should take advantage by pawing of faked cancellations. This is just a warning to others to look out, and see what they are buying. Old ink will not come off easy and it looks different, too.

NOT ONE CENT OF PROFIT!

The stamps which go into the Kangaroo packet for which I ask you to send me one dollar cost me not less than 100 cents! That is why I charge 35c extra if you want me to soak the stamps off the little pieces of original envelopes on which they come to me. I am not selling these packets to make money but to make you remember the Kangaroo packet for the next ten years.

If the advertising of the Kangaroo has seemed a bit over-enthusiastic to you, discount it 50% and the packet will be still twice as good as you should expect for $1. It would be easy to make the packet twice as big or to make it catalog twice as much for the same price but it would then be the kind of a packet you would just as soon forget. The Kangaroo contains 100 to 200 different stamps cataloging from 2c to 25c or 35c or 50c each and will total about $5. I've taken pains to tell you what kind of stamps it contains so there's no need of going over that again. Read the previous Kangaroo ads.

The number of packets is limited. I am likely to quit at 500 and may quit sooner. But I shall protect the fellow who sends his order and his dollar from way out west if he doesn't wait, and the nearby fellow who waits till the last minute will probably get his dollar back. And if any customer wants to sell me back his packet for $1 within 5 days of its receipt by him I'll be glad to accommodate him.

Buy a Kangaroo. Take out $1 to $2 net worth of stamps for your own collection, and sell, swap or give away the rest to start or help some other collector. Good business. The way I feel today this will be the last call. Send me that dollar.

is attracting wide attention for as one collector says, "I believe you will have a REAL service and that we are going to get all the good things." You can just depend upon it that it is my intentions of following the new things just as carefully for the Subscribers to the service as I do in the case of my own collection. If you want all the new items you cannot afford to be without it. Monthly distributions. Send for circular. Sit down and think, are you satisfied with your present means of getting the new varieties? If not subscribe to a REAL SERVICE. Try it for three months and if not satisfied drop out. I know, however, that you will stick as long as you collect stamps.

Do not forget the new 2c on 3c Provisional Envelopes. You will never get them cheaper and for some you will pay much more. From the several cities, in several dies on all papers and sizes. Assorted to please. Each properly classified, entire.

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—The 1c compound perforated 10x11, from the four hundred subject rotary plates, that were first placed on sale in Washington, are now to be had in many of the other larger cities. Mr. Harmon Wendell tells me they are in Detroit. Mr. George Soulmans sends me a couple sheets from Chicago, and I find a goodly supply here in Philadelphia and in New York. Those that are now appearing are from plates 10437 and 10438. In the list of plate numbers furnished us by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing some time back, these were listed as plates of 170 subjects. We now know this to be an error and our readers will therefore change the 170 to 400. The 2c stamps from these plates have not as yet made their appearance.

Denver has just received their die and have started to surcharge their supply of the 3c envelopes with a large "2" and vertical lines are very closely spaced and the figure "2" has the pear shaped lobe peculiar to the Cleveland overprint. This is the first of the close line dies we have seen with this type of "2". We wish to thank Mr. J. W. Bradbury, as well as Mr. Maitland Milliken, for early copies. Mr. Robert J. Molitor sends several new varieties, heretofore unchronicled, from Cleveland, and Mr. Ted Terrill has two new ones from New York. Mr. Jas. A. Hays received in his mail one from a small Washington city with the Seattle overprint, which we have not seen with this watermark before. Mr. R. Panley has located one from the same city in a light lilac shade. Mr. J. T. Lillibridge sends one from Portland, Maine, which certainly was not overprinted in Boston, where one would suppose this work would be done. Mr. George P. Smith has found a new one from Philadelphia, this time on blue.

I have been offered a copy of the 1c green, die A on white, size 5, wmk. 20, low back, with the 2c Seattle overprint; but before formally chronicling this and giving it the place such a variety would deserve, it is necessary that I secure more information and see if the envelope has a clean bill of health. This overprinting has been and is being done in the same manner that ordinary letters are cancelled. There is no special restrictions in connection with the work, and anyone finding favor with the clerk who is doing the work can readily have anything wanted run through. It was on account of this very fact that I spent a full day running down the history of the 2c on 2c envelope chronicled last week.

IA.—Thanks to the courtesy of

Mr. W. we are able to publish below interesting details regarding 10s stamp. The particulars are by His Excellency Sir Leslie himself, and, as a complete series of issues is contemplated, we very reason to hope that the will supply similar details in of each new stamp as it is put into circulation.

tally, we understand that a new is on order, and probably may be sooner than most of us expectation in this instance purely allegorical, and is meant to represent Jamaica as a land of wood and water. From what our esteemed correspondent has been able to gather

(but he cannot confirm this) the stamp has been designed by His Excellency and executed by a local artist.

We also understand that the other stamps of this new series will be very handsome pictures of something representative of the past and present history and life of this most charming of the Empire's jewels.

Following is the cutting sent by "Collector"; it is taken from the Daily Gleaner of July 14th:—

"Through the courtesy of the Colonial Secretary, the Gleaner this morning publishes the following interesting memorandum, by His Excellency the Governor, of the new 10s Jamaica postage and revenue stamp:—

"MEMORANDUM BY HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR.

"It is a pity that the present high cost of living should prevent people from investing their money in the new 10s postage and revenue stamp. In addition to its value as an investment, the new stamp has a twofold attraction—namely,
 the artistic workmanship of the design,
 and secondly, the inscription 'George V
 of Jamaica, Supreme Lord.' The wording of this inscription will not be found on any other postage stamp within the Empire; in other words, Jamaica is the only part of the Empire His Majesty holds not only as King, but also in the personal manner implied by the title,
 'Supreme Lord.'

"The origin of the unique title can be traced to the special seal which is attached to the Commission granted to Lord Windsor by Charles II, the inscription on this seal being 'Carolus Secundus dei gratia. . . Dominus Jamaicae.'

"During the reigns of subsequent monarchs each of these was styled 'Of Jamaica Lord,' Queen Anne being appropriately styled 'Of Jamaica Lady.'
 Thus we find that Sir Thomas Lynch,
 in 1683, wrote 'The King is Sovereign Lord of this island, and in writs, commissions, grants, &c., is styled 'King of England and Lord of Jamaica.'"

"During the reign of Queen Victoria the personal element which is to be found in the title was emphasized, the then Queen being styled 'Of Jamaica Supreme Lady.' And today the peculiar personal relationship between the reigning monarch and Jamaica is emphasized
 by the use of the title 'Of Jamaica Supreme Lord.'

"King's House, July 13th, 1920."
 —Stamp Collecting.

LIECHTENSTEIN.—Mr. Oscar P. Feger has shown us an added value to the set of four values that we noted in issue
 No. 1538. This value is 1k blue on white and shows a view of the country
 in the center with the crown at the top.
 The "1" is in the upper left corner and "K" in the upper right. The inscription is at the base.

MEMEL.—Mr. A. Brun advises us that the current stamps of France surcharged "Memel" and German currency have appeared. The words Republic Francaise are crossed in all the values
 by a thick bar, and the French value by two short parallel lines. The overprint is in black and the values are as follows: 5pf on 5c green, 10pf on 10c scarlet, 20pf on 25c blue, 30pf on 30c orange, 40pf on 20c lake brown, 50pf on 35c violet, 60pf on 40c red and greenish, 80pf on 45c green and blue, 1m on 50c
 brown and bluish, 1m 25pf on 60c violet and blue, 2m on 1f lake and greenish, 3m on 5f blue and yellow.

NIGERIA.—We learn from the Philatelic Courier that the 4d and 1s have been printed from plate 6 and are much lighter in color than the former issues.

PARAGUAY.—Mr. Benj. Cadbury advises us that he has received a copy of the 3p of 1913 issue, surcharged "Habi-litado en 1.75-1920." This is in three lines and the first word is all in large heavy caps, while "en" is in lower case
 and 1920 in smaller figures, not italics.

Mr. O. D. Challans advises us that he has recently received a copy of the 80c No. 215, surcharged "Habilitado en
 0.50 1920" in three lines and 1p, brown,

No. 411, overprinted "Habilitado 1920"
 in two lines.

SWEDEN.—Mr. W. T. Wilson shows us the new 40ö stamp perforated 10 for use in coils. The stamps come in rolls of 100. The color is olive green, and at the top is the word "Kunglpost", at the sides "Sverige" and at the base "ore 40 ore." The crown and post horn are in the centre. Regarding the recently noted commemorative stamp, Mr. Wilson advises that there were fifty million printed in rolls of 500.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We have been shown by Mr. H. H.
 Schroeder plate number 10929, sheet of the two cent surface print with the 93rd
 stamp in the right lower pane ornamented with a curlicue in the upper part of the "2" on one side, something after the style of the secret mark on the 12 cent, 1873, U. S. The addition, probably due to a "bubble", falls nicely into place to make a finished minor variety.

—Professor and Mrs. Middleton, of the University of Wisconsin, Madison, have left for Tokyo, Japan, where, we are informed by Mr. Ragatz, he has an excellent position awaiting him in the government school. Prof. Middleton is a comfortable philatelist to have about and while rejoicing in his advancement,
 we are sorry to see him leave.

—Baku, says the busy Mr. Ragatz, according to several atlases and works that he has read, is the capital of the new republic of Azerbaijan; and we shall accept his amendment.

—Our valuable correspondent, Mr.
 Harry E. Huber, Pittsburgh, Pa., to whom we are indebted for so many favors, is going to have a well-deserved holiday, and true to his instincts, he has booked passage on the Iroquois, which sails on September 15th for Grand Turk.

—In the list of those mentioned as having attended the convention of the
 A. P. S. at Providence, the names of the Washington delegates, Mr. H. F. Colman and Mr. Harry B. Mason, were inadvertently omitted. We were particularly interested in an advertising plunge that Mr. Colman made some time ago, when he used a full page in one of the Washington newspapers as a buying ad. The results were somewhat small in quantity but rich in quality.
 Mr. Mason has achieved fame as being the president of the first or one of the very first Harding and Coolidge clubs that was organized.

—The cancellation applied at Chicago
 on the air mail sent to St. Louis reads
 "Air Mail Service—Aug. 16, 1920—7
 A. M.—Chicago."

—Clippings are acknowledged with
 thanks from Frank P. Mothersell, M.
 Arbogast, Kenneth J. Tallmadge, C. Lat.
 Wilhelm.

—Our readers will be sorry to learn of the illness of J. R. Nichols of N.
 Y. City. This will account for any slight delay in correspondence and filling of orders.

—Mr. Henry Steininger, formerly proprietor of the Advance Stamp Co., 23rd street, has opened a new office at 500 Fifth avenue, corner 42nd street
 N. Y. City, and would be very glad to see his old customers in the new place!

—We found that Mr. Fred Michael, who has been incapacitated for work for some time past, at his office the other day; and though he is improved in health, he is advised to watch his step for some time to come. Meanwhile, that amiable and urbane philatelist, Mr.
 W. W. Wilson, is in charge of the emporium, seconded by the recondite Robinson.

—Collectors of precancels will be especially interested in the eighth-page advertisement of V. W. Rotnem to be found elsewhere in this issue. The advertisement is made up entirely of pre-cancel offerings and many bargains are listed.

—We are pleased to learn that Mr.

ANOTHER EFFORT BEING MADE TO SELL THE SEIZED G.R.I. STAMPS.

A Correspondent in Queensland wrote us recently to the effect that he had seen an advertisement in one of the Australian newspapers, calling for tenders for the seized G.R.I. stamps. At first we were inclined to doubt his assertion, but a subsequent search revealed the fact that, in the early part of last month, the following advertisement appeared several times.

ALTERNATIVE TENDERS, as under, are invited for the Purchase of a quantity of UNUSED STAMPS (approximately 10,474), mostly in original sheets, issued by the German Administration for use in the Marshall Islands and (late) German New Guinea, but taken possession of and surcharged (over-printed) G. R. I. (and value in British currency) on the occupation of Rabaul by the Australian Expeditionary Forces:—

- (a) In one lot;
- (b) In sets, comprising—
 - (i.) Two sets, consisting of one stamp of each of the pfennig values (second printing), together with both the 2d (first printing), and both the 1d O.S., 13 stamps in all in each set.
 - (ii.) 56 sets, consisting of similar stamps to those in (i.), but without the 5d on pfg. 12 stamps in all in each set.
 - (iii.) 42 sets, consisting of similar stamps to those in (i.), but without the 5d on 50 pfg. and the 8d on 80 pfgs. 11 stamps in all in each set.
- (c) In sheets.

2. The collection is a representative one, including stamps from 3 to 80 pfennigs, and 2 mark. Those surcharged stamps (including 10 accidentally double printed), are of special philatelic value. A detailed list will be forwarded on application to the Comptroller-General of Customs, Melbourne.

3. Specimens of the Stamps may be seen by intending Tenderers on application to the Collector of Customs, Customs House, Sydney.

4. Tenders will be received up to noon on WEDNESDAY, the 16th JUNE, 1920.

5. The highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

6. Each tender must be accompanied by a deposit of ten per cent. (10 per cent.) of the amount of the tender, such deposit to be in the form of bank cheque, cash, or Commonwealth War Bonds.

7. Tenders are to be enclosed in sealed envelopes, addressed to the Comptroller-General of Customs, 31 Spring Street, Melbourne, and endorsed "Tenders for Purchase of Stamps."

(Sgd.) R. McK. OAKLEY, Acting Comptroller-General.

This was quite a surprise, for we had not previously heard of it. No one had called our attention to it before; we presume on the assumption that everyone reckoned that we would see it in the usual course. At any rate, it did not put us to any inconvenience, for our firm had no intention at any time of sending in a tender.

On the 28th ultimo, we received from an English correspondent a cutting from an English newspaper, being an advertisement on similar lines.

We cannot say that the Government has broken faith with people in Australia, for they never gave any undertaking not to sell these stamps; on the contrary, it was stated in the middle of last year that it had been decided to sell them, but nothing having been done since, we came to the conclusion that the Government had thought better of it and listened to reason.

We do not know on what principle of equity these stamps are put on the market, as is being done, and an effort made to obtain £4,000 or £5,000 for stamps of which the face value amounted to £97 odd, which represented about that amount in German money before the stamps were overprinted, and which cost probably 97 pence to produce, and for which the Government has already received the £97. These stamps cannot be called German loot, for they became British after they were overprinted and surcharged, and we consider it a flagrant imposition on stamp collectors on the part of the Commonwealth Government in seeking to increase the revenue by the means mentioned above.

We are confident that if the matter were brought before the High Court of Australia an injunction could be obtained against the Government, stopping them from disposing of these stamps, but we do not feel warranted in spending the money necessary to have this result achieved.

We have contended at various times, when the matter of the sale of these stamps was brought up, that the Government has no right to go into business as stamp dealers and sell these stamps at prices which will compete with others which have already been put on the market in the regular way, for they had previously received the face value of them and their only privilege was to destroy them, the finding of the court-martial being that the stamps were to be handed over to the Government. If these stamps had not received the G.R.I. overprint and the surcharge, they would probably not have fetched £97. Why, therefore, should the Government seek to obtain £4,000 or £5,000 for stamps which by their own action have increased in value?

Stamp collectors need not in the future speak disparagingly of the philatelic actions of the Central and South American Governments, nor of the many and various issues of New Europe stamps, which are coming on the market at the present time, for in our opinion the Commonwealth Government has sunk to the same level.

Ours is not a political magazine, and we have no desire to interfere in political matters, but seeing that the present episode affects stamp collectors materially, we feel that we are quite justified in writing as we are doing.—Aust. Jour. of Philately.

A STRIKING CATALOGUE.

The beautifully illustrated catalogue of stamps of the first Swiss public sale arranged by the Swiss firm of Zumstein & Co., known to our readers, has just appeared. The sale will take place in the rooms of and during the International dealers' congress at the "Tonhalle" in Zurich, Switzerland, on the 4th, 6th and 7th of September.

The rich material of high standard character deserves attention. Of special interest are the Swiss cantonals, not only for their number but even more because of their remarkable condition. There will be sold the double Geneva, 2 Vaud 4, 10 Zurich 4, 30 Zurich 6, 12 Basle doves, Rayons with rare cancellations, while the old classic stamps of other countries and great war rarities are well represented, including early U. S. in singles up to blocks.

Beside these single lots there will be put on sale a large number of the former German colonies in Turkey and Morocco. These are offered in complete series and lots, large and small.

We can recommend this really interesting and well illustrated catalogue which is sent gratis and postfree to the attention of our readers. The reproductions are worth attention for their instructive value.

IT WAS THIS WAY.

We have a number of inquiries as to just how Ponzi handled the international reply coupons to great advantage. The New York Sun and Herald tells how.

New York bankers, brokers and merchants who are well informed about foreign exchange matters are not at all mystified by Charles Ponzi's "discovery" of a royal road to wealth. Ponzi, they say, doubtless has blazed the trail in spectacular fashion.

The key to the situation, according to E. H. Newfield of the importing and exporting firm of E. Luca Manoussa, Inc., is the simple fact that in some countries, France, for instance, postage stamps are legal tender. Mr. Newfield in an interview illustrated the simplicity of the process and how it is that avoids disposing of his international reply coupons in America, where they are redeemable only in limited numbers.

"For an expert in foreign exchange," he said, "there is not the slightest mystery about the operation of Mr. Ponzi."

As it may interest your readers, I permit me to give them an illustration.

In certain countries such as France, postage stamps are legal tender. On this fact, the operation is as follows:

"Take $100 in New York and deposit it to a Bukarest bank. In accordance with the exchange rate between dollar and the ley that would give sender of $100 a credit in the Bukarest bank of 5,000 leys. Now the bank of Bukarest, or an agent of the bank, would take these 5,000 leys and put them with them international reply coupons at the rate of about four coupons to the ley and would receive, say, 12,500 coupons.

"The Bukarest bank or the bank would send these 20,000 coupons to a bank or agent in Paris who would present the coupons to a Paris office. He would receive in exchange 20,000 postage stamps at the value of 25 centimes each, or altogether 5,000 francs in stamps. But as the stamp of France is legal tender, he may go to these 5,000 francs in stamps to a bank and buy with them a cable transfer in dollars on New York for an equivalent at an exchange rate of francs to the dollar, which amount say, $400 or thereabouts."

GOOD.

Commenting on the Addenda in the WEEKLY of July 3, I have only one point to note S.H.P. you describe as "these Greek letters." This is inaccurate, as they are English, of course, as you print them. The difficulty doubtless arose from the typographical impossi- bility of using Greek type. May I sug- gest a better way out? The surcharge appearing on Turkey, Nos. 1901-1929, is Sigma Chi Pi. In view of the fami- liarity of Greek letters through the col- lege fraternities, it would be more enlightening to give it in the form I mention. Further reason for the change lies in the fact that there is no Greek letter H. Chi has no single English equivalent, but is represented by Ch in English, as the Island of Chios. H in Greek is not a letter but a so-called rough breathing, represented by an in- verted comma over the vowel which its sound precedes. Hence, both the Eng- lish form of the letters, and the errone- ous H call for a change to Sigma Chi Pi.

PENN MATCH CO.

By CHRIS. WEST.

This firm is listed in the Philadelphia directories for ten or twelve years com- mencing in the early '80s, the address being 107 No. 2nd St., until 1889; there- after it was 236 Arch St.—just around the corner. For a few years they also are listed on So. 8th St., corner of Cantrell, which latter may have been where their factory was located. It is not likely the city authorities would have permitted a match factory at the other addresses given and it is not certain this company actually made any matches. They may have been only selling agents. The only men known in connection with the Penn Match are Francis R. Abbott, who was secretary or secretary and treasurer continuously, and Charles Kee who is also listed continuously and who is given as the manager in 1887. In the 1893 directory the company is not listed and both Kee and Abbott are listed with- out occupation. The Diamond Match Co. appears first in the Philadelphia directory about that time. The term "Limited" included in the title of the Penn Co. would indicate English or Canadian affiliation.

The stamp is an upright rectangle of the usual 1c size, the prominent feature displayed being most fittingly chosen for a business located in the city founded by William Penn 200 years before. An oval enclosing Penn's portrait is sur- rounded by a parallel band inscribed "U. S. Inter. Rev." above and "Penn Match Co., Limited," below. On a straight marginal label across the bot- tom "Phila. Penna." appears and in the triangular spaces between this label and the oval are two small labels, that at the left inscribed "One" and at the right, "Cent." In each upper corner is a small circular disk enclosing a numeral of value. Simple scrolls and pearls fill out the design, which is more than ordinarily attractive and not lacking in dignity. Indeed, it is one of the more meritorious of the Bureau productions.

Regarding the Penn stamp the Boston Book states:

Die approved, ?
First issued, October 31, 1881.
Last issued, February 14, 1883.
3,696,000 issued on watermarked paper.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).

The die and plate were made by the Bureau and all the stamps were printed in Washington. The total issue of 17- 600 sheets cost the Penn Match Co. $33,600 net. The stamp is not very com- mon and is rather difficult to find well centered. It is not known to have been used in multiple. Color, deep blue.

PERFORATIONS SIMPLY EXPLAINED.

At least some, possibly all, of you know that to become a successful philatelist is not so easy as some imagine. I have come to the conclusion during my career of collecting that there is much in our hobby which the average collector does not concern himself about. Drawing the line between those who study their stamps and those who do not, I venture to say the term philatelist should only apply to the serious collector as apart from the ordinary hoarder of every class of stamps without regard to type, condition, perforation, watermark, variety, etc. For a philatelist to learn his stamps it is necessary that technicalities be understood, and there are many in every day use with us which are not generally understood.

First of all let us look at the varieties of perforation upon which so much depends, and under this head include roulettes. Under the term perforation, come all the methods by which the easier separation of stamps one from the other is affected.

The form of separation was invented shortly after the first introduction of postage stamps (or about 1848) by one Henry Archer. There are two methods.

Perforating and rouletting—the first denotes the entire or partial removal of the pieces from the holes stamped and the second indicates that cuts of various sorts are made. The forms of machines used are (a) single line, sometimes named guillotine, which perforates in a single straight line; (b) comb, which perforates 3 sides, i. e., top and two sides generally at each operation, and (c) harrow, which perforates the entire sheet in one operation. Other methods of perforating and rouletting, many of a peculiar nature, are found in the various automatic stamp-vending machines which are becoming universal now-a-days.

Roulette (or cut slits).

Perforation (punched holes).

(a) Perforated, when holes are all clearly punched out.

(b) Roughly perforated, when the discs of paper are not clearly and cleanly cut away or only partially so, or left in the holes.

(c) Blind perforated, when the machines have failed to cut the paper, merely making circular marks.

(d) Irregular. When the gauge (that is, taking the number of perforations in the space of 2 centimetres) varies in the same line of holes, the perforation is said to be irregular.

(e) Compound. When the gauge is not the same all round it is termed compound.

(f) Mixed. When a sheet through defective perforating is patched and re-perforated, often with a different gauge to that originally employed, it is termed mixed.

For example, New Zealand 1901 ½d and 1d exist with compound 11 and 14, and also mixed perfs., as also do many other issues of this country.

Other modes of perforating are of course adopted, such as the slot machine imperforate sides (used in the United States), and many other varieties found in the stamps of Canada. Of this form of separation there are numerous varieties.

(a) Rouletted straight cuts in various lengths and distances apart.

(b) Pin rouletted or pin perforated as it is more generally termed is when the holes are simply pricked in the paper, as in the case of the comb machine perfs. used in New Zealand in the 1906 issues. This very much resembles the blind perforating, referred to under perforations head "C".

(c) Zig Zag roulette. This is very similar to the teeth of a saw except that the "teeth" are upright instead of a slant and differs in this respect from the next form of roulette.

(d) Sawtooth roulette (perce en scie). This has the slanting "teeth," as for instance, in the postage stamps of Bremen.—Philatelic Magazine.

WHO WAS THE LUCKY MAN?

An interesting relic of other times turned up in Washington not so long ago in the shape of a letter of instructions sent in the pony express days to a merchant in St. Louis to his agent in San Francisco. This letter has reference to the disposal of a lot of goods which were shipped by way of Cape Horn, although it contained several thousand words and a copy of an invoice, it was written on just two sheets of paper.

The paper itself is a sort of tough, opaque tissue, very thin and strong. When folded the letter slips easily into an envelope three inches wide.

The reason why this communication was prepared in such a peculiar way in the stamp attached, one of the "pony express" series, with a design of a man on horseback spurring at a gallop across the plains. The Pacific mail of that period was carried by relay riders and great pains were taken to reduce weight to a minimum. The letters were stored in little flat pouches under the flaps of the saddle, and they were usually written on a specially prepared tissue.—Detroit News.

TERRY.
By EDWIN B. HILL.
There is a constantly changing populace in El Paso,—this city on the border,—and the casual visitor as well as the dwellers within the gates, recognize at once the impermanency of the residents,—witness the frequency of the second-hand furniture stores, and the strange faces in the streets and the post office,—that Mecca of the wanderer. The Plaza is cool and shady in summer, when the streets quiver with heat, and in the winter the benches are never entirely deserted, for winter in this land of sunshine is almost like autumn in the north. Across from the Plaza is an office building, and in one corner of this building, on the ground floor, is the Fine Arts Shop. Now and then there has appeared in the window a painting by Audrey Dean Nichols, erstwhile of Arizona. He is an artist to his finger tips, and he can paint! His pictures of Arizona still life have made me homesick many times and oft. I know them all, and I love them, and they have fed the soul of me,—and others.

The late summer had brought out the usual bench lizards in the Plaza. I passed them by on the other side the street. There was a new painting in the window of the Fine Arts Shop. It was one of Nichol's, the clear skies,—the cacti,—the mountains,—the trail. I knew every inch of it, for it was the trail into the hills near Fish Creek canyon. My eyes were on the picture, when a voice behind me spoke softly: "He sure can paint,—that man. See that little bunch o' weeds, there? He knows they grow at just that altitude, and no higher up. Yes, sir, he sure can paint,—and he knows Arizona." I turned, for I thought I knew the voice. It was Terry! We were acquaintances in Arizona, and now we were to be friends in Texas. I recalled he had been a cowpuncher upon the range, in a desultory sort of way, much given to prospecting, and what the boys called "mooning." That is, he preferred to lie on his back, look at the clouds, or the moon, or study the landscape. He had made several little strikes, and some money, with his claims. Then, one day, he had come to the ranch house, picked out Harry, an old-time cowpuncher, and disappeared into the hills. Harry came back at the end of three days, but Terry dropped out of sight.

"Got five claims, up there." Harry vouchsafed at last, no questions having been asked. Later, Harry, too, disappeared, and the range knew neither more. That was four years ago. Terry smiled. "Thought I recognized your pose," he said. "Got a way of looking at things sort of slantwise, after you've glanced 'em straight." We talked, after adjourning to the bench across the street, and then Terry asked me to the hotel.

"You remember Harry? Well, you know we found a claim up in the hills, and Harry and I worked our assessment and then I went east to some friends of mine, and sold out to them and some friends of theirs. We made our stake,—Harry and I. The fact is, we got $500,000 each. The new owners appreciated they had a good thing. Of course, it took about three months to swing the deal,—with their mining experts and all that. Harry went back to Arizona, and he's still punching cows. I wandered up and down the earth, seeking peace and finding a portion now and then."

Terry laughed boyishly.
"You remember how the boys up in the hills got interested in stamp collecting, through you and some of the others who drifted in? I hung off. It did not fascinate me. I was too busy dreaming. But after I'd sold the mine, I got to thinking about stamps. One day I passed a place back there where stamps were on sale. There was no name on the door. It was a mail order business, and I thought maybe they did not care to deal any other way. A few days later, in the evening, I went past again. The curtain was down, and a man sat there working over his books. I thought I'd talk to him, as I was feeling lonesome. I kind of liked his looks, from the outside, and so I went in. He was sure pleasant. I told him that I was a stranger, but knew a man out in Arizona who collected. His face kind of lit up like, and he asked your name. He said he'd read your stories. After that we got to be great friends. I used to drop in of an evening, now and then, and we'd look over some old collections he'd picked up in the line of business.

"One day I was a little early. There was a woman there. It was his wife. She'd been crying. My friend looked kind of down in the mouth, too. I was going to find an excuse to get out, but they both asked me to stay, and the man's wife went out soon after.

"Well, we talked stamps for an hour. I'd been studying them up, spare times, and I knew a little about them, especially U. S. and Confederate States; not enough to hurt any, but enough to want to get a collection of my own. You see, I wanted one that was pretty good, so I could study it some more,—not a real topnotcher, but good. Well, I talked with my friend awhile, and finally told him what I'd like.

"How much do you want to put into it?" he asked, finally.
"I told him I'd leave that to him,—that I had a little money, and wanted a real start. He opened his safe and pulled out a collection that was pretty fair,—nice condition stamps, and all that. 'I can let you have this one for $175,' he said.

"I looked it over. It sure had some good things in it, in U. S. But it wasn't quite what I wanted. So I said I'd think it over.
"Oh, by the way," he said, as afterthought, 'I want to show you a collection that was given me for appraisal for an estate. It is to be sold, and the commission paid out of the appraiser's valuation.

"He opened another compartment in the safe and extracted three big loose-leaf albums. They were beauties, too,—Dickinson handmade paper,—beautiful green Turkish levant binding,—and the stamps! Well, you'd be surprised. Every one a perfection copy, and with U. S. practically complete. They took my eye.

"How much?" I asked.
"More than we poor mortals can ever afford," said my friend. 'They will fetch $10,000, and the commission is $1500.'

"He looked kind of queer, just there, and his hand shook as he started to put the collection away.
"Well, he went down to the end of the store, and while he was gone I wrote a check for $10,000 and laid it on his desk. When he came back, he looked at it, then at me.

"Is it a joke?" he finally said, sort of husky like.

"Not unless the collection is," says I. "Then, sir, he done a thing that near bowled me over,—just laid his head on his hands on the desk and never said a word.
"In a minute or two he sits up, and puts out his hand. It was cold and shaky.
"You sure have saved my life," says he. "Nelly—that's my wife—has got to go away for a rest. She has tubercu-

Terry smiled to himself. Then he said, softly, "she's here, and getting well, and her husband, too. You see, I had all that money kind of idling around, and I put some of it into the stamp business. My friend branched out, got an office manager, and now he does the expert work. We thought we'd come out here and enjoy a month or two, and then his wife and he can look things over. Maybe they'll have a branch here, or move the business over. Anyway, they're both getting on, and

Aerial—The following letter from the American Consul at Barranquilla, Colombia, was addressed to Major Joseph A. Steinmetz, Philadelphia: "Replying to your letter of May 5th, I beg to advise you that the air mail service between Puerto Colombia and Barranquilla, to which you refer, was never established. Only one flight was made for exhibition purposes, and a small bag of letters was carried, more for advertising purposes than anything else. These letters bore a special stamp which was printed locally for the occasion but the stamps were not accepted by the post office and were never cancelled. None of these stamps is now available. Recently there has been an airplane mail service—unofficial—between Cartagena and Barranquilla, conducted by the Compania Colombiana de Navegacion Aerea. Letters have been carried at the regular postage rate, plus ten cents, which ten cents is represented by a special stamp sold by the company. On account of two recent accidents, in both of which the aviators were killed, this service has been suspended and it is not possible to obtain any of the canceled stamps. I have, however, secured one each of the seven varieties of stamps which the company has been selling and am enclosing them. . . . There is no information available at present as to just when the service will again be established." The labels, seven in number, while striking in appearance, are of somewhat conventional design. Six of the labels are 1 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches in size and the seventh, in green, is smaller. The larger stamps are in three or four different colors, each, and all the stamps have the inscription: "Compania Colombiana de Navegacion Aerea. Porte aereo: $0.10."

Lesson—System for September illustrates a frame bearing Josh Billings' classic, "Konsider the postage stamp, my son, its usefulness konsists in its ability to stick to one thing until it gets there," with a background of fourteen foreign postage stamps. The application of the aphorism is to be found in the text that accompanies the illustration: "When he got the idea of a great terminal on the Brooklyn waterfront, Irving T. Bush stuck to it like grim death. And to-day, the sign above shown hangs in the office of the president at the Bush Terminal company, the ultimate development of the original idea." On many different occasions we have seen Josh Billings' sentiment used to advantage and it has been quoted oftener for its inspirational value than any other "stamp" saying, we believe. Mr. J. G. Jewett sent in the clipping under notice.

Likes—In the course of an interview with Clara Kimball Young, one of the topnotchers in filmdom, we do not need to say, that appeared in the Chicago Post, we find this moving measure: "You like to receive letters?" I inquired of Miss Young. "I like the postage stamps," she said, as she daintily shelled another peanut. "But I like Christmas presents better." "One would, you know," I commented. "We are hesitant to proclaim that this celebrity is another to be added to the goodly company of famous philatelists. We can understand that one may like Christmas presents better than stamps, but we are disturbed by the prominence given the peanut in this emotional scene. Yet pomology and peanuts are not irreconcilable by any means, and perhaps one may indulge a liking for peanuts and for stamps at one and the same time. So, add to the great names in philately that of Clara Kimball Young.

Boosted—Here is an explanation of familiar sound, so far as the reason for the elevation is concerned: "Postmasters are advised that owing to the increased cost of manufacture, the prices of stamped envelopes have been increased, effective September 1, or as soon thereafter as the new price lists, which are now being printed, are received by them."

Reflections—We take the following extract from a letter that has come from one of the older collectors: "In October, 1893, I attended an auction sale of the J. W. Scott Company in New York City; and recently, I found the priced catalogue of the sale that I got at the time. I recall that the gem of the sale was a beautiful lightly canceled copy of the 24-cent, 1869, with inverted center and brought $116, but the man who paid $18.50 for a ninety-cent Justice Department did not make the best of investments. Even the ninety-cent State at $4.05 was not a bargain in the light of to-day. Japanese post cards of the first issue sold for $6 and $7, respectively, and a beautiful Cape Wood block, four pence, brought $7. A fine Han-over ten groschen, unused, sold for $6.75 and fine Sydney views went at $5, each. A superb Nova Scotia shilling realized $55 and a fine Oldenburg, 1855, 1/2 groschen, attained the modest heights of $4. I shall be glad to send you the priced catalogue if you want it." We are grateful for the consideration of our correspondent, but as we probably could get the auction prices of that time from the files of the old stamp papers, it is not necessary that we see this catalogue. The conditions that prevailed in 1893 are well remembered, and prices of desirable stamps were ascending rapidly. United States stamps in particular were in high favor despite advancing prices and the two stamps named by our friend, the ninety cent both of the Justice and State departments, were the objects of special attention. When buying support of the ninety cent Justice in particular was withdrawn, the price crumbled somewhat. The financial blight that followed a few years after the Chicago fair of 1893 perhaps was the only reason that a halt was called on the upward career of stamp quotation, but it is known that philately did not suffer from the stringency throughout the country in the way that many of the essential businesses did.

Guide—Mr. Albert Rouillier of Chicago, who is an advertising man of experience, writes us to say something on the subject that is engrossing much attention just now,—philatelic publicity. "The first thing to do is to compile a guide to philately which will contain in concentrated form, interesting descriptions of philately, its nomenclature, its personnel, its rare stamps and its quaint and curious ones, illustrated by stamp designs, and a few other details in brief story form. A well-edited booklet of the kind, edited for public consumption, could be given a wide circulation by the philatelic boosters. The distribution of a book about stamps should be the first thing attempted by the publicity committees. P. S.—I am not a large edition printer, either." We think that Mr. Rouillier's suggestion is a sensible one

NOTES FROM THE ORIENT.

By FELIX COHEN.

Syria has issued a set of postage due stamps overprinted on French Levant. The values are:

- 1 piastre on 10 centimes.
- 2 piastres on 20 centimes.
- 3 piastres on 30 centimes.
- 4 piastres on 40 centimes.

The surcharge reads: "O. M. F.--Syrie--Ch. Taxe--1 Piastre" and 2, 3 and 4 respectively, each in four lines. The quantity printed is 900 of each value. Needless to say, these stamps have been sold out in a couple of days. No unused copy ought to be sold to the public. After this limited quantity had been sold, unfranked letters were given to the addressee without payment of postage due tax, and actually only current French postage due stamps without overprint are placed on unfranked letters. They will be considered a provisional set, as there are signs that a regular set of postage due stamps will be issued for use in Syria.

The current set of Syrian issued on May 1st in Syrian piastres is still in use apart from the following:

25, 50 and 75 centimes, issued: 150,000, 200,000 and 30,000 which are said to be an error of the printer. The surcharge was intended to be "Centiemes", which in French means one hundredth. "Centime" being the French divisional currency of the franc, so, for Syrian use, it was intended to denominate the fraction of the Syrian piastre "25 Centiemes" of a piastre and so on (25 hundredths of a piastre).

These "Centiemes" stamps are issued: 25 Centiemes on 1c France, 300,000 50 Centiemes on 2c France, 300,000 75 Centiemes on 3c France, 30,000

The advance of the French and Syrian rate of exchange brought a lower postal rate in Syria so instead of asking 3 Syrian piastres for a common letter, only 2 Syrian piastres are needed now.

To commemorate this innovation, the stamps of 25 cents France have been overprinted "2 Piastres". The quantity printed of this is 150,000.

The reader of these lines in the U. S. will probably experience some difficulties in following philatelic events in this part of the world. So we nearly do. I do not feel inclined to judge these issues as a matter of speculation of Franco-Syrian postmen. The supply of stamps comes from Paris. French railway strikes and the strike of the French Navigation Co., Messageries Maritimes, prevented Syria to be regularly furnished with stocks of stamps. I personally see it here at the French P. O. of Alexandria. For a month this office has had no stamp of 5, 10, 15, 20, 25 and 40 centimes. These are stamps of current daily use. The supply of stamps is sent only by French mail boats (Messageries Maritimes). The strike prevented any supply from France, so we had to stick on covers a quantity of lower values. This office being under civilian rule, strict orders are in force that no colonial overprint is to be created. Syria has a military controller who rules over the P. O. too, and this is the reason for many surcharges and provisionals. Five distinct sets or part of a set have already been issued. The cause of issue might be explained in the following manner: 1st issue (so-called General Gourand issue). On delivering the country to the French General Gourand, the British authorities took their E. E. F. Palestine stamps with them. The French had only the limited supply of stamps of France that belonged to a field P. O. This low quantity being used overprinted T. E. O. for a week or so, a supply of French Levant stamps arrived and were again overprinted T.E.O. (Occupied Enemy Territory). By protest of pro-Franco-Syrian and as some values of this second T. E. O. set were sold out, the French P. O. authorities thought, according to the stock at their disposal, it advisable to overprint another lot of stamps of France, with a corrected spelling, O. M. F. (French Military Occupation), and so avoid of-fending pro-French inhabitants by call-ing their country an occupied enemy territory. This first O. M. F. print be-ing very thin, the P. O. being again in need of the low values, ordered a second print but a more readable one. So the fourth issue, O. M. F. with thick typographical print, came into use. All these four issues are expressed in Egyptian currency. From May 1st it has been decided to place the new Syrian currency in force. The fifth set ap-peared and is still in use, although some values are again short at the P. O. and nothing is known if more will be ordered.

These Syrian and also Cilician T. E. O. and O. M. F. are most popular here and many specialized collections have been formed. The demands from Europe and especially from countries that kept neutral during the war, are many. There is a guess that the unsettled political conditions of Asia Minor make these countries "fashionable." Gueril-las there seem to look as popuar as new issues of stamps, and a telegram saying that the French General Gourand advised the French Government to evacuate Syria and Cilicia, surely awak-ens more interest for these countries, even from a philatelic point of view.

AMERICA'S VIRGINS.

By HARRY E. HUBER.

Harry A. Franck has been down in the Caribbean gathering material for a series of articles, appearing monthly in The Century. In the September issue of this magazine, stock is taken of the American Virgin Islands, and some of their problems. There, as here in the States, the postal system leaves much to be desired.

"The Islanders have one real kick on the state of their postal service. Under the Danes there were mail carriers in the towns, there were country post of-fices, and a certain amount of rural delivery; all school teachers sold stamps, and mail was sent by any safe convey-ance that appeared. Today there are only three post offices, no mail delivery, the country people must carry their own letters to and from one of the three towns, those living on St. John being obliged to bring and fetch theirs from Charlotte Amalie, and though a dozen steamers may make the crossing during the week, the mails must wait for the languid and uncertain 'Virginia' or 'Creole'. There are only four postal employees in St. Thomas, in addition to the postmaster, a deserving democrat from Virginia who, in the local par-lance, 'does nothing but play tennis and crank a motor boat.' When one of the mail schooners comes in, the population crowds into the post office in quest of its mail, disrupting the service, each hopeful citizen coming back again every half hour or so until he finds that the expected letter has not come. Yet car-riers were paid only thirty-five dollars Danish under the Danes, and three or four of them obviated all this chaotic confusion."

WHY NOT DEAL IN STAMPS?

In every community there are scores of boys interested in stamps and stamp collecting. You should cultivate this in-terest by giving away your cheap dupli-cates and getting boys to sell the better grade among their associates. Here is all the outfit you need, and we can fur-nish it:--

- 100 approval report blanks40
- 100 neatly printed letter heads..... .40
- 100 approval sheets (two colors) .40
- 1000 American Hinges15
- Book "Dealer and His Stock"..... .10

Investments

Have you ever stopped to consider that a good collection of stamps is about the best investment that you can make? Stamps bought within the past two years would now show an increase of over 100% over their purchase price. What other line of investment would show this much profit? Consider this thoroughly and start a col-lection of these stamps at once. Fine copies of the United States issues are getting scarcer every day. Ask the man who col-lects, he knows. I will send a selection of these to anyone who furnishes me with satisfactory references.

BACK AT WORK AGAIN

after a joyous vacation, having been successful in acquiring a liberal coat of tan and a moderate catch of Vermont eels—these last being only one degree slipperier than some of the low priced but evasive stamps that helped make the famous Kangaroo packet famous. Orders for the packet piled up like the Woolworth building while I was seeking the elusive eel, but before you see this ad the Kangaroos will have started hopping to their destinations and if your order was received by September 8th it will be filled. I do not guarantee to fill any orders received after September 30th but if you want to take a chance send along your dollar and you'll either get a Kangaroo or your dollar back. Take it from me—the packet is a lot better than anything I said about it. Several hundred orders have come in so far and I'll bet a cookie every purchaser will be disappointed when he learns right here and now that I reserve the right to decline re-orders.

Still They Come

Hardly a day passes that a new subscriber is not added to my list for UNITED STATES NEW ISSUES. As Mr. Ragatz writes, "If there is anyone in the world who can give real service along this line it is you. I have frequently been surprised to note the things that you offer in your ads, and the early date at which you offer them." This is a hard reputation to live up to but I am staying awake nights trying to do it. You are missing a lot if you collect U. S. and do not investigate my service. This is not an attempt at a new thing but is an enlargement of a carefully thought out system that has been operating successfully for a few, for many months. You get all of the new things, limited to the varieties that you collect.

In the last lot there was included shades of the 1c, Perf. 10x11 in blocks of four at a cost of a fraction over 5c per block, blocks of the 2c surface in a very peculiar muddy pink, also a very deep rich carmine, each at less than 11c per block, the 8c in almost a brown at 42c for a block, etc. Why, even dealers are subscribing, there must be a reason. Write for a leaflet.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Harry B. Mason of Washington, D. C., and Mr. Allen Sears, owner of The Stamp Shoppe, formerly of Little Rock, Ark., take pleasure in announcing to the stamp collecting public that they have formed an equal partnership. Mr. Mason has long served Washington collectors with high grade stamps for specialized collections. The Stamp Shoppe has appealed to the younger collectors. This brings together a large and selected stock of stamps where patrons will be assured of receiving efficient, courteous and business like service.

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—It is not generally known that in accordance with the provisions of the Act of April 24, 1920, which amended Section 459 of the Postal Laws and Regulations, arrangements have been made whereby under certain conditions, first class matter may be sent through the mail without stamps affixed, the postage having previously been paid in money. This is nothing more than the well known "permit" applied to letter mail. As is usual with any transaction connected with the Post Office Department, there is so much red tape connected with the sending of first class mail in this way that it is very unlikely that many business houses will avail themselves of the privilege. Then too, it must be remembered that a firm would hesitate to send forward their important business mail in this way for, as a rule, the average person assorting the mail of large establishments would be likely to throw such "permit" letters aside as unimportant, containing printed matter only. The clerk in the post office would no doubt treat it as printed matter, also.

Mr. Roscoe B. Martin is the first to show me a letter passing through the mail in this manner. The letter in question was posted from Silver Creek, N. Y. The cover bears no stamps, but in the upper right corner we find a postmark consisting of two concentric circles with name of city and state between the lines and within the center circle in three horizontal lines, "Aug. 31, 1920". To the right of these circles we find enclosed within a rectangle "First Class Mail, Postage 2c Paid, Permit No. 1". Seven horizontal parallel lines run from this rectangle towards the left, giving it the appearance of an inverted flag.

The last of the large cities of the country, namely Detroit, has just started to surcharge their envelopes, Mr. H. W. Dunseth sending several varieties and informing me that they were placed on sale during the week of September 1st. Mr. Harmon Wendell wrote that the work was being done and Mr. W. R. Chapin kindly sends a sample. The surcharge shows the pear shaped lobe peculiar to Cleveland and Denver and the vertical lines are closely spaced as is the case in the latter city but the figure "2" is shaped differently. Only those on white paper have been placed on sale as yet but by the time these notes are read the colors will probably be obtainable. Mr. John H. Wilms sends a copy from Louisville, Ky., but as this was overprinted in Chicago they will be known as the Chicago type. The Hilton Stamp Company sends me the first on colored paper that have been seen from San Francisco. Dr. L. G. Tedesche who sends me some of the provisional postal cards from Cincinnati advises that the die for overprinting the envelopes has arrived and that we may look for some 2c on 3c surcharges from that city very shortly. Mr. Arthur Cantrell has located an old friend in Chicago but this time with a different watermark.

Mr. William L. Preston kindly sends me another locally overprinted envelope from another small Oklahoma town similar to the Duncan with a small black "2". I am now investigating the standing of the variety, and hope to present all of the facts in an early issue.

Mr. L. J. Ragatz kindly calls our attention to the fact that certain manufacturers of toilet preparations in the middle West are paying their proprietary tax with documentary stamps. Quite likely the local internal revenue office ran short of the proprietaries and had nothing else to do but substitute the next best thing. It is well that we did not have a stamp collector at that office, for had this been the case, I am afraid that we would have had a provisional.

We wish to thank the following for sending us notes of interest:—Messrs. E. H. Draper, C. C. Keller, E. S. Ward, J. T. Lewis, G. A. Albrecht, C. J. Lewis, H. B. Agard, and Chas. Huscher.

ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the stamps mentioned in our issue No. 1547. The set of three values commemorates the first centenary of the death of General Belgrano. The values are different from those noted by the Philatelic Francophile and are 2c red, 5c brown with blue centre, and 12c green and blue. The first value shows the tomb of the General, while the next value has a view of a troop of cavalry and beneath are the words "Creacion de la Bandera Nacional Centenario de Belgrano". The 12c shows the likeness of the great leader and the words "Gral. Manuel Belgrano Centenario De Su Muerte".

ARMENIA.—Mr. M. Dicranian advises us that he has received a letter from Alexandropol (one of the main cities of Armenian Republic). The stamp was Russian, 10k on 7k blue, and first Armenian surcharge on centre and 5r (ruble) top of the 10 surcharge.

KEDAH.—Our Penang correspondent,
Mr. L. K. Seng, kindly sends us an example of the new printing of the 2c
"Sheaf of paddy" stamp, which is distinctive from its predecessor in regard to the paper, now much thinner. He also sends specimens of 1c and 4c. King George stamps of Straits Settlements, postmarked "Perlis, 4 Oct., 19" and "Alor Star, Kedah, 6 Oct. 19", these having been officially accepted for postage in Kedah during the temporary shortage of the corresponding denominations of that State. This subject we dealt with pretty fully in our previous volume.—Stamp Collecting.

MALTA.—Our Valletta correspondent sends a mint pair of the 1d value, King George, printed from Plate 2, and just issued; they are in a very rosy shade.
There is still no news of the 3d white backs, he says, but a 1½d denomination is hourly expected, owing to the operation of new postal rates which came in force on June 1st.

The War tax on postal correspondence has at last been repealed.—Stamp Collecting.

MARIENWERDEN.—The Economist Stamp
Co. has shown us the 1m, 2m, 3m and 5m values with the word "Plebiscite" at the top of the stamp instead of "Commission Interalliee" as in the first printing.

NETHERLANDS.—The Economist Stamp
Co. has shown us a copy of the 40c of the A12 type. The frame is green with the centre of orange.

PANAMA.—Mr. J. P. Coveleski informs us that there will be issued about Sept. 1st a new 50c and $1 stamp of

ADVANCE PHILATELY!

Notes on Philatelic Propaganda.

(A Paper read at the Seventh British Philatelic Congress, May, 1920.)

By DOUGLAS B. ARMSTRONG.

This Congress has been styled the "Stamp Collectors' Parliament," yet its members would be the first to disclaim any legislative aspirations. The metier of the Congress is to guide, rather than to drive. Its relationship to the philatelic public at large is that of a mentor, but not pedagogue; its purpose is to place before philatelists the well considered results of its deliberations in the form of recommendations, and not to attempt in any way to impose its mandates without regard to local conditions and prejudices.

Accepting the view that the legitimate object of the Congress is the furtherance of the best interests of the Royal hobby, and its purpose the moulding of philatelic opinion to that end, many questions of a more or less controversial character are at once placed beyond its purview. There are, however, a variety of vital matters upon which the Congress in its wisdom can give a shining example to those thousands of fellow enthusiasts whom it represents, and the greatest of these is Propaganda!

If there is one matter that should concern this Congress more closely than another, it is the extension of the hobby; the spreading of the glad tidings of Philately. A hobby, like an army, lives by its recruits. We are all of us convinced that Philately is the ideal hobby. It is our duty and privilege to convince others of its charms and virtues. The past ten years have witnessed a phenomenal increase in the number of stamp collectors all over the world, due entirely to Propaganda. It is incumbent upon the Congress to see, not merely that these missionary efforts are unre-laxed, but that they are increased and developed to the fullest possible extent, in accordance with the growing importance of the pursuit. An eminent Swiss philatelist told me recently that a stamp album is as familiar an object in every Swiss home as a gramophone, and that almost every man, woman, and child collects stamps in a greater or lesser degree. Personally I look forward to the time when the same may be said of this country, and Philately shall have become in very truth the favorite and most universal pastime of the intelligent.

Our hobby owes its present unique position amongst intellectual pursuits, not so much to its manifold interests and fascinations, as to the manner in which they have been consistently brought before the public notice. Publicity has been the making of Philately in the past, and will be its salvation in the future. Hitherto Philatelic Propaganda in Great Britain has, however, been largely dependent upon individual effort. The burden of the campaign has fallen upon a few devoted pairs of shoulders. How much more might have been accomplished by organization! The object of these notes is to indicate to the Congress the extreme desirability of concerted action in this vital matter of popularizing the hobby, and to suggest, broadly, the lines on which a prop-aganda scheme embracing the whole of the British Isles might be carried out with the approval and support of all societies represented here to-day.

The main supports of the scheme are education and recruiting.

SCHOOLDAY RECRUITING.

Since in philately the boy is essentially father to the man, the encourage-ment of stamp collecting amongst the rising generation should be one of the first objectives. And not merely encourage-ment to collect, but to advise and train the young collector in the way he should go. Strenuous efforts should at the same time be directed towards combating and overcoming that lingering prejudice against stamp collecting that still exists in the minds of heads of certain scholastic establishments throughout the country. Much could be accomplished through the tactful aid of honorary secretaries of local philatelic societies, who were in touch with the head masters of schools. In most cases permission would readily be obtained to hold informal stamp meetings amongst the scholars, when local philatelists could help and advise the youngsters about their collections.

A practical scheme for the teaching of history and geography by means of stamps, together with the provision of textbooks specially written and illus-trated with actual specimens of common stamps, would appeal to many educa-tional authorities who already recognize the value of stamp collecting as an aid to these studies.

Some years ago the Educational Com-mittee of the American Philatelic Soci-ety worked a highly successful mission-ary scheme by distributing in elementary schools folders, on which were stuck sets of cheap stamps with a printed description giving interesting facts about the stamps and their designs, such as were calculated to appeal to the imag-ination of the recipients. This was followed up by the distribution through boys' papers of free packets of stamps, and in this way many young philatelists were made. These are a few ways only in which the supply of recruits to the hobby might be stimulated.

More important still is the problem of catching the boy collector when he is about to leave school, and keeping his enthusiasm for the hobby alive at that critical period when so many youths are tempted to abandon their collections on entering the business of life. The es-tablishment of junior sections of exist-ing societies would do much to militate against this.

LANTERN AND CINEMA.

The supply of popular lantern lectures to local societies, clubs, and institutions, and the promotion of exhibitions and competitions, on however small a scale, would likewise form part of the general propaganda scheme, as well as the founding of philatelic societies in distracts where they do not already exist.

Other aspects of publicity that might receive attention would be to urge upon local authorities the desirability of the inclusion of philatelic exhibits in museums and art galleries, and the supply of adequate reference works and periodicals of a philatelic nature in public libraries.

The widespread distribution of pamphlets, emphasizing the human interest of stamp collecting, and the use of advertising stickers upon correspondence, are also worthy of consideration in connexion with a great scheme for popularizing philately.

That great modern influence for propaganda, the cinema, offers tremendous possibilities in bringing before a large section of the community some of the joys and fascinations of stamp collecting. In addition to films of an instructive type, illustrating the processes of stamp manufacture, &c., there are many romances of the stamp album that in the hands of capable scenario writers would make excellent moving picture stories.

THE FOURTH ESTATE.

Last, but not least, we come to the most potent factor of all—the press. No other hobby or pastime has received such adequate recognition at the hands of the Fourth Estate than has stamp collecting within the past decade. Many of the big London daily newspapers now maintain regular philatelic features, and employ their own regular stamp experts. But much remains to be accomplished in the direction of the local and provincial press, which, although it has, generally speaking, no use for a regular stamp feature, is not so disposed to look with suspicion upon "free matter" provided it is sufficiently interesting, and would welcome from time to time brightly written paragraphs on philatelic topics.

Through the medium of these papers the hobby would be brought before an entirely new section of the public, living for the most part in out of the way districts where the need for an absorbing home pastime is the more keenly felt. Here again secretaries of local societies could aid by enclosing these topical paragraphs with the reports of their society's meetings, which would also help to ensure the insertion of the latter. And here a word in season. The reports of philatelic society meetings would receive more favorable consideration at the hands of editors of local newspapers if, in place of a mere stereotyped extract from the minutes and records of attendance, more attention was paid to a brightly written and concise account of points of historical or romantic interest regarding stamps shown or a remark as to their rarity. Verbum sapienti.

WAYS AND MEANS.

Having thus briefly outlined some of the possibilities of philatelic propaganda, the next question that arises is the most practical means of carrying them out. In the Permanent Committee of the Philatelic Congress we already have a central organization that provides a connecting link between the philatelic societies of Great Britain, and therefore an ideal medium for the dissemination of propagandist literature and ideas. It would be the first duty of this Central Committee to set up a Bureau of Philatelic Propaganda, in charge of a secretary, for the purpose of supplying advice, literature, lantern slides, &c., news paragraphs to local secretaries who had undertaken to co-operate in this work to enable them to prosecute the movement in their respective areas, also to aid individual philatelists in creating new societies and clubs in their own districts. The secretary would need to have the assistance of a small working sub-committee in the consideration and formulation of his plans. A measure of financial support would, of course, also have to be forthcoming.

Apart from any appropriation that might properly be made from Congress funds, the scheme would be mainly dependent upon voluntary donations.

Most philatelic societies, however, would doubtless be able and willing to contribute their quota to so worthy a cause, whilst our friends of the stamp trade would be the first to realize its many claims upon their consideration in a practical manner. Much of the actual work would be a labor of love, and, in consequence, working expenses might be reduced to a minimum.

With these necessary remarks upon the financial aspect of the scheme, it is hereby commended to the mature consideration of the Congress for deliberation and action if approved.—Stamp Collecting.

HIGH OLD TIMES.

The return to the two-cent rate for domestic postage reminds one that a letter in colonial days was a costly luxury indeed.

Doctor Oberholtzer tells us in the "Philadelphia" that under the royal governor, Fletcher, in 1693, the rates charged for conveying letters were these:

To New York, four and a half pence.
To Connecticut, nine pence.
To Rhode Island, twelve pence.
To Boston, fifteen pence.
Beyond Boston, nineteen pence.
To Maryland and Virginia, nine pence.
To all points within eighty miles of Philadelphia, four and one-half pence.

But Andrew Hamilton, who had been appointed "postmaster-general in these parts," found that he could not make a profit at these prices, and was allowed to raise them. The schedule then became:

To New York, eight pence.
To Connecticut, one shilling.
To Rhode Island or Boston, eighteen pence.

Beyond Boston, two shillings.
Within eighty miles of Philadelphia the tariff was increased from four and one-half pence to six pence.

In addition, the postmaster was awarded what was then considered, no doubt, a handsome grant. He was to have £20 in silver money of the province every year for three years as an honorarium.

The mail stage which left for New York at noon about 100 years ago carried only six passengers and the fare for each of these was $8.50.

At this time there were three mails a week to South Carolina and Georgia and one a week to New Orleans, Mississippi, Kentucky and Tennessee.

There were daily mails to Germantown and Lancaster and mails twice a week to Reading, Easton, Allentown and Bethlehem.

To Cape May letters were dispatched but once a week.

Haddonfield and Mount Holly also had mail once a week for this city.

The charge was 8 cents for distances within forty miles, 10 cents thence up to ninety miles, 12½ cents up to 150 miles, 17 cents for 150 to 300 miles, 20 cents for a limit of 500 miles.

Beyond that distance the charge was 25 cents. A letter might be delivered C. O. D., and farm or dairy produce was accepted in lieu of cash. The limit of weight for a letter was a quarter of an ounce, but for twice or thrice the fee one might send two or three times the weight.—Philadelphia Ledger.

ECHOES OF A VACATION TRIP.

By WILLARD O. WYLIE.

I call it a vacation trip but I managed to mix a little business in with the pleasure as coming issues of the WEEKLY will bear evidence. However,
I shall refrain from talking shop with the exception of saying that we cannot accept any special advertising from American dealers for the issue of November 27. If the copy does not reach us for the issue of November 20, it will be held over to December 4.

In my absence I visited Christiania, Norway; and Malma, Sweden; also Denmark, Germany, Holland, Belgium, France, Scotland and England. New and possibly unfamiliar names will soon appear in our advertising columns, but dealer and collector may be certain that we shall protect to the fullest extent our patrons in considering new business.

I left New York July 15 and returned to my desk Sept. 14. My ninth crossing of the Atlantic was on the United States, of the Scandinavian line.
The same boat I returned on in 1914
when I was caught in Christiania at the opening of the World War. It is a good boat, though not a speedy one, and excellent meals were served. We were twelve days en route and covered 4200 miles, New York to Copenhagen.

I know of no vacation that can rest a tired brain and body so much as a sea trip or an ocean voyage. For five days
I was oblivious to all about me and I was content to sleep and eat with an occasional fit of reading. There were seven in my party and some, more agile than I was, scraped up acquaintanceships, introductions followed and the "ships that pass in the night" became a reality. There seems to be a democracy of fellowship on shipboard that might well be emulated ashore. It comes from rather close confinement
true, but it's the great need of the world.
At Southampton on my return I saw in large letters outside a church this placard:—"Fellowship is Heaven, Lack of Fellowship is Hell." Think it over.

The sight of bonnie Scotland was a welcome one. We skirted its northernmost coast where Thurso nestles unconcerned with its remoteness, gave the Orkneys a more than passing glance and bounding through the Pentland Firth grappled with the hidden forces of the North Sea. I was glad to have a few hours in Christiania, as it enabled me to revisit my pleasures of 1914. Indeed, I added an ascent of Voksen-kollen, giving me a wonderful view of the Fjord.

My reader must be content with a running commentary on what I have seen and heard. I grant you the privilege, if my consent be necessary, to break off friendly relations with this article any time you please. Oliver Wendell Holmes in one of his books gave his readers this privilege and I follow the example of one who for years made Beverly his home. I shall not attempt to put into words all I have seen and heard,—a special edition of the WEEKLY would be necessary. As I write I have the ocean all about me—so books of reference are out of the question.

I made a week's stay in Copenhagen,
with attendance upon a convention held in the Riksdag. It gave me ample time to see the city and its environs and to study the Danish people. If I must choose between the market place and the museum, I take the former every time, and getting up with the sun has no terrors for me. The market place is always a very hive of industry, teeming with action and eloquent in its moving pictures.

Of course I visited Tivoli. Everybody goes and I must needs know what I am writing about. Here is my observation:—It beats Coney Island as a money-maker for the reason that it's in the heart of the city. If we could divert the money, time and energy wasted on Tivoli into stamp collecting and make the time limit one year, it would revolutionize the hobby. Every night Tivoli, with its tens of thousands frittering away their money on pleasure, menaces
the very life of the nation. I gazed upon the multitudes night after night and asked myself, "What will be the aftermath?" Two castles, Elsinore, for its association with Hamlet, and the royal castle at Hillerod were visited with great pleasure.

I journeyed from Denmark's capital to Fredericia in the west, a most beautiful city, and then on to Hamburg by way of Flensburg. The trip through

Remember, I am Headquarters for stamps of the U. S. and its Colonies.

H. F. COLMAN.

SECOND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

Schleswig Holstein was interesting, but my day's expense was so trifling that I made up my mind it was not the usual tourist route to Germany. I paid 26 marks, or 65c, (normal value 6.24) riding from 8 A. M. to 5 P. M., when I reached Hamburg.

My experience with the mark was interesting. On the taxis things were evened by making the tariff ten times the registered amount. On railroads the rates varied. Hotels followed the course of the taxicabs. Restaurants and stores took a middle course. All in all, the American can live cheaply and well in Germany. There seems to be sufficient food, though the depreciated money is working out a hardship in certain directions, but not with the trades and laboring classes.

My visit to Germany was necessary to get to Holland. I paid $18 for police protection but it was a vicious tax. My disgust can be imagined. I asked for four days in transit and got just what I asked for—a narrow escape, as my narrative will show.

I had intended to enter Holland at a point where I could visit Groningen, the University City, but finally decided to go to Amsterdam, where ex-mayor George F. Cotterill of Seattle, Wash., was to join me. Leaving Hamburg I made quaint old Osnabruck, then on to Rheine, in whose vicinity two changes of trains were necessary. I made one and failed to make the other, and when I got my bearings I was at Norden in northern Germany, where the great wireless station and numerous huge windmills make the town famous. This was 5 o'clock in the afternoon and I had to be over the Holland line by midnight. Things looked bad, as I was 40 miles from the border and all the conveyances in Norden required at least 40 minutes to the mile.

I took a train back to Lear, lessened the distance across the country to 20 miles, bargained for the only auto in town and to the tune of "See the Conquering Hero Comes", crossed into Nieuwe Shans with three hours to spare. The German customs officer helped me count my remaining funds after I had dismissed the automobile. This was very kind of him.

The next day I went on to Gronigen and down to Zwolle with its memories of Thomas a Kempis, Leyden and Rev. John Robinson, Amsterdam, Hague and the Peace Palace, Scheviningen, Edam, Monnikendam and the isle of Marken and Rotterdam with Delfshaven, from which the Pilgrims journeyed to Plymouth. My days in Holland will linger long in my memory and especially the day at Marken.

My headquarters in Brussels was none other than the fine and spacious residence of my friend Adj. Henry Hooreman, known to many of my readers. I am deeply indebted to him for his splendid courtesy. From this city as a centre I radiated out and visited Liege, Namur and Louvain, with special interest in the last named city. I also visited Bruges and Ghent, the field of Waterloo and Vilvorden, where William Tyndale was burned at the stake.

My visit to Ypres was the great event of my stay in Belgium. It was a notable day. Subsequently I visited four war sectors in France at Arras, Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel and Verdun, but none of them impressed me as did Ypres. It was there that I got my initiation and it was a vivid one. The spoliation caused by four distinct battles was eloquent in its thoroughness. I went into the city over the blood-soaked Menin Road, the very name of which causes the Tommie to shudder, through Dadziele and Gheluwe and pausing at Hoog where I saw a score of tanks and a dozen pill boxes, ghastly reminders of the great conflicts. Kemmel was at my left and Passchendale Ridge on the right as I journeyed through the four miles of shattered stumps of trees and continuous shell holes. Forget the scene? Never! If you could add perfume to the violet or beauty to the rose, then some other battlefield might stir my emotion. Having seen Ypres I had seen enuff, and rather perfunctorily I visited Arras, Albert, Rheims and Verdun. So far as St. Mihiel and Chateau Thierry are concerned, I had patriotic reasons for my visits there.

After a four days' stay in Paris, I went over to Britain and visited Glasgow. On my two previous visits I had not been to Ayr, but this time "The Banks and Braes of Bonnie Doon" had a full day's attention. It was a little visit to a notable shrine. I also took a day for Rothersey and Inverary on Lock Fyne. Retracing my steps to London, I stopped over at Keswick with its famous Derwent Water and had a fine stamp talkfest with Proprietor Wivell of the Keswick Hotel.

I don't need to say much about London philately. In fact, it will speak for itself later on and in a tangible fashion. I could write much about the hospitality extended me by London philatelists, but in this I should fail to do justice to my friends' courtesies.

I arrived in London Saturday, August 28, and that afternoon I was charmingly entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Vallancey at their country home in Sidcup. Mrs. Vallancey very generously chose me as a partner in a little tennis tournament, and though I had never handled a racquet before, we scored a Bunker Hill victory with the figures 6 to 5 against us. If the WEEKLY office ever gets the microbe—well, base ball must be side-tracked, to say the least.

On Monday eve there was a delightful dinner served at the Marguerite, to which the "scribes" were invited. I had been out to Mr. Melville's home during the afternoon, renewed my acquaintance with Mrs. Melville, his mother, and Mr. Haworth and the three newspaper men went into the dinner in the early evening. The affair was very informal, a get-together in the true sense of the term. Besides the guest of the evening, there were present, Messrs. Melville, Vallancey, Ingram, Armstrong, Dalwick and Haworth.

While I was journeying about London, I learned that I was trailing a fellow American. It was accidental that the two of us should be there at the same time and I only wish that my stay could have helped him in like proportion as his helped the WEEKLY. I refer to Col. Warren L. Babcock of Detroit, Mich., who had been in Belgium and France and sailed with me on the New York Sept. 4. I miss my guess if he does not make glad the hearts of some Detroit collectors as well as warm up the cockles of his own heart.

Our trip home was a feast of pleasure. Mine was, anyway. I will leave it to Col. Babcock as to whether I am a good sailor. I dare not say anything that will detract from his good name and fame, for we have known each other now for a score of years or more, and I want to continue to bask in his favor. His son Ross accompanied him and he is some boy.

This rather scraggly article is an ocean product and thrown together under difficulties. I wish there was somebody to blue pencil it, and if the office cat gets hold of it, I give him my permission to reduce it to proper form.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—We have been shown a type I, two cent surface print, imperforate, that was used on a letter sent from Racine, Wis., and dated May 11th, 1920, to Chicago. The letter was sent by a traveler from Chicago who got his type I at face, before it was known to be good.

—From Mr. Otto C. Reyman, treasurer of the Metropolitan Philatelic Association, we have received a copy of the Year Book and Membership List for 1919. The book is a creditable production and in addition to the contents indicated by the name, there are the minutes of the Minneapolis convention, in addition to the reports of officers. The membership is well along towards 500.

—We have received the catalogue of the auction sale of the Exchange Stamp Company, East Auburn, Cal., of a sale recently held which contained nearly 900 lots, many of which were described on the cover of the catalogue as "earlies of all countries."

—Number Two of Linn's Stamp News has been received and on the broad pages of this interesting sheet are store news and stamp items in readable array. As a business sheet, the paper reflects credit upon its producers.

—From Mr. Elmer F. Smith, Pontotoc, Ill., we have received word of the death of the Reverend Geo. W. Vorhis, who held a pastorate in Hamilton, Ohio, at the time of his death in July at a Columbus Hospital. We shall remember Mr. Vorhis as an ardent philatelist; and we may add that we enjoyed an occasional letter from him, in which he sometimes submitted stamp rhymes, for the making of which he had a decided facility. We extend our sympathy to the family of Mr. Vorhis.

—"The Stamp Trio" is something new with "words and music by Sears, Naschke and Hyde." This four-page shop paper is distributed free by the enterprising dealers who have pooled their journalistic efforts. The worthy three are "Yours for collection building."

—Adj. Henry Hooreman informs us that of the 1c Belgium helmet stamp one million were issued and the entire number has been disposed of. Of the 2c value ten millions were issued and a supply is still available.

—Maxwell Krause, returning from a ten days' vacation, found a multitude of orders from an offer printed in the WEEKLY of August 21. The adv. reads: "Sarre 1, 1 1/4, 1 1/2 and 2 1/2m on Bavaria" for 35c. The copy should have been translated "Same" instead of "Sarre". We regret the error and the inconvenience to which Mr. Krause has been put. At the same time we thank him for a photograph showing him with a string of black bass, one of the fruits of his vacation.

—The Midland Stamp Co., Toronto, Can., has recently removed to new quarters. Any order inadvertently overlooked will be filled promptly upon being called to their attention.

FOLLOW UP CARDS

Were sent to all bidders about our Sale No. 220, and it was advertised in this space for "6 Weeks." If you missed this Splendid Sale, the fault is not ours. Next sale in preparation, others to follow. "BETTER GET ON OUR MAILING LIST."

—Will the boy who sent a small remittance to H. G. Fairman, Jr., 524 River Rd., Avalon, Pa., please send on his name and address? And to satisfy Mr. Fairman, please indicate the form in which the remittance of 62c was sent.

—A mistake occurred in the recent adlet of R. Moses, 680 E. 139 St., N. Y. C.: Austria 72 heller advertised for 1c should have been 10c.

—"The new edition of the Dainippon Yubin-Kite Ruikan (The Standard Catalogue of Postage Stamps of Japan) is now published by our society, the Yuraku-Kwai, having 117 full size half-tone illustrations from actual mint specimens. I regret to say that this book is written in Japanese, but it will surely be a good reference book for those collectors of stamps of Japan. The price of this catalogue is Yen 1.50 post free, and I shall be very pleased to ask some of your readers who are interested in Japan's stamps to arrange one copy. If you wish to get one I shall be glad to send you it by return mail."—RYNCHI YOKOHORI, 10 Nishikata-Machi, Komogome, Tokio.

—"If you wish the WEEKLY to be more valuable to subscribers, advertisers and publishers, a timely suggestion to all is that auction catalogs be dated 5 to 8 weeks ahead to make allowance for lost time which may or may not occur. It is written in any contract that 'Time being the essence, etc.' so why not apply that motto to your advertisers? Of course, the eastern subscribers have the first advantage as regarding the time taken, but it seems to me that the advertisers are thoughtless about the other fellows, with no returns from them. Trust you will accept my suggestions as being helpful to all concerned and not thru any desire to dictate to the publishers." MAITLAND MILLIKEN.

—"Collectors apparently are not aware of the very close relationship existing between the United States and Haiti. I notice, however, in an advertisement of the surcharges issued during the last five years, the island of Haiti was referred to as under American supervision. The Dominican portion of it has a purely American military government; the Haitian part has been occupied by American troops since 1915 and its native government is very closely supervised by American civilian and military officials."—EVERETT A. COLSON.

—Benj. L. Boodry calls our attention to a letter received from the Bahamas and registered where every stamp was stolen from the cover. Mr. Boodry is naturally quite indignant; but how about the Managing Editor, who received nine from Port Said all in the same mail, similarly maltreated and all registered. If you have any complaint, file it with your local postmaster.

SIAM NOVELTIES.

We have received from Mr. Nai Teng specimens of five values of the current stamps overprinted in black with a tiger head and the words "Scout's Fund" in English and Siamese. There is also another value, the 1 tical, of the 1906 issue (Scott's No. 100). The stamps are sold above face value as follows:—2s sold at 5s, 3s at 5s, 5s at 25s, 10s at

J. O. MOORE,

RHEIMS, N. Y.

LAW STAMPS BRITISH COLUMBIA.

By FRANK L. APPLIGATE.

Eight of the nine provinces of Canada have issued Law stamps for their own use as has also the Yukon Territory. Prince Edward Island alone does not seem to have found it necessary. Law stamps have been in constant use in British Columbia since 1879, when a beautifully engraved series of four values were put out. These were of generous size, being 25½x40½ mm. in size. All were in blue on thick hard white paper. A large arched panel decorates the central part of the design, on which is a full face figure of Justice with balances and sword. Under "British Columbia" in large colorless letters on arched tablet at the top, are the words "Law Stamp". The figures of value are in the lower corners with the word "cents" or "dollars", as the case may be between. Four large engine turned scallops on either side fill out the design which differs somewhat in the 10 cent and one dollar stamps from the 30 and fifty cent. The chief differences in the two designs being in the words "British Columbia", which are much larger in the first and last denominations than in the other two and in the words "Law Stamp", which in the 10 cent and one dollar stamps are in colored sans-serif letters 1½ mm. high, and in the 30 and 50c are in colorless Roman letters of the same size.

1879. Engraved. Perf. 12.
 10 cent blue. 50 cent blue.
 30 cent blue. $1.00 blue.

About ten years later similar stamps were issued but were lithographed and perforated 11. These were also on thickish paper but more porous than that used for printing the first issue.

Naturally these are very inferior-looking compared with the first issue, though the designs are fair copies of the engraved stamps. The 10 cent stamp shows the same variation from the design of the 30 and 50 cent as in the first issue. I will call these stamps type I to distinguish them from subsequent types.

- 1889 (?). Lithographed. Perf. 11.
 10 cent black.
 30 cent vermilion.
 50 cent brown.

This set was soon superseded by a modified design, the chief differences being the following:

Type I. Left leg defined only by horizontal lines; shading of cape behind back of figure formed of lines running one way; shading of sword light. Type II. Sharp outline drawn to define left leg; cape shaded with crossed lines; shading of sword heavy. "Law Stamp" in colored letters as in 10 cent and one dollar of first issue. I have not seen any dated copies so am not sure of the date of issue. Have only seen one denomination.

- 18—. Type II. Perf. 11.
 30c red orange.
 50c brown and yellow brown (Forbin).

Later, perhaps as early as 1892, different denominations appeared in type II perforated 12 on soft wove paper.

All denominations were of the same design as described above.

- 1892 (?). Type II. Perf. 12.
 10c gray black.
 30c carmine.
 $1.00 green blue.
 A 50c may also exist.

In type III, the earliest date on which we have seen is 1910, the words "Law Stamp" are two mm. high; the figure of Justice, heretofore full face, is now facing ¾ to the right and there are other differences in the design. Paper and perforation the same.

- 1910 (?). Type III. Perf. 12.
 10 cents black.
 30 cents carmine.
 50 cents brown.

About 1915 a still different type was put into use. The words "Law Stamp" are still larger, being about 2½ mm. high. The lady has a more natural look and slumps forward perceptibly. Drapery entirely rearranged. Design larger, being about 27x41½.

- 1915 (?). Type IV. Perf. 12. Good margins.
 10 cents gray black.
 10 cents black.
 25 cents green.
 30 cents dull yellow orange.
 50 cents yellow brown.
 $1.00 greenish blue.

These stamps are now in use. The practice in common with other provinces was to punch stamps when cancelling them, hence uncut copies are very hard to pick up in all issues, either used or unused.

I shall very much appreciate hearing from anyone who can fill any deficiencies in this list. Address care of MEKEEL'S.

GUILTY.

Is the Mr. Severn connected with your firm, the Mr. Chas. Severn the writer had the pleasure of knowing 25 years ago, when first starting in the philatelic end? If so, how do you do? I had the pleasure of renewing my acquaintance with Bro. Kissing on his way to the Pittsburgh Convention, and the result is, that I looked up my collection and have the "bug" all over again, after allowing it to remain in a dormant condition for 25 years.

Thanks for the premium; 'twas better than I anticipated.

Henry Hooreman, 195 Rue Louis Hap, Brussels, Belgium, has placed in our hands no fewer than 22 accounts against American dealers and collectors. Unless these parties reply at once to his adlet invitation to settle up, we shall send the list to the Jukes agency in Philadelphia for publicity. Some names have already had publicity, and we urge every dealer to co-operate with Mr. Jukes for the good of the trade. We ought not to be compelled to refer to this again.

Moreover, under our new system we are making no plans for furnishing back numbers and subscribers must not expect that we can supply back numbers when we have made every effort to notify them.

We are satisfied that the system we have inaugurated is the only one under which a newspaper can do business these days, and subscribers must understand that free copies of the WEEKLY will not be sent to those who are in arrears.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Home—Heretofore, we have had to chronicle Mr. Wylie's arrival from Europe on faith, but we now breathe easier upon receiving a letter from our managing editor announcing his landing at New York. The delay in Mr. Wylie's home-coming emphasized the value of Mr. Wylie's services; and so have pressed have been Mr. Jewett and Mr. Severn that they want to shout the relief. We are afraid that here at there a correspondent has been neglected by the editor but there has been no willful disposition to shirk on his part; rather, he has worked more assiduously than he ever did before in his life; and indeed, he is about to enter into negotiations with old Doc Twodrops for a commodions for a few weeks at New Knoll, the famous "rest cure" for philatelists. We understand that the sanitarium is crowded, a "happy condition," according to the practical Doc, that attends an active season, anticipatory or actual.

* * *

Thank—"Our Mr. Wylie" had a pleasant and profitable sojourn in Europe and Hamburg, Brussels, Paris, etc., and particularly, London, proved hospitable havens. Of the purely business side of the trip, we shall say nothing here except that the interests of the WEEKLY were advanced on all sides. In the name

FOR COLLECTORS

Selections sent out on approval to all collectors desiring to secure fine and medium grade stamps at attractive prices. These selections are mounted and classified according to grade and rarity.

DEALERS!

Wholesale selections sent out to small dealers desiring to purchase good items for their stock at low and attractive prices. Of course, all dealers unknown to us must furnish references. Communicate with us now if you desire to obtain the choice items.

ATTENTION!

You, of course, whether collector or dealer, are in need of a good stamp paper to keep you well informed about philatelic news and events. The International Philatelist is the paper that you need. It has a wide world circulation of over 2,000 copies. It contains all news, articles, notes, etc., printed in three languages: English, Spanish and German. One new feature is publishing all advertisements in three languages thus obtaining results from all over the world. Ads of the leading foreign and U. S. dealers enabling you to buy at the most reasonable prices. You will see the immense value in the I. P. when you receive your first copy. Make it a regular visitor. "Sample copy on request." W. D. CURTIS.

By CHRIS. WEST.

Perhaps it isn't true that Nicholas F. Seebeck obtained the inspiration for the many gorgeous postage stamps his Hamilton Bank Note Co. printed for various South and Central American countries 25 years ago from the Curtis match stamp, or its successor. But if that isn't true, surely it ought to be, for there isn't anything in the whole realm of philately more curious or beautiful than this stamp—at least that is the opinion of many collectors of the private die revenues.

The design is diamond shaped, formed by standing a square on one corner, and measures 13/16 of an inch on each side. The main portion consists of an oval, slightly pear shaped with the larger end at the bottom, upon which is engraved an antlered stag turned to the left in front of an evergreen tree. In the background a rising sun appears. A curved ribbon following the lower part of the central oval is inscribed "W. D. Curtis" commencing in the left corner of the stamp, "Oshkosh, Wis.", ending at the right corner, and "Matches" between. A folded ribbon running along the upper sides of the stamp is inscribed "One" at the left, "Cent" at the right, and "U. S. Inter. Rev." in the center over the top of the oval. The upper and lower corners are formed by two small circular disks, each bearing the numeral "1". Scroll work and floral ornaments complete the design. The stamps are perforated parallel to their sides, so that a block of 4, 9, 16, 25, or any square block will also be diamond shaped.

The Boston Book gives the following data:—
Die approved, April 30, 1869.
First issued, August 1869.
Last issued, August 1873.
1,654,408 issued on old paper.
1,827,092 issued on silk paper.
221 stamps per sheet, (13x17).

The Curtis stamps were engraved by the Carpenter firm in Philadelphia and all were printed there. The shades divide naturally into two groups, yellowish green and a darker shade that is slightly bluish, the former being commoner on old paper and the latter commoner on silk paper. The yellowish hue also exists on the experimental silk paper of 1870. By patient search considerable variation in each group can be found, but the stamps are so scarce that to get together a good range of shades is much more difficult than would seem probable to anyone who had not tried.

In the writer's opinion the silk paper is just about as difficult to find as the old paper, which does not agree with the catalog quotations. If the latter reflect the relative scarcity of the two papers, the old paper should be twice as scarce as the silk. The quotations given seem to indicate the true scarcity of the stamps has been little appreciated.

Old Paper. Silk Paper.

Sterling 1888	1.50	1.00

Scott 1896	1.50	1.00
Scott 1900	1.00	.75
Scott 1903	2.50	1.00

There have been no further changes in the past 17 years. If the available supply has ever been large enough to justify the moderate prices quoted on these stamps what has become of them all is a mystery, for either one or the other or both of them are usually missing in collections complete enough to contain varieties on which much higher prices are quoted. In more than thirty years one old time collector accumulated only fifteen good copies, and the writer knows of less than sixty copies all told, including these fifteen. No block, strip or pair has been noted.

DEATH OF RALPH H. GRAHAM.

We are informed of the death of Ralph H. Graham, Windsor, Nova Scotia, in a letter just at hand from G. A. Doyle, Indianapolis, Ind. Mr. Graham was thirty-nine years of age and an invalid since early boyhood. His interest in philately had been a great help to him and his bright and happy disposition endeared him to relatives and friends. He was a member of the American Philatelic Society as well as the Society of Philatelic Americans, and a long-time subscriber to the WEEKLY.

ACROSS CONTINENT AIR MAIL.

We are indebted to Edwin P. Seebohm and J. A. Urquhart for favors received in connection with the establishing of the first air mail between San Francisco, Cal., and New York City. The envelopes bear the date of Sept. 9, the markings on some being 6.30 P. M., and others 8.30. The trip is to be made in approximately fifty-six hours, whereas it requires ninety-six hours for San Francisco mail to reach New York and one hundred hours for the return trip by train.

Mr. Urquhart encloses in one of his letters a 2c on 3c blue envelope which he states has just been issued; also a postcard of local origin with the "1 cent" overprint. He states that San Francisco has surcharged all sizes and colors of envelopes, as well as cards.

Investments

Have you ever stopped to consider that a good collection of stamps is about the best investment that you can make? Stamps bought within the past two years would now show an increase of over 100% over their purchase price. What other line of investment would show this much profit? Consider this thoroughly and start a collection of these stamps at once. Fine copies of the United States issues are getting scarcer every day. Ask the man who collects, he knows. I will send a selection of these to anyone who furnishes me with satisfactory references.

UNITED STATES.—The new die which Chicago recently received for overprinting its envelopes and which we list as the "Second Chicago type", seems to be in active operation. Mr. H. W. Lindemann has located several new varieties with this surcharge. While Milwaukee at first used envelopes of the first Chicago type, they now have a die of their own which Dr. W. L. LeCron tells us he has seen in active operation. This new overprint has the vertical lines closely spaced and is somewhat similar to the Denver type. Mr. L. D. Peaslee also sends us some of the first from this city. Last week we chronicled some from Detroit and our many friends in that town are sending us samples. Mr. Harmon Wendell sends a number on white and two on colors, while Messrs. J. A. Jungwith, C. C. Keller and E. C. Barron also favor us.

Mr. Maitland Milliken finds two new varieties in Denver, while Mr. E. J. Newcomer finds two in Seattle that we have not seen before. Mr. Milliken tells us that the 1c on 2c postal cards have just been placed on sale in Denver and sends samples. Mr. E. C. Kinsel sends some of the overprinted postals from Seattle and at the same time encloses some provisional envelopes that he purchased at Port Angeles, Wash. These latter were overprinted in Chicago, and as a similar variety has already been listed from that city, it will not be chronicled at this time. Our ever active friend, Mr. George P. Smith, has found a new window envelope in Philadelphia.

The stock of overprinted envelopes in most of the larger cities are now becoming exhausted and I am under the impression that in another couple months these provisional varieties will be things of the past. My list so far includes nearly five hundred different varieties, exclusive of the many minor varieties that have been found.

SAYS NODROG:

Just one year ago our first advertisement appeared here. In this short time our business has become one of the best known and highly respected in the country. We have shown over five thousand collectors in our Approval Department the meaning of SUDDEN SERVICE. Many hundred persons have been pleasantly served over the counter. No matter has been too small for our attention—even post cards receive an immediate answer! Our energy has not been directed only where financial return would seem to be the greatest; but rather have we preferred to serve each buyer, large or small with equal attention, and accept our ever extending Good Will, and personal satisfaction with a "deed well done," in place of increased profit.

OUR REVIEW.

We have received a copy of Bushnell's Standard Precanceled Stamp Catalog listing the precanceled stamps of the United States and Canada, with universal Type System and other illustrations; and we are greatly impressed by the work, a compact volume of nearly 250 pages, each of three columns. We welcome this book which is a timely and somewhat pretentious addition to philatelic literature, and nothing need be said of the utility possessed by a catalogue of the kind. From experience we know that there has been a void in the precanceled world which this book will fill admirably, and the prices quoted give it a practical use that will appeal to the army of collectors who attend with interest to precanceled stamps. There have been several catalogues of these stamps in years past but nothing heretofore published approaches in scope and detail the present work. Mr. Bushnell has brought system to a collecting division that has been at a disadvantage through the want of a guide and priced list of the stamps, and while lacking any critical ability to analyze the arrangement of issues, we applaud the results. The illustrations showing the universal types aid in the easy consultation of the book and the special printings are shown as occasion allows. As one who has faith in the merit of precanceled stamp collecting, the publisher deserves consideration and as one who has the courage of his convictions in presenting so elaborate a catalogue for the benefit of all philatelists, especially those who collect precanceled stamps in an orderly way, he merits much praise. B. Gordon Bushnell, Publisher, 2648 Northwestern Avenue, Indianapolis, Ind. Paper covers; price

The ninth edition of Bright & Son's Priced Catalogue of War and Armistice Stamps and Stamps Issued in Consequence of the War, thoroughly revised to date, lists these somewhat confusing issues so far as certain of them are concerned that have achieved so much popularity. The publishers call attention to the Ukraine section with a complete list of the "tridents" and think that their list is advanced to a degree heretofore unknown. We are interested to find the South Russian provisionals, and those of Russian Levant, together with Armenia, Batoum and Cilicia, for instance, presented in order and in detail. Copious use of illustrations facilitate the use of this book of reference, whose value is greatly enhanced by the prices quoted in most instances for the different stamps. For those who want the most recent information in particular of this important class of stamps, the book will have a strong attraction and its usefulness in general should be emphasized. There are over one hundred pages in the book which is offered post free for one shilling and eight pence. Bright & Son, 164, Strand, W. C. 2, London, England.

The ever-welcome Yvert & Tellier-Champion Catalog has just appeared in the 1921 edition, and a review copy is at hand from Theodore Champion, 13 Rue Drouot, Paris. The firm lays stress upon the fact that this edition consists of no fewer than 50,000 copies, and a comparison is made with the edition of 1897, which consisted of only 2,000 copies. The catalog is up to the standard that might be expected of this book. It is fully and freely illustrated and a great deal of explanatory matter is dis-

POSTMARK PROPAGANDA.

It is only on exceptional occasions
that the Post Office ventures to use postmarks for propaganda purposes. On the Continent the authorities are less conservative, and within the past few months the collector—if there be such—has been able to add some interesting specimens to his store. In Belgium, for instance, the postmark now in use calls attention to the coming Olympic Games.
The French Postmaster-General, who some time ago commenced to exhort his patrons by postmark where to place stamps on envelopes, is now distributing in the same way a tip on the way to secure the prompt dispatch of letters.
The latest postmark adjures correspondents in four lines of print to take their letters to the post directly they are ready, and declares that their dispatch will thus be the more certain.—London Chronicle.

PROPAGANDA PAPERS.

By THE EDITOR.

I. THE ROOT OF THE MATTER.

It is gratifying to note from the report of the debates of the seventh Philatelic Congress that organized propaganda is to receive the serious attention of the Permanent Committee. We do not yet know the contents of Mr. Armstrong's Congress paper, so we trust we may be forgiven if, in the following notes and suggestions, we traverse some of the same ground.

The importance of organized and combined effort to spread the cult of stamp collecting is generally recognized. Critics may suggest (though we do not know that they have done so) that collectors should be satisfied to enjoy their hobby and should leave other people alone, but this is rather a selfish policy. It is far easier for a collector to sit comfortably at home with his stamps and give no thought to the thousands of people who are ignorant of the pleasures he enjoys than to spend strenuous days trying to make them realize how attractive the hobby may be.

There is every opportunity to-day for successful missionary work of this nature. The daily press is at last thoroughly awake to the news interest of the subject, and though the weekly and monthly periodicals are slower to realize what attractive material is available they, too, are gradually coming into line, so that adequate publicity is assured for any efforts that may be made. The societies are alive to the fact that it is up to them as organized bodies to take the lead, and with the approval and support of the Congress Committee we may hope for great results in the near future. Yet the greatest work of all can be done by the individual collector, whether he be a member of a society or not, because he can bring into his propaganda work just that personal touch born of familiarity with the character and ideas of the person with whom he is dealing. As far as the people who are to be converted are concerned, the time was never more favorable. The war stamp, in spite of all the epithets with which it has been saluted, has proved an effective missionary, and there are more people to-day with, at any rate, a casual interest in stamps than at any previous time in the history of the hobby.

There will, however, be an immense amount of effort wasted if it is not realized that work must start first in the ranks of stamp collectors. It may be safely stated that the vast majority of the possessors of stamp collections do not belong to a society and never read a philatelic journal. Many of these are people, young or old, who have drifted into collecting stamps as they might into any other hobby, chiefly to satisfy their instinct to collect something. Their interest in stamps is closely connected with the number and value of their specimens. A full page is more to them than the stamps which fill it; a stamp catalogued at ten shillings holds more romance for them than does the Penny Black. Such as these have no true appreciation of the varied interest of their hobby, and a temporary shortage of cash, or the jesting remark of a friend, is sufficient to turn their lukewarm adherence into absolute hostility. A collector of this type has no means of interesting his acquaintances in stamps, as his conversation consists largely of figures relating to his own collection. He is consequently a brake on the wheel of philatelic propaganda, even where he does not make definitely for a retrograde movement.

It will be seen, therefore, that the lukewarm collector must not be neglected in the coming campaign. He is already half-way to becoming a convert with a real belief in the interest of his hobby, and is consequently a potential missionary, as every enthusiastic collector must be. He will not require any special treatment, as the appeals which have to be made to the non-collector will come to him with equal force.

The great mass of those who are in touch with the stamp world through their societies or as readers of the philatelic press, already have some knowledge of the various ways in which stamps can be made interesting. The advanced specialist may have to come down from the clouds when undertaking propaganda work, but for all serious collectors the really important step is the decision as to the grounds on which the appeal they are to make is to be based.

In the early stages of his work, the stamp missionary must cut out entirely the "philatelic interest" of his hobby and must avoid technicalities as he would poison. He is dealing with persons to whom the "ABC" of stamps is unknown, and he must therefore use the direct or "root" attractions of the postage stamp to secure his converts. The following rough notes indicate the most powerful of these attractions. The order is purely arbitrary, as what will appeal to one person may have no force whatever with another, but it may be accepted as an axiom that there is some attraction for everyone in stamps, and failure along one line of attack should not lead to discouragement.

DIRECT APPEALS.

(a) The Appeal of Color, Size and Shape.

These are the first things which attract the eye when looking at stamps. The attraction of a series of similar objects in contrasted colors must be left to the psychologist for explanation, but its existence is undoubted. Therefore long sets of stamps of uniform design, but in different colors, should form a feature of any missionary collection or exhibit, but beware of shades, for here the unintelligible "philatelic interest" comes in. The equally strong appeal to the average person of miniature pictures or small models of some much larger object is also difficult to explain, but it has to be reckoned as one of the factors favoring the stamp missionary. As for the stamp of curious shape it will stick in the memory longer than those of brilliant hues. If you asked the first hundred passers-by what they could tell you about postage stamp collecting, and happened to survive the impertinence, it is probable that more than half of those who were not themselves collectors would mention the Cape triangular stamps, and none of them would be likely to make more than a guess at their colors or design.

These three primitive appeals of color, size, and shape add to the attraction of any stamp collection for the average man, but they should be more especially reckoned with in arranging displays calculated to awaken the interest of the non-collector.

(b) The Appeal of the Design.

Though only a step higher, we are here in the presence of the most powerful direct appeal of the postage stamp, its appeal as a picture. There is such a wide range of subjects illustrated on postage stamps that this appeal should be capable of being brought home to anyone. In this case the missionary will need a knowledge of what these stamp miniatures represent, and the tact which will ensure that those which will interest his particular audience are described.

INDIRECT APPEALS.

(c) The Appeal by Association.

The field under this heading is wide and of great interest. Here again the missionary must know his subject and be careful to deal with that portion of it which is likely to make the maximum appeal to his audience.

The main subjects which may be grouped under this heading are:—The romance of the postage stamp. Its history. Its power of linking up distant places. Its universality. Postage stamps as ambassadors; as advertisements; and as propaganda. Stamp freaks. Stamp anecdotes. Stamp finds and rarities.

If the attractions dealt with under (a), (b) and (c) are carefully used there should be no difficulty in turning the Philistine into a stamp collector. With a sound idea of the various ways in which stamps can be found of interest, the individual will be able to choose his own particular path, and the work of the missionary could henceforth be confined to suggesting helpful books and periodicals and lending a sympathetic ear to the discoveries of his convert. Many recruiters, however, will not be content to leave matters at this stage. Enthusiastic students of stamps themselves, they will wish to convert the stamp collector into a philatelist, one who not only takes an interest in stamps as pictures and subjects for anecdotes, but who studies them as pieces of paper which exist with a definite purpose, as the result of particular processes. Here other appeals come into play.

(d) The Appeal to the Hunting Instinct.

The appeal to the collecting instinct may be satisfied merely by accumulating stamps, whether they are regarded as uninteresting units, or as pictures. For the chase, however, philatelic knowledge is required in order that scarce varieties may be recognized. Care should be taken that this is not given in too large doses or in too advanced a shape. Even when dealing with matters requiring the use of philatelic terms, these should be employed as little as possible, and should be always explained when used. Here, too, the individual bent of the collector must be considered. One may have no patience to study varieties of perforation or paper, while another will find them a source of continual pleasure.

(e) The Financial Appeal.

It would be useless to bring the money side of stamp collecting into prominence when dealing with the pictorial interest of stamps, though it will have its attraction in relation to stamp finds and rarities, dealt with under (c). One feels sometimes that more harm than good may be done by insistence on the mercenary side of a hobby, but with human nature what it is, and particularly in these expensive days, a hobby which may pay for itself has an undoubted attraction. The possibility of obtaining something for nothing is also a strong incentive to philatelic study. It must, however, be pointed out that money cannot be made without the knowledge acquired by such study. Too many collectors start with the altogether mistaken idea that it is only necessary to buy stamps, no matter what kind, in order to be able to sell them at a handsome profit in a few months' time. Their consequent disillusionment throws them into the ranks of the prejudiced people, who do more harm to the hobby than can be remedied by the efforts of many stamp missionaries.

(f) The Appeal of the Interesting Processes of Stamp Manufacture.

This appeal may come with equal force to the collector who is already interested in stamp study and wishes to go more deeply into the reasons for the existence of the varieties with which he is familiar, and to the less philatelically inclined convert. For the latter an interest in stamp details may grow from a knowledge of how they are produced, while those of a mechanical turn of mind might even be introduced to this phase of the subject under section (c). The processes of paper-making, engraving, printing, perforating, etc., are of great general interest, and a book such as Mr. Fred. J. Melville's Postage Stamps in the Making can be read with enjoyment, even by those who are not interested in stamp collecting at all.

(g) The Appeal of the Higher Philately.

It may be argued that conversion to the higher specialism must be a matter of time, but are the advanced paths of philately always as abstruse as they appear? After all, the plating of stamps, which is the hobby of many leading philatelists, is only the puzzle of our childhood under a different form, and most of us know the appeal of the jigsaw puzzle, philatelic or otherwise!

Having briefly laid down the root appeals on which interest in our hobby is based, we will try, in our next paper, to show how these should be used in practice by the philatelic missionary. —Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Circular.

THE STAMPS OF ERITREA.

By KENNETH TALLMADGE.

Used stamps of Eritrea are not very expensive, and the first few items in the catalog are unusually cheap, as are all that have come from there. And the probable reason for this lies in the history of the colony itself. In 1896 there were about 20,000 Italian troops stationed there, engaged in the campaign against Abyssinia, and the comparative abundance of used stamps of about that period is undoubtedly due to that fact, as large numbers of letters were posted to Italy by the soldiers during the fifteen months' campaign.

But when the army returned to Italy, naturally the use of stamps decreased. Today it would be difficult for an outsider to say to what extent the postal system is being used. Massawaha is the chief and also a great trading center and from which a railroad runs into the interior, and where there is trade there must be correspondence. The real blessing of the colony lies in the protection afforded the natives by a strong government, a condition of things which should increase trade, and as trade increases the use of postage stamps should become more and more general. Eritrea is an interesting country for the collector, and altho its stamps are not very plentiful, a collection can be completed with a very small outlay.

DON'T REMIT IN STAMPS.

We are compelled to decline stamps as remittances on amounts over 50c and urge dealers to make the same rule with their patrons. A dollar bill should be used when possible and any small amount remaining can be enclosed in stamps. Checks or money orders should be used on all remittances of $2 or over.

ROLL YOUR OWN—IN STAMPS.

Confederate money depreciated to wall paper after the Civil War. But who ever heard of real honest-to-goodness postage stamps descending to smoke? However, that's what happened among General Judenitch's troops during the Great War, with the result the stamp collectors are besieging the Paris office of the American Red Cross with requests for specimens of the rare "Judenitch" issue.

The distinctive feature of these stamps is that they are printed on very thin paper. Though intended for franking letters, the stamps had to be rationed out by the German general as cigarette paper when his soldiers ran short of that commodity. Consequently nearly the whole issue went up in smoke, and today samples are virtually unobtainable.

Keeping pace with war and post-war stamps is one of the stamp collector's most perplexing problems. In addition to the regular post-war series of countries which changed their governments, there are many special issues. Among these are the postal series for the German occupation of Belgium, the Belgian occupations of parts of Germany, the German occupation of Poland, the Polish occupation of German territory, the Austrian occupation of Rumania, the Rumanian occupation of Hungary, the Italian occupation of Austria and the Austrian occupation of Italian provinces.

Besides the Judenitch cigarette-paper stamp, there is the Lettvan issue, which in default of paper was printed on staff maps belonging to the German army. —Bell Telephone News.

THE BARTELS-VERRILL CASE
There has recently been handed down by Judge Thomas, sitting at Hartford, Connecticut, in the United States District Court for the District of Connecticut, a decision that will interest all stamp collectors and dealers. It relates to the practice of sending stamps "on approval."

In the case in question, J. M. Bartels Company of this city submitted some thirty of its approval books, selected from its list, to one Eric Verrill, a United States army officer residing at Hartford.

Verrill received these books between June 12th and June 27th, 1919. The agreement between the Company and Verrill was the usual one, namely, that he was to take the books home, examine the same, select such stamps as he wished to buy, and return the books with a check for those taken.

About August 7th, 1919, before the Company had received any report from Verrill, he was arrested in an action entitled the United States of America vs. Eric G. Verrill, and the United States Marshal attached all of Verrill's property found in Hartford, Connecticut, including his stamp collection.

The Bartels Company's books of approval were not found, but in the stamp collection were a number of stamps which Mr. Bartels was able to identify as having been taken from the books.

On behalf of the Bartels Company an application was made, as an intervening petitioner, in the action of the United States of America vs. Verrill, praying for the release of the attachment as against certain postage stamps belonging to the said Company, which it was able to identify, and for an order directing the delivery of such stamps to the Bartels Company.

The question raised, and the decision on each was:

- (1) The custom of the trade permitted the sending of stamps on approval under two conditions,—the return and the payment for those retained.
- (2) What would be a reasonable time within which the prospective customer could make the selection and return the books, during which time the title to the stamps remained in the Company. In this particular case two months was decided by reason of the special circumstances, namely, the time of the year and the number of books, not to be unreasonable. The time however in other circumstances would depend upon the exact facts in the case.
- (3) The removal of the stamps by Verrill from the books and the placing them in his collection, the United States claimed to be an appropriation sufficient to vest the title to the stamps in Verrill so that they would be liable to an attachment by a creditor.

The court decided that the removal of the stamps within a reasonable time was merely evidence of appropriation, and not conclusive as against the intention of the parties expressed at the time of the delivery of the books from the Bartels Company to Verrill, and that Verrill could not by such act, namely, the removal of the stamps, defeat the express contract made at the time, and change the sale from "on approval" into an outright sale.

It is a general rule of the Sales Law that a customer can by certain acts of appropriation, after the elapse of a sufficient time, change a sale from "on approval" into an outright sale and thereby vest the title in himself.

To take a contract out of this general rule, at the time of making there must clearly be indicated an intention to do so.

SCALY.
By LOWELL J. RAGATZ.

The following extract from a letter received in response to an advertisement of mine which appeared in a recent number of a German philatelic journal will be of interest to WEEKLY readers: "Mr. L. Josef Ragatz:

I am sending you herewith a list of the items which you are desirous of purchasing and of which I can supply superb copies at this time.

A word about prices. I take it from your name and connections that you are of German family and am therefore prepared to make most liberal terms. As you doubtless know, it has been generally agreed in commercial circles here that all articles sold to witlanders, and especially to Americans, shall be priced considerably higher than the same things sold to our fellow-citizens, the idea being to in this way recuperate to some extent from our late overwhelming losses and to make our recent enemies aid us in paying our most outrageous and crushing war debt.

This policy has been adopted en bloc by our associated stamp dealers since some time. But as a fellow German, I am prepared to let you have these goods at the Berlin price, this of course being in all confidence, my most dear sir."

I can't claim the honor of German descent, and employed the form of spelling appearing in the journal, which is that used by the Swiss branch of our house, merely to key this particular advertisement.

But that's neither here nor there. What is important is the fact that it looks as though a common agreement has been entered into by German dealers to charge what the traffic will bear, and that American collectors in particular will be called upon to contribute handsomely to the "wiltlander tax", if it may so be called.

That this is actually the case seems to be confirmed by recent experiences which I have had in ordering items offered in various German stamp papers. Whether they have been ordered cash in advance or on approval, they have invariably come billed considerably higher than the prices quoted, "because of low exchange rates," etc. Such excuses are all bunk, of course, for difference in exchange is immaterial when prices are quoted in marks and payment is made in them.

ARRANGING A WAR COLLECTION.

There appears to be considerable difficulty in grouping those stamps which Philatelists in general are accustomed to refer to as War and Armistice issues, and when it comes to arranging a collection on anything approaching systematic lines this difficulty becomes fully apparent. The catalogues and handbooks which have appeared dealing with the subject are of really very little use, in some cases, in fact, these publications have proved more of a hindrance than anything else. The consequence is that collectors of war issues have been thrown entirely upon their own resources and the results are not always pleasing. Arranging a collection in the collecting book, whether it comprise war stamps or others, is an art, but unlike so many other artistic schemes it may be learnt with comparatively little trouble, and it only requires the correct note to be struck at the starting point of the work. So many collectors are interested in these particular issues that perhaps a few hints based on personal experience in arranging collections may prove of interest and some use.
